1316 pending that motion, for an order restraining restraining them from the expenditure of any money except for operating the railroad, and also for the appointment of trustees in place of John J. Palmer and W'm R. Hallett, former trustees, who are dead, in view of said proceedings this board have deemed it proper to consider the subject and therefore do Resolve, That in the judgment of this board, any change in the receivership of the property at this time will be disastrous to the interests of the bondholders of the company and to all interested in the property.

The property has been skilfully and judiciously administered. Any restrictions upon the order of this court heretofore made would hamper the judicious administration of the property and be likely to produce injury to the same.

Resolved further, That this board does not recognize the said Ketchum as one of its trustees. He deliberately abandoned his 1317 said office of trustee, to which he was named in the deed, and for more than ten years has failed to perform or offer to perform any of the duties of the trust. He has never during that time made any claim to that position, and during that time has had no intercourse and has not offered to have any with this company or its officers. He has taken no interest in its affairs, and has as completely severed himself therefrom as if he had never had any connection with them. By his conduct before the late war he showed himself to be an unfit person to hold the position of trustee, and unfaithful to his duties as trustee, and his removal was a matter of necessity and propriety.

Resolved further, That W'm Butler Duncan and A. Foster Elliot were rightfully appointed trustees with the approval of this company, and that the duties of their office have been successfully, diligently, and faithfully performed, and that there is now a prospect of an 1318 early reorganization of the company and a readjustment of its liabilities, so that the entire earnings of the property will be applied to the payment of its debts in the order of their priorities, and this scheme has received the approval of a majority of the bondholders of the company.

Resolved further, That this board respectfully protests against any change in the trustees or receivers of the property of the company at this time; justice to no party demands such change; no interest of any party requires it, or will be advanced by it; but in the opinion of this board such change would tend to depreciate the present value of the securities of the company and produce distrust and confusion. The interests of the holders of the bonds under the first and all other mortgages in their order, are, in the judgment of this board, safe in the hands of the present management administering the property under the 1319 orders of the honorable court whose protection, instructions, and decrees, have been invoked by them.

Resolved further, That if there be any vacancy in said trusteeships, this company, by the terms of the deed of trust, have the right to participate in the appointment, and this board respectfully insists upon this right, and by no means waives the same.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

The joint and several answers of W'm H. Hays, W'm S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Du Puy, to the bill of complaint exhibited in this court by Morris Ketchum against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and others, as defendants.

These defendants allege and aver that they are the holders of bonds issued by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company upon the security of their first mortgage mentioned in the bill of complaint in this cause, to the amount of three millions nine hundred thousand dollars and 1323 upwards, and of interest arrearage bonds issued on the security of the first mortgage to the amount of $1,192,800, and of sterling interest bonds issued under the security of said first mortgage to the amount of $765,120.00, and of bonds issued upon the security of the second mortgage of said corporation to the amount of $961,990.00; and of all the coupons attached to said bonds and now remaining overdue and unpaid, and also of coupons formerly attached to said bonds, and which matured in the year 1874, to the amount of $535,000.00 and upwards, all of which claims they aver and allege are entitled to be paid in the order of their maturity out of the proceeds of mortgaged premises, mentioned in the bill of complaint in this cause; and they deny all 1324 the averments and allegations in said bill of complaint which in any way tend to impeach, impair, weaken, or diminish the claims arising upon the said bonds and coupons. And these defendants accept and adopt the answer made in this cause by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and the answer made in this cause by W'm Butler Duncan and Andrew F. Elliot.

REC. 879—22

United States circuit court for the fifth judicial circuit, southern district of Alabama, in equity.

DORELLI ZIEGLER ET ALS.
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et als.
No. 102.

To the honorable the judges of the circuit court of the United States for the fifth judicial circuit and southern district of Alabama:

Your orators, Dorelli Ziegler, of the city and canton of Zurich, Bernaud de Watterville, of the city and canton of Berne, Masson Chavannes, of the city of Lausanne, in the canton of Vaud, and who are citizens of the Republic of Switzerland, and aliens, and Henry Jump, of Liverpool, in the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and who is likewise an alien, file this their bill of complaint, on behalf of themselves and other first mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, who claim like equities, against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a body politic first incorporated by act of the general assembly of the State of Alabama, and which is a citizen of said State, and William Butler Duncan, Samuel L. M. Barlow, Adrian Iselin, Richard T. Wilson, and Charles Walsh, of the city of New York, and who are citizens of the State of New York, Andrew F. Elliott, of the city of New Orleans, and who is a citizen of the State of Louisiana, George H. Young, of the town of Waverly, and who is a citizen of the State of Mississippi; William Dickson, Robert C. Crawford, John Reid, j'r, William D. Dunn, of the city of Mobile, and who are citizens of the State of Alabama; 1332 and likewise Alexander Jackson of the town of Jackson, and who is a citizen of the State of Tennessee, and Morris Ketchum, of the town of Westport, and who is a citizen of the State of Connecticut.

And thereupon your orators complain and show to your honors:

That the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company was organized for the construction, equipment and operation of a line of railroad from the city of Mobile, through the State of Alabama, eighty-four and a half miles, and thence four hundred and thirty-three miles through the States of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, towards the mouth of the Ohio River;

The said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company was made a body corporate, and endowed with certain corporate privileges by acts of the general assemblies of the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, which acts were passed and approved in the year 1848. It was empowered, among other attributes conferred on it by the laws of the said States, to borrow money and to give evidences of debt and securities for the payment of the same by mortgage of its real and personal property and franchises;

Your orators further show that the Congress of the United States granted large tracts of public lands to the States of Illinois, Mississippi, and Alabama, to aid in the construction of a public highway and railroad from the northern lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Portions of the said national grant were donated to the Illinois Central Railroad Company to assist it in the constructing a road from Chicago to the Ohio River, and the remainder of the lands contained in said grant, and situated in Mississippi and Alabama were allotted to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to aid in the continuation of said line of railroad from the mouth of the Ohio River to the city of Mobile;

Your orators attach copies of the several acts hereinbefore referred to in a printed pamphlet marked "Exhibits A and B," and pray the same may be held and taken as a part of this their bill of complaint;

Your orators further show that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company found it necessary for the accomplishment of its enterprise 1333 to borrow money and to issue its obligations. Thereupon and in pursuance of the charter and acts by which it was incorporated, and under which it transacted its business, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company on the first day of November, 1853, made, executed, and delivered to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, then of New York, and William R. Hallett, then of Alabama, its certain deed of trust and mortgage, conveying to them in fee simple, its railroad and the appurtenances thereof, and the land grants derived from the United States Government and other property as therein set forth; said deed was accepted by the grantees therein named, and was recorded as required by law in the several States wherein the property thereby conveyed was situated;

The object of the said mortgage to Ketchum, Palmer and Hallet was to provide an adequate security for the payment of bonds then made by said company to the amount of six millions of dollars. Said bonds are each for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling, according to the currency of the Kingdom of Great Britain, and bear date the first day of December, 1853, and are payable on the first day of November, 1883, with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of May and November, during the time said bonds are running to maturity. All of the said bonds are of the same tenor, and differ only in the number attached thereto; and a copy of one of the said bonds and of the said mortgage is annexed to this bill, marked Exhibit A and B, and prayed to be taken as a part hereof.

Your orators further show that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company offered the said bonds for sale at various commercial and money-centres, and to induce the purchase thereof by investors represented in a printed prospectus as follows:

"For the purpose of making the security available to the bondholders, the franchises, road-bed, equipment, rolling-stock of the company, and the lands received from the general government have been conveyed in trust to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, of New York, and William R. Hallett, of Mobile, all gentlemen of the highest respectability and of well-known credit in financial circles, with full 1334 authority to sell said lands, and in case of default by the company, to take possession of, manage, make sale, or otherwise dispose of all of the company's property and franchises for and on account of the creditors of the company."

In reliance upon the trustees so constituted by the deed to Morris Ketchum, John J. Palmer, and William R. Hallett, the bonds described in the said deed were negotiated to parties who advanced valuable consideration therefor, and upon the purchase of the said bonds secured by said trusteeship, the holders thereof became parties in interest in the stipulations of said deed, and were thenceforward entitled to the continuance of the trusteeship and the tenure of the incumbents as therein specified, and as a part and parcel of their contract and security.

Your orators are the owners of one hundred and forty-six thousand dollars of the said first-mortgage bonds and the unpaid coupons attached thereto, and have become thereby entitled to the maintenance of said trusteeship and the performance of the covenants of the mortgage.

Your orators further show that the line of railroad above described as projected in the scheme of said enterprise, was only in part graded, and was almost entirely without superstructure or equipment when the said first-mortgage bonds were negotiated, and a very considerable portion of the security conveyed in trust by the said deed of mortgage for the benefit of the bondholders of the bonds was the land-grant from the Congress of the United States. Provisions were contained in the deed of trust from the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in reference to the control and administration of the said land-grant by Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, and their survivor, in order that the proceeds of sales of land should be safely held by the trustees for the redemption of the principal of the mortgage-debt. But so it was about the year 1858 that the directors of the corporation debtor made various efforts to defeat the purpose of the trust, and to prevail upon the trustees to convey away and give them (the directors) powers of attorney to convey away the title to tracts of land belonging to the trust without providing an equivalent in money or first-mortgage sterling bonds for the 1335 protection of the fund. These things the trustees had no right to do with due regard to the interest of the bondholders, and they properly refused to accede to these improper demands of the directors.

In 1860, by the deaths of John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett, Morris Ketchum became the sole surviving trustee of the first mortgage of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company. Morris Ketchum was likewise the trustee of the other portion of this national land grant, which had been apportioned to the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and of which he remains trustee at the present time without challenge or question. He continued to administer the Mobile & Ohio land trust as he had administered the Illinois portion of the grant, and insisted that the trustee could not turn over his trust to the directors of the mortgage-debtor, nor dispose of the trust property without the most ample security for the bondholders. But so it was, that the directors persisted in their efforts to get control of the trust, and the differences aforesaid were finally submitted to the first mortgage bondholders in Europe for their determination.

The official correspondence on that subject is hereto annexed, marked "Exhibit C," and is prayed to be taken as a part of this bill. The communication therein contained from Morris Ketchum to J. S. Morgan, of London, sets forth the affairs of the trust, and offers, in view of the efforts of the directors to obstruct the proper execution of the trust, to relinquish the same to such persons as might be selected by the bondholders. This was declined by the bondholders, and the course of M'r Ketchum toward the directors was fully and in all respects approved by them as their sole reliance for the defence of their property.

Your orators further show, that about the time the bondholders thus ratified the administration of the trust, there was a period of political disturbances in the United States preceding the late civil war. At that period, and during the summer and autumn of 1860, M'r Ketchum addressed many letters to the officers of the company on the business of the trust, but they refrained from replying to these communications, and in fact maintained express and preconcerted silence towards 1336 the representative of their first mortgage creditors. No attempt was then made by the directors to impugn M'r Ketchum's performance of his duties as trustee, by any legal proceedings or otherwise, but they merely awaited the events which daily threatened to separate the surviving trustee in New York from the railroad in the Southern States. And so it was, that about the year 1860 several of the Southern States of the Union claimed to secede from the Federal Government and combined into a confederation, having the seat of its authority at Montgomery, in the State of Alabama. These events were followed by a civil war, and the United States then engaged in the effort to subvert the rebellion against its lawful authority in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky, where the railroad and other property conveyed in the trust was situated. The Union and the Southern armies extended along the boundaries of the Confederate States, and the fleets of the United States blockaded the Southern harbors. Moreover, the Federal Congress enacted laws forbidding all communication with the Confederate States, and in fact and in law all intercourse between the territories of the contending parties, as well as knowledge of what transpired within their respective borders, was practically unattainable.

Your orators further show, that the Congress of the Confederate States, and the rebel legislatures that were organized thereunder, passed certain acts intended to aid the rebellion against the lawful government of the said States, and to assist in prosecuting war against the United States. Some of these acts were designed to give circulation to the paper currency of the Southern Confederacy, and some provided that the paper money of the said government should be a good discharge of debts due to trustees under mortgages and deeds of trust. The said acts, besides their hostility to the United States, had the effect of impairing the obligation of the contract between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and Morris Ketchum, as surviving trustee for the first mortgage bondholders. Under these circumstances, the sole protection for the first mortgage bondholders, both in the United States and in Europe, and the means by which the trust lien could be preserved from satisfaction in and sale for the paper money of 1337 the Confederate States, was by the preservation of the trust estate in Morris Ketchum, a loyal citizen residing in New York, where he was not amenable to these Confederate enactments, or to process for their enforcement. Any transference of the estate of M'r Ketchum to any citizen of the rebel States could be followed by a sale of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad in the Southern Confederacy for the worthless and illegal paper money issued by the rebel authorities.

But so it was, that soon after the commencement of the said civil war the directors, unmindful of their obligations to the bondholders, sought to avail themselves of the barrier which the military operations interposed between them and Morris Ketchum and the bondholders, and to repudiate the obligations of the mortgage, executed for the protection of the bondholders; they pretended to institute a suit in the name of the company against M'r Ketchum, and therein asserted as grievances against the corporation the same matters which, before the commencement of the civil war, had been examined by the first mortgage bondholders, and approved by them as meritorious action by M'r Ketchum for the defense of their interest. On the above and false and fraudulent statements, under the form of a bill in chancery, the directors sought to divest the bondholders of their trust estate in M'r Ketchum and their contract rights; M'r Ketchum being averred in their bill to be "an alien enemy of the Confederate States of America." In such a proceeding during the war they attempted to cite M'r Ketchum before a pretended court, sitting at Mobile, by the form of a publication in a

Mobile newspaper. Upon such a sham process a pretended decree was passed, on the sixth of April, 1863, in the following words: "The court is satisfied of the fact that said Ketchum is an alien enemy. * * * It is therefore ordered, adjudged and decreed, that said Ketchum be removed from his said trusteeship."

Thereupon there was a pretended appointment, on the nomination of the directors of the mortgage debtor, of Charles Walsh, Alexander Jackson and George H. Young, "all citizens of the Confederate States," as set forth in said proceedings, to be trustees of the mortgage. A copy of these Confederate orders, with the accompanying papers, 1338 are hereto attached, marked "Exhibit D," and prayed to be taken as part of this bill. As the consequence of said proceedings, portions of the land grant donated by the United States, on condition that it should be utilized for the building of a railroad, to be at all times kept free for the transportation of Federal troops in time of war, and mails in time of peace, were sold by these appointees of the rebel court for Confederate currency, to the great detriment of the trust estate, which would have been totally exhausted by the continuance of the same process. While these proceedings were transpiring, M'r Ketchum was in New York, and knew nothing whatsoever of their existence. No notice of the proceeding was given to any first mortgage bondholders, and no proceedings were undertaken elsewhere, nor in the States of Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky. In fact, during the pendency of the said proceedings against the trustee, the sections of the said railroad in Alabama and the southern part of Mississippi were under the control and in the possession of the military authorities of the Southern Confederacy, while those sections situated in Kentucky, Tennessee, and the northern part of Mississippi were in the custody of the armies of the United States.

The said rebel proceedings were without jurisdiction, and impaired the just rights of citizens under the Constitution, and were hostile in their purpose and mode of enforcement to the national authority, and the persons who participated in rendering the same were only a pretended court. The said proceedings were null and void and of no effect whatsoever on the title to the trust estate.

Your orators further show that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company did not pay the coupons on its first-mortgage bonds, which fell due during the civil war in the United States, and some time after the termination of hostilities the bondholders consulted as to the course to be pursued in reference to their overdue interest. About this time the first information of the said Confederate proceedings came to the knowledge of M'r Ketchum. By the terms of the mortgage the trust was entirely passive, so far as the railroad was concerned, until default in the payment of interest. Under the arrangements made at the inception acted as agents for the trustees in negotiating sales of the lands, and after contracting to sell were to transmit the drafts of deeds to the trustees for signature. The trustees were never in actual possession of the lands, save by the company, nor was such possession necessary, the lands being waste; the reports of land transactions had therefore necessarily to be made by the directors to the trustees.

This condition of the land department had continued until the breaking out of the war. When the bondholders and trustees were apprised of the above-recited war proceedings, none of them attached thereto the slightest importance, and when the bondholders discussed the question of adopting foreclosure proceedings after the war, no reliance was placed by them upon any other trust title than the one held by Morris Ketchum. Furthermore, and out of abundant caution, M'r Ketchum promptly notified the officers of the company that he disregarded their Confederate proceedings, and he asserted the continued right of the bondholders to the trust estate as confided to him by the terms of the mortgage. But so it was that the officers of the corporation avoided the trustee of their creditors, M'r Ketchum, and purposely disregarded his said communications, and took no heed of them. Many persons were likewise informed by M'r Ketchum that no valid conveyance of any portion of the United States land grant could be made without his deed, and due security taken by him according to the terms of the mortgage. But still the directors failed and refused to transmit any deeds for the signature of the trustee, Morris Ketchum, according to the administration of the trust throughout its continuance, and sought to sustain their spoliations of the trust property under the aforesaid Confederate proceeding, though well knowing that it was invalid, as shown by their annual report at the meeting of stockholders, held at Mobile, April 17, 1866, which contained the following language:

" W. R. Hallett, of Mobile, and John J. Palmer and Morris Ketchum, of New York, were the original trustees in the mortgage to secure the payment of the sterling bonds. Hallett and Palmer died, leaving Morris Ketchum the sole surviving trustee.

1340 " He took advantage of his position, and refused to allow other trustees to be appointed, and refused to authorize the sale of lands, and claimed the right to establish a land bureau in New York and conduct all the company's land sales in New York, instead of Mobile. This would have been immensely expensive and led to endless frauds. A bill in chancery was filed to supercede him as trustee, and a decree was made removing him and appointing Charles Walsh, of Mobile, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, trustees under the mortgage. This bill was filed before the war, but the decree was rendered during the war. It had been impossible to pay the coupons on the sterling bonds during the war, and those that had matured necessarily remained unpaid, and it was contended that the decree removing Morris Ketchum was void, being rendered during the war, and that he was still sole trustee, and had a right to take possession of the road. The bondholders, however, had confidence in the integrity of the management of the road, and did not wish to commit their interests into the hands of M'r Ketchum. This movement therefore failed, and since then the convention of the State of Alabama has ratified the judgments and decrees rendered during the war as far as private rights are concerned, which, it is hoped, will give permanent rest to this question, and save us from trouble hereafter."

And so it was that the relation of the trustee, Morris Ketchum, to the directors continued for some years as hereinbefore stated. The interest on the first-mortgage bonds continued to be paid by the company, and the active intervention of the trustee under the arrangements set forth was not required nor invoked. At the initiation of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad enterprise, the stockholders sent a representative to New York and solicited Morris Ketchum to become a sponsor for their bonds in the money markets of the world, and a trustee of the first mortgage. The onerous duties and heavy responsibilities of the trust were accepted by him, and had been discharged without the slightest expression of dissatisfaction from the first-mortgage bondholders, but, on the contrary, with their fullest sanction. He could not, in teeship under the malicious perversions of his acts and with the undeserved obloquy sought to be imposed on him by the directors. He did not seek the trust, but, being invested with it, he would not be driven from it by such an attack, made during a time of war, when he had no opportunity to defend himself. He was advised that he was legally entitled to treat this action of the directors as mere waste paper, and he and his constituents, the first-mortgage bondholders, did so treat it and disregard it.

Your orators further show that default in the payment of the first-mortgage interest, due on the first of May, 1875, had been anticipated for several weeks by the officers of the company. At this time William Butler Duncan was the president of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and Andrew Foster Elliott was a director thereof, and both of them were interested in the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co. The said firm had been for some time purchasing and acquiring subordinate claims against the company, and they were at this time largely interested in such claims. Alexander Duncan, the father of the said William B. Duncan, had not exceeding seventy-five thousand dollars of first-mortgage sterling bonds, but he has since claimed to hold certain coupons, principally for May and November, 1874, amounting to upward of ($700,000) seven hundred thousand dollars, as first-mortgage liens on the property. These coupons were paid and surrendered in great part, on and after they became due, without notice being brought to the knowledge of most of the bondholders that any claim was set up to purchase them. In fact, the official reports of the company for the year 1874 exhibit net earnings to the amount of $707,865.04.

During the entire year 1874 W. B. Duncan was a director of the company, and in general and substantial control of its board of direction, and of its financial affairs, and from the first day of May, 1874, A. F. Elliott has been a director and Duncan the president. But so it is that under this regime the greater part of the said sum of net earnings, to wit, nearly $700,000, was appropriated to satisfy bills payable and other floating claims, instead of being applied to first-mortgage interest.
1342 Most of these misapplications of funds were made by and through Duncan, Sherman and Company, and about ($100,000) one hundred thousand dollars of the said payments were made by Duncan, Sherman and Company on the 30th day of April, 1874, the very day before the May coupons on the first-mortgage bonds fell due, and are claimed to have defaulted, and to have been acquired by Duncan, Sherman & Co., and by them afterwards transferred to Alexander Duncan. But so it was that, with these claims against the property, and the default in the coupons due May 1st, 1875, being expected by W. B. Duncan, an attempt was made to grasp and seize the trusteeship of the first mortgage. Letters addressed by Walsh, Jackson, and Young, the appointees of the Confederate court, to the solicitor and vice-president of the company, were obtained a few days before the first of May, 1875, in which communications they purported to tender resignations of their claims to the trusteeship. As legal resignations, said documents would have been utterly futile and void, even had the writers possessed anything to resign. But Charles Walsh thereupon proceeded with the form and pretence of filling vacancies so created, and Duncan being then president, and Elliott a director, and the board being under the control of the former, M'r Walsh united with such a board in the pretended appointment of Duncan and Elliott as trustees. Copies of the aforesaid letters are hereto attached, marked "Exhibit G," and prayed to be taken as part of the bill. There was no power of appointment to fill vacancies in the trust in any one save the persons agreed upon by the bondholders, Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett. No valid resignation of the trust estate could be had in the manner aforesaid, and no valid appointment of Duncan and Elliott ever took place, nor have they ever been trustees under the said mortgage.

But so it was that in this manner, only a few days before the default in the first-mortgage interest on May 1st, 1875, W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott claimed to become trustees of the first sterling mortgage; and a few days thereafter, having procured a request from some bondholders by suppressing the true state of facts, they, on the 8th of May, an unfounded claim to be trustees, and by consent of their board of directors. The mortgage provided for three months' grace after default, but only eight days were allowed by Duncan and Elliott before clutching possession, though their firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co. failed, and made an assignment in insolvency within less than three months from the day of the said default of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company. And so it was, that when the 1st day of August, 1875, arrived, three months after the May coupons fell due, these two insolvents, Duncan and Elliott, had placed themselves in control and possession of this railroad, having no personal interest in its securities, and M'r Alexander Duncan having only a comparatively small interest in the first-mortgage bonds, claiming nearly three-quarters of a million of dollars lien on the property for the back coupons, arising in the manner and under the circumstances hereinbefore set forth.

Nevertheless, on or about the 12th of May, 1875, Duncan and Elliott brought a bill in this court, in which they rested their sole claims as complainants upon the above described pretence of being trustees of the first mortgage. In the said bill they suppressed the fact that M'r Ketchum's removal had been sought and claimed to have been obtained before a rebel court during the civil war, and by such a false statement of their claim to the trusteeship they obtained orders from this court giving them powers of receivers under their claim of trusteeship, and under the bill filed by them assuming to be trustees. In the same bill they claimed that the coupons of May and November, 1874, above described as held by Alexander Duncan, were still outstanding and valid liens on the mortgage estate. They also alleged that certain claims, to the amount of one million six hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars, known as substitution bonds, were secured by a valid and paramount lien on one hundred and eighteen miles of road in Tennessee. The lien claimed by the holders of said bonds has been paid and satisfied nearly six years ago by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and with its consent and greatly to its profit.

1344 But so it is that under a claim of title so baseless and so hastily and newly acquired, and under a proceeding so originating and instigated for the purpose of imposing on the property and against the just rights of the first-mortgage bondholders the pretended claims above described, this property has been held and disposed of to the present time. Its administration has been designed and shaped to further the said object and collect the claims above described, adversely to the rights and interests of the first-mortgage bondholders. According to the official reports, the property has produced net earnings of more than $500,000 from the time Duncan and Elliott obtained possession, May 8th, 1875, to August 31st, 1876.

Nothing has been paid in mortgage interest by their administration. Large amounts, aggregating more than $300,000, as appears by the official reports, have been disbursed for additions, conceded to be extraordinary in character, and in some instances considerable amounts of the trust fund have been used by them for their own personal gratification. The most feasible method whereby Duncan and Elliott could secure the satisfaction of the claim of Alexander Duncan for more than seven hundred thousand dollars, was by using, and in great part exhausting, the revenues of the property in the course of their administration, instead of applying them to the payment of the next accruing coupon interest. And so, the interest of the first mortgage not being kept down by them, they have sought to procure the adoption by the bondholders of an agreement admitting the aforesaid detached coupons of Alexander Duncan as a first-mortgage claim. It has not been to the interest of Duncan and Elliott to pay over the accruing net revenues to the first-mortgage bondholders, but, on the contrary, such payments would have interfered with the admission of the coupons of Alexander Duncan into an agreement of reorganization, or any other mode of future recognition in the rank of first-mortgage liens. And though the said Duncan and Elliott are insolvent, their bondsmen, from whom the bondholders must seek pecuniary redress for the maladministration of the property, are two attorneys at law of the city of New York—S. L. M. Barlow 1345 and W. W. Macfarland; and the former is on the bond of W. D. Shipman as assignee in insolvency of Duncan, Sherman & Co., for five hundred thousand dollars, and the latter is on the same assignee's bond for one hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and your orators are informed and believe, that the said Barlow and Macfarland are not able to respond to their liabilities on the bond for Duncan and Elliott over and above their other debts and liabilities. But so it is that your orators' trust estate, which is their sole substantial security for the loans they made to this railroad company, is in the hands and under the administration above described.

Your orators further show to your honors that Morris Ketchum, the trustee named in the first mortgage, has filed bills for the execution of his trust and the realization of the mortgage security in this and other circuit courts of the United States where the railroad is situated, and the said Duncan and Elliott are made co-defendants in said bills. A motion at chambers for the appointment of receivers under one of said bills was denied. Subsequently the cause came on for hearing at a regular term of this court, and the plea of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, setting up the claim of Duncan and Elliott to the trusteeship, was overruled by the United States circuit court in this district, and the demurrer of W. B. Duncan to said Morris Ketchum's bill was also overruled by this court. The opinions in the said cause are hereto attached, marked "Exhibit E and F," and prayed to be taken as part of this bill.

Your orators further show to this court of chancery that they do not know who is the legal trustee of their mortgage; your orators do not know whether there is any legal trustee of their mortgage; your orators do not know whether the said trusteeship is now vacant; your orators do not believe that W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, or either of them, have ever acquired any title to the trusteeship of their mortgage; your orators do know that the question of title to the said trusteeship is now in contest and litigation before this court.

Your orators further show that it is a matter of the utmost importance to them and to other first-mortgage bondholders, that all legal 1346 proceedings under which their estate is administered, and under which their mortgage is foreclosed and the property sold, should be instituted and conducted by parties having a valid right and title to become complainants therein, and to have the relief above described.

Your orators further show that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has defaulted in four successive installments of first-mortgage interest, from May, 1875, to November, 1876. The revenues of the estate should be applied for the benefit of the first-mortgage bondholders. Such revenues, when administered under a proper management, should be applied to keep down the mortgage interest, and for the balance of such interest which cannot be so discharged, the property should be sold. No valid title can be given to any purchaser at a sale of this property under the suit brought by Duncan and Elliott, claiming as trustees. Any pretended sale thereunder can only result in clouding the title to the property and grievously complicating its affairs. Any of the purchasers at such sale, or any organization of such purchasers composed of any majority less than the entire number of all the parties in every interest in said property, would fail to acquire any valid or substantial title.

Your orators further show that the continuance of the possession and disposal of the railroad and its equipment and resources by W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, is a daily injury to the resources and credit of the property. This court has never, upon a disclosure of the facts, adjudicated that they had a proper or legal claim to the trusteeship. Many of the acts which they are now performing under such a claim will be contested.

Your orators show to this court that, under the circumstances hereinbefore set forth, it is unjust and inequitable that this trust estate should be thus wasted, and its beneficiaries injured and despoiled; and your orators now submit, for the first time, many of the above stated matters and things to this honorable court.

And your orators now submit to your honors that the custodianship of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad should be held by this court in this suit, based on the equitable title of the first-mortgage bondholders.

And the decree on the first sterling mortgage for the sale of the 1347 property and the execution of the trust of said mortgage should be rendered under this bill, wherein the equities and rights of the holders of bonds secured by the said mortgage are fully, legally, and in all respects represented before the court. The first-mortgage bondholders are the only real and substantial parties interested in this property as at present situated, and their resources should not be involved and wasted in controversies among doubtful legal titles, to subserve antagonistic purposes. Your orators have therefore filed this bill in order that their bonds and the lien of the mortgage may be fully protected and enforced. They have joined as co-defendants to this bill all the claimants and all those having any pretence of claim to the legal estate in trust, in order that the property may be administered under a valid title, and in the interest of the first-mortgage bondholders, and finally sold for their best advantage under a clear and unquestioned title.

Your orators further show that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has executed several conveyances of the property which had been previously conveyed to secure your orators' bonds.

William D. Dunn, William Dickson, and George H. Young have been named in the commencement of this bill because they are trustees, holding the legal title under one of the aforesaid conveyances, known as the second mortgage; and S. L. M. Barlow and W. B. Duncan, also named in the former part of this bill, are the trustees under a deed made to secure the holders of claims known as consolidated bonds. Adrian Iselin, Richard F. Wilson, and William B. Duncan are trustees named in a deed from the company purporting to secure the substitution-bonds, above described. Copies of the said mortgages and deeds are hereto attached, in a printed pamphlet, marked Exhibits A and B, and your orators pray that the same may be taken as a part of this bill. The corporation has defaulted in the payment of interest on all of the bonds secured by the foregoing deeds, and also upon the mortgage executed on the Gainesville branch to William D. Dunn, John Reid, j'r, and Robert C. Crawford, made defendants herein, and a copy of the said deed is likewise contained in the pamphlet aforesaid.

1348 Your orators further show that the said railroad property is a single and entire estate, and that there should be a unity of management over the whole property, so that the same may be devoted effectively to the trusts for which it has been conveyed.

Your orators further show that this court has taken supervision over the affairs of the property, and now maintains such supervision; that, in the course of this proceeding, for the benefit of all the cestuis que trust under the first mortgage and in directing the administration of the trust-estate herein, many difficult and complicated questions in reference to the affairs of a property of this magnitude, running through four States of the Union and extending five hundred miles, will necessarily arise; that your orators, who are likewise cestuis que trust, are advised that they may have the advice and protection of a court of equity under the aforesaid circumstances, and for that purpose they submit the trust and their interest herein to this court.

Your orators further show that the number of holders of bonds under the first mortgage is very great, and their names are, in most part, unknown to your orators, and it is impracticable to make them parties to this suit.

Your orators likewise say that they are totally remediless to enforce their said claims at law, or without the intervention of a court of equity.

In consideration whereof, your orators pray process of subpœna against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, William B. Duncan, Andrew F. Elliott, Samuel L. M. Barlow, Adrian Iselin, Richard T. Wilson, Robert C. Crawford, William D. Dunn, William Dickson, John Reid, j'r, Charles Walsh, George H. Young, Alexander Jackson, and Morris Ketchum, commanding them, and each of them, to appear and answer this your orators' bill of complaint.

And, as to such of the defendants who may be out of the jurisdiction of the court, your orators pray that process may be issued to make them parties, if they come within this jurisdiction, or that such proceeding may be had in regard to such defendants, by publication or otherwise, as may be, according to the forms of the statutes in such cases made and provided.

1349 Your orators pray your honors to make such interlocutory orders of injunction, and such decretal orders, as may be requisite to protect the said railroad and property from interference by any party or parties whomsoever, except by and with the approval of this honorable court, upon application, for good cause to be shown by such applicants. And your orators likewise pray for such interlocutory orders as may be requisite for the due and proper purposes of this proceeding, and for the administration of the property herein. Your orators further pray for the appointment of an officer or officers of this court, who may as receiver or receivers, or in any other capacity, take possession of the said The Mobile and Ohio Railroad and its appurtenances, and all the property hereinbefore referred to, under the orders of this court and under this bill and title; and that this receiver or receivers may preserve, sustain, operate, and administer the said railroad and its business and affairs, to the best advantage of the holders of the bonds secured by the first mortgage above described, and that the income and tolls of the said railroad be applied by them according to the terms of said mortgage, and that they may have the usual powers of receivers of this court.

Your orators also pray that they may have leave to apply to this court of equity from time to time, as the trust is administered by this court herein, for its orders and instructions in and about the due and proper course of administering the trust estate.

Your orators further pray that an account may be taken and stated before a master to be appointed by this court of all debts of said company, and all liens and claims of liens on the aforesaid property, with power to report thereon and on the priorities of the same, and that this court will adjust the said claims and priorities.

And to the end that the said railroad and other property above referred to may be properly applied to the satisfaction of the said first mortgage and other liens upon the said estate according to the lawful order belonging to them, your orators pray that the said mortgage and the trusts thereby conferred may be fully executed by this court, and that the said The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and 1350 all of the defendants to this bill may, by the final decree of this court, be barred of all equity of redemption in and to the said railroad, its equipment, appurtenances, and lands, rights, credits, franchises, and effects, and that the same may by such final decree be sold, and that such other final and decretal orders as may be requisite to accomplish the objects of this bill and the preceding prayers may be made and granted by this court.

And your orators finally pray for such other and further and different relief as may be just and equitable.

And your orators will ever pray, &c., &c.

1351 EXHIBIT C.

NEW YORK, March 16, 1859.

DEAR SIR: I have received your letter of the 4th March, and in reply I have to state that, as you know, the correspondence of the trustees of the M. & Ohio Railroad Co., was with our late lamented friend J. J. Palmer. Most of the letters written by him to the co. have been submitted to me and received my approval; all the papers relating to our business with the co., and the correspondence, was in the possession of M'r Palmer, and soon after the death of that gentleman I applied to his son, requesting him to turn them over to me. Within the last few weeks I have applied again, and he has promised to collect all the papers and correspondence with the co. and hand them over to me, which he will no doubt do, and when he does I shall be prepared to do all that is proper and necessary in the premises as a trustee.

With regard to President Brown's strictures on the conduct of the trustees, I can only say that they are unnecessarily severe and 1352 utterly uncalled for. I have acted as one of the trustees of the great landed estate of the Illinois C. R. R., and am daily in the habit of signing deeds transmitted me, when the final payments have been made, and no inconvenience has been experienced, nor any complaints made, as to the course taken by the co. If the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. will consent to do their business in the same simple and business-like way, the' cannot fail to experience the same facility in transacting the business of the land department. And that they may understand how this done, I will send them an explanation of the mode, with a copy of one of the deeds. The acceptance of this trust was not a mere matter of form, the execution of which was to be confided to others, at least that is not the way I shall perform my duty. The co. can sell by contract, but when a deed is presented it should show in the face that a bond, or a portion of a bond by endorsement, has been canceled, equal to the amount the deed calls for. I know of no other mode in which I can execute the trust.

With regard to the compensation to be paid to the trustees, and their withholding $18,000 of the bonds, and the amount seeming 1353 to the company excessive, but forced to reluctant acquiescence, and that the coupons will be promptly paid, past and to become due, but with the express understanding that the amount retained by them as compensation, is to include future as well as past services, I can only say to the best of my recollection of the correspondence held between the late M'r Palmer and the company on the subject of compensation, the company made a specific proposal as to their compensation, which, after mutual consultation, was accepted by them; all of which will be found in the records of the company. I adhere to that arrangement, and shall expect the M. & O. R. R. Company to adhere to it also, without any further stipulations. I have no particular desire to receive these bonds in payment, and am quite willing to surrender them to the company.

We took them, as you will remember, at their suggestion, and if they suppose that they were coerced we can return them and reimburse ourselves from the trust fund.

If the company should conclude to adopt the simple plan of the Illinois Central R. R. Company, which I trust they will, then, 1354 so far as they have gone, for the sake of despatch, it would be best for the company to make out an abstract of the lands ready to deed, approved by you and the company, and then send it to me, and I will approve and transmit to you and you can deliver it to the company for record, you seeing that an amount equal to the amount received by the company is endorsed on a bond or bonds of the company.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

MORRIS KETCHUM, Trustee.

EXHIBIT B.

NEW YORK, March 24th, 1859.

DEAR SIR: Some days since I requested the secretary of the Illinois Central R. R. Co. to furnish me with all the forms incidental to the sale of the lands by the land department of that co., thinking that 1355 some of them might be found useful in the land department of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

These documents have been gotten up by men of great experience in the sale of lands, (Mr. Wilson, late of the land department at Washington, having been at the head of the office for the last two or three years,) and probably many of the forms have grown out of the practical operation of the system.

Should any of them be found useful to the M. & O. R. R'd Co., in the sale of the lands, I shall not regret having forwarded them.

Very respectfully, your ob't s'v't,

NEW YORK, Jan'y 6th, 1860.

MILTON BROWN, Esq.,
Pres'd't Mobile and Ohio R. R.

DEAR SIR: On the 21st of May I addressed a letter to the late W. R. Hallett, my associate trustee in the Mobile and O. R. R'd Co. 1356 trust, with the request that he would lay it before your board.

Mr. Hallett, as you are doubtless aware before this, has deceased.

The letter on inquiry I find could not have been received by him before he left for the North, consequently could not have been passed over to you as I desired. I now enclose a copy of that letter, which I believe embraces all that is necessary for me to say to the R. R. Co. I regret that there should have been any difference of opinion between us as to the course to be pursued in the sale of the bonds, or the manner of executing the trust, and shall be most happy to do all in my power to forward the interest of the co. consistent with the trust confided to me.

I am now the only trustee left, and I deem it important that one or more should be appointed, and should be glad to hear from you on this subject. You will see that they are appointed with the surviving trustee. I should also be glad to know if the co. desire to act as the agent of the trustees, in conformity to the mode adopted by the trustees for conveying the fee. If they do not, then I shall deem it my duty 1357 to establish an agency for that purpose. I again enclose a blank form of the Ill. Cen. R. R'd Co. to be used by the M. & O. R. R'd Co., which I would recommend be adopted in this instance; it has been found to work well. They like it very much after having used it for some time.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

GENTS: Presuming upon my long acquaintance with the senior of your house, Mr. A. Gracie, I take the liberty of committing to you some business, not very profitable to you, but which I doubt not will receive your attention.

The writer is one of the trustees, and now the only surviving trustee to the deed of trust of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, Mr. Pal'mer, of this city, having deceased, and now Mr. Hallett, of Mobile 1358 By a notice which I enclose, which is all the information I have on the subject, it would seem there is a suit pending against the trustees which comes on the 26th inst. I had written M'r Hallett on the subject, but the letter could not have reached him before he left for the North. I therefore do not know whether M'r Hallett had employed counsel to answer on behalf of the trustees or not, and the object of this letter is to have counsel employed, if he, M'r Hallett, had not done it. This may be ascertained by applying to the counsel of the plaintiff in the suit. I enclose a copy of my letter to M'r Hallett, which, together with this letter, you will please hand over to the counsel you may employ, which will be quite sufficient for him to make an answer.

It is quite possible, from some things that have come to my knowledge, that the company may be accessory to this suit for some purpose of their own, and, if this is the case, I desire to show through the counsel of the trustees that it is not their fault, but the fault of the company in not preparing the deeds for our execution, they having assumed to act for the trustees (by their consent), on the sale of the lands conveyed to us.

1359 In employing counsel be particular that the party employed is not in the interest of the M. & O. R. R. Co., and the counsel will understand that he is to act for me individually as a trustee, unless in conferring with the counsel employed by M'r Hallett (if such counsel has been employed by M'r Hallett) he finds that all has been done to place the trustees on the right ground before the court.

The counsel must bear in mind that it is possible my interests and that of the company may be adverse.

For whatever cost may be necessary, you will please check on me as trustee of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

Very respectfully, your ob't s'v't,

MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

EXHIBIT E.

To the directors of the Mobile and Ohio R. R.

NEW YORK, July 25th, 1860.

GENTLEMEN: Your president, M'r Milton Brown, has been here, 1360 and by an arrangement with him, the deeds called for by the full payment on the tracts of land sold will be made out here. I have ordered a form printed, and in the early part of the week will have them filled out in conformity to the descriptions furnished to me, which I think are somewhat incomplete, as in many instances the initials only of the Christian names are furnished. From your returning them in this way, I take it for granted you deem that sufficient.

I would have preferred that the deed should have emanated from the land department at Mobile, but it seems that it is necessary these deeds should be furnished as soon as possible, and to facilitate this object, I shall have them all completed, executed, and finished the early part of next week, when I shall expect a corresponding amount of bonds cancelled and delivered to me. Of this I will write more particularly when I forward the deeds.

I have received but one return of land sections and lots sold where the payments have been made in full, and the parties consequently entitled to deeds. The document is marked thus: "Abstract 111
been furnished some one of the trustees, which would confirm president Brown's impression that a large amount of payments in full had been made, and yet the numbering of the deeds in the abstract commencing with sale No. 1 would indicate this to be the first return. Please set me right on this point, and if there are other parties entitled to deeds send a description, and the deeds will be executed and returned at once.

I would suggest, as we are now commencing to deed this property, that a book be properly prepared and gotten up, in which these deeds shall be registered. Such a book I shall have prepared here for my own guidance, but I desire such a record kept at the department in Mobile, so that no possible difficulty can hereafter occur in regard to sales and deeds; and that the page of the book in which the deed is entered as having been executed and delivered be endorsed on the back of each deed.

Yours, respectfully,

MORRIS KETCHUM, Trustee.

NEW YORK, July 25th, 1860.

CHAS. WALSH, Esq., Pres't:

DEAR SIR: Accompanying this I have forwarded you 88 deeds of the trustee of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Co., for lands sold by the co. under the instructions of the trustee, upon which the co. make returns, after full payments having been made. The aggregate amounts of these deeds is $49,881.41, which, by an arrangement with the R. R. co. I have stipulated to receive in the sterling mortgage bonds of the trustees of that co.

I have taken the liberty of confiding this business to you, from the circumstance of your filling the same official status in the Bank of Mobile as my late associate trustee, M'r Hallett, and also from your name having been proposed as his successor in this trust. With this explanation, may I ask that you will make this exchange with the M. & O. R. R. Co. the deeds for a corresponding amount of the above-described bonds, which bonds, when rec'd, I desire you to cancel in the usual way, sending me a return of the numbers, and holding them subject to 1363 the order of the trustee or trustees of the Mobile and O. R. R. Co.

It is my intention to make some change in the future mode of disposing of these lands, in which event I shall direct the money rec'd on acc't of land sales deposited to the credit of the trustees in your institution, which will, I trust, be some equivalent for any favors I may ask in this way.

Very respectfully, yours,

MORRIS KETCHUM, Trustee.

To the pres't and directors of the M. & O. R. R'd Co.:

GENTS: On the 25th of July last, I addressed you a letter and requesting you to give me a new statement of sales of land previous to 1 July, 1857, arranged so that I could make out the deeds to the parties, to which letter I have rec'd no answer. I now call your attention particularly to it, and request you will furnish me with the necessary information.
I also wish a duplicate of sales, No. 3, and transcript 1364 of your land department cash-book from July 1, 1857, (the balance as then brought down was $37,300.80), that I may have a correct record of the sales of the land, and the receipt of money on account of the trust.

I remain, yours respectfully,

Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21*st*, 1860.

MILTON BROWN, Esq.,
President of the M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: I received your letter of the 16th inst., some three days since. We have been in the midst of a financial crisis, to which you may attribute my not giving you an immediate answer, which I will now do. I have read with care the papers enclosed, and beg to state that I see nothing in them to change my views on the subject of electing two additional trustees, as communicated to you in my letter of the 7th of July last. That proposition was entirely reasonable and in strict conformity with the requirements of the deed of trust, and I 1365 cannot but regret that we should have any disagreement on that subject.

I have written you two or three letters that have an important bearing on this trust, to which I have rec'd no answer. I now beg to call your attention particularly to them, and request that you will give me the information desired, so that the deeds may be made out and delivered to you, and the bonds cancelled and deposited in the bank of Mobile subject to my order.

Very re'p'ly,

MORRIS KETCHUM, Trustee.

Exhibit I.

New York, April, 1860.

J. S. Morgan, Esq.:

Dear Sir: Yours of the 21st duly received. I sent you a hasty note by last steamer, in which I promised a full statement for the consideration of the bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio R. R. Co. by next mail, which I now submit.

1366 In yours of the 21st you state that the directors of the M. & O.
R. R. Co. have made a communication to the English bondholders, in which they are asked to sign a request to the trustees to allow the parties purchasing the lands of the co. to pay for the same in the bonds of the co., which shall be cancelled when the deed is given, similar to the plan adopted by the Ill. Central Co.; that there is a considerable amount of these bonds held in England, and the holders are disposed favorably to consider the plan, but as they learn the trustees object to such an arrangement, they hesitate; and that you have promised to write me and ascertain what are the objections.

There is some great mistake or misapprehension somewhere. The statements are erroneous in almost every particular.

By the enclosed correspondence you will see that, so far from objecting to the plan suggested, I had proposed it, and sent them all the blanks used by the trustees of the Illinois Central trust, in order that they might at once adopt them.

I have never made any objections to signing deeds, because none have been made out by the company and sent me for that pur-1367 pose. Whenever they are sent me, with the cancelled bonds to the amount of the purchase-money, they will be executed and returned without delay.

The company have written requesting me to give some one a power of attorney to sign deeds, which I agreed to do as far as lands have been paid for, though on mature reflection I have my doubts of the full propriety of my giving them even that authority, in view of my responsibility to the bondholders, for whose benefit I have been appointed, and shall now insist on separate deeds being sent me for signature for all the lands sold, with the numbers and amounts of bonds cancelled and endorsed in each deed, in the same manner as is done by the Ill. Central R. R. trust.

It is quite certain that the managers of this company could not so far have, knowingly, departed from the facts in the case in these representations to the bondholders without an object; what that object is, I will not pretend to say.

You will see by my letter to M'r Hallett, also to the executive committee, dated March, 1859, copies of which I herein enclose, that 1368 though all the necessary blanks used by the Ill's Central trust (and these schemes are identical) were forwarded that they might at once have prepared to conduct this department without any delay or embarrassment, yet no reply has ever been received from M'r Hallett or the executive committee, nor have they indicated to me any plan of operation except the one before referred to, which will not be submitted to.

With regard to the charge of my having thrown obstacles in the way of what was proposed by the directors, in order to throw the money into my hands on which to charge a commission, is simply ridiculous. The plan of conducting the land sales presupposed the co. to be provided with the bonds of the road, which would be absorbed at par just as fast as the money came in; and if this was done in good faith no money would, as there never has any, reached the hands of the trustees, we preferring the company to sell the lands, as they should do, and furnishing the bonds, whereby they realize a profit of the difference between the market value and par.

1369 I have deeded in this way nearly a million and a half of the Illinois Central lands, and cancelled that amount of their bonds; have never charged them any commission, nor has a dollar of their money passed through our hands. It was just this system I desired this company to adopt.

I have now disposed of all the charges, and I thank for giving me an opportunity of correcting these misrepresentations to the bondholders. The trust is a large and responsible one, and I should like to be relieved from it; it is not only the responsibility, but to protect the bondholders it is likely to be annoying.

It has always appeared to me that the M. and O. R. R. has felt restive under the restraint of the N. Y. trustees, and now, while the bondholders are together, I beg you will induce them to designate some responsible person in Mobile to supersede me.

I am the only N. Y. trustee left, and it would be more agreeable to the managers to have one of their own people to fill the station, and, by a judicious selection, equally safe for them.

1370 If they will do this, I will speedily adjust my account with the co., and make a transfer of the trust.

The enterprise, in my judgment, when unembarrassed, is destined to become a successful one, and the bonds a good and improving security. It only requires an honest, economic and persevering administration, which I have no reason to doubt it now has, except the shade thrown over it by these erroneous statements, to realize all the success that its friends have anticipated.

I am, dear sir, yours very truly,

MORRIS KETCHUM.

EXHIBIT E.

Opinion of W. B. Woods, judge.

U. S. circuit court, southern district of Alabama.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY AND others.
} Decision.

In equity; heard on motion for the appointment of a receiver of the property and effects of the defendant railroad company.

The fact, so far as necessary to the decision of the motion, were as follows:

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company was an Alabama corporation, having its principal office at Mobile.

On the first day of November, A. D. 1853, said company executed its deed of trust, conveying to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, then of New York, and William R. Hallett, then of Mobile, and to the survivors and successors of them, in fee simple, all its railroad property and franchises, in trust, to secure six thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, to be issued by the company, with semi-annual interest, and payable in thirty years. Among the property conveyed by said deed of trust were one million one hundred and fifty-six thousand six hundred and fifty-eight acres of land donated to said company by act of Congress. The said deed provided that "said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of said lands and any other lands that may be obtained by said company, with authority to devise and determine rules of management of sales, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds; said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first day of January of each and every year during the period of the trust herein made to the said railroad company.

The said deed of trust further provided, that "if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company or said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring."

1372 No provision was made by the trust deed for any compensation to the trustees. Ketchum was not and is not a bondholder, stockholder or officer of the railroad company. He was a naked trustee.

The bonds secured by this deed of trust were issued by the company and sold, some in the United States and some in Europe.

Before July, 1860, both Palmer and Hallett had deceased. On the 6th of January, 1862, the railroad company filed its bill in the chancery court for the county of Mobile, in the State of Alabama, against Morris Ketchum, who was represented to be, and was in fact, a citizen of New York, and who was alleged to be, and was in fact, the sole survivor of the trustees named in said deed of trust.

The bill charged upon Ketchum, among other things, neglect of duty as trustee, refusal to unite with the company in the appointment of new trustees, and that the trust property was entirely within the Confederate States, and that he was an alien enemy, and that the trust property was suffering for the want of a trustee capable of acting, and that the interests of holders of bonds secured by deed imperatively demanded the appointment of trustees residing within the territory of the Confederate States, who could perform the duties incident to the trust.

The bill prayed that Ketchum might be removed from his position as trustee under said deed of trust, and that the vacancies caused by the death of Palmer and Hallett and the removal of Ketchum might be filled by the appointment of the court.

Upon this bill proceedings were taken, according to the code of Alabama, to bring in said Ketchum by publication. Notice of the filing, pendency, and prayer of the bill having been made by publication, according to the statute law of Alabama, and Ketchum having made default, a decree pro confesso was taken against him, and in due course a final decree was made, removing him from his office as trustee, and appointing Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson as trustees under the deed of trust.

1373 The provisions of the code of Alabama, under which these proceedings were taken, are to be found in the code of 1852, and were in force in 1853, when the trust deed was executed, and in 1863, when the bill was filed and the decree made.

These provisions (section 2,872) give the court jurisdiction over nonresidents "when the object of the suit concerns an estate of lien or charge upon lands, or the disposition thereof * * * within the State, provided (section 2,884) for service upon a non-resident by publication, and declared (section 2,999) that upon the petition or bill of any person interested in the execution of a trust, the court of chancery may remove any trustee who has violated, or threatened to violate, his trust, * * * or who from any other cause is an unsuitable person to execute the trust." And section 3,000 of the same code provides that "such court has the authority to appoint a new trustee in the place of a trustee removed."

The trustees appointed by the said chancery court accepted said trust and discharged the duties thereof for many years, without challenge or question, were in the possession and management of the lands of said railroad company not appurtenant to the line of railroad, and sold portions thereof, and made deeds therefor. They continued in said trust until the 19th of April, 1875, when, said Young and Jackson having resigned, the said Walsh, then sole trustee, and the said railroad company, in accordance with the provisions of the deed of trust, appointed W. Butler Duncan and A. Foster Elliot trustees under the same, who accepted the trust and at once entered upon the duties thereof. From a period before the commencement of the late war down to the filing of his bill in this case, Ketchum did not act, and set up no claim to the office of trustee. In 1865 he learned of the proceedings of the Mobile chancery court, and of the decree purporting to remove him and appoint Walsh, Young, and Jackson.

1374 The railroad company having made default in the payment of the interest due upon the bonds secured by said deed of trust, on the first days of May and November, 1874, said Duncan and Elliot, on the 8th day of May, 1875, by virtue of the premises of said deed of trust, and the assent of the said railroad company, took full possession of all the property of said railroad company, and on the 11th of May, 1875, filed their bill in equity in this court, praying, among other things, to be confirmed in their possession and protected from all interference by any party or parties whomsoever, for leave to apply to the court for instructions in the discharge of their duties, and that the equity of redemption of the said railroad company in said railroad property, &c., might be forever foreclosed, &c.

Upon this bill the court, by its decretal order, recognized Duncan and Elliot as trustees in possession, and made various other orders directing them in the discharge of their duties as such, and appointing a master to examine their accounts and to discharge the other duties appropriate to the office of master in said cause.

After all these proceedings, and not until after the filing of the bill of Duncan and Elliot, to wit, on March , 1876, Morris Ketchum filed the present bill, to which he made the railroad company, Duncan and Elliot, and others, defendants, in which he alleged that he was the sole surviving trustee of the said deed of trust; that Duncan and Elliot had, without authority, intruded themselves into said trusteeship.

The prayer of his bill is that the property conveyed by deed of trust, in which he is named as trustee, may be sold and disposed of for the benefit of the bondholders, and that a receiver may be appointed to take charge of and administer the mortgage property until such sale can be made.

1375 The railroad company filed its plea, setting up the proceedings and decree of the Mobile chancery court, and alleged the removal of Ketchum thereby, as a bar to any relief prayed by the bill.

The cause was heard on motion of complainant for the appointment of a receiver, and upon the bill, plea, and various affidavits.

Mess'rs Edward L. Andrews, Alexander McKinstry, D. C. Labatt, and B. F. Jones for the motion.

Mess'rs John A. Campbell, George N. Stewart, Peter Hamilton, and T. A. Hamilton, contra.

Woods, circuit judge:

Complainant's claim is that he is still trustee, under the deed of trust, and that Duncan and Elliot are not; that the proceedings in the Mobile chancery court, which took place during the late war of rebellion, and while Ketchum was a citizen of and actually residing in New York, was entirely inefficient to remove him from his trusteeship, which was not only an office, but an estate, and were absolutely null and void. That said court by the publication of a notice, which could not lawfully reach him, acquired no jurisdiction over his person, and that its proceedings and decree in the premises are absolutely without effect. In support of this claim, he cites the following cases: Livingston & wife vs. Jerome, 10 Am. Law Reg., 53. Cuyler vs. Ferrill, 1 Abbott's U. S. Rep., 169. Dean vs. Nelson, 10 Wall., 158.

In these cases it was held that the decree of the court of a country engaged in war, by which the estate of a party was divested, who was prevented from appearing in the court by the fact that he was outside the military lines of the country, in which the court was held, and was prohibited from entering those lines, was absolutely null and void.

I think this case is clearly distinguishable from those above cited. Ketchum was a naked trustee. He had no personal interest in the property conveyed to him by the trust deed. It was a property which according to the record cost $20,000,000, and the cestuis que trust 1376 of this immense estate were scattered all over the United States and Europe. Ketchum's co-trustees were both dead, and the war which existed between the United States and the Confederate States, rendered Ketchum as impotent to discharge the duties of the trust, as if he also had been dead. The interest of cestuis que trust imperatively demanded the services of a trustee. In this condition of things the settlor of the trust, namely, the railroad company, applied to a court of competent jurisdiction, alleging neglect of duty on the part of the surviving trustee, and stating such facts regarding the trustee as showed that it was impossible for him to discharge the duties of his trust by reason of the war then raging. The filing and averments of this bill, and the subsequent proceedings and decree, were in strict conformity with the statute law of Alabama, which had been enacted and was in force when the trust deed was executed.

It is true that the notice to Ketchum by publication was ineffectual to bring him into court, but does that fact render the proceedings and decree of the chancery court absolutely void? The court was called on to act in the conservation of an immense property lying within its jurisdiction, in which thousands of persons, among them aliens, married women, infants and trustees, were interested. The court acts to preserve this property, and acts in strict conformity to law. Can it be possible that the proceedings of the court are absolutely void because service was not made upon a naked trustee, whom it was impossible to serve? Is the removal of a trustee incapable of acting and the appointment of another to act in behalf of such a trust one of the class of decrees declared by the authorities to be void, because the removed trustee was beyond the military line and could not be served? In my judgment the proceeding was not absolutely void. It was at least effectual for the valid appointment of trustees to act during the disability of the original surviving trustee.

1377 This view is supported by the language used by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Lockhart vs. Horn, 17 Wall., 580: "We admit," says the court, "that the acts of the several States, in their individual capacities, and of their different departments of government, executive, judicial, and legislative, during the war, so far as they did not impair or tend to impair the supremacy of the national authority or the just rights of citizens under the Constitution, are, in general, to be treated as valid and binding. The existence of a state of insurrection and war did not loosen the bonds of society or do away with civil government or the regular administration of the laws. Order was to be preserved, police regulations maintained, crime prosecuted, property protected, contracts enforced, marriages celebrated, estates settled, and the transfer and descent of property regulated precisely as in time of peace. No one, that we are aware of, seriously questions the validity of judicial or legislative acts in the insurrectionary States touching these and kindred subjects, where they were not hostile in their purpose or mode of enforcement to the authority of the national government and did not impair the rights of citizens under the Constitution?"

If the decree of the Mobile chancery court was not absolutely void, it was the duty of Ketchum, as soon as peace was restored, to assert his right to the office of trustee. He says, by implication, in his bill, that in 1865 he learned of the decree which purported to remove him and appoint others in his stead. The laws of Alabama gave him until the 26th of June, 1869, to apply to the court to open its decree and allow him to make his defence to the bill. He never made such application. On the contrary, although important duties, such as making conveyances for lands sold, were imposed upon him by the deed of trust, although the same instrument required annual reports to be made by him to the railroad company, he never did an act of any kind under 1378 his trust, held no communication with the railroad company, its officers or agents in reference thereto, and set up no claim to the office of trustee until the filing of the bill in this case in March, 1876.

In the mean time the trustees appointed in his stead were active in the discharge of their duties, were making conveyances to vast quantities of the trust lands sold by the railroad company, and finally Walsh, the remaining trustee, concurred in the appointment of Duncan and Elliot, whose title to the office of trustees has been recognized by this court.

Clearly, such a course of conduct on the part of Ketchum is an abandonment of any title he may have had to the office of trustee, and an acquiescence in the order of things established by the decree of the Mobile chancery court.

Where there has been a long acquiescence in an irregular appointment the court will not remove. (Attorney-General vs. Cummings, 2 Youngs & Collyer, Ch. Ca., 150.)

"It is to be noticed that long acquiescence in a particular grievance, without effort to redress it, is generally held to be a complete bar to relief in equity, either by a receiver or an injunction."

And plaintiffs, who had quietly acquiesced in defendant's possession of property for a long period of years, without attempting to assert their rights to the property, and who then seek to change such possession by a receiver, will be denied the aid of a court in limine. (High on Receivers, sec. 742.)

If Ketchum, at the close of the late war, had the right to disregard the proceedings of the Mobile chancery court, by which he was removed, and to resume his duties as trustee, he has clearly lost that right by neglect to do so, and by long acquiescence in the existing order of things. (McQuidy vs. Ware, 20 Wall., 19.)

1379 The result of these views is that Ketchum is not trustee in the deed of trust, as claimed by him in his bill. As all the relief asked by him is based on the claim that he is such trustee, his motion for the appointment of a receiver is without grounds to support it, and must be overruled.

M. DORELLI ZEIGLER
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.

The joint and several answer of W'm H. Hays, W'm S. Pierson, and T. Haskins DuPuy to the bill of complaint exhibited in this court by M. Dorelli Zeigler against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and others as defendants.

These defendants allege and aver that they are the holders of bonds issued by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Co. upon the security of their first mortgage, mentioned in the bill of complaint in this cause, to the amount of three million nine hundred thousand dollars and upwards, and of interest arrearage bonds issued on the security of the first mortgage to the amount of $1,192,800.00, and of sterling interest 1391 bonds issued under the security of said first mortgage to the amount of $765,120.00, and of bonds issued upon the security of the second mortgage of said corporation to the amount of $361,990.00, and of all the coupons attached to said bonds and now remaining overdue and unpaid, and also of coupons formerly attached to said bonds, and which matured in the year 1874, to the amount of $535,000.00 and upwards, all of which claims they aver and allege are entitled to be paid in the order of their maturity out of the proceeds of the mortgage premises mentioned in the bill of complaint in this cause.

And they deny all the averments and allegations in said bill of complaint which in any way tend to impeach, impair, weaken, or 1392 diminish the claims arising upon the said bonds and coupons; and these defendants accept and adopt the answer made in this cause by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and the answer made in this cause by William Butler Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

1394 Answers of Duncan & Elliot.

Circuit court of the United States, southern district of Alabama.

DORELLI ZIEGLER ET AL.
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.
} In chancery.

The joint and several answers of W'm Butler Duncan and A. Foster Elliott, defendants named in the bill of complaint of Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard de Walterville, Masson Chavannes, and Henry Jump, as plaintiffs in the said circuit court against them and other defendants.

And the said defendants, saving and reserving to themselves the benefit of all defences which they could obtain by demurrer or plea to the imperfections of the said bill, for answer say:

1395 That by a decree rendered in the court of chancery of the State of Alabama for the first district of the southern chancery division at Mobile, in a cause between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation of the State of Alabama, and Morris Ketchum, the said Morris Ketchum was removed from the office of trustee under the deed of said company bearing date the first day of November, 1853, wherein he had been nominated and appointed as trustee, and George H. Young, Alexander Jackson, and William Dickson were appointed instead of the said Ketchum who was removed, and W'm R. Hallett and John J. Palmer who were dead at that time.

These respondents say that the said Morris Ketchum had been duly made a party to the cause, and that the bill was filed for his re- 1396 moval because he had been unfaithful as a trustee, had failed in the performance of his duty, and was entirely unsuitable for the office, and resided permanently beyond the limits of the State in a territory hostile to the State of Alabama, and the said decree was carried into execution in the year 1863 by the entry of the appointees into the trust property, and that from the said date the said Ketchum has made no effort or attempt to execute the office of trustee and asserted no title to the office until the month of March, 1876, and that the said ap.

pointees continued in possession and performed the duty until their resignation in 1875, when these defendants became the successors by due and legal appointment, and were vested with all the rights and faculties conferred by the deed.

1397 These defendants, further answering, say that the decree aforesaid has remained in full force and effect, and is binding and operative, has never been raised or reviewed, appealed from, nor reheard.

These respondents say that as trustees they entered upon the trust property in May, 1875, because the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company failed to pay the interest due on the bonds mentioned in the deed during the year' 1874 and 1875, and that the said default still continues.

Your respondents further say that in May, 1875, they filed a bill to enforce the trusts of the deed of trust in this court and made the company aforesaid defendant, and all the incumbrances of said property within the jurisdiction of the court, and that answers and replications were filed to the bill by the parties and the cause was at issue in March, 1876.

1398 Your respondents, further answering, say that in March, 1876, an order was made to refer the cause to a master of the court to take an account of the debts and the property of the corporation by mortgage on which created a charge on the trust property and to provide for the sale of the property for the payment of the same, in order that the trusts of the deed might be carried into effect.

Your respondents state that the master has made his report of the matters submitted, and that the same has been open for exceptions for one month prior to the date of the filing of this answer.

Your respondents, further answering, say that the bonds held by the said plaintiffs as set forth in the bill were all proved on the said reference on their behalf, and the same are reported by the mas-1399 ter as a charge on the said trust property, and the said plaintiffs did not file exceptions to any part of the said report, nor in any manner did they controvert the same, and these defendants aver that the said plaintiffs have no right to be heard to aver anything adversely to the title of these defendants, nor to impugn the conclusions of the said report, and the defendants plead the pendency of the said suit and the connection of the said plaintiffs with the same as parties, and their submission to accept the benefits of the same as a ground for refusing the prayer for relief.

And these defendants aver that their administration of the said deed of trust and of the powers granted has been just, impartial, and faithful. They deny that they have given any acknowledgment of any inferior or invalid claim upon the company, or upon the trust 1400 property. They aver that the claims of the Tennessee substitution bondholders have not been submitted to them, but have been submitted to the circuit court of the United States for the western district of Tennessee, and that in a suit involving them a case has been agreed to among all the different parties interested, and that this statement was consented to by the said respondents, or by their agents, and by persons in the same condition as themselves.

This statement of facts is just and fair, and the agreements allow these plaintiffs to appear on their own behalf to maintain their own rights.

These defendants aver that the imputations upon them are malicious and wholly destitute of any foundation in truth.

1401 These defendants deny that the said plaintiffs have any important support from the bondholders; that two-thirds of the bondholders have united in suits to confirm and to approve the title of these defendants and to sanction their administration as trustees and as receivers, and that all of their conduct has been supported in the reports filed in this court by masters appointed by the court.

These defendants deny the title of the plaintiffs to maintain this bill, or to call in question the title of the defendants, or to dispute the reports of the master in the cause of Foster and Elliott against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and others, in this court, in this form. And these defendants pray to have the benefit of the statutes of limitations of ten years and all other statutes 1402 applicable to the delay on the part of the said Morris Ketchum to take any step to annul or to set aside the decree of the court of chancery at Mobile, which removed him from office, and also in the delay to assert any title to the office of trustee, and because of his acquiescence in the decree of removal and his abandonment of the position of trustee.

And these defendants, having considered the answer of their codefendant, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, adopt the same as their own, and crave the benefit of all the matters therein set forth, averred, or pleaded, as if they had been named as respondents therein.

D. ZIEGLER ET ALS.
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET ALS.

The separate answer of Samuel L. M. Barlow to the bill of complaint of Dorelli Zeigler and others filed against him, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and others in this honorable court.

This respondent, reserving to himself all right of exception to said bill of complaint, for answer thereto, admits the incorporation of said railroad company and the construction of its said railroad as stated in the bill. He admits that said company executed the several mort-1405 gages as therein stated, and that there is a large amount of debt due upon said mortgages for principal and interest, and that said company is in default in payment of the interest upon all of them; and as to interest due upon the first mortgage, which was executed 1 November, 1853, this respondent states said corporation made default on 1 May, 1874, and has ever since continued in default upon all interest on said debt.

This respondent shews that Palmer and Hallett, two of the trustees named in said deed, died, the one in 1859, the other in 1860, and that the survivor, Morris Ketchum, was removed from the trust by decree of the court of chancery of the State of Alabama, sitting in Mobile in 1863, which was a court of competent jurisdiction, and said decree is in full force, and from that time all right on his part to be said trustee 1406 entirely ceased. Said court of chancery appointed other trustees in place of said Ketchum, Hallett, and Palmer, to wit, George H. Young, Alexander Jackson, and Charles Walsh, who performed all the duties to be done by said trustees till April, 1875, when they resigned, and the co-defendants of this respondent, viz, W'm Butler Duncan and A. Foster Elliott, were appointed trustees of said deed by the joint appointment of Walsh, the latest continuing of said trustees, and the said railroad company, as provided by the said deed of trust and the decree of said court of chancery; that they have gone into possession of said trust estate, and have filed their bill to foreclose said mortgage. Said Duncan and Elliot have been appointed receivers by this honorable court, and this respondent is entirely satisfied with their execu-1407 tion of the trust and management of said property as trustees and receivers.

This respondent, with said Duncan, represents a mortgage deed of trust executed by said corporation 1st January, 1874.

A large majority of all the mortgage debt of said corporation has been assigned to W'm H. Hays, W'm S. Pierson, and T. H. Du Puy, with the design of reorganizing the said corporation and readjusting its debts and its affairs so that its business can be successfully and profitably conducted to the security and advantage of its creditors, to whom of right said property should be appropriated.

This respondent is content that said mortgage may be foreclosed and the property sold under the decree of this honorable court, so that parties entitled may receive payment of their several debts from 1408 the proceeds thereof according to their just right of priority, as it may be equitably decreed and established, but he does not admit that said Ketchum has any right in the premises. He does not admit that said complainants are the holders of bonds, as asserted by them, and insists that they be compelled to prove their allegations in this respect, and having answered, he prays to be dismissed with his costs.

These defendants, saving and reserving to themselves all benefit of any exception to any errors and insufficiencies in said bill, for answer thereto, or so much thereof as they are advised it is material for them answer, say:

1. They admit that they are trustees of and under the second mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, mentioned in the complainant's bill, and they say that in suit in equity of William B.
1410 Duncan and A. Foster Elliot against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and others, heretofore brought and now pending in this honorable court, to foreclose the same first mortgage mentioned and sought to be foreclosed by the bill of the complainants in this case, these defendants have filed their answer, and they have also answered to the bill in equity heretofore filed and now pending in this court by Morris Ketchum, complainant, against the said railroad company and others, defendants, to foreclose the same first mortgage mentioned in the complainant's bill; and this court having made an order that this case and the said other two cases be consolidated and proceeded in and heard together, these defendants refer to their answers in the said two other cases and adopt the same as their answer in this case; and having fully answered, they pray to be hence dismissed with their reasonable costs and allowances.

1415 Answer of M. & O. R. R. Co. to bill of D. Zeigler et als.

In the circuit court of the United States for the fifth judicial circuit, southern district of Alabama. In equity.

To the honorable the judges presiding in said court:

The answer of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to the bill of complaint of Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard de Waterville, Masson Chavanes, and Henry Jump, complainants in this court, filed against William B. Duncan, S. L. Barlow, A. Iselin, R. T. Wilson, Charles Walsh, George H. Young, William Dickson, Robert C. Crawford, John Reid, j'r, W'm D. Dunn, Alexander Jackson, and this defendant.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, defendant, saving all matter of exception to the said bill, answering, says: That it is true that said company was organized to construct a railroad from Mobile, extending through the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and 1416 Kentucky to a point near the mouth of the Ohio River. That it was chartered by the State of Alabama, and acted also under laws of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, and that it was empowered by law to borrow money and to execute bonds and mortgages, &c., to secure payment of the same.

It also admits that a grant of lands was made by Congress, lying in Alabama and Mississippi, to aid in the construction of said railroad.

The printed copies of the several acts referred to in said bill in Exhibit A & B, this defendant supposes to be copies of such acts as charged.

This defendant admits that it did borrow money, execute bonds, and a deed of trust and of mortgage to secure the payment of said bonds and interest, by which said Morris Ketchum, William R. Hallett, and John J. Palmer were constituted trustees, to whom the property was conveyed for the execution of said trusts. That the trusts were 1417 accepted, and the deed was recorded in the several States and counties through which the road passed. That the bonds were for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling each, money of Great Britain, and six thousand in number, and dated on (1st) first November, 1853, payable thirty years after date, with interest, payable semi-annually as set forth in the said deed of mortgage and trust. Also, that the said bonds were negotiated to raise money, and were put in circulation as occasion offered; the greater part of which are now outstanding in the hands of various holders unpaid; and this defendant admits that it was announced publicly that said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett were the trustees, named by said deed, with the powers thereby conferred, at the time of the issuance and date of said bonds and mortgage.

In answer to the allegations of the bill that the complainants 1418 are owners of one hundred and forty-six thousand dollars of said first-mortgage bonds, this defendant says that it does not know whether or not said complainants own any of said bonds or coupons, nor how many of them, and if material prays that said allegation be proved by the production of such bonds and coupons, as their said ownership is not admitted.

And as to their right to maintain the trusteeship and performance of the covenants of said mortgage, this defendant answers that if they are the holders and owners of any of said bonds this right is admitted, but if the complainants mean that the said Ketchum is to administer said right this defendant denies the allegation, because it says said Ketchum has long since ceased to be such trustee, long since ceased to act and claim to be such, has been lawfully removed from said office of trustee by the proper court, the chancery court of Mobile, Alabama, having jurisdiction to remove him from said office, and the only court having such powers and jurisdiction; which court did remove him 1419 for lawful and sufficient cause shewn, and did appoint successors in said trust, who entered upon the duties of the trust, and upon whose resignation respectively and according to the terms of the deed, two others, namely, said William Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot, were lawfully appointed as successors, and who did also enter upon the duties thereof and are now the acting trustees under said deed, and who are now under the order and decree of the circuit court of the United States at Mobile performing the said duties with the full concurrence of this company and of a very large majority of the holders of the said first-mortgage bonds; and also of a large majority of the holders of all other mortgage bonds issued by said company and of all the creditors of the company.

This defendant admits that at the time of the execution of said bonds and mortgage the railroad was only partially constructed, and 1420 that the lands granted by the United States did form a very large portion of the property conveyed by the deed of mortgage; and as to what powers the deed gave to said trustees in respect thereto this defendant refers to the deed itself.

It denies the allegations of the bill to be true, wherein it is charged that this company did, in 1858 or at any other time, make various or any efforts to defeat the purpose of the trust or divert the proceeds of the lands from their proper application, but on the contrary says they did take action to stop the misapplication of said trustee Ketchum of funds of said trust to his own use, which had already occurred, and which practice he insisted in continuing, and other violations of duty as such trustee.

As to what were the proceedings of the Illinois Central Railroad and of said Ketchum in relation thereto, this defendant deems to be entirely immaterial for this court to enquire into, and therefore neither admits nor denies the same.

1421 This defendant, further answering, says that it has no knowledge of the alleged correspondence of said Ketchum with his co-trustees, nor with the president of the Bank of Mobile, nor with said J.
S. Morgan, of London, as set forth in the Exhibit C of complainant, nor of any approval of any bondholders, nor of which of them, of the course of said Ketchum towards the directors of this company as set forth in the complainant's bill, and can neither admit or deny the same; and if material, prays that proof thereof be made. They say, however, that said matters are now wholly immaterial to the determination of this cause, as they are advised.

This defendant further answers and says that it is true that in January, 1862, this defendant did cause to be filed in the chancery court of Mobile, southern chancery division of Alabama, their bill of complaint against the said Morris Ketchum, to remove him from his office of trustee 1422 under the said deed of mortgage and trust, for good, lawful, and sufficient causes, of violation and non-performance of his duties as such trustee, sufficient in law for his removal, which are in said bill specified, and other causes. The said Ketchum had been duly informed of the causes of dissatisfaction of this company by a letter to him directed by Milton Brown, the president of this company, a copy of which is herewith filed as an exhibit to this answer, marked "No. 1;" that a report was made to the auditor of this company by said Brown, a copy of which is herewith also annexed as exhibit, marked "No. 2." This was communicated to the board of directors of the company.

That by reason of the conduct of said Ketchum the company lost all confidence in him, and all intercourse between them ceased; that in 1861 all intercourse ceased between the company and residents of 1423 New York by reason of the political disturbance between the two sections of the country; that said Hallett and Palmer had died, and the said Ketchum had become unable and incompetent to act; the trust property by reason thereof remained without trustee and without the means provided by the deed to supply successors to the trust; that trustees were indispensable for the protection of the trust property in which European bondholders were the principal beneficiaries, in addition to which the said Ketchum had expressed his desire to withdraw and be relieved from the position of trustee, and that others should be appointed; for all which causes the said board of directors, by its resolution adopted on the 5th of December, 1861, directed its counsel to file the said bill in the said chancery court for the removal of Ketchum and appointment of three trustees to execute the trust provided by said deeds, which was accordingly done. A copy of said resolution is 1424 herewith filed as an exhibit to this answer, marked "No. 3."

This defendant prays leave to refer to a full and complete transcript of said record of the chancery court of Mobile County, and insists that the proceedings had in said cause were had in precise conformity to the laws of the State and practice of the court; that the court had jurisdiction to the exclusion of all other tribunals to hear and determine the same; that the said Ketchum had full actual knowledge of the rendition of the final decree in said cause in the year 1865; that the laws of the State entitled him for years afterwards to proceedings to reexamine the said proceedings, to question and review the same by appeal and rehearing; but that said Ketchum, pursuing his desire apparently to retire from said trust, never elected to question its force and effect, and the same stand in full force and effect, not in any man-1425 ner impeached, impaired, having been carried into full execution from the time of the rendition thereof adversely to the claim of said Ketchum, to his knowledge, without any claim whatever or pretension of claim asserted from that time until the year 1876, after such acquiescence and after all claim was barred by the statute of limitations of Alabama of ten years.

Your respondent admits that default occurred as to the payment of coupons for interest on the first-mortgage bonds due on first May, 1875, and answers that a like default occurred on first May, 1874, and that no interest on said bonds was paid by the company on said last-mentioned day nor on any day since; the fund of the company proving inadequate for the payment thereof and of other demands. That it is true that the coupons for interest on said bonds, which were payable on the first of May, 1874, and on the first of November, 1874, were held this defendant insists), but the holders of said coupons received the amount thereof to their satisfaction when due, and surrendered the same uncancelled. This was done by means of an arrangement made between said company and the mercantile firm of Duncan, Sherman & Company, by which, in consequence of the inability of the company to pay said coupons at maturity, it was agreed that Duncan, Duncan & Co. should take them up with their own moneys, and hold them for a short time, when it was expected the next winter's business of the company would enable it to pay them.

In this view and expectation, Duncan, Sherman & Co. did take them up and hold them as purchasers, and by substitution with all the rights of holders; and did transfer them to the said Alexander Duncan, who paid the amount thereof to Duncan, Sherman & Co., whereby he became the full and lawful holder of said coupons, and justly 1427 entitled to payment thereof, amounting to over $700,000, and which coupons are still of full effect and unpaid. As to the allegation that the holders receiving payment of their interest on said coupons did not know that they were not paid by the company, this defendant says it is true that some of those coupon-holders have declared that they did not know it, but they were not paid as they had been before paid; there was no concealment as to who paid them. All those who desired the information obtained it, and it was made known to all who wished to know how they were paid, and probably well known to the large holders, and to all those who took interest in the bond market.

As to the control which W'm B. Duncan and said Elliott had in the matter, the simple answer is, that the affairs of the company were governed by a board, and that from a deficiency of income and debts
est at command; and it is to be supposed the best was done which could be under the circumstances; and as to how the income of 1873 and 1874 was to be appropriated, that was a subject for the consideration and determination of the board of directors, and not of this court in this cause.

This defendant in answer to the allegations of the bill in respect to the appointment of William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliot, as trustees under said deed, deny the allegations of said bill and answer, and say that the trustees Jackson and Young resigned their office as trustees, and that under the terms of the deed, by the concurrent action of the board of directors of the company and of the remaining trustee, the vacancies were filled by the appointment of said Duncan and Elliot; and that afterwards the said Walsh resigned, so that said Dun-to act and carry into effect the trusts of said deed. That they were persons having full knowledge of the situation of the affairs of the company, and deemed particularly fit to manage the closing of the business, which had become very complicated and required a very arduous action to prevent loss and sacrifice, and to close its affairs in the best manner possible under the great difficulties in the way. That this appointment was with and has had the sanction of a great majority of the bondholders, and the management of said trustees has proved entirely satisfactory to said majority of the bondholders and of this company.

This defendant admits that the said Duncan and Elliot did enter into possession as trustees of all the property of this company, not as charged by the complainants in violation of the terms of the deed, but in strict accordance with it, by reason of the default of payment of the coupons in May, 1874, and not under the default of May, 1875.

1430 That the possession was surrendered of the road and of all the property and assets on the 8th of May, 1875. That this claim of possession was proper and necessary for the performance of the trusts of the deed, and no such claim and no claim whatever had been made by said Ketchum to execute the said trusts since his removal; and (with others) the said Moran Brothers, who now appear as agents of the complainants in the prosecution of this bill, representing themselves then to be holders of $178,000 of first mortgage bonds and of $29,500 of interest bonds, addressed a communication at New York under date of May 4th, 1875, directed to "Mess'rs W'm B. Duncan and A. F. Elliot, trustees of the first mortgage bonds of M. & O. R. R. Co., of Alabama," as such holders of bonds with their request in the following words: "Hereby request that you take possession of said railroad and appurtenances, and take such other measures as may be necessary to protect the interest 1431 of the first mortgage bondholders in accordance with the terms of the mortgage of which you are now the trustees." To the said action of said trustees there was no objection or opposition manifested at the time that this defendant knows of from any quarter, nor was any objection made from any quarter to the appointment or action of the trustees Walsh, Jackson and Young, while they were trustees.

This defendant says it is true that the said Duncan and Elliot did, on 11th May, 1875, file their bill in this honorable court as trustees for the carrying into effect the stipulations of said deed or mortgage for the payment of amounts due to the said bondholders of the first mortgage. This bill was filed by them as the lawful representatives of those bond and coupon holders for the enforcement of their rights; to said bill this company and trustees of other mortgage and bond creditors having liens on the property were made parties defendant, and auxiliary 1432 bills have also been filed in the circuit courts of the United States at Jackson, Mississippi, Memphis, Tennessee, and at Louisville, Kentucky, for the close and settlement of all rights of all parties having liens on the property; that this court has taken jurisdiction of the said cause, and has made proper orders by which said trustees have been recognized as the proper representatives of the said trust property, in full possession thereof, and has by its decree clothed the said trustees with the power and authority of receivers, to hold the said property in all things subject to the order of this court, and to be distributed as the court may order, and as to which disposal, all parties having rights or interest therein could be heard. That orders were made in this court in said cause for all parties having claims to present them, that a special master was appointed in said cause to receive and audit all claims and to take an account of all property and indebtedness to be reported 1433 to the court, that time given and due publication made for all parties to present their claims at times and places advertised, that said master did hold a sitting in New York, of which the said Moran Brothers, agents of the complainants, if such they were, or are, had due notice, that the time for presenting claims has expired, and the said master has made his report thereon, and said cause is nearly ready for a final decree to be rendered thereon.

That the bonds claimed by the complainants, as this defendant have been advised, were duly presented and proved before said Commissioner James Gillette, with those also of said Moran Brothers in August and September, 1876, and have been allowed to have their part and share in the distribution of funds to be made by this court, and have been reported to the court accordingly. To all which proceedings for the execution of said trust, this defendant begs leave to refer by the records as may be necessary.

As to the Tennessee bonds, a question does arise as to the lien 1434 of the same, which is to be decided by the court. As to the coupons in the hands of Alexander Duncan, they never have been paid, and consequently are justly due.

In relation to the charge that trustees do not pay and have not paid the interest on the coupons, it is sufficient to observe that the income of the road is regularly reported to the court, and can be disposed of only, when and as the court shall order; that the road is being well managed, economically and faithfully, with diligence, good judgment and skill; the trustees have given good and satisfactory security as the court has required, that all the trust fund realized is, as this defendant is satisfied, placed in safe deposatories, ready to be produced for the disposal of the court, at any time when required.

This condition of safety of the funds and good management of the said trustees and receivers, the said Moran Brothers, the instigators of this suit, well know as is manifest by the declaration of bond-1435 holders holding $1,140,900, bonds signed by them with the said
Moran Brothers at the head of the list, asserting that they held $254,500 of bonds as by which they made known their wishes at New York on the 1st of April, 1876, as follows:

"The undersigned holders of the first mortgage bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, having learned of the matters in controversy in these two causes, and of the application of Morris Ketchum to remove W'm B. Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot as trustees and receivers under said first mortgage, approve the appointment of said Duncan and Elliot as trustees and receivers and protest against their removal and the substitution of any appointee of the said Morris Ketchum as such receiver, believing that such a change would be injurious to the interest of all classes of creditors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company."

As to any false representations made to induce the making of the above or to the former recited declaration of said Moran Brothers 1436 this defendant says it is informed and therefore answers that the said allegation is wholly untrue.

Your respondent says it is true that said Morris Ketchum, did on the 14th March, 1876, file a bill in chancery in this court setting up the claim that he and he only is the real trustee entitled to execute the trusts of said deed.

To this bill this company and also the said Duncan and Elliot as trustees are made defendants, the latter as receivers. The bill prays for foreclosure of the mortgage, sale of the property, appointment of receivers, for account to be taken of the debts, &c., just as if the property was not already under administration by the court in another cause of which the court had, before the filing of said bill, taken full jurisdiction, and which prior cause was still pending and undetermined. It is true that a demurrer to said bill of Ketchum has been by this court overruled and also a plea reciting the decree of the Mobile chancery court. But it is also true that a motion for appointing receivers 1437 made by said Ketchum on his bill, was heard before this court, and denied, on the ground that said Ketchum was not such trustee as he claimed. The decree overruling the plea and the demurrer to the bill recited by the complainants are not yet final, an application for rehearing on those points is still pending and undisposed of in this court, and the bill of said Ketchum has been fully answered with denial that he has any cause of action whatever, and the case is still pending and undetermined.

Your respondent further shews, that in addition to the plainly apparent fact that the bill of Ketchum was filed for the administration of an estate, as to the settlement of which another bill was pending previously filed, and of which the court had taken jurisdiction was pending and undetermined with the property in the custody of the court for distribution, for which cause such a bill as that of said Ketchum could 1438 not be entertained, this defendant alleges the fact to be, that said bill of said Ketchum was fraudulently filed, not for the bona fide purpose of asserting the rights of the first bondholders, but by a collusive contrivance and combination between said Ketchum and his counsel, who filed said bill, one Edward L. Andrews, for purposes of private gain and motives of a personal nature, and brought by said Ketchum at the instigation and procurement of said Andrews as a part of a scheme gotten up by him, said Andrews, for the annoyance of the parties to the bill of the receivers as above set forth, and to obstruct by all means a speedy close and settlement of the estate.

In answer to the allegations that the complainants do not know who are the trustees charged with the management of said trust, this defendant says it cannot answer what actual personal knowledge the complainants in Europe may have or not have, but that their said 1439 agents, the Moran Brothers, have such knowledge very clearly appears by the two writings signed by them hereinbefore set forth, and by the fact that they for themselves have made themselves parties to the cause pending in this court above described, in which said Duncan and Elliot are complainants, by the filing of the bonds claimed to be held by themselves personally, and also of the bonds held by them as agents for others, say in all, bonds to the amount of $421,500, to be taken into the account in the distribution of the trust fund to be made by the court in said cause. That their said claim has been allowed and reported to the court. That in this claim the bonds now claimed for the complainants are included as bonds held by them for others, and consequently they have become parties litigant in said suit and will be bound by its decree as this defendant is advised, and cannot therefore maintain another suit for the consideration of the same subject.

1440 This defendant further answers that the charge that the management of the road and custody of the property under the direction of the court are injurious to the interest of the bondholders, and that the same should be settled under their bill, and that what is done under the trustees, Duncan and Elliot, will be contested, shew the true spirit under which the present bill was filed, and its true character as presented by the agents of the complainants. This defendant does not know, whether or not the complainants have any information of the filing of this bill, nor whether they have authorized it, nor whether they are the owners of the bonds represented, all which is certain is, that it appears to be prosecuted by the said Moran Brothers as their agents, and the ill-will of the said agents, the said Duncan and Elliot, has been fully manifested. In this, however, the said Moran Brothers can represent a very small minority of the interest of the first-mortgage bondholders, as an overwhelming majority of the said bondhold-1441 ers approve of the course of proceeding now in progress for the settling of the affairs of the company, and unite with this defendant in approbation of the conduct of the said trustees and of the management of the road, and in condemnation of the after-thought claim of Morris Ketchum.

Your respondent shews that the proceedings pending for the settlement of the trust estate instituted by the trustees were commenced and carried on in good faith by the said Duncan and Elliot for the best interest of the first-mortgage bondholders; that questions of difficulty have arisen; that it has been the purpose of the parties to do the best with the property with just regard to the rights and interest of all parties concerned, and to prevent loss and sacrifice so far as possible in the unfortunate state of the enterprise and disasters which have occurred; that the great mass of the bondholders have been satisfied with the proper management of the property, with the fidelity of the trustees, 1442 and with the proceedings had before the court for the close and final settlement of the trust, which, if not interrupted by contentious parties, would have been soon closed to the best advantage, but that to prevent this proper result various obstructions have been interposed by vexatious and malicious proceedings, instituted as is believed to obstruct the proceedings, delay the final result, create litigation, confusion and expense, so as to make a wreck of the railroad for motives of speculation and private gains in the general confusion.

In the first place a petition in this court, in the suit of the trustees Duncan and Elliot, in the name of Georgia Warnes, who claimed to be the holder of ten bonds, was filed on the 4th of February, 1876, by the said E. L. Andrews above named, as her counsel (who had before had a legal controversy, in New York, with William B. Duncan), praying that she, the said Georgie Wernes be made a party complainant 1443 in said suit, that Duncan and Elliot should be removed from the positions of trustees and receivers, and that others be appointed in their place; that she might have leave to file a schedule of bondholders, who might desire to unite in her petition, and that the trustees and the company should be restrained from appointing other trustees of their choice, &c.

In this petition vituperative charges were made against said Duncan to affect his character, reciting allegations outside of the business of the trust.

The said petition was pressed with great zeal by the said Andrews. It was answered fully by said Duncan, and the result of that proceeding was that on the 8th of April, 1876, the petition was dismissed by this court, and the said attorney Andrews, who had filed it, was taxed with the costs incurred in the prosecution of it.

The said Andrews next filed the bill in this court in the name of Morris Ketchum, who he had applied to for leave to file it, saying to 1444 him that he had a proceeding pending to remove the trustees, and proposed that he be allowed to use the name of said Ketchum, who, since 1860, and until then, had set up no claim as trustee. The circumstances under which said bill was filed pretty well appear as far as the said Andrews and Ketchum, in collusion together, felt compelled to disclose them by an examination had in respect thereto of each of them on oath before a commissioner in New York, a copy of which examination is herewith filed as an exhibit to this answer, No. 4. By which the court will be informed of the bona fides of the contrivance of said parties.

In the said bill it was charged that said Duncan and Elliot had fraudulently intruded themselves in said cause as trustees, representing fraudulent claims against the company, &c., and prayed that they be removed, and he admitted as sole trustee under the deed.

1445 On this bill said Andrews moved the court that said trustees be removed, and pressed said motion with the utmost vehemence. The said Duncan and Elliot, however, resisted the motion, and introduced such evidences to the court in contradiction of the assertions made that the motion was refused, and it was declared that said Ketchum was not such trustee as he pretended. This decision was made on the   day of April, 1871.

The said Georgie Warnes, whose name was used by said Andrews, after she had been induced to make the petition above referred to, on obtaining information as to the truth of the charges made in her name and by her, through her said counsel, ordered her said petition to be dismissed, and addressed a letter to said Duncan withdrawing the charges made in her said petition, as will be seen in the exhibit herewith filed, marked "No. 5," explaining her action in regard thereto.

1446 And this defendant further shews that the next movement of said Andrews was a proceeding filed in the name of Louis Belloni, who claims ten bonds, as before stated, saying that the coupons of May 1, 1874, and of Nov. 1, 1874, were paid and extinguished, and that the right of Alexander Duncan to the same to the amount of $700,000 and more was false; that said coupons were no lien on the mortgage property and no claim against the property of the company itself. This proceeding, by way of objection to be tried, was filed before James Gillette, the master, in November, 1876, and on this allegation voluminous evidence was taken, and the investigation was only closed on the 20th April, 1877, the result being a very large volume of evidence, which it was demanded should be printed, and was printed, against the strenuous objection of this defendant, causing very great expense.

And this defendant prays leave to refer to the said evidence to 1447 show the character of said proceeding, by the introduction of a mass of evidence entirely irrelevant to the subject and calculated to throw obloquy on the said Duncan and Elliot and on the company. The result was that the right of Alexander Duncan was fully proved.

At this time the said Andrews introduced a new party as his clients, with another objection taken before the master on reference. Said new party was Moran Brothers. As counsel for them, he introduced their objections to the proceedings, alleging that the bonds of the company given for the Tennessee loan had been discharged by payment to the State of Tennessee, and constituted no lien on the property of the company. The petition of said Moran Brothers was filed in November, 1876. When the master proceeded to examine said subject it appeared that the bonds which were denied to be valid claims were represented by certain trustees, who were indispensable parties 1448 necessary to be heard on the subject.

Said trustees were not parties to the cause, were not represented before the master, and it appeared the court had no jurisdiction as to them. Notwithstanding this insuperable objection, the said Andrews insisted on a voluminous introduction of evidence, long-protracted examinations, with extensions of time applied for, the evidence to be printed, and taking a wide range of irrelevant matter, claiming that it be all printed, at great expense, and which examination was continued until the twentieth April, 1877; all which can be of no avail, and which was carried on, as this defendant must conclude, for purposes of vexation, and merely to obstruct the proceedings and prevent a close of the business.

About the same time the said Moran Brothers again appeared in another proceeding to obstruct the action of the court and close of the business, in the shape of a petition in the said cause pending for 1449 settlement of the trust. This petition was also filed by said E.
S. Andrews in November, 1876, claiming that they owned $368,000 of first-mortgage bonds and $30,000 of first-mortgage interest bonds, and, after a long recital of matters of complaint, they finally pray that "they may have notice of all the proceedings had in this cause (the bill of Duncan and Elliot), and may have leave to adopt such proceedings as they may be advised in like manner and with the same force and effect as formal parties to the record herein, and for such further relief as may be equitable."

In the said petition a long recital of wrongs are set forth, and charges of fraud and malpractice are made against said Duncan and Elliot, and false accusations are made to the end that they may be removed.

The said petition is evidently malicious and vexatious, and is still pending in this court.

1450 The said Andrews on behalf of said Moran Brothers, in December, 1876, caused citation to be served on this defendant, to shew cause why they should not be made complainants in said suit of said Duncan and Elliot, and to file such pleadings and adopt such proceedings as they might be advised; and again, the said Andrews jointly with E. H. Grandin, esqr., gave a very short notice that on Monday, 19th of February, 1877, they would move on a petition filed for the appointment of new trustees. The said Andrews has also filed bills in chancery in the circuit court of the United States at Memphis, Tennessee, and at Paducah, Kentucky, on behalf of said Morris Ketchum, claiming to be sole trustee, and has been prosecuting all such suits and proceedings in the name of said Ketchum until he has been enjoined by order of the Mobile chancery court from asserting any title of said Ketchum as said trustee. To all which proceedings this defendant begs leave to refer so often as may be needful.

1451 And your respondent shews that the present bill appears to be filed in the same spirit and motive, to keep up an irregular and multitudinous set of proceedings to embarrass, complicate, and involve the whole subject in litigation, and prevent a prompt and final close of the subject, for speculative purposes.

Further defending your respondent shows that the bondholders interested in the rescuing said property from spoliation, sacrifice, and wreck, have taken steps to compromise and settle all subjects of controversy by agreement and mutal concessions; that a plan has been proposed, discussed, and settled upon, by which the different interests may be harmonized, and said plan of settlement has been drawn up in the shape of an agreement and contract, a copy of which is herewith filed as Exhibit No. 6, as part of this answer.

By said agreement it will be seen that the bondholders agree that 1452 three trustees shall be appointed, namely, William H. Hayes, W'm S. Pierson, and T. Haskins DuPuy, to whom the bondholders participating in said agreement shall assign their bonds and coupons with full power to control the same in every respect, so as to carry out the terms of said agreement, and your respondent shows that said agreement has been carried into effect by the bondholders in a very large majority of each and every of the different classes of bondholders having become parties to said agreement, the amounts of whose bonds are shown by the exhibit filed herewith numbered 7, up to the present time. That the said trustees now hold by assignment and contract and are in possession of said majority of all the bonds outstanding, with full control of the same, and by contract signed are entitled to others not yet delivered.

Your respondents shew that the said agreement of compromise meets the full approbation of this defendant and of the said trustees 1453 Duncan and Elliot, being the act and will of the bondholders entitled to control the property, and that all said parties repudiate the claims of said Morris Ketchum, his advisers and supporters.

Your respondents respectfully show that no such relief as the complainants pray can be allowed in this court, as they are advised, as it is manifest that said complainants have failed to improve the opportunity of defending the bill of said Duncan and Elliot, by becoming parties defendants thereto, and therefore cannot now maintain an independent bill when one is already in progress on the same subject matter, and because the complainants' demands and allegations cannot be substantiated against the expressed will of a large majority of the bondholders as to the mode and management of the trust estate and fund; and because the said bill is not presented to the court in such form and manner as is required by law and the rules of the court, and does not 1454 show a case by which the complainants would be entitled to the decree of this court, nor to the relief prayed, nor to any relief in the premises; wherefore this defendant prays to be hence dismissed and allowed its costs in this behalf.

1455 EXHIBIT NO. 7.

Letter of Milton Brown, pres'd't M. & O. R. R. Co. to Morris Ketchum.

(Copy of letter.)

NEW YORK, July 20, 1860.

MORRIS KETCHUM, Esqr.:

DEAR SIR: After fully considering the construction you seem to put on our deed of mortgage, and the exercise of power you claim as surviving trustee under it, it becomes my duty to reply and state the conclusions of my mind on the subject.

The mortgage gives no power to the trustees to sell lands or control the proceeds of sales, unless the company make default in payment of interest or principal of the mortgage bonds, or be guilty of some fraud or misapplication of the funds. The mortgage provides that the trustees shall have power to make sales and direct the application of the proceeds as a sinking fund, and appoints agents to superintend the same. But this power is only conferred in case of forfeiture, for it is expressly provided that until default in payment, no sales of land can 1456 be made except by the consent of the company. When, therefore, sales take place before default, they must be made in accordance with the mutual consent and agreement of the company and trustees, acting together for the benefit of all parties interested in the fund. In giving this consent and making this agreement, as to the manner and terms on which sales are to be made, and the mode of investing proceeds are of course to be arranged.

This is the way in which it was done in the sales heretofore authorized, and it is the only way in which sales can be legally made. But now Mess'rs Palmer and Hallett being gone, and you being the sole surviving trustee, you propose to change the entire system, and claim a power which, if granted, would put an entire land fund under your control. You claim the power to appoint agents and conduct sales, and invest proceeds without consulting the company, or obtaining their approval as to the mode of doing it.

1457 You have already informed me that you desired to put M'r Wilson (if I don't mistake the name) in possession of the land department. Whether his seat of power is to be at Mobile or at New York you did not inform me, but I suppose at New York, as that seems to be the point at which you intend in future to transfer the management of our land fund.

In the lifetime of your co-trustee, Col. Hallett, you refused to allow him, or any one else, to make deeds in Mobile for lands sold, by which much trouble and unnecessary expense to the company might have been saved. Since I have been in this city, you were pleased to express great respect for my business capacity and integrity, and taking advantage of this seeming confidence, I requested you to authorize me to execute deeds, and offered to give, if desired, bonds in any amount you would name, that everything should be correctly done.

My object was to save the company unnecessary expense. But 1458 you declined this also, saying the deed must and should be executed in New York. Under instructions from the board of directors, I proposed the names of M'r Charles Walsh, the successor of Col. Hallett in the presidency of the Bank of Mobile, and M'r Parker (another gentleman distinguished for his business capacity and integrity) as trustees to fill the vacancies occasioned by the deaths of Col. Hallett and M'r Palmer.

You made no objection to the fitness of either of them for the faithful execution of the trust, but enquired what compensation or salary would be paid to them and you, in the event that you consented to their appointment.

I replied that no such question had been raised, but that whatever might be paid to either of them would of course be paid to you. That certainly no such question ought to be raised as a condition on which you would give your consent to their appointment. You seemed not to be satisfied with this, and took time to consider the matter until next day.

1459 At our meeting next day you informed me that you had come to the conclusion to send a communication to the board of directors, ratifying the nomination of either M'r Walsh or M'r Parker, but leaving the other out, and nominating myself in his place.

To this I interposed candid and earnest objections, but you overruled my objections and said I need feel no delicacy about it, because the movement was your own, and would be most satisfactory to the bondholders. At last, at your apparent earnest solicitations, and in my extreme desire to put an end to further conflict, I consented that you might nominate me as one of the trustees. In giving this consent, I feel sure that Mess'rs Walsh and Parker, and all others who knew me, would appreciate my object, and acquit me of all selfish motives.

As soon as I had distinctly given my consent, you said you would then address the board of directors, making the nominations 1460 and proposing the terms on which they were to be confirmed. I promptly inquired what "terms" you alluded to? You replied that you thought it must be proper that you and the board should arrange the matter between yourselves, and that the board should dispose of it in my absence and without my knowledge until after it was closed. I replied that this seemed proper enough, but that if any "terms" as a condition of my appointment were to be imposed, it was proper that I should know what these terms were. You then disclosed to me that the "terms" to which you referred were, the compensation to be given to the trustees should be first settled. I replied that, for myself, I intended to accept no compensation, and could not allow my name presented to the board with any such terms or conditions annexed.

You then declined nominating me, and also declined to confirm the nominations of Mess'rs Walsh and Parker, unless your compensation was fixed in advance.

1461 I then appealed to you to consent that the company might sell lands for bonds, the bonds to be cancelled and immediately delivered up, as this measure was of great importance, as well to the landholders as to the company; but you declined giving your consent, and our conference closed.

I deeply regret this condition of things; but I have done my whole duty, and can do no more.

To allow a trustee under a mortgage, every time a measure is proposed necessary for the success of our enterprise, to to append, before he will give his consent, a condition for his personal benefit, would put us on "the road to ruin" which so many American enterprizes by similar means have gone.

As to the question of compensation, the trustees have done nothing but sign the mortgage-bonds and two or three papers authorizing the sale of lands.

For years the company have appealed to you to give your assent 1462 to measures of the greatest importance to our success, but no response has been given, and we have been left to struggle on with no "aid" or "comfort" from you.

During the last three years, if not longer, there is not to be found, and you cannot exhibit, a single act of the trustees in connection with the affairs of the company or its land fund.

The mortgage requires annual reports by you to the company, and you never have made one. Regular reports of our sales have been made to you and you have never acknowledged the receipt of one. It was your duty to make deeds, but not one has been made. By this our sales have been retarded, because purchasers feared they could get no titles.

Purchasers of lands previously sold refused to make payments until deeds were ready for delivery, and we were thereby deprived of the use of money in times of our greatest need. Fifty thousand dollars would not compensate our company for the damage by this neglect.

1463 The trustees saw proper to retain in their hands eighteen thousand dollars of our bonds, with back coupons to the amount of several thousand dollars, making in all some twenty two or three thousand dollars. This is far, very far, beyond any reasonable compensation for the services performed and hereafter to be performed, to say nothing of the positive damage inflicted on us by a total neglect of duty to which I have referred. To buy peace and avoid an open rupture, I have proposed to give this up and let it be retained, provided no further claim for services is set up now or hereafter. But this seems not to be satisfactory. You claim the right to decide on the value of your own services and to fix your own compensation.

You further declare you will appoint your own agents, and of course fix their salaries and have them responsible to you alone. You further declare that the land-fund must pass through your hands and 1464 through the hands of agents appointed by you and responsible to no one but you.

These facts and this extraordinary claim of power brings us to a crisis.

To have an open rupture with our only surviving trustee is bad enough, for he has the power to do us harm and force us to make an appeal to the courts of the country for protection and relief. But to submit to this astonishing claim of power would be worse. It would transfer our entire land fund from the control of our company and put it in hands having no interest in the enterprise beyond the fees and emoluments to be extracted from it. The trustee would fix his own compensation from time to time and the company must pay it. He would appoint his own agents without limit as to number and fix their compensation, and the company must foot the bills. The expenses of our land system 465 would be run up to ten times what it is now. The seat of power and responsibility would be transferred from Mobile to New York, and the assets of the company would be put beyond the jurisdiction of the courts of the States in which the trust was created and through which the road runs.

But I have extended this communication beyond my original design.

In conclusion, I desire you to reconsider the position you have taken. I think there is not a bondholder in Europe or America who will not, when rightly informed of the facts, say that all we have requested you to do is rasonable and to their interests.

Respectfully, yours,

EXHIBIT No. 2.

Report of Milton Brown, pres't, to Beers.

NEW YORK, July 21st, 1860.

M'r BEERS:

DEAR SIR: Your dispatch met me on my arrival here on the 18th, but the papers referred to have not yet arrived, but M'r Ketchum has read me his copy, and we have had two long interviews on the subject, besides dining together at his house.

His first effort was an appeal to my fears as to the consequences, if I did not agree forthwith to fix his salary and pay up from the signing of the mortgage until now.

This failed. He then changed his attack by making it an appeal to my vanity. He praised my firmness, my ability, and my great success. He said that from the time of my election, he knew the enterprise would succeed; and that no man had built up such a reputation as I had, and concluded by inviting me to dine with him, saying he had no doubt we could arrange all our differences satisfactorily.

I ate his dinner and drank his wine, and with a warm and con-1467 fiding shake of the hand we parted to meet next day.

We met accordingly, and he began to hope that by his appeals to my stomach through his dinner and wine, and to my vanity by his speeches, he had me in a good condition, and if he could also get my avarice enlisted by the hope of a salary as trustee, that he and I, acting together, "could make a good thing of it," as the Yankees say when they are about to do a smart thing by cheating somebody. The result of our interview, and the facts relating to the whole affair, are carefully stated in my written reply, a copy of which I herewith enclose.

It presents a case of corrupt motive and dishonest purpose never before surpassed.

His character is worse than I supposed. No one who knows him has the least confidence in his integrity. In a conversation with M'r Osborne, president of the Illinois Central, the death of Col. Hallett was referred to, and I remarked that it left M'r Ketchum the sole 1468 trustee under our mortgage. He replied, "Then you are in a hell of a fix." He went on to tell me that he was one of the trustees under their mortgage, and also a director in the road. That he managed first to get a fixed salary of fifteen hundred dollars a year. Then, not content with that, taking advantage of his position, he carried his frauds so far that the other two trustees had to take the trust into their own hands, and the board of directors refused to consult with him.

In the face of all this, he had the impudence to appear at a meeting of the board. On his entering the room he (Osborn) rose and said to him, "How dare you show your face at a meeting of this board?" He inquired if the the board allowed the president to use such language towards him, and no reply was given. He then retired. But he still holds on to his office as trustee. The two other trustees perform the duties and he draws his salary.

Osborn thinks that he never will consent to fill the vacancies except upon conditions that will put the company in his power, or 1469 unless at least one of those to be appointed is under his influence, and will unite with him in his frauds. But I think he will soon find himself powerless, and if he can get no funds in his hands, as he certainly cannot, beyond what he has, he will probably resign. Of course we can agree to no appointment except such as are in Mobile, or on the line of the road, and are beyond his fraudulent influences.

He is very uneasy about the danger of his paying costs in the bill filed against him and the company at Mobile, and in any other cases that may be commenced.

Tell our counsel to see to the question of costs and make him pay them, and if necessary take proof as to his conduct.

Tell M'r Hamilton to examine the facts contained in the copy of my letter to Ketchum, and other facts of the case, and write me to 1470 Jackson, Tennessee, 1st, as to the power of the Alabama courts to remove him; 2nd, how we shall reach him for damage already done; 3rd, how we can enforce the appointment of trustees to fill the vacancies, and such other suggestions as may occur to him.

File the copy I send you for the inspection of our board and counsel, and any that may desire to see it.

Yours, truly,

Resolution of board of directors of M. & O. R. R. Co.

(Copy.)

Whereas W'm R. Hallett and J. J. Palmer, two of the trustees under our first mortgage, executed to secure our sterling bonds, have departed this life; and whereas Morris Ketchum, the surviving trustee, has attempted, and so far as in his power, practised gross frauds on this company and the bondholders; and whereas said Ketchum is a citizen of the State of New York, and an alien enemy, and in all respects disqualified and unfit to act as trustee:

Therefore, resolved, That our counsel be instructed to apply to the chancery court, or such court as may be most suitable, to have three trustees appointed to act under said mortgage, with power to order sales of land, directing, if they deem it best, the taking of sterling bonds in payment, and to make deeds for lands already sold, and to be hereafter sold, and to do all and everything necessary and proper to be done in due execution of said trust.

1472 And be it further resolved, That we recommend the appointment of Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, said trustees under said mortgage.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of a resolution passed by the board of M. & O. R. R. Co. at a meeting of said board on the 5th December, 1861.

E. L. Andrews, counsel of Miss Georgie Warnes, having taken proceedings against Duncan and Elliot, was subsequently required to withdraw the same, as will appear by the following correspondence:

3 APRIL 1876.

E. L. ANDREWS:

DEAR SIR: I am advised that I have made a mistake by signing a petition for the removal of W. B. Duncan and and M'r Elliot from the receivership of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and if they are removed and M'r Ketchum substituted, the interests of that railroad will suffer by the change. I have lost much by investing in the bonds of that railroad, and cannot afford to run the risk of losing more by such a change.

I therefore wish to withdraw that petition for the removal of 1474 Mess'rs Duncan and Elliot, and hereby request and authorize you to do so.

NEW YORK, 3rd April, 1876.

Mess'rs DUNCAN and ELLIOT:

GENTLEMEN: Your friends say that I have made a great mistake in signing a petition for your removal from the receivership of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and that if you are removed you will thereby be deeply wronged, and that I can avert that wrong by withdrawing that petition for your removal.

As my object in signing that petition was not to injure you, but simply to protect my rights as a bondholder, and as I am now advised that you can and will protect those rights, I have sent a note, of which the enclosed is a duplicate, to M'r E. L. Andrews, requesting and authorizing him to withdraw that petition. Trusting that you will prove worthy of the trust your friends repose in you, Memorandum of agreement and transfer made the first day of October, 1876, by and between the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation by that name existing under the laws of Alabama, and operating also under the laws of the States of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, respectively, party of the first part, and the various other parties whose names are subscribed hereto, being creditors of said company, some holding security as hereinafter specified, and others unsecured, each subscriber for himself and neither for the other, parties of the second part, and William H. Hays, of the city of New York, William S. Pierson, of Windsor, in the State of Connecticut, and T. Haskins Du Puy, of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, parties of the third part.

Whereas the said railroad company, originally incorporated by the State of Alabama, and operating under the laws of that State, has, by the legislation of the several States of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, respectively, obtained valuable corporate rights and privileges, as well as important exemptions, in those respective States;

And whereas, owing to a succession of misfortunes, the said corporation has fallen into arrear in the payment of its bonded and other indebtedness, to such an extent that proceedings for the foreclosure of mortgages executed by it are now pending, which proceedings have gone to an advanced stage and are still being pushed, and, in addition, the day of payment named in some of its mortgages is near at hand;

And whereas differences and disputes have arisen between the different classes of holders of the securities and evidences of debt issued by said company, which differences and disputes, if persisted in, are likely to lead to protracted litigation, and to the sacrifice or deterioration of the property of the said company, and to great delay in the resumption of regular and legitimate operations on its roads; and it is therefore deemed expedient that a scheme should be devised, to be assented to by the various classes of claimants upon the said company, for the harmonizing and compromising their respective claims, without ending the corporate existence or corporate powers of said company, and without putting an end to or limit upon its corporate privileges;

And whereas the secured indebtedness of the said company now exists in the form of bonds and coupons secured by mortgage liens, as specified in the schedule hereto annexed, and as appears by the books of the company, exclusive of interest on said coupons;

And whereas, in addition to said mortgage indebtedness, judgments have been recovered against said company, which are claimed to constitute liens upon some of its property, subject to its mortgage indebtedness, but a large part of which judgment indebtedness is presumed by lapse of time and otherwise to have been in fact satisfied; and in addition thereto, the said company owes a considerable amount of floating or unsecured indebtedness; and the undersigned, holders of claims of the various classes against said company, as well those specified in the said schedule hereto annexed, as judgment creditors and unsecured creditors, have agreed to compromise and compound with said company upon the said company's issuing new securities for all the said indebtedness in the manner hereinafter agreed upon, to the end that, if practicable, said foreclosure suits may be discontinued, and the property affected thereby restored to the custody and control of the said company under the conditions of this agreement, and the stipulations accompanying the same;

But whereas it is understood by said creditors that if such scheme shall be found to be impracticable because not assented to by a sufficient number of creditors, or for other reasons, that then the said foreclosure proceedings shall be prosecuted to either a sale or a strict foreclosure, and a purchase or acquisition of the property of the said company consummated for the benefit of the subscribers hereto, who are such creditors as aforesaid, and that a new corporation or corporations shall be created, and new securities issued for the benefit of such creditors;

1477 Now this memorandum witnesseth that the said parties hereto have covenanted, agreed, and transferred, and do hereby covenant, agree, and transfer, to and with each other in the manner and form following, that is to say:

First. The said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Du Puy are hereby constituted assignees in trust, agents, managers, and attorneys of the said parties hereto, who are creditors of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, or holders of any of the securities specified in said schedule hereto annexed, for the purpose of receiving the several demands of said creditors who become parties hereto, and of realizing, converting, managing, and controlling the same, for the purposes, in the manner, and with the powers hereinafter specified.

Second. Each of the parties hereto being a creditor of the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company at the time of the execution of this instrument, assigns, transfers, delivers, and makes over to the said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Du Puy all the evidences of debt issued by said company, and claims against said company, now held by such subscriber hereto, whether in the shape of bond, coupon, note, judgment, open account, unliquidated demand, unpaid voucher, or otherwise, to be held by the said Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy, as such assignees, agents, managers, and attorneys, in the manner and for the purposes and upon the trust so hereinafter declared concerning the same. Upon this instrument being subscribed by all the creditors of said corporation, holders of evidence of debt issued by said corporation, or of other claims against the same, the said assignees, agents, and attorneys shall have and hold the claims and evidences of debt of such creditors, with full power and authority to cancel, surrender, release, and discharge all such evidences of debt, claims, and demands so transferred to them, upon receiving from said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company new evidences of debt and securities to the extent and in the manner hereinafter provided.

Third. Upon the request of the said Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy, or their successors, the said corporation hereby agrees to execute and deliver, or cause to be executed and delivered, to the said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Du Puy, or their successors or appointees, new bonds and obligations or acknowledgments of indebtedness secured respectively by a new mortgage and trust deed to be made by said corporation as hereinafter provided, and containing such stipulations and clauses for the security of the creditors of said company as the said assignees and attorneys shall advise and require, not in conflict with the provisions of this agreement.

Fourth. The said new mortgage shall be called the first mortgage, and shall constitute a first and primary lien on all of the main line of the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad, lying at and between the city of Mobile and the city of Columbus, in the State of Kentucky (exclusive, however, of the several branches now possessed or to be acquired or constructed, those now possessed being known as Aberdeen branch, Columbus branch, Starkville branch, and the Gainesville branch), covering all and singular the chartered rights, railways, sidings, turnouts, and all connected therewith, bridges, fences, warehouses, depot and office buildings, machine-shops, tools, iron, timber, and all materials necessary in the repair of the road, rolling stock, or machinery, and all wood and coal and other materials necessary in running said road, and all fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned and which may be hereafter owned by said company, and which shall be necessary to the business of said company, or for the purpose of carrying freight and passengers upon said main line; but not including any lands granted to said company by any State, or by the United States, nor lands which may be situated apart from the line of the road, and not actually required for the use or running of the road. The said trust deed shall be in the form and shall have the effect and operation of a conveyance in trust to trustees of the lands granted to said company by any State or the United States, as well as all lands belonging to the company and not necessary for the operation of the railroad of said company, and also so much of the net income of said company as shall remain after payment of current expenses, cost of maintenance, improvement and repairs, and interest on said new first mortgage, and on the debentures, as hereafter more particularly specified.

Fifth. The first mortgage mentioned in the last preceding paragraph shall be made for the security of the holders of the present outstanding issue of first mortgage bonds of said corporation, and of the coupons issued with said first-mortgage bonds, whether such coupons are now detached from such bonds or are now attached thereto, and for the benefit and security of the holders of the issues known as the sterling arrearage-interest bonds, the funded arrearage-interest bonds, and the coupons detached from or attached to such bonds, matured and unpaid, and also for the benefit and security of the holders of the issue known as the Tennessee substitution bonds, and coupons detached therefrom or attached thereto, matured and unpaid, all upon an equal footing as to grade of new security (provided such holders become parties to this agreement and transfer the securities held by them respectively pursuant hereto), and for the purpose of providing funds for necessary expenses and outlay under this agreement. The total amount of principal money secured by bonds issued under the new first mortgage is to be seven millions of dollars, payable in the city of New York, in gold coin of the United States, on the first day of December, in the year 1927, bearing interest payable in lawful money of the United States, in the following manner: Two per cent. on the first day of December, 1877; two per cent. on the first day of June, 1878; three per cent. on each first day of December and June thereafter; and the bonds to be issued under said first mortgage may be in sums of either $1,000, $500, $300, or $100 each, and shall have negotiable interest warrants or coupons attached thereto, payable in New York. But the holders of the present first mortgage securities are to be interested in the new securities issued under the new first mortgage, as next hereafter stated; that is to say:

Sixth. Each subscriber hereto, who shall have transferred to the said assignees, agents, and attorneys a first-mortgage bond of said company, shall be entitled to receive an amount equal to four hundred and forty dollars for each one thousand dollars, or each £225, of the principal sum payable upon such bond so transferred in a bond or bonds to be issued under the said new first mortgage hereinbefore provided for, to be taken at par; and every subscriber hereto who shall have so transferred first-mortgage coupons of said company heretofore issued (provided the due date originally mentioned therein shall not have been later than the first day of November, 1877), shall receive an amount equal to the value of such coupons, as below estimated, in a bond or bonds, to be issued under the said new first mortgage hereinabove provided for, each such coupon to be estimated for this purpose as being worth, and as securing the payment of, thirty-six dollars, except coupons maturing November 1, 1877, which shall each be estimated as worth only six dollars: and each holder of sterling interest bonds who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bonds in pursuance hereof, shall be entitled, in lieu of each bond so transferred, to a bond or bonds for the principal sum of four hundred and forty dollars each, to be issued under said new first mortgage for each £200 of the principal amount of the bonds so transferred by him under this agreement; and each holder of coupons heretofore issued with any such sterling interest bond (provided the original due date named in such coupon shall not be later than the first day of November, 1877), shall be entitled in lieu thereof to a bond or bonds to be issued under such new first mortgage for the amount of the coupons so transferred, valuing each such coupon at the sum of thirty-six dollars, except coupons maturing November 1, 1877, which shall be valued at only six dollars; and each holder of bonds generally known as arrearage-interest bonds who shall have become a subscriber to this instrument, and shall have transferred his bonds pursuant to the terms hereof, shall be entitled to a bond or bonds to be issued under said new first mortgage for the principal sum of three hundred and ten dollars for each $1,000 of the principal amount of the bonds so transferred, and each holder of coupons heretofore issued with such arrearage-interest bonds (provided the original due date of such coupons shall not have been later than the first day of November, 1877), shall be entitled to new first-mortgage bonds for the amount of the coupons so transferred, valuing each such coupon at thirty-six dollars, except that coupons of which the original due date was the first day of November, 1877, shall be valued at six dollars each; each holder of bonds known as Tennessee substitution bonds who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and who shall have transferred his bonds as aforesaid to said assignees and attorneys, shall receive in lieu of the bonds so transferred a bond or bonds to be issued under said new first mortgage for the par amount of $626 for each bond so transferred, and each holder of coupons heretofore issued with any such Tennessee substitution bonds (provided the original due date of such coupons was not later than July 1st, 1877), who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement and who shall have transferred his coupons to said assignees and attorneys, shall be entitled in lieu amount of his coupons so transferred, estimating each such coupon at thirty-six dollars, except the coupons maturing July 1, 1877, which shall be valued at only thirty dollars each.

Seventh. The trust deed hereinabove provided for shall be in part for the security of the same class of present creditors who, as above agreed, are entitled to be secured by the said new first mortgage, to the extent of the difference, as below stated, between the amount of new bonds to be issued to them or for their benefit, as above provided, and the principal amounts of the bonds now outstanding and transferred by them respectively, and also for the benefit of the remaining creditors of said company who shall become parties to this agreement and become entitled to the benefit thereof; and to that end it is now provided—

Eighth. Each bond now held by any such present first mortgage creditor as last aforesaid for the principal sum of one thousand dollars gold or lawful money, or for the principal sum of £225, £205, or £200, shall, for the purpose of ascertaining such difference, be estimated as worth one thousand dollars; and each bond payable in dollars, gold or lawful money, for a less sum of $1,000, shall be estimated at its face, without interest, and each bond payable in sterling money for less than £200 shall be estimated at the rate of five dollars for each pound sterling of principal money payable by the terms of such bond. And after charging to each subscriber hereto who shall have transferred bonds as above agreed, the principal amount of the bonds to be issued to him as above provided in the sixth paragraph, not taking into account any bonds issued in lieu of coupons transferred under said sixth paragraph, he shall be entitled to a preferred income and sinking fund debenture or debentures, of the first series to be issued under said trust deed, as hereinafter provided, for the difference between the principal sum of the new first mortgage bonds so charged to him and the principal sum of the bonds so transferred, valued as above provided.

Ninth. The preferred income and sinking fund debentures issued under said trust deed may be in sums of $1,000, $500, $300, or $100 each, and shall not have any interest coupons attached thereto, and shall not be payable absolutely, but only out of the sinking fund hereinafter provided; and shall be registered and shall be transferable only on the books of the company, at the office of the company, in the city of New York, and shall not otherwise be transferable, and shall be issued in successive series, the first series to be known as first preferred income and sinking fund debentures, the second series to be known as second preferred income and sinking fund debentures, the third series to be known as third preferred income and sinking fund debentures, and the fourth series to be known as fourth preferred income and sinking fund debentures, and such debentures shall be so expressed as that interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum shall be payable thereon yearly, that is, on the first day of February in each year after the year 1878, upon the conditions herein specified, that is: on or before the first day of December, in the year 1878, and each year thereafter, said company shall ascertain as closely as practicable the net earnings of such company remaining after paying the expenses of the corporation, cost of maintenance and proper repair, and the interest on the new first mortgage bonds, up to the first day of September next preceding, that being the end of the fiscal year; and in case there shall remain on such first day of December a residue of earnings for the year ending on the first day of September next previous, and if it shall then be ascertained that up to the first day of September next preceding that first day of December, the earnings of said company, after making provision for such expenses, interest, and the proper maintenance of the property in good order, leave any sum applicable to the payment of interest on such debentures, then such net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest on said first preferred income and sinking fund debentures, not exceeding seven per cent. in lawful money of the United States, and such application and payment shall be made on or before the first day of February in the next succeeding year; and after payment of interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the first series, what remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest on said debentures of the second series, at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum; and after payment of interest at that rate on said debentures of the second series, what remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the 1480 third series; and what then remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the fourth series; but in case the earnings of any one of such years shall not be adequate to the payment of seven per cent. interest for that year on all or either series of said debentures, then the deficiency shall not have any claim upon the net earnings of any succeeding year. And the net earnings shall only be applicable to the payment of interest on either series of debentures in case such earnings shall amount to at least one per cent. or a multiple of one per cent. on the total amount of the debentures belonging to such series, so that fractions of net earnings exceeding such one per cent. or a multiple of one per cent., need not be included in the payment of interest for that year, but shall be carried to the credit of the earnings for the succeeding year.

Tenth. The aforesaid second preferred income and sinking fund debentures shall be issued for the benefit and security of that class of the present creditors of said corporation, who are known as second mortgage bondholders, all to be upon the same footing with each other as to security and priority. Each second mortgage bond of said company, and each coupon thereof now outstanding shall be considered as of the par value represented on its face in currency, provided the due date originally specified therein shall not have been later than the first day of March, 1878, except coupons maturing March 1, 1878, which when for $80 on their face shall each be estimated as worth only twenty dollars, or in that proportion for any coupon of any smaller amount than $80. Each holder of a present outstanding second mortgage bond or coupon of said company, who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bond or coupon pursuant to the terms hereof, shall be entitled to receive dollar for dollar for the principal of his bond and coupon so transferred as aforesaid, in a second preferred income and sinking fund debenture.

Eleventh. The said debentures of the third series shall be for the benefit and security of the holders of the present outstanding bonds of said corporation, known as convertible bonds, and shall be for an aggregate amount sufficient to represent the aggregate amount of now outstanding convertible bonds, and the interest thereon up to the first day of June, 1877. Each holder of a convertible bond who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bond as and in the manner aforesaid, shall be entitled in lieu thereof to a debenture of the third series, for the par amount of the bonds so transferred, estimating the same at its face value in currency, and the accrued interest on such convertible bond, to be computed up to the first day of June, 1877, shall be replaced by a debenture of the third series for the actual amount of such interest up to that date.

Twelfth. The said debentures of the fourth series shall be for such amount as said assignees and attorneys shall determine to be necessary for the purpose of satisfying such judgment and unsecured indebtedness of the said company as they shall deem to be morally obligatory, in their discretion, so far as the same shall be held by subscribers to this instrument who shall have transferred their claims to the said assignees and attorneys, subject to adjustment by said assigns and attorneys, but the same shall not exceed the sum of the face value of such judgments or indebtedness, and no unsecured or judgment creditor shall be admitted as a subscriber to this instrument, nor entitled to the benefit thereof, for any amount exceeding that which may be adjusted and allowed to him by said assignees and attorneys; and each such judgment and unsecured creditor who shall so become a party hereto, shall be entitled to a debenture of the fourth series for such sum as said assignees and attorneys may adjudge to be justly due to him.

Thirteenth. In case all the holders of the unsecured or judgment indebtedness of said corporation shall not have become parties hereto, or shall not have assented to the adjustment of their claims by the said assignees and attorneys, and the reduction thereof to the amount which said assignees and attorneys shall deem to be justly and equitably due thereon, then said assignees and attorneys, instead of cancelling and surrendering all of said mortgage bonds now outstanding, transferred to them under this agreement, shall hold said mortgage bonds or so much thereof as may in their discretion be necessary for the security of the new securities against said unsecured and judgment indebtedness, except that the new mortgage and trust deed issued by said corporation shall have 1481 priority over such old mortgage bonds; but such original mortgage bonds shall be held by the trustees in the new first mortgage, in trust for the benefit of the holders of the new securities of the said corporation, according to their order and priority, prior to and to the exclusion of the unsecured and judgment creditors who shall not have assented to this agreement. And each of said present mortgage bonds transferred under this agreement, and held by said trustees, as before stated, shall be stamped by the assignees and attorneys with the following words: "In pursuance of the terms of agreement made between the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company and its creditors, bearing date October 1, 1876, this bond is not negotiable, being held subject to the provisions and for the purposes mentioned in said agreement."

Fourteenth. The said assignees and attorneys shall not be authorized to cancel or surrender any of the existing obligations or evidences of debt of the said corporation, transferred to them under this agreement, unless all the present holders of the mortgage securities of said company shall have become parties to this instrument, and transferred the securities held by them on or before the first day of March, 1877, or at or before such time as the said assignees and attorneys shall have fixed, as in their discretion they may, by successive extensions of not more than sixty days each; nor until said corporation, or its stockholders, through legal and proper action of its stockholders, if such action be necessary, or otherwise according to law, shall have entered into an adequate and sufficient arrangement or agreement with said assignees and attorneys, and with the holders of said debentures, enabling the holders of such debentures or the trustees under said trust deed to vote at elections for directors of the said company, and irrevocably represent such stock or a majority thereof, at all stockholders' meetings until such debentures shall be extinguished; and upon that privilege of representation being acquired by and vested in or secured to the trustees in said trust deed, or to the holders of the said debentures, by the proper and legal action of such corporation or its stockholders, and upon all the new mortgages and securities above called for being issued, then such cancellation and surrender may be fully completed and consummated (except in the contingency provided in paragraph 13 of this agreement), and the property and management of the corporation may be restored to it, and said foreclosure suits may be discontinued.

Fifteenth. Any surplus of new securities created under this agreement, not required for the satisfaction of the claims of existing creditors, may be applied and appropriated by said assignees and attorneys to the payment of the expenses of making this agreement and carrying the same into effect, as well as the expenses of said foreclosure suits; and the said assignees and attorneys, as transferees and assignees of the subscribers to this instrument, shall have the same rights and relations to the foreclosure suits now pending, and to the complainants in said foreclosure suits, and to the receivers in said suits, and to the funds in their hands, which the subscribers to this agreement now have or would have if they continued to be holders of the bonds and claims subscribed hereto, and shall be entitled to the same share of the proceeds of the present management of the property of said company, and to the same share of the proceeds of the sale of such property which their assignors would have upon a discontinuance of said foreclosure suits, or upon an accounting, or upon a sale or distribution of the proceeds; their several assignors to be considered, in relation to such proceeds, as being upon the same grade of priority and security, as between and among each other, upon which the provisions of this agreement would place them in relation to the new securities to be issued by said company.

Sixteenth. In case a sufficient number of subscribers shall not be obtained to this agreement on or before the time prescribed herein, to put it within the power of said assignees and attorneys to carry into effect the foregoing clauses and stipulations of this agreement, then this agreement shall be binding upon the subscribers thereto, provided it shall have been subscribed by holders of at least a majority in amount of the existing first mortgage indebtedness and Tennessee substitution bonds of said company, as recited in the schedules hereto annexed; and thereupon said assignees and attorneys shall have power and authority to appropriate the bonds, coupons, moneys (if any), and evidences of debt which shall have come into their possession, under the provision of this agreement, towards the purchase of the property of said railroad corporation, under such decree or decrees of foreclosure as shall be obtained in said pending suits, and shall have power and authority, and it shall be the duty to aid their complainants in said suits in speeding said suits 1482 to their conclusion by decrees of foreclosure and sale, or of strict foreclosure, in the interest and for the benefit of the subscribers to this agreement, and they shall have power to turn the securities, received by them under this agreement, into court in payment for said property, upon the purchase thereof by them upon the foreclosure; and in the event of its becoming necessary for the protection of the interest of the parties subscribing thereto, that any cash or other payment than the securities in their possession should be made into court, said assignees and attorneys shall have the power to make such payment for the account of and at the risk of the parties subscribing hereto, or by obtaining the amount thereof upon the security of the bonds and coupons in their hands; and shall likewise have power to apply for and receive dividends upon the bonds and coupons received by them under this agreement from the funds in court in the hands of the receivers, or of any master or marshal or clerk or otherwise to the same extent as the original holders of the bonds and coupons retained and held by them would have been; and while no authority is given to them to make any subscribers hereto personally responsible for the payment of any debt incurred by them, they are authorized with the assent of the trustees of the present first mortgages, or a majority of them, to pledge the bonds and coupons in their possession for the purpose so far as necessary of obtaining means to expedite and bring to a conclusion this compromise or said foreclosure suits.

Seventeenth. The parties subscribing hereto and transferring any evidence of debt or claim according to the terms of this instrument, shall be entitled to certificates, specifying their contributions respectively and their interests respectively to and in this agreement and the benefits thereof; and each certificate shall be transferable and deliverable to bearer without a transfer being required to be made in any book or in writing, and shall represent on its face the securities deposited therefor.

Eighteenth. Upon the purchase of the property of said company by said assignees and attorneys at any sale or sales under decree of sale or strict foreclosure, it shall be their duty to avail themselves of any existing law in either of the States of Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, or Kentucky, or to procure legislation, so far as may be necessary, for the purpose of creating a new corporation or new corporations, to which it shall be their duty to transfer the property so purchased by them as early as practicable upon receiving from such new corporation the new bonds, debentures, mortgage and trust deed hereinabove specified for the same amount which would be required to carry the above proposed compromise into effect, such mortgage and trust deed to be made to one or more trustees in each case to be selected by said assignees and attorneys, and to be properly framed for the security of the several classes of creditors to be benefited thereby; and so far as the evidences of debt to be issued under such new mortgage or trust deed, whether by said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company or by a new corporation, shall not be required to be issued or delivered in exchange for securities which shall have come into and remained in the hands of such assignees and attorneys under this agreement, such surplus securities shall be sold, or so much thereof as in their judgment shall be necessary for the purposes hereinafter named; and the proceeds thereof, and also any sums received by them in cash from the receivers, or from any officer of the court, shall be applied, in the first place, in repaying any sums advanced, or procured to be advanced, by said assignees and attorneys for the purpose of meeting the expenses of said foreclosure suits and of carrying this agreement into effect, and the expense of making such purchase and reorganization; and then the surplus, if any, remaining from such disposition of such new securities, as well as any new securities which may remain unsold or undisposed of, and any sums realized by said assignees and attorneys from the receivers or managers of said property in said foreclosure suits, or from the management or running of the road, shall be accounted for by said assignees and attorneys to said new corporation, which said new corporation is to consist of and be created by the subscribers to this agreement, so far as they are entitled to the benefit of the same; and said new corporation, or said existing corporation, in case the compromise above specified shall be carried into effect, shall be considered as subrogated to all the rights of the subscribers to this agreement for the purpose of calling the said assignees and attorneys to account. The said assignees and attorneys shall be allowed out of the fund, for compensation for their services and responsibility, such amounts as shall be reasonably just according to the character of such services and responsibility; but there is no personal responsibility on the part of any assignees and attorneys, and their necessary clerks, bookkeepers and their employees of any grade or description, shall be entitled to a lien upon the new securities and upon the cash received by said assignees and attorneys, and the cash proceeds of such of the same as they are authorized to dispose of, for their compensation, liabilities, and disbursements, whether absolute or contingent, until their account shall have been duly and properly settled with such organization; and such existing corporation, or such new corporation or corporations, as the case may require, shall, before payment of interest on any of the new securities, assume and pay any excess of such compensation, liabilities, and disbursements above the amount realized by said assignees and attorneys from funds in their hands.

Nineteenth. The subscribers hereto, who shall respectively have transferred to said assignees and attorneys their several claims, provided such claims shall remain under the control of such assignees and attorneys and available for the purpose of purchasing the property now mortgaged in said foreclosure suits, shall be interested in the property after such purchase and so long as the title thereto remains in said assignees and attorneys, as beneficiaries and cestui que trust, in the same proportions, and shall have the same relative rights and interests, as against each other, as in the new securities to be created under this agreement.

Twentieth. The trust deed hereinabove provided for, whether executed in pursuance of the compromise agreed upon or by a new corporation or corporations to be created after a foreclosure, shall contain provision for the creation of a sinking fund for the benefit of the holders of said debentures in the order in which the interest on such debentures is as above specified payable.

Such sinking fund is to consist of the proceeds of all land owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, with the exception of such as are covered by the above-mentioned first mortgage, and with the exception of the railway, rails, bridges, fences, warehouse, and other fixtures, rights, privileges, and real estate belonging to the above-mentioned branches, but including all lands not so covered but conveyed to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company by any State or by the United States. The trustees under said trust deed are to have power of sale over said lands from time to time, and said trust deed shall contain clauses properly framed conveying to the trustees under such deed the same powers of sale in respect to the lands conveyed thereby as are possessed by the trustees under the now existing first mortgage; and the first mortgage to be created under this agreement is not to apply to or cover such lands, and the proceeds of sales of said lands are to be free from the lien of said new first mortgage, and are to constitute a fund for the exclusive benefit of the holders of said debentures. But such new trust deed shall also contain a provision by way of covenant, declaration, grant, or otherwise, as said assignees and attorneys may direct, in substance and effect that the amount of principal and interest payable upon said debentures shall constitute a lien upon the railway property of said existing corporation, or of said new corporation or corporations, as the case may require, to such an extent that in case of a foreclosure of said new first mortgage and a sale thereunder, the trustees in said trust deed, for the benefit of holders of said debentures according to their order and priority, shall be entitled to the surplus proceeds of such sale next after payment of said new first mortgage, to the amount of the aggregate principal sum due on such debentures, and so that in case any lien upon said railway property, or any part thereof, shall arise, subsequent to the making of said trust deed, by the act or sufferance of such existing or new corporation, and such subsequent lien shall be enforced to the extent of depriving said existing or new corporation of the possession of such railway property, or any part thereof, then the trustees in said trust deed may enter into possession of such part of said railway property, and sell the same, clear of all subsequent liens, for the benefit of holders of said debentures according to their order and priority, or may exact redemption and payment in full of the principal amount of such debentures before surrendering such property to such subsequent lienors; and said trust deed shall also contain proper covenants and securities, for the ascertainment and application of the income of the property of said existing or new corporation and its successors, as the case may require, according to the provisions of this agreement; and there shall also be paid into the sinking fund all the interest accruing on debentures bought for the sinking fund, until all the debentures shall have been bought, satisfied, or extinguished; and there shall also be paid into the sinking fund a further amount equal to the dividend which 1434 may hereafter be declared upon the capital stock, now existing or hereafter to be created, of such company, which dividend shall not be declared or paid except an amount equal thereto is also paid in at the same time out of the net revenue into the sinking fund.

The trustees making sales of said lands are to deposit the proceeds thereof in the Bank of the State of New York, in the city of New York; or such other depository as the trustees in said trust deed may select in the said city of New York; and each six months, that is, on the first days of May and November, the trustees shall advertise in the cities of Mobile and New York, stating the amount so deposited and at the disposition of the sinking fund, and asking for tenders thereof in the first series of said debentures then outstanding, awarding the amount so deposited to the holders of debentures, tendered at the lowest grades of price, in succession. In default of any bids or tenders therefor at less than par, the trustees shall thereupon draw by lot a sufficient number of debentures of the first series, then outstanding, to absorb such deposits, and shall apply such deposits to the purchase of the debentures so drawn by lot at par. After purchase of the said debentures of the first series, the said sinking fund shall be applied in like manner, and by the same means, to the purchase of each other of the said several series of debentures in succession.

Twenty-first. Twenty-second. Bonds, securities, claims, and evidences of debt, transferred to said assignees and attorneys under the provisions of this agreement, shall be deposited at the option of the parties transferring the same, either in the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. in the city of New York, or in the Bank of Mobile, at Mobile, in the State of Alabama, or with C. M. Lampson & Co., in the city of London, or at the Frankfurter Bank Verein, in the city of Frankfurt, or with Lombard, Odier & Co., in the city of Geneva, who shall respectively be authorized to give therefor the certificates above provided for, or their receipts exchangeable for said certificates; and the securities so deposited shall remain in the several depositories subject to the order of said assignees and attorneys until the same shall be required for cancellation, surrender, exchange, or delivery into court by said assignees and attorneys, or for other purposes of this agreement, in which case the same shall be transmitted from the depositories thereof to such attorneys and assignees, either at the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., in the city of New York, or at the Bank of Mobile, in the city of Mobile, as said assignees and attorneys may direct, from which depositories the same may be taken by said assignees and attorneys when required for any or either of the purposes aforesaid; and securities and cash funds received by said assignees and attorneys, under the provisions of this agreement, shall be deposited by them, either in the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., in the city of New York, or in the Bank of Mobile, in the city of Mobile.

In case of a vacancy in the office of assignee or attorney under this agreement, arising from the death or resignation of either of the parties, or from his incompetency to act, the vacancy may be filled by the unanimous agreement of the trustees acting under the existing first mortgage of said corporation, and the remaining assignees and attorneys under this agreement.

Twenty-fourth. The said assignees and attorneys shall have an office in the city of New York, and shall keep regular accounts and books of account, showing their transactions, which shall be open to the inspection of certificate-holders at reasonable times during business hours, 1485 to transact business at any meeting of which all three of the assignees and attorneys shall have been notified, and any substituted assignee or attorney, duly appointed pursuant to the provisions of this agreement, shall have the same power, authority, and control which his predecessor had; and all the provisions of this agreement, and all the powers conferred thereby, shall apply to and be vested in such assignee and attorney so far as his predecessor had such power, or was subject to such provisions; but so far as any discretionary power is conferred by this agreement, no such discretion shall be or can be used without the consent of all the attorneys and assignees acting at the time under this agreement, and each assignee and attorney shall be responsible only for his own acts and not for the acts of others; and neither assignee or attorney shall be responsible for any error of judgment nor for any error or negligence of any subordinate officer or agent unless such officer or agent shall be employed or continued in employment negligently by such assignees and attorneys.

Twenty-fifth. The new securities to be issued by said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, or by a new corporation or corporations to be created under the terms of this agreement, shall be in the first instance delivered by the said company to said assignees and attorneys, or their successors, who shall deposit the same in the said The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., or in the said Bank of Mobile, and no subscriber hereto or his successor in interest shall be entitled to any portion of such new securities except upon a return or surrender to said assignees and attorneys at one or other of the said places of deposit of the certificate or certificates held by such subscriber. In case, in the original distribution of the new securities to be issued in pursuance of this agreement, any party shall become entitled to a fractional part, less than $100, of a bond or debenture, a certificate therefor may be issued, which, when united with other fractional certificates, so as to make an entire bond or debenture, for either one of the even amounts in which said bonds or debentures are above authorized to be issued, may be funded in such bonds or debentures of even amounts, as the case may require.

Twenty-sixth. The assignees and attorneys acting under this instrument are hereby invested with full power and authority to execute the provisions of this plan; to supply any and every defect, in any and every case which is unprovided for in its terms, and to do anything and everything that is proper in their judgment to carry out its provisions.

Twenty-seventh. The said assignees and attorneys may, in the transaction of business, call themselves "The Committee of Reorganization of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company," and, when acting in that name, shall be considered as acting as attorneys, agents, managers, and assignees under this agreement. In the a'justment of their accounts they shall be allowed such payments and expenditures as shall have been made by them in good faith, in the belief of the necessity of making such payments and expenditures for the benefit of the subscribers hereto and for the purpose of carrying this agreement into effect.

Twenty-eighth. All bonds, securities, and evidences of debt, &c., transferred under this agreement, shall be in the first instance deposited for the purposes of this agreement in one or the other of the depositories herein named, or in others selected as authorized by this agreement; and all new securities to be issued by the present corporation, or by a new corporation, shall, in like manner, be deposited with one or the other of said depositories, to be by such depository distributed to the parties entitled thereto, under the order and with the assent and approval of the assignees and attorneys; and in the transmission of either the present or future securities in fulfillment of this agreement, the assignees, attorneys, and depositories, using due diligence, may, in their discretion, insure or otherwise protect such securities at the expense of the fund, and in case of loss shall be relieved from liability.

Twenty-ninth. Any duplicate or other copy of this agreement which shall be subscribed by any holder of the said bonds, securities, liens, claims, judgments or stock, and delivered to and accepted by said assignees and attorneys, shall have like effect as if such signatures were herewith subscribed.

1486 In witness whereof the parties hereto have hereunto set their hands and seals, or otherwise attested the same as the case may require:

1487 Schedule annexed.

FIRST-MORTGAGE BONDS.

1. Sterling bonds, £225 each (by deed of trust stated as "each of said bonds being the same as $1,000"), issued 1853, due 1883.

2. Arrearage interest bonds, B & C, £200 or £100 each, issued 1867, due 1883.

3. Interest bonds, O P Q, $1,000, $500, $200 each, issued in 1866, due 1876.

4. Arrearage interest bonds, F, F$_1$, F 1, F 2, F 3, F 4, $1,000, $500, $300, $100 each, issued 1868, due 1883.

5. Sinking fund gold bonds (Tennessee substitution), £205 or $1,000, issued 1871, due 1901.

6. The interest coupons on the above first-mortgage issues appear by the books of the company to have been paid up to and including those which matured January 1, 1874, leaving outstanding and unpaid all the coupons on the above issues which matured on or after May 1, 1874.

The foregoing principal and interest to be exchanged for first-mortgage bonds and first-preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

SECOND-MORTGAGE BONDS.

Several issues, L, R, S, T, Rr, Ss, Uu, $1,000, $500, $300, $100, and irregular amounts, issued in 1867, 1871, 1872, 1873.

The interest coupons on the above second-mortgage bonds appear, by the books of the company, to have been paid up to and including those which matured March 1st, 1874, leaving outstanding coupons on above second-mortgage bonds from and including those which matured March 1st, 1875. The principal and interest of these to be exchanged for 2nd-preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS.

Secured next after the above-mentioned first and second mortgages by a mortgage known as the consolidated mortgage; also by a deposit of the stock of the M. & O. R. R., 4 shares for each $100, in trust. Of these bonds, there were issued in irregular amounts $977,550, but of this issue there remain unused by the company $471,000. The interest upon these bonds appears by the books of the company to have been paid up to and including that which matured December 1st, 1874, leaving outstanding, unpaid, the interest from that date. The principal and interest of these convertible bonds to be exchanged for 3d-preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

CONSOLIDATED MORTGAGE.

These bonds have been issued only to a very limited amount, as security to previously unsecured creditors, to give to them, as far as lay in the power of the company, a lien upon the property of the company, after the lien of the first-mortgage, Tennessee substitution, second-mortgage, & convertible bonds above enumerated; the original issue was contemplated to be $15,000,000, for the purpose of consolidating all the previous issues, but none were issued beyond the above amount, and the amount so issued was intended to cover all the floating and otherwise unsecured indebtedness, except judgments against the company.

In the scheme of reorganization they are not recognized.

FLOATING DEBT AND JUDGMENTS.

The total amount of judgments outstanding appears by the records of the several counties through which the railroad runs to be about $170,000, but from various considerations it is inferred that many of them have been settled, or for other causes are no longer a claim against the company. The receivers are now engaged in examining into this matter. The total amount of floating debt outstanding, exclusive of interest, appears by the books of the company to amount to $538,702.78 (August 1st, 1876).

This may be increased by other unsettled claims, or reduced by realization of securities pledged. The principal and interest of judgments and floating debts is to be exchanged for fourth preferred income and sinking fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

1498 Decree as to Iselin and Wilson.

At a stated term of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, held at the court-house in the city of Mobile, Alabama, on the 6th day of June, 1877.

Present, Hon. Joseph P. Bradley, associate justice, and Hon. William B. Woods, circuit judge.

D'ORELLI ZEIGLER ET AL.
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et als. } In equity.

Richard T. Wilson and Adrian Iselin, as trustees for the Tennessee substitution mortgage bondholders, so called, come into court, and by their counsel Robert H. Smith, move for leave to withdraw the appearance heretofore entered for them, and to vacate as against them 1499 the order and process to appear, plead, answer, or demur; and that they may be stricken from the bill in this cause, as parties defendants, on the ground that the circuit court of the United States for the western district of the State of Tennessee had, before the filing of this bill, taken jurisdiction of the foreclosure of said Tennessee substitution mortgage, and still has jurisdiction thereof, and on the ground that being citizens of the State of New York, and the property covered by said mortgage being exclusively within the State of Tennessee, this court has no jurisdiction to foreclose said mortgage, or to require said Wilson and Iselin to appear in this cause.

And thereupon all the other parties, by their respective solicitors and counsel, appearing and consenting in open court, it is ordered that the said motion be, and the same is hereby, granted.

1500 (Signed) JOSEPH P. BRADLEY,
Circuit Justice.
W. B. WOODS,
Circuit Judge.

Filed June 6th, 1877.

W. BUTLER DUNCAN AND A. FOSTER ELLIOT, trustees,
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

MORRIS KETCHUM, SURVIVING TRUSTEE,
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

D'ORELLI ZEIGLER ET AL.
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et al.

BRADLEY, J. In the case of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in which the various suits were consolidated, we have given the subject discussed a good deal of consideration, and have prepared the following opinion:

The consolidation of these cases by agreement of the parties has relieved us from the necessity of deciding between the conflicting claims of the two sets of trustees. Both being before the court, as well as the parties beneficially interested, we can make a decree by which a sale of the mortgaged property will be valid, and confer a good title. We are also relieved from making any adjudication in reference to the claim of priority of the Tennessee substitution bonds, which, by like agreement of the parties, is submitted to the consideration of another court.

The only question of importance remaining in the causes as now consolidated is, whether the interest coupons which became due in May and November, 1874, on the first-mortgage bonds, are valid and 1512 outstanding securities, entitled to payment out of the proceeds of the mortgaged premises pari passu with the bonds from which they were severed, or even prior to said bonds, or whether they are to be deemed to have been paid and satisfied. The holder of these coupons (they not having been cancelled) contends that they were purchased from the original holders thereof, and were not paid, and that by virtue of such purchase he is entitled to the full benefit of the mortgage security, and even to priority of payment over the coupons subsequently maturing, and over the principal of the bonds; and if not entitled as purchaser, that he is at least entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the original holders, as if the coupons had never been paid.

The coupons in question were regularly presented for payment at the proper places appointed for that purpose, at or soon after the time when they became due; but the money due thereon was not received by the parties holding the same in the usual manner, at the place of presentment; but after being examined they were enclosed in a sealed envelope and endorsed with a memorandum of the number and amount, and returned to the holder or his agent, with directions to present them at some neighboring banking-house, where they would get the money. It is claimed that they were not paid by the railroad company, but that Duncan, Sherman & Co. advanced the money on them with intent to hold them as subsisting securities, and that the holders consented thus to dispose of them. Parties contesting the validity of the coupons as an outstanding claim insist that they were in fact paid by the company, or with funds procured by it for the purpose, and that the holders did not consent to a sale of them, and that Duncan, Sherman & Co. at all events are estopped from setting up a claim to them as purchasers.

The right of the contestants to appear and oppose the claim of the present holders of these coupons is questioned. It is said that having come before the master and proved their own bonds without making objection to the coupons which were also presented and proved before the master, they are now precluded from raising objections to them. The statement is not precisely accurate. One of the contestant bondholders at least did present objections before the master (which 1513 objections were adopted and presented by the complainants as trustees of the mortgage), and others have since been permitted to appear as defendants in the cause, and file an answer, which they have done, raising the very issue. In addition to this, the trustees of the second mortgage filed an answer disputing the validity of the coupons. We think, therefore, that the issue has been distinctly and properly raised.

In the administration by a court of equity of a common fund subjected to the equal benefit of many creditors, if one creditor objects to the claims of another creditor and succeeds in showing it to be invalid, such claim does not stand good as against other creditors who interpose no objection to it. The opposition of one enures to the benefit of all. It questions the right to participate in the common fund. If the other creditors, not opposing the claim, expressly waive all objections to it as to themselves, and consent that it shall participate, such waiver and consent can only affect the proportion of the fund to which they would be entitled if the disputed claim were excluded. It comes in for a portion of their share by equal participation with themselves. This proposition is so obvious that it needs no argument to support it. Waiver of objections to a claim is no proof of its validity except as against those who make the waiver. The waiver filed in this case, therefore, cannot have the effect of proof that the coupons in question were purchased by Duncan, Sherman & Co., except by way of estoppel as against those who filed it. The questions raised by the contestants, therefore, are properly raised, and must be met; and in considering these questions, it is necessary to inquire into the precise position which Duncan, Sherman & Co. occupied towards the company.

It appears from the evidence that they had for some time previous to May, 1874, been the general financial agents of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and were interested in its capital stock and its various classes of securities, to wit, first-mortgage bonds, second-mortgage and other bonds, and also in its floating debt. They made the arrangements for the current funds necessary to meet its various liabilities from time to time, and in short may be said to have carried the concern for a 1514 considerable period. W'm B. Duncan, the head of the firm, was for several years a director of the company, and in April, 1874, he became its president, and was invested with the most plenary control of all its financial affairs. By resolutions of the directors, adopted in April, 1874, after Mr. Duncan was elected president, he, as such, was in vested with full discretion over the available securities held and owned by the company, in consolidated bonds, convertible bonds, first and second mortgage bonds and stock, and was authorized to sell or hypothecate the same; and the net earnings of the company were pledged for repayment of advances made by him for the purpose of meeting the May interest; and the consolidated bonds were pledged as a security for the floating debt. The truth is, the whole financial operations of the company were under the control and passed through the hands of Duncan, Sherman & Co., both in 1873 and 1874, and up to the time of its open suspension in May, 1875.

The resources which thus came into their hands were derived from the earnings of the road, the disposable securities and stock of the company, and the temporary loans that were made from time to time. It appears from the annual report of the company for the year 1874 (the year in question) that its net earnings for that year were $708,000, and the sales of bonds (mostly convertible) amounted to $94,000, making a total of $802,000. The contestants in this case contend that these sums were sufficient to have kept down and paid the interest of the first mortgage bonds and most of the other outstanding bonds of the company. This is true. The annual interest of the first mortgage bonds (including the Tennessee substitution bonds) was about $730,000, and of all the bonds together about $880,000.

But there was a large floating debt, which, at the close of 1873, amounted, according to the annual report for that year, to the sum of $1,451,147.77, of which Duncan, Sherman & Co. held about $191,000. They had during the year loaned to the company on its notes $150,000, which had not been reimbursed, and the balance due them on general account at the close of the year was over $41,000. This loan was made to enable the company to keep up the payment of its interest and to meet its current obligations. The floating debt was kept along 1515 by renewals and by pledging various securities of the company as collateral. During the year 1874 it was reduced about $282,000, and as a part of this reduction Duncan, Sherman & Co. reduced their own debt $174,000, bringing it down to about $17,000. That is, they reimbursed themselves their temporary loan, with interest, amounting to $160,000, and about $14,000 on their general account.

The contestants complain that this reduction ought not to have been made, especially so much of it as applied to the debt due to Duncan, Sherman & Co. They say that by the resolution of April, 1874, the earnings of the road were pledged for the May interest (which is the interest represented by one-half of the coupons in question), and that at all events this interest should have been paid. They also insist that the same considerations apply to the November interest. They contend that this was a specific appropriation of these funds, and that Duncan, Sherman & Co., occupying the fiduciary relations towards the company which they did, were bound in equity to carry it out, and had no right to assume the role of purchasers of those coupons. This position will presently be considered.

Besides reducing the principal of the floating debt, as before mentioned, the sum of $118,346 was absorbed in paying interest thereon, for the purpose of extending it and preventing the sacrifice of collaterals; the sum of $139,296 was used to pay over-due coupons of the previous year, and $128,000 to pay interest on convertible and other bonds; besides which, some of the assets were uncollected, amounting, in excess of what was realized from those of 1873, to $47,726; and the sum of $45,000 was paid on the Oktibbeha branch. These items together amount to $478,368; and with the amount paid on the principal of the floating debt, made an aggregate of $763,000. Various other claims in judgment, and otherwise, absorbed the balance. It is not pretended that any portion of the bonded interest accruing in 1874 (except as above stated) was paid by the company, unless the payment hereafter mentioned is to be regarded in that light. The only resources which the company had were actually disposed of as above stated.

1516 In this state of affairs it was evident that the company was in a failing condition. Its net income from the road (which was its only real resource) was insufficient to pay the interest on its funded debt, to say nothing of its floating debt. The great mass of its property was primarily liable to its first mortgage bondholders. If subjected to an indiscriminate scramble of judgment creditors, the rolling-stock and outside property would be sacrificed and scattered, and the whole security would be ruined. What was to be done? The first mortgage bonds were not due, and if the earnings were applied to the payment of the interest accruing on them, the bondholders could not take possession of the property, nor bring a suit for foreclosure. At the same time, other creditors were clamorous for every cent which could be realized. Duncan, Sherman & Co. conceived the idea of purchasing the coupons with their own funds, or funds provided by them for the purpose, perhaps in the hope of preserving the credit of the company until a change for the better should enable it to avoid ultimate bankruptcy. It is evident, moreover, that this would place it in their power, if the resources of the company should continue inadequate to redeem the coupons, to take proceedings for administering on the property for the protection of the bondholders, and of putting the company into a course of liquidation.

The mode of carrying out the plan of purchasing the coupons was this: Funds were furnished, or provided for, by Duncan, Sherman & Co. in some bank near the usual place of payment for the purpose of taking up the coupons on their account. When presented for payment by the holders the course pursued is stated by the master in his report, as follows:

"As to the mode and manner the evidence is very complete. For instance, the coupon holders who presented them for payment at the company's office in Mobile, were handed back their coupons after they had been verified or counted by the treasurer or his assistant, and placed in envelopes endorsed with memoranda of the number and amounts, and the holders were told to take them to the Bank of Mobile, where they would be paid. On presentation at said bank to the teller, the coupons were retained by the bank officer and the bank's cheques or mon-1517 ey were given for them. The mode and manner of payment in London and New York was not the usual mode. In London the coupons for May, 1874, were taken up on instructions from Duncan, Sherman & Co., by the Union Bank, and for November by the Credit Foncier. In New York the evidence is that they were not paid in the usual manner, and that the holders were informed that they were being purchased and held uncancelled.

* * * * * * *

"Evidence was adduced to show that a portion of the original owners did not know that the company was not paying. It appears that some did not know and did not inquire. Others did and were fully informed. Payment was not made at the treasurer's counter as usual. It appears that all who inquired were informed of the nature of the payment. There was evidence to show that a written notice was posted up in view of the treasurer's office. The evidence is full that the purchasing agencies and the officers of the company fully understood the transaction. Evidence offered to show that the matter was kept secret, failed."

The master further finds as follows:

"The proof is full as to the intent of Duncan, Sherman & Co., and their agents, the Bank of Mobile, Credit Foncier, &c., with the assent of the company, not to pay or satisfy said coupons so as to extinguish them, but, on the contrary, their plainly expressed intention was that they should be purchased and remain uncancelled with all the rights that purchasers would have. Their taking up the coupons without extinguishment was with the consent of the company, by the express agreement with its officers that they were to be purchased with all lien rights as existing mortgage security preserved and held until the company could pay them."

These findings of fact have been excepted to by the contestants; but after a careful examination of the evidence we think they are substantially correct.

Now upon this state of facts several questions arise.

First. Were Duncan, Sherman & Co. precluded from purchasing the coupons by the relation in which they stood to the company?
1518 We do not see that this can be successfully maintained. As financial agents of the company and general managers of its pecuniary concerns (William B. Duncan being the chief executive officer), it is undoubtedly true that they were bound to observe entire good faith. Had they been furnished by the company with the requisite means to pay the coupons, it would have been acting in bad faith towards it to have purchased the coupons in this manner, without the company's consent; and, under such circumstances, even to have purchased them with its consent, and kept them on foot, for the purpose of getting possession of the company's property, would have been a fraud upon other parties interested in that property. But the requisite funds were not furnished by the company. Money enough was furnished, it is true, to have paid these particular coupons, by leaving everything else unpaid. But the company was overwhelmed with floating debt, and creditors were pressing to be paid. Securities to a large amount had to be pledged as collateral to prevent instant prosecution; and debts had to be extended by payment of interest to prevent the sacrifice of the securities. Duncan, Sherman & Co. cannot justly be condemned for paying these pressing obligations as far as the money in their hands would go. Immediate bankruptcy would have resulted from a contrary course. It is true the resolution of April pledged the earnings of the road for the advances obtained by the president for the purpose of meeting the May interest; but this pledge was only made for his security, and did not prevent him from paying other debts with such earnings if he found it expedient and for the company's interest to do so. And even if the company could have insisted on such an appropriation, it did not, but assented to his purchasing the coupons instead of paying them.

As to Duncan, Sherman & Co. paying their own temporary loan to the company, it does not appear but that they had claims of the highest equity to be paid. They had made this loan to enable the company to pay its interest. It was a confidential debt for a loan made to relieve the company from its pressing embarrassments.

Secondly. Was the transaction, as it actually occurred, a pur-1519 chase of the coupons? It is insisted by the claimant that his possession of the coupons uncancelled is prima facie evidence of his title to them, with all the rights of a purchaser. So it would be if the evidence did not disclose the exact nature of the transaction. Whilst he has possession we know how he got that possession, or, rather, we know how Duncan, Sherman & Co. got it; and it is conceded that the present holder, having obtained them after maturity, is affected by the consequences that attach to the transaction. If they were paid, he cannot hold them as unpaid. He has the same title to them which Duncan, Sherman & Co. acquired, and no greater.

Then was it a purchase? We are clearly of opinion that there was no purchase, unless there was an intent on the part of the original holder to sell. This is almost a self-evident proposition. And where, as in this case, a sale as compared with payment is prejudicial to the holder's interest by continuing the burden of the coupons upon the common security, and lessening its value in reference to the balance of the debt, the intent to sell should be clearly proved. Such an intent may be inferred, however, when the holder has actual notice that purchase, and not payment, is being made, and when, having such notice, he consents to take his money. So the same result will follow if the holder acquiesces in the transaction, on being subsequently informed that payment was not made by the debtor company, but was made by a third party intending to purchase the coupons and keep them, subsisting and uncancelled. In such case the holder would undoubtedly have a right to repudiate the transaction, and demand possession of his coupons by returning the money received for them. But not doing this he will be presumed to acquiesce in their transfer.

In the present case many of the parties had actual notice of the nature of the transaction; and all who inquired, were informed in relation to it. The circumstances of the payment were calculated to excite inquiry. The coupons were not paid in the usual manner, by the officers or agents of the company, at the place designated for payment; but, after examination, were sealed up in an envelope and the holder was directed to go elsewhere to get his money. At the place to which he was directed to go he received it, and delivered up his coupons.

1520 They were not delivered up to the company. This was an indication that they were not to be cancelled. The great advantage to the holder of payment by the company would have been the cancellation of the coupons, so as to diminish the burden on the mortgage security. But he delivered his coupons to a third party, who furnished him the money for them. He ought to have known that that party, whether the bank itself, or some person by whom it was employed, and furnished with funds, would at least keep the coupons for its security until the company could pay them.

We think that this was notice to the holder, at least sufficient notice to put him upon inquiry. It may not have been, and we think it was not, sufficient notice to bind him absolutely to a contract of sale. He might still have repudiated the transaction by returning his money. But it was certainly sufficient to put him upon inquiry; and his subsequent acquiescence confirmed the title of Duncan, Sherman & Co., whose money he received. Had any other parties than Duncan, Sherman & Co. placed themselves in the gap, as they did, and taken up the coupons with their own funds, hardly a doubt would have been raised as to their title to keep the coupons until they were reimbursed.

In our judgment, therefore, Alexander Duncan, who obtained the coupons from Duncan, Sherman & Co., is justly entitled to hold them as subsisting demands against the mortgage security.

But the claim put forward, that these coupons are entitled to priority over the principal and over coupons subsequently maturing, we regard as utterly untenable. This would be giving to coupons a far greater sanctity than justly belongs to them. They are created as a mere matter of convenience for collecting the interest. According to them, the additional quality of being severed from the bond and of being passed from hand to hand, does not clothe them with any additional privileges prejudicial to the bond itself. They have no preference or priority over it, any more than unpaid installments of interest would have if there were no coupons to represent it. They all stand, as to the security, on the same platform of equality with the principal, un-1521 less the mortgage or deed of trust contains some provision to the contrary, which is not the case here. (Dunham vs. Railway Co., 1 Wall., 254.) And this is so whether the principal is due or not. It is suggested that the holder of the coupons may cause the mortgage to be foreclosed and the property to be sold to obtain payment. But he cannot do this to the prejudice of the principal. He must bring in the bondholders, who are equally entitled to the benefit of the common fund. The latter are not obliged to stand by and see the entire security taken from them at the instance of the owner of the coupons. Where a common fund is equally liable as a security for various claims, it can only be administered for the benefit of all; and this, whether they have all matured or not. It is true the bondholders themselves, when they have not parted with their coupons, or when an installment of interest or principal not represented by coupons is due, may foreclose and sell the whole security for the satisfaction of the amount due, and thus deprive themselves of security for the residue of the debt. But that is because the matter is all in their own discretion, and no other person is injured by their acts. But it does not follow that the holder of separated coupons can do likewise. Equity will not allow him to pursue the entire security, or any part thereof, to the prejudice of other parties equally interested in it.

The conclusion to which we have come as to the right of Duncan, Sherman & Co. to hold the coupons by purchase, renders it unnecessary to discuss the question of subrogation, so ably argued by counsel. Whilst we are inclined to think that, as holders of junior securities, Duncan, Sherman & Co. would have been entitled to pay the coupons and hold them by way of subrogation, we are not prepared to concede that this would have placed them on equality with the bondholders. No one can deprive the creditor of his security or any part of it, without his consent, until his whole debt is satisfied. Sureties and others entitled to the privilege of subrogation, paying only part of the debt, must be postponed to the creditor until they are in a position to demand all his securities.

We observe that many exceptions have been taken to the report of the master and to his rulings in the course of the examination 1522 before him, which we have not yet mentioned. We have examined these exceptions, however, but from the view of the case which we have taken, we do not consider them to be material.

A decree should be rendered in the cause in conformity with the views expressed in this opinion, that is to say, that Alexander Duncan is entitled to come in on an equal footing with the first-mortgage bondholders for the amount of the first-mortgage coupons held by him, including in the term "first-mortgage bonds" all bonds which are ranked by the master in his report as belonging to the category of first-mortgage bonds, such as ten year interest bonds, &c., so far as they represent coupons actually unpaid, excepting, however, the Tennessee substitution bonds, which are not passed upon by us, and are not to be affected by the decree, but which are to take their rank of priority according to the decision of the court which has cognizance of the controversy relating to said bonds; also, that the mortgaged premises should be sold as an entirety to pay and satisfy, first, the said first-mortgage bonds and coupons, and then the other securities of the company in the order reported by the master, saving and excepting the rights of the holders of the Tennessee substitution bonds as before provided. Also, that masters should be appointed to make the said sale and to execute the decree; and that the sale should be duly advertised by them and fixed to take place on the   day of   next; and that upon such sale being made, first-mortgage bonds and first-mortgage coupons should be received in payment in place of cash when tendered for that purpose, except the sum of   dollars to pay the costs and expenses of the various litigations, and the expenses and compensation of the commissioners, reserving for further order the status of the said Tennessee substitution bonds in respect to said sale.

Provision should also be made in the decree for executing all proper deeds and conveyances necessary to perfect the title; and all further equities and directions necessary to be made between the parties, or with regard to the mortgage fund, are to be reserved at the foot of the decree.

The counsel of the complainants in the original suit will prepare a draft of the decree, and submit it to the opposite counsel, 1523 before presenting it to the court, in order that if the terms be not agreed upon they may be then determined.

vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

D'ORRELLI ZEIGLER ET AL.
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY AND others.

Decree made June 15, 1877.

These causes having been consolidated and set down for a hearing at the same time, under the order of this court, to be disposed of by the same decree, came on to be heard upon the pleadings, exhibits, orders, reports, exceptions, and the testimony taken in the cause as taken before the master, and were argued by counsel, and thereupon the court, upon consideration of the premises, declares, orders, and decrees—

1. That the reports submitted by the master under the orders and directions to him are confirmed, and all the exceptions to the same are overruled.

2. The court declares and decrees the deed of trust described in the bill executed by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, dated the first of November, 1852, and appointing John J. Palmer, W'm R. Hallett and Morris Ketchum, the survivors and successors of them, as trustees, is a valid conveyance of the railroad of the said corporation and of all the property therein mentioned for the security of the 1525 uniform series of first-mortgage bonds and the interest to accrue thereon therein set forth, and that the said bonds and coupons, including the coupons which became due on the first of May and November, 1874, represented as owned by Alexander Duncan, are secured equally and to be ratably paid from the proceeds of the property without priority or preference among them.

3. The court declares and decrees there was a default on the part of the corporation aforesaid in the payment of the installments of interest promised to be paid in May, 1874, also in November, 1874, and successively in May and November since that date, and that a title accrued to the trustees under the same deed therefrom, to enter into possession of the property and to obtain a decree for the sale of the property therein described, to be enforced unless the said corporation shall pay the debt which has been ascertained to be due on the said deed of trust by the master's report in this cause.

4. The court orders and decrees that the defendants to this cause, to wit, the trustees in the second and the other deeds of mortgage of a date subsequent to that of the mortgage described in the bill as the first mortgage, pay into the registry of this court, on or before the first day of August next, the amount of the debt ascertained to be due on the deed of trust by the master and reported to the court, and in case of any default on their part, that their equity of redemption shall be henceforth barred and foreclosed.

5. The court orders and decrees that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company be authorized to pay into court the amount ascertained to be due upon the reports of the master on or before the first day of August next, together with all costs in the cause, and in case of a compliance with this order, that further proceedings on this decree shall be suspended.

6. In case of a failure to make the payment as provided in this decree at the time appointed, to wit, the first day of August next, the court orders James Gillette, the master heretofore appointed in this cause, and Thomas H. Herndon, who is hereby appointed special master for the purpose, to advertise the property described in the said 1526 deed of trust of the date of the first day of November, A. D. 1853, as aforesaid, and all property and franchises and rights comprehended in its terms for sale, at public auction, in bulk and as an entirety, for cash, to the highest bidder, on some day to be designated by them in the advertisement of sale; the sale will be made in front of the custom-house, in the city of Mobile, between the hours of noon and 3 o'clock p. m. They will advertise the sale in a daily paper published in Mobile, and in two daily papers published in the city of New York, for eight weeks prior to the day of sale. They will appoint a cryer before the sale, whose fee shall not exceed one hundred dollars. The master will attend the sale in person and take care that it be fairly and regularly conducted, and with proper regards to the rights of all persons. The master shall exact from any bidder, before making an adjudication to him, a deposit of the sum of fifty thousand dollars in money, to defray the costs, expenses, and charges incident to the trust, and a further deposit of one hundred thousand dollars in money or of the bonds or coupons described in the said deed of trust and master's report as a part of the debt secured by the said deed, and in case of his refusal, the masters may reject the bid thus made, and proceed with the sale as if the bid had not been made; in case of any failure of a bidder to comply with the terms of sale, and the masters shall find that the bidder will not or cannot comply, they may make a resale on the day of the sale at the same place, or they may give notice that on the day following, between the same hours of 12 noon and 3 p. m., they will make a sale also at the same place under the decree according to its conditions; and they shall have power to adjourn the sale for thirty days, to be made at the same place, by adding a note to the advertisements for that purpose, should they deem that course advisable, and by causing publication of said advertisements to be continued in the same papers until the day of sale.

7. The court orders and decrees that the masters may receive in payment, from the highest and last bidder, bonds and coupons which form a part of the first-mortgage debt ascertained to be due or owing by the master in his report, and sustained by the opinion of this court; provided, however, that a sum sufficient to pay the costs, charges, 1527 and expenses of the trust as above mentioned, whether exceeding the said cash deposit or not, and also to provide for the payment of the pro rata dividend which shall be due or owing to the owners of other bonds and coupons secured under the deed of trust, must be paid in money, and provided also that if the said mortgage property shall be bid off, directly or indirectly, by, for, or in behalf of the bondholders and creditors who have or shall have entered into and subscribed the agreement for the readjustment of the securities of said company, dated October 1, 1876, commonly called the agreement of reorganization, then and in that case all and every bondholder and creditor of said company not having already entered into and subscribed said agreement, who shall, on or before the first day of September next, enter into and subscribe the same and deposit their securities with the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, in the city of New York, or with the Bank of Mobile, in the city of Mobile, as provided by said agreement, shall be, and they are hereby, allowed to participate in said bid and purchase on the same terms and on an equal footing in all respects, according to the character of their claims respectively, with the said bondholders and creditors who have heretofore entered into and signed said agreement.

8. The court orders and decrees that the masters shall make their report of the sale and proceedings connected with the same, and of the performance of the contract by the purchaser, and shall report a draft of a deed of sale under this decree, to be executed by themselves, and shall file the same with the report and their signature thereto, all of which shall be subject to the final order of confirmation. The masters, in addition to the deed to be executed by them, shall prepare a deed of confirmation of the sale and of the conveyance executed by them, and a release of all claim on the property as trustees, or otherwise, with certificates of acknowledgment, fitting it for registration in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, which deed of confirmation and release shall be executed and acknowledged by W'm B. Duncan, A. Foster Elliot, and Morris Ketchum, as well as by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, within thirty days from the day of sale, and be reported to the court for confirmation.

1528 9. The court orders and decrees, that it appearing to the court that there is a clause in the deed of trust or mortgage described in the bill, saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction thereon, in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that State, in the event of said State aiding in the construction of the railroad of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in that State, being a distance of one hundred and eighteen miles (118); and it appearing that there was such aid, and a claim for a prior lien under the statutes in Tennessee is the subject of controversy in the circuit court of the United States for the western district of Tennessee, and the parties asserting such prior lien are not before this court and this claim cannot be settled here, the court orders that the sale to be made under the orders of this decree be subject to the rights and liens which exist, if any, under the statutes of the State of Tennessee, in favor of the State of Tennessee, or its grantees or assigns or the parties asserting such prior liens, in so far as the railroad and property affected by that lien are concerned.

10. The court further orders and decrees that the sale of the Gainesville Branch Road shall be without prejudice to a prior mortgage existing on that branch railroad, as represented in the report of the master upon that subject, in the reference to him in favor of W'm D. Dunn, John Reid, j'r, Robert C. Crawford, trustees.

11. The court orders and decrees that all the equities among the parties to the suit, all questions of costs and for allowances, and all other questions not disposed of nor specially reserved in the foregoing decree, but properly arising under the same, are continued and reserved until after the sale and report by the masters of their proceedings thereupon.

1529 Prayer for appeal.

In the above causes consolidated, Morris Ketchum, Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard De Watteville, Masson Chavannes, and Henry Jump, the complainants in two of the above causes consolidated, and Rodolph Merrian, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, Cephise Chuffard, the defendants, on behalf of the first mortgage bondholders in one of the said causes, pray an appeal from the decree in the above cause, consolidated, rendered herein on the 15th day of June, 1877, to the Supreme Court of the United States, and likewise pray that the said appeal may have the effect of a supersedeas of the said decree and all proceedings thereunder, and that the supersedeas bond may be approved in the sum of ten thousand dollars with sureties resident in the city of New York.

1530 BRADLEY, J.:

An appeal being granted and allowed in these cases from the decree rendered therein on the 15th day of June, 1877, the question is raised as to the amount of the appeal bond to be given by the appellants, they being the plaintiffs in the second and third suits and defendants in the first.

The decree appealed from sustained the claim of Alexander Duncan, as holder of certain first mortgage coupons to the amount of over $500,000 to come in pari passu with the first mortgage bondholders, and directs a foreclosure of the first mortgage and a sale of the mortgaged property to pay the bonds secured thereby, and also certain other bonds given for interest, amounting in the aggregate to about ten millions of dollars. Purchasers are by the decree allowed to pay the purchase money in bonds and coupons to the extent of their proportionate interest as bondholders in the whole amount of first mortgage bonds. About four-fifths of the bondholders have agreed to and subscribed a scheme for reorganizing the company and purchasing the road.

The court has allowed the remaining bondholders until the 1st of September to join in said scheme.

A portion of the bondholders, holding less than one-tenth of the entire mortgage interest, are dissatisfied with the decree, and promote the appeal.

The property being in the hands of a receiver, and not producing much, if any, more than the expenses and necessary repairs of the road, the bondholders to whom the property or its proceeds really belongs will be kept out of possession for two or three years by the intervention of the appeal.

This delay in obtaining possession of the property or its proceeds we regard as calculated greatly to injure them.

By having immediate possession they could make the necessary improvements and connections required for making the property much more remunerative, and could manage it much more to their advantage generally than a receiver can do.

Or, if the property were immediately sold, they would be in possession of the interest of the purchase money, of which they will now be deprived for two or three years by the appeal.

In our judgment, therefore, an appeal bond for one hundred thousand dollars is very moderate in amount.

The appellants contend that on the principles of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Jerome vs. McCarter (21 Wall.), and of , decided at the last term of said court, a bond for 1531 one hundred thousand dollars is greatly in excess of what should be required.

They insist that in contemplation of law, possession by a receiver is equally beneficial to those who are interested in the property, as possession by the parties themselves.

Whilst this may be the case with regard to dead property or even real estate generally, we think it is not so where the property, like a railroad, is perishable in its character, and has to be managed, worked, repaired, and taken care of, in order to preserve it.

We think that the owner is a better manager than a trustee or receiver, who is hampered and restrained in his management, and cannot take advantage of all those means and opportunities which the owner could do for rendering the property most profitable and productive.

On these grounds we think that the damage sustained by the delay will be much more than the mere cost and expenses of the suit, and that the actual loss and injury to the owner, or in this case the bondholders, may be taken into consideration by the court in find the amount of the bond; and that loss and damage, we think, will not be 1532 less than the amount we have required.

The most forcible difficulty which presents itself to our minds is the measure of damages which would be applicable in a suit on the bond.

Would it be admissable for the plaintiffs to show a loss to the bondholders by reason of advantages lost for the cause above referred to? Of this there may be a question. But our opinion is, on the whole, that such a damage would be the subject of a recovery.

If damages are really sustained, there seems no good reason why they should not be recovered.

Woods, circuit judge, concurring.

Order allowing appeal.

In the above causes consolidated, the appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States heretofore prayed is hereby granted and allowed.

1534 The supersedeas bond is hereby fixed at one hundred thousand dollars with sureties resident in the southern district of Alabama, or in the city of New York, who may unite in said bond in any proportionate sums. The said bond shall stay execution if approved and filed at any time within sixty days from the date of this order.

1535 Supersedeas bond.

Know all men by these presents, that we, Charles Moran, resident of the city and State of New York, and Henry Amy, Theodore T. Moran, and Isaac R. Cornell, residents of the same place, are severally and respectively held and firmly bound unto William B. Duncan, of the city and State of New York, and Andrew F. Elliot of the city of New Orleans in the State of Louisiana, in the respective sums following, to wit, the said Charles Moran, Henry Amy, Theodore T. Moran, and Isaac R. Cornell in the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars each, to be paid to the said William B. Duncan and A. F. Elliot, their executors, administrators, and successors; for which several payments well and truly to be made each of them doth hereby bind himself, his heirs, executors, and administrators, severally and respectively by these presents. Sealed with our seals and dated this third day of July, in the year of our Lord 1536 one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

Whereas lately, at a regular term of the circuit court of the United States in and for the southern district of Alabama, held at the city of Mobile, three certain suits brought therein for a common purpose were by order of said court consolidated into a single cause;

And whereas in one of said suits William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliot, as trustees, are complainants, and Rodolph Merian, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephise Chuffard are defendants on behalf of first-mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company; and in another of said suits Morris Ketchum is the complainant, as trustee, and W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliot above named are defendants; and in another of said suits Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard 1537 de Watteville, Masson Chavannes and Henry Jump are complainants on behalf of first-mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliot are defendants;

And whereas a decree was rendered in the said consolidated cause;

And whereas an appeal from the said decree to the Supreme Court of the United States was prayed in open court on behalf of Morris Ketchum, Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard de Watteville, Masson Chavannes, Henry Jump, Rodolph Merian, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephise Chuffard, which appeal was granted and the order granting the same was filed with the clerk of said circuit court and a citation directed to the said W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliot, citing and admonishing them to be appear at a Supreme Court of the United States to be holden at Washington the second Monday of October next:

1538 Now the condition of the above obligation is such that if the said Morris Ketchum, Dorelli Zeigler, Bernard de Watteville, Masson Chavannes, Henry Jump, Rodolph Merian, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephese Chuffard shall prosecute the said plea to effect and answer all damages and costs if they fail to make the said appeal good, then the above obligation to be void; else to remain in full force and virtue.

Appeal of William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, T. Haskins DuPuy, and Alexander Duncan.

1548 By the honorable Joseph P. Bradley, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

To Morris Ketchum, Louis Belloni, j'r, D'Orelli Ziegler, Henry Jump, Masson Chavannes, Bernard de Watteville, Rudolph Merian, Eugene Renevier, Alfred Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephise Chuffard, William Butler Duncan, and Andrew F. Elliott:

Whereas William H. Hays, Willam S. Pierson, T. Haskins Dupuy, and Alexander Duncan have appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States from a certain decree of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, made on the fifteenth day of June, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, in a consolidated cause then pending in the said court, in which William Butler Duncan and others were complainants, and The Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company

vs.
THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
et al.

D'ORELLI ZIEGLER & AL.
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
et al.

To the honorable the Supreme Court of the United States:

1574 The appeal of William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, T. Haskins Du Puy, and Alexander Duncan respectfully shows as follows:

The complainants in the several causes above entitled, prior to the year 1877 filed their respective bills of complaint in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama for the avowed purpose of obtaining satisfaction of an indebtedness incurred by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company and secured as to the payment thereof by a mortgage or deed of trust made by said company in the year 1853; the said William Buttler, Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot claiming to be trustees under said mortgage, and claiming that said company had made default in the payment of coupons for interest on said indebtedness which became due May 1, and had made default also in the payment of coupons for interest on said indebtedness which became due on November 1, 1874; the said Morris Ketchum claiming to be sole trustee under said mort-
under said mortgage, and claiming that said company had not made default in the payment of any of said coupons, and that said coupons did not continue to constitute any part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage; and said D'Orelli Ziegler and his co-complainants claiming that said company had not made default in the payment of any of said coupons, and that said coupons did not continue to constitute any part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage, and claiming to be entitled to maintain their action as holders of part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage and that said Duncan and Elliot were not trustees under said mortgage; and said Ketchum and said Ziegler and his associates claiming to be entitled to restrain and enjoin said Duncan and Elliot from proceeding to enforce the payment or promote the collection of any part of said indebtedness.

1576 In said action of said Duncan and Elliot, your petitioners, as successive holders of the said coupons, intervened as parties for the protection of their own interests, and afterwards the said court, by its order made on or about the 9th day of June, 1877, in substance directed all said causes to be consolidated and to proceed together to a hearing and to a decree; and thereupon your petitioners before said hearing was had became and were parties to said causes as consolidated, and were, on said hearing, heard by counsel as such parties.

The said court, by its decree or order, bearing date the 15th day of June, 1877, after such hearing, adjudged and decreed in substance that said coupons did continue to constitute a portion of said indebtedness, but refused to adjudge or decree that the funds in the hands of the receivers appointed in said cause and causes (which funds consisted of the net income of the mortaged property) should be applied in the first instance to the payment of the instalments of interest which be-1577 came due on the principal of said indebtedness in the order in their own interests, and afterwards the said court, by its order made on or about the 9th day of June, 1877, in substance, directed all said causes to be consolidated, and to proceed together to a hearing and to a decree; and thereupon your petitioners, before said hearing was had, became and were parties to said causes as consolidated, 1568 and were, on said hearing, heard by counsel as such parties.

The foregoing appeal allowed, bond approved, and citation signed this 20th day of August, 1877.

The said court, by its decree or order bearing date the 15th day of June, 1877, after such hearing, adjudged and decreed in substance that said coupons did continue to constitute a portion of said indebtedness; but refused to adjudge or decree that the funds in the hands of the receivers appointed in said cause and causes (which funds consisted of the net income of the mortgaged property) should be applied in the first instance to the payment of the instalments of interest which became due on the principal of said indebtedness in the order in which such instalments became due; and also refused to adjudge and decree that said coupons above referred to were entitled to priority of payment out of the proceeds of the sale of said mortgaged property before payment of any part of the coupons which subsequently matured, and before payment of any of the principal of said indebtedness; each of which 1569 refusals was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous, and your petitioners were and are aggrieved thereby; and the said court adjudged by its said decree of June 15th, 1877, that the bonds representing the principal of said indebtedness, and the coupons for interest which matured after November 1, 1874, were secured equally with coupons which matured May 1, 1874, or November 1, 1874, and were to be ratably paid from the proceeds of the property, without preference or priority among them, in which particular the said decree was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous; and the said court further, at the same time and by the same decree, adjudged that the masters appointed by said decree to make sale of said mortgaged property should receive in payment from the last and best bidder bonds which had not matured at the time of said decree upon an equal footing with coupons which had matured on or before November 1, 1874; in which particular and in other particulars the said decree was, as your petitioners claim,

Wherefore these appellants appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States from so much and such parts of the said decree of June 15th, 1877, as they were and are aggrieved by as aforesaid, and from each and every part of said decree which denies or omits to provide a remedy for the rights and claims of these appellants.

And these appellants respectfully pray that the pleadings, proofs, depositions, affidavits, orders, decrees, and other proceedings in the said cause and causes may be sent to this Supreme Court of the United States without delay, and that the said Supreme Court of the United States will proceed to hear the cause, and that the said decree of the said circuit court may be modified, amended, or reversed as justice to these appellants may require in the respects and as to the matters aforesaid, and that such further or other decree may be made as to the said Supreme Court shall seem just.

WILLIAM H. HAYS, WILLIAM S. PIERSON, T. Haskins Du Puy & Alexander Duncan, appellants,
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM & AL., APPELLEES.

Know all men by these present, that we, William M. Clarke & Roswell G. Ralston, of the city of New York, are held and firmly bound unto Morris Ketchum, D'Orelli Ziegler, Masson Chavannes, Henry Jump, Bernard de Watteville, Rudolph Merian, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, Alfred Renevier, Cephise Chuffard, William Butler Duncan, and Andrew Foster Elliot, appellees, in the sum of one thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States, to be paid to the said appellees, their successors, executors, administrators, or assigns respectively; for which payment, well and truly to be made, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, and administrators, jointly and severally, firmly by these 1552 presents, sealed with our seals, dated the 18th day of August, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven.

Whereas, on or about the ninth day of June, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, in three certain causes in equity theretofore pending in that court, in one of which William Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot, trustees, were complainants; in another of which Morris Ketchum was complainant, and in another of which D'Orielli Ziegler and others were complainants, an order was made by the said court whereby the said causes were consolidated;

And whereas, afterwards and on or about the fifteenth day of June, eighteen hundred and seventy-seven, a decree was made by the said court in the said cause and causes, from which decree the said appellants William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, T. Haskins DuPuy, 1553 and Alexander Duncan have taken an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States in respect to certain matters in the said decree contained and certain matters from said decree omitted:

such bidder, and should be produced and delivered to the masters for cancellation in the order of their maturity; and also from so much of said decree as omitted to order and adjudge that the funds remaining in the hands of the receivers should be applied to the payment of the coupons

In the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama.

Consolidated causes.

WILLIAM BUTLER DUNCAN AND ANDREW FOSTER Elliot, trustees, &c.,
vs.
THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

D'ORELLI ZIEGLER ET AL.
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

To the honorable the Supreme Court of the United States:

The appeal of William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, T. Haskins DuPuy, and Alexander Duncan, respectfully shows as follows:

The complainants in the several causes above entitled, prior to the year 1877 filed their respective bills of complaint in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, for the 1566 avowed purpose of obtaining satisfaction of an indebtedness incurred by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, and secured as to the payment thereof by a mortgage or deed of trust made by said company in the year 1853; the said William Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot claiming to be trustees under said mortgage, and claiming that said company had made default in the payment of coupons for interest on said indebtedness which became due May 1st, and had made default also in the payment of coupons for interest on said indebtedness which became due on November 1, 1874; the said Morris Ketchum claiming to be sole trustee under said mortgage, and claiming that said Duncan and Elliot were not trustees under said mortgage, and claiming that said company had not made default in the payment of any of said coupons, and that said coupons did not continue to constitute any part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage; and said D'Orelli Ziegler and his co-complainants complaining that said company had not made default in the payment of any of said 1567 coupons, and that said coupons did not continue to constitute any part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage, and claiming to be entitled to maintain their action as holders of part of the indebtedness secured by said mortgage, and that said Duncan and Elliot were not trustees under said mortgage; and said Ketchum, as well as said Ziegler and his associates, claiming to be entitled to restrain and enjoin said Duncan and Elliot from proceeding to enforce the payment or promote the collection of any part of the said indebtedness.

In said action of said Duncan & Elliot your petitioners, as successive holders of the said coupons, intervened as parties for the protection of their own interests, and afterwards the said court, by its order made on or about the 9th day of June, 1877, in substance, directed all said causes to be consolidated, and to proceed together to a hearing and to a decree; and thereupon your petitioners, before said hearing was had, became and were parties to said causes as consolidated, 1568 and were, on said hearing, heard by counsel as such parties.

The said court, by its decree or order bearing date the 15th day of June, 1877, after such hearing, adjudged and decreed in substance that said coupons did continue to constitute a portion of said indebtedness; but refused to adjudge or decree that the funds in the hands of the receivers appointed in said cause and causes (which funds consisted of the net income of the mortgaged property) should be applied in the first instance to the payment of the instalments of interest which became due on the principal of said indebtedness in the order in which such instalments became due; and also refused to adjudge and decree that said coupons above referred to were entitled to priority of payment out of the proceeds of the sale of said mortgaged property before payment of any part of the coupons which subsequently matured, and before payment of any of the principal of said indebtedness; each of which 1569 refusals was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous, and your petitioners were and are aggrieved thereby; and the said court adjudged by its said decree of June 15th, 1877, that the bonds representing the principal of said indebtedness, and the coupons for interest which matured after November 1, 1874, were secured equally with coupons which matured May 1, 1874, or November 1, 1874, and were to be ratably paid from the proceeds of the property, without preference or priority among them, in which particular the said decree was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous; and the said court further, at the same time and by the same decree, adjudged that the masters appointed by said decree to make sale of said mortgaged property should receive in payment from the last and best bidder bonds which had not matured at the time of said decree upon an equal footing with coupons which had matured on or before November 1, 1874; in which particular and in other particulars the said decree was, as your petitioners claim,

Wherefore these appellants appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States from so much and such parts of the said decree of June 15th, 1877, as they were and are aggrieved by as aforesaid, and from each and every part of said decree which denies or omits to provide a remedy for the rights and claims of these appellants.

And these appellants respectfully pray that the pleadings, proofs, depositions, affidavits, orders, decrees, and other proceedings in the said cause and causes may be sent to this Supreme Court of the United States without delay, and that the said Supreme Court of the United States will proceed to hear the cause, and that the said decree of the said circuit court may be modified, amended, or reversed as justice to these appellants may require in the respects and as to the matters aforesaid, and that such further or other decree may be made as to the said Supreme Court shall seem just.

which such instalments became due, and also refused to adjudge and decree that said coupons above referred to were entitled to priority of payment out of the proceeds of the sale of said mortgaged property before payment of any part of the coupons which subsequently matured and before payment of any of the principal of said indebtedness, each of which refusals was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous, and your petitioners were and are aggrieved thereby; and the said court adjudged by its said decree of June 15th, 1877, that the bonds representing the principal of said indebtedness, and the coupons for interest which matured after November 1, 1874, were secured equally with the coupons which matured May 1, 1874, or November 1, 1874, and were to be ratably paid from the proceeds of the property without preference or priority among them, in which particular the said decree was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous; and the said court further, at the 1578 same time and by the same decree, adjudged that the master appointed by said decree to make sale of said mortgaged property should receive in payment from the last and best bidder bonds which had not matured at the time of said decree upon an equal footing with coupons which had matured on or before November 1, 1874; in which particular, and in other particulars, the said decree was, as your petitioners claim, erroneous, and they were and are aggrieved thereby.

And these appellants respectfully pray that the pleadings, proofs, depositions, affidavits, orders, decrees, and other proceedings in 1579 the said cause and causes may be sent to the Supreme Court of the United States without delay, and that the said Supreme Court of the United States will proceed to hear the cause, and that the said decree of the said circuit court may be modified, amended, or reversed as justice to these appellants may require in the respects and as to the matters aforesaid, and that such further or other decree may be made as to the said Supreme Court shall seem just.

1 Decree appointing W'm B. Duncan & A. F. Elliot receivers.

Circuit court of the United States, southern district of Alabama, 5th judicial circuit.

W'M BUTLER DUNCAN, A. FOSTER ELLIOTT, plaintiffs & trustees,
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY, William D. Dunn, George H. Young, Samuel Williams, John Reid, Robert C. Crawford, Adrian Iselin, Richard T. Wilson, Samuel L. Barlow, defendants.
} In chancery.

AT CHAMBERS, 14 May, 1875.

Present, Hon. W'm B. Woods, circuit judge.

This cause was submitted upon the bill, exhibits, consents of, and notices to, material defendants upon a motion made on behalf of the plaintiffs by their solicitors, which is filed, the object of which is to confirm the said plaintiffs in possession as trustees of the rail-2 roads, property, effects, franchises, and faculties of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, so that the same, during the pendency of the suit, should be managed and employed by the plaintiffs so as to preserve the franchises and property, fulfil the contracts with the States through which it passes, to subserve the public convenience by transporting freight, passengers, and the mails, and to execute the deeds under which the plaintiffs have their appointment.

It appears from the exhibits to the bill, as well as from its statements, that the railroad property of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company passes through the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, and was constructed under charters granted by the legislatures of those States. The length of the railroad is five hundred and twenty-seven miles, and there are several lateral or branch roads; its domicil being at Mobile, Alabama, and its northern terminus be-3 ing Columbus, Kentucky, on the Ohio River. The bonded debt and interest thereon exceeds twelve million of dollars.

There are a number of mortgages, or deeds of trust, wherein there are different trustees, some of them affecting portions of the road, others the whole road, and involving questions of priority and complication in the management, and the accounts. It appears there has been a continuing default in the payment of interest on all of this bonded debt, and that there is a large floating debt. It appears that there was granted to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company above one million of acres of the public lands by Congress, which remain for a large part unsold, and are included in the mortgages.

The plaintiffs are the only trustees under a deed of trust, dated 1st day of November, 1853, to secure by the terms bonds to the sum 4 of six million of dollars, with coupon warrants for the payment of semi-annual interest, and which embraces the railroad, railways, warehouses, fences, bridges, rights, privileges, franchises, and all other property owned and to be acquired by the company, including the donation made by act of Congress.

These trustees have fulfilled the conditions of the deed, and with notice to, and the consent of the company, have displaced the board of directors in the management, custody, care and control of this property. The trustees of the mortgage upon the railroad in Tennessee, and who claim a priority over that portion of road to secure bonds amounting to $1,685,000 consent to the entry and to the allowance of the powers the plaintiffs desire. The trustees in another mortgage also consent, as appears from an exhibit to the bill.

5 The exhibits J, K, L, show that the trustees have a sanction for this motion from the corporation and from the mortgagees in two mortgages made by the corporation, which affect the property and embrace the interests of more than one-fourth of the mortgage-bond debt not embraced in the first mortgage represented by the plaintiffs. No opposition has been offered to the motion submitted by the trustees in other mortgages. In view of the great length of the road, the location in different States and jurisdictions; the number of mortgages and the questions of priority to be ascertained; the necessity for an efficient and responsible government of the railroad, its business and franchises pending the suit, the court concludes to make the following order:

Order.

6 The court orders that William Butler Duncan and A. To the honorable the judges of said court:

The petition of the Rogers Locomotive and Machine Works, a corporation created by the laws of the State of New Jersey, and a citizen of said State, respectfully sheweth unto your honors:

1. That said corporation is holder and owner of certain bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation hereinafter referred to, issued under a certain mortgage of the said company known as the secornd mortgage thereof, made on the 15th day of February, A. D. 1860; that petitioner holds of said bonds, each with certain unpaid coupons for interest attached, to the amount of principal of 47 ninety-one thousand two hundred dollars.

2. That there is pending undetermined in said court a suit in equity, wherein William Butler Duncan, who is a citizen of the State of New York, and A. Foster Elliot, who is a citizen of the State of Louisiana, are complainants, and the said The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation incorporated by act of the general assembly of the State of Alabama, which is a citizen of the State of Alabama, and others, are defendants; that in and by the bill of complaint in said cause, the said complainants set up and allege themselves to be entitled to certain rights and relief, and also set up and allege other parties named therein to be entitled to certain rights and relief, and pray for the enforcement of such alleged rights and for alleged appro-48 priate relief; and also allege and pretend that certain of said alleged rights are paramount and superior to those of holders of bonds issued by said railroad company and secured by the mortgage known as the second mortgage of said company aforesaid.

3. That petitioner desires to controvert and deny and traverse many of the allegations of said bill of complaint, and to make defences thereto, for themselves as holders of bonds issued under said second mortgage aforesaid, and for all others in similar right with themselves who may choose to come in and contribute to the expenses of such defences, and that they are entitled so to do by the rules and practice of this honorable court.

Your petitioner further prays that your honors will be pleased to grant a decree of this honorable court, allowing petitioner

65 Affidavit of agent of William D. Dunn, of Mobile, Ala., for protection against indorsed notes.

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of Alabama:

W'M BUTLER DUNCAN AND A. FOSTER ELLIOTT, trustees,
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et als.

Personally appeared before me this 11th October, 1876, Moses Waring, who, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is agent for W'm D. Dunn in this special matter, and as such agent he says that at various times the said W'm D. Dunn endorsed the notes of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company amounting to the sum of fifty-three thousand ($53,833.26) eight hundred and thirty-three & $\frac{26}{100}$ dollars, as is more fully shown and set forth in detail in Exhibit A hereto attached, and that together with Abram Murdock he endorsed notes of the defendant, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, amounting to one hundred ($112,754.74) and twelve thousand seven hundred and fifty-four & $\frac{74}{100}$ dollars, as is 66 more fully shown and set forth in detail in Exhibit B, hereunto attached.

And deponent further says that the said William D. Dunn is liable for the amounts of said indebtedness of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and interest on the notes endorsed by him from the date of maturity of the same, as said dates are set forth in the exhibits referred to.

And deponent further says that all of said notes are outstanding as just debts of said company, but in whose hands deponent is not able to state.

And deponent further says that he is authorized by his principal to make this deposition; and he makes the Exhibits A and B herein referred to a part thereof.

Deponent further says, on oath, that all of said indebtedness is secured by the deposit, as collateral, of the consolidated mortgage-bonds of said railroad company, which, when deposited, were valued at seventy-five cents on the dollar of the face-value of said bonds, some of said bonds being deposited with the holders of said notes and some with the 67 Bank of Mobile.

And further deponent saith not.

M. WARING.

Interest 8 p'r c't coupons payable annually on March 1st. These bonds are payable 10 y'rs after date, and mature March 1st, 1877; the company reserving the right to redeem them after five years' time from date.

Interest for 5 quarters, to March 1st, 1875, on the above bond has been paid;

All the above described bonds and coupons were deposited in the vault of the Northampton National Bank, Northampton, Massachusetts, for safe keeping, and were stolen therefrom by burglars, who entered and robbed said vault on the 26th day of January, 1876. The robbery of the bonds has been extensively advertised and other efforts are being made for their recovery. Beside the above, I own and hold coupons to the amount of ($384) three hundred and eighty-four dollars, that fell due March 1st, 1875, and were cut from the eight bonds (whose coupons are payable annually on the 1st of March), and sent to Mobile for collection, but were returned to me, the co'y failing to pay them.

Amount of coupons cut from the bonds............ 384 00

73 To which must be added the amount of coupons attached to bonds as they mature and the interest on the $3,250 bond.

747 GEORGE N. STEWART, of the city of Mobile, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That in the year 1875, and before and afterwards, he was general solicitor of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and in charge of its legal business.

That in the spring of that year it became obvious that it would become necessary that legal steps should be taken by the trustees under the deed of first mortgage of the company, and I called on M'r Charles Walsh, one of said trustees, who, it was understood, would be absent from the State, to execute a power of attorney, to be signed by him and the two other trustees, to an agent or agents to execute bonds and do such acts as might be required to be done by such trustees in the prosecution of defence of suits, and to do in New York what might be needed there to be done by the trustees. To this application I received from M'r Walsh his letter, dated at Mobile on the 5th of March, 1875, the original of which is now here produced to me, directed to me, as 748 general solicitor of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, now marked with my initials for identity. The said letter is signed by said Walsh with his own proper signature.

It was suggested to me by M'r Walsh that he knew Mess'rs Jackson and Young, and that they being old gentlemen retired from active business he thought it very probable that they would be disposed to take the same course as he had.

I did apply to each of those gentlemen the other trustees, shewing them them the letter of M'r Walsh. M'r Alexander Jackson also, by his letter to me directed, dated on the 9th of March at Jackson, Tennessee, requested me to present his resignation as trustee as M'r Walsh had done; and on the 10th day of March, 1875, M'r George H. Young, by his letter of that date to me directed, requested me also to present his resignation as trustee under said first mortgage of the company. The letters of M'r Jackson and of M'r Young now produced before me are their original letters, signed by them, respectively, in my presence, with their own handwriting, respectively.
749 The said letters for identification are now marked with my initials.

After I came into the possession of these three letters, considering of the same, I expressed the opinion that if these three letters were reported to M'r Walker, the vice-president of the company, then acting as president in the absence of the president, and the proposed resignations therein carried into effect, that the power given by the deed to perpetuate the execution of the trust by the appointment of successors as trustees would lapse, and that no successors as trustees could be appointed in the mode and manner specified in the said deed of first mortgage, and to obviate this evil, I reported only two of the resignations to M'r Walker, vice-president, to take effect at that time, and accordingly addressed to him my letter dated the 12th of March, 1875, communicating to him, as vice-president, the resignation of M'r Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, a copy of which letter to M'r Walker is herewith marked with my initials for identification. And on the same day I addressed to M'r Walker, vice-president, a similar letter 750 dated on the 12th of March, 1875, communicating to him the resignation of M'r George H. Young, a copy of which letter is also herewith marked with my initials for identification.

On the same day I addressed letters to M'r Alexander Jackson and to M'r George H. Young, respectively, dated on the 12 of March, 1875, advising them that their respective resignations had been accepted and made of record. But I did not make any return or report to M'r Walker at that time of the proposed resignation of M'r Walsh, for the reason above stated.

The copies of the letters to M'r Jackson and to M'r Young are herewith marked with my initials for identification.

Under my advice and for the purpose aforesaid, M'r Charles Walsh addressed me his letter of the 15th of March, 1875, of that date, with or *ow*ing or suspending his resignation as trustee, the original of which letter is now before me, signed by said Walsh with his own signature, on which I have placed my initials for identification.

The resignation of M'r Walsh was thus withheld and did not go into effect until after the appointment of M'r William Butler Duncan 751 and Andrew Foster Elliot was made by the concurrence and joint act of said Charles Walsh, then still acting trustee, and the company; and after this was accomplished, then on the 20th of April, 1878, said Charles Walsh, by his letter of that date directed to J. J. Walker, esq., vice-president of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, declared his final resignation, the original of which letter, in my handwriting, dated and written on said 20th of April, 1875, is now before me, signed with the proper hand of said Charles Walsh, on which I have affixed my initials for identification.

This last letter was handed to me by M'r Walsh, and was by me delivered to M'r Walker on the day of or soon after its date. After which M'r Walsh ceased to act as a trustee.

(Signed) GEORGE N. STEWART.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 24th day of May, A. D. 1877.

MOBILE, March 5th, 1875.

GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: In reply to your request that I shall execute a power of attorney jointly with the two other trustees of the mortgage made by the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. on the 1st of November, 1853, to an agent or agents in New York to enable the company to do what may be there needed in respect to the management of the interests of the company, and also for the prosecution & defense of such proceedings as may arise in the courts there to execute bonds when necessary to protect the property of the trust, &c., I have to say that I have fully considered of the subject, and I have come to the conclusion that neither the interests of the company nor mine would be benefitted by my so doing.

I suppose it is probable that under the present difficulties of this road, as well as of all other roads at this time, that intricate litigations 753 will arise, and, when commenced, I cannot foresee how long it will be before they can be closed. I am not myself in a situation to attend personally, at New York or elsewhere, to the complicated questions which may arise in adjusting the rights of all the complicating trust; and, to tell the truth, I do not feel willing to empower others to act for me in such matters on my responsibility. I prefer to resign the position of trustee, so that trustees in New York, on the spot, may be appointed who can act promptly, and may furnish such affidavits and bonds as may be needed in judicial proceedings, which I am not in a condition to do. I have reason to believe that my course would not be considered injurious to the parties interested as the matter now stands together, and their action cannot be very prompt or effectual.

At all events, I prefer to tender my resignation as a trustee, which I will thank you to forward to the president of the company. I regret to have to take this course, but believe it best for all parties under present circumstances.

Your ob't se'v't,
(Signed) CHA'S WALSH.

754 G. N. S.

M'r GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor Mobile and Ohio R. R. Co.:

JACKSON, TENN.,
March 9th, 1875.

Having carefully considered the foregoing communication of M'r Charles Walsh and coinciding with his views, I hereby join in requesting that you will forward my tender of resignation as trustee to the president of the company, coupled with the request that in accepting my resignation all proper proceedings may be had necessary to exempt and relieve me from further responsibility as trustee.

Resp'y y'rs, (Signed) ALEX'R JACKSON.

D'R SIR: On consideration of the views expressed by M'r Charles Walsh and concurred in by D'r Alexander Jackson, as within stated, I have to say that I fully concur with them in the opinion that it would be better for the interests of the company, its bondholders, and of my own, that I should also resign the position of trustee of the deed of trust within referred to, and I therefore request that you tender my resignation as such trustee to the president of the company, and I also make the request, as made by D'r Alexander Jackson, that such proceedings be had that I shall be relieved from future responsibility on account of said trusts.

MOBILE, March 12th, 1875.

GEORGE N. STEWART, Esq.,
General Solicitor Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: When I addressed to you my request that you should tender my resignation as trustee under the deed of mortgage and trust made by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, on the 23rd of November, 1853, I did so with the great desire to be relieved for the future from the duties & responsibilities of said trust. Such is now still my earnest wish, but it was under the full belief that it would cause no injury or inconvenience to the company, but rather advance its interests. I have now, however, been shown that the two other trustees having also resigned, the result is that the mortgage is left without any trustee to represent the interests of the beneficiaries, & that the trust, for the want of a trustee, cannot be made effectual without application to a court of chancery, which would require much time, and the duty 757 has been pressed on me that at least one trustee should remain, in order that the succession of trustees may be maintained. Under this pres'ure on me, in view of the consequences, and upon the urgent solicitations of friends, I have been induced to say to you, as my determination to resign has not yet been presented by you for acceptance by the railroad company, that you will with'old it and consider it revoked until further instructions from me.

This cause seems now a duty on my part under the circumstances, although I had hoped to be relieved from the trust, and such it is still my desire to effec'uate so soon as future events will permit.

Please consider my instructions to you in this respect as revoked and annulled.

Your ob't ser't,

J. J. WALKER, Esq.,
Vice-President of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co.:

SIR: I have heretofore in a letter to George N. Stewart, esq., expressed my desire to resign my postion of trustee under the deed of mortgage and trust executed by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, dated November 1, 1853, known as the first mortgage of said company, but at your suggestion the said resignation had not been presented. I have since that time, at the request of the said company, and in accordance with what seems to be my duty under said deed, united with the company in the appointment of trustees in place of Messrs. Young & Jackson, trustees, whose resignations as trustees under the same deed have been accepted.

I now renew my intention of resignation, and request that I 759 may be immediately relieved of all further duty and responsibility in the trusteeship by the acceptance of this my resignation, and that proper resolutions be adopted by the company for my security and protection.

782 APRIL 23, 1875.

The following resolutions offered by W. P. Halliday and seconded by W. H. Pratt were unanimously adopted, each member voting aye.

Whereas, by reason of depression in business from cause beyond control of this company, the resources of the company have during the past two years been greatly lessened, so that the company has been unable to meet and discharge the semi-annual coupons due upon its first-mortgage bonds in May and November, 1874, and the interest coupons upon its Tennessee substitution mortgage in July, 1874, and January, 1875, and the interest coupons upon its second mortgage due in March, 1875, which said coupons remain unpaid and may at any time be enforced against the company by the holders thereof;

And whereas the company will be unable to pay the next accruing interest upon its first-mortgage debt;

783 And whereas in the course of its business the company has contracted certain unsecured liabilities known as flo'ting debt, which it has been unable promptly to discharge at maturity, upon which suits are pending;

And whereas the business and property of the company exte through four States of the Union and are subject to the jurisdictic courts acting under distinct governments at the suit of the credit the company, some of whom have already commenced proceedin the recovery of judements, and to obtain execution upon their whereby the property pledged in the mortgage will be exposed ure and sale, and other complications may arise, and sacrifi'es erty may be made, which property if cared for will suffice for ment of all just debts of the company without detriment to the j of the mortgage creditors of the company;

784 And whereas, by its deed of mortgage and trust first which was executed the 1st day of November, 1853, the faith of this company is pledged to put the trustees of the holders of the bonds issued under authority of said deed in possession of the property conveyed thereby on demand in default of payment of interest on said bonds as therein covenanted for security against loss upon their said debts and demands;

And whereas the contingency of defaults in payments of interest provided for therein has occurred:

Resolved by the board of directors of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co., That the existing trustees of the first mortgage and deed of trust of this company executed the 1st day of November, 1853, to wit, W'm Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliot, be placed in possession of the property conveyed by said deed in trust for the security of the holders of the bonds and coupons described in said mortgage or deed of trust.

And it shall be the duty of the vice-president of said company 785 to place, and he is hereby instructed to place, the said trustees in full and actual possession and control of all the property of every name and kind, and each and every parcel thereof, and of each and every article thereof described in, or embraced in, or conveyed, or covered by the said deed of trust and mortgage executed as aforesaid, to be by said trustees held, used, managed, and applied, as trustees aforesaid, to and for the objects, purposes, and trusts disclosed or described in said deed of trust and mortgage upon their demand.

And the vice-president, upon so placing said trustees in possession as herein directed, will take from them, and their agents and servants, full inventory of all the property of every kind so received by them under this resolution.

And from and after the delivery to said trustees as aforesaid it shall be the duty of each and every officer, agent, employee, and servant of the company to account to and in all respects obey the instructions, session so delivered to said trustees.

And in order to protect and to secure the possession of the said trustees, and to obtain the aid and assistance of the judicial tribunals of the United States, or of the States through which the railroads of the company have been constructed, and in which the property of the company is situated, it is further—

Resolved, That the said trustees be empowered and requested to bring suitable suits for the settlement of the affairs of the company, and be authorized to apply for such additional powers as receivers and as trustees administering trust property and funds, as may be entirely adequate to obtain the objects of these resolutions, and to preserve the rights of the mortgagees, creditors, and stockholders respectively.

And it is further resolved, That in case possession be taken, and that the administration of the property be so conducted, the president of the company shall be authorized and empowered to service of all process against the company in any such suits, and rvice of process upon him shall valid and sufficient service,

792 Original bill.

To the Hon. N. W. Cocke, chancellor of the southern chancery division of the State of Alabama, presiding at Mobile.

1. The Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, a body politic and incorporate, chartered by the laws of Alabama, and also by the States of Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee, respectfully shows to your honor that, by virtue of its powers, so granted by said States respectively, it has constructed a line of railway from Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River, and is now running and operating the same.

2. The said company further shews that, under & by virtue of purchases and by grant from the Congress of the United States of America, it has obtained title to and possession of a large quantity of land and real estate. Among this property so owned by the company is a large quantity of vacant land in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, which this company obtained from the source above named, for the purpose of aiding said company in construction of said road.

793 3. The said company further shews that, to enable it to proceed and complete its said railway, said company has been compelled to borrow large sums of money for the payment of said loan, and also, in some instances, in payment for work & materials furnished the company by sundry parties, it has issued its bonds for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds of the currency of Great Britain each, which are commonly known in the market as sterling bonds. These bonds are made payable in London, England, in the year 1883, at the office of George Peabody & Co., and bear interest at the annual rate of six per cent., which is payable semi-annually, at the place aforesaid, on the first days of May and November. Six thousand of these bonds have been executed, amounting to the sum of thirteen hundred thousand six hundred and fifty pounds sterling, English currency.

4. Further, your complainant respectfully shews to your honor that, on the first day of November, 1853, said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by its deed of that date, conveyed to Morris Ketchum and 794 John T. Palmer, of the city and State of New York, and to William B. Hallett, of the city of Mobile and State of Alabama, the better to secure the payment of the bonds hereinbefore described and every part thereof, with the interest accruing thereon, the following described property, to wit: All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, including the said lands donated by the Congress of the United States, that is, $419{,}528\frac{55}{100}$ acres of land in the State of Alabama, and $737{,}130\frac{36}{100}$ acres of land in the State of Mississippi, total $1{,}156{,}658\frac{92}{100}$ acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township 4 S., R. 1 W., of lands subject to entry in the S't Stephens land office, being $692\frac{78}{100}$ acres, more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the coun-
795 ty of Mobile, outside of the line of the railway, outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County derived under and by the act of Congress, and saving and reserving the rights & liens that may attach to the roadway & constructed thereon in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that State in the event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the road*may* as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile. All which will more fully appear by reference to said deed, which is on record in the office of the judge of probate of Mobile, and a copy whereof in print is herewith filed as an exhibit to and part of this bill.

5. Said deed was executed to said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, their survivor and successor, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons or corporations, or any other party, who 796 shall or may be holders of the before described bonds, or any of them, in trust for that purpose, and with certain powers over said property in said deed fully set forth.

It therein provided that of the said $1{,}156{,}658\frac{97}{100}$ acres of lands donated by the said Congress to be in immediate possession, with authority to devise and determine rules of management of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds, said trustees to render annually on 1st January of each year to the said railroad company account of their doings in the matter of the trust; said trustees were authorized to appoint an agent to attend to said land business; but that no sale of said lands should be made so long as said grantor was not in default on any obligations connected with said bonds, except by and with the advice and consent of said company. The other property named in said deed was to remain under the control of said company, unless 797 said company became in default for the payment of said bonds or interest.

6. Your orator further shews to your honor that said deed also contains a provision that if either of the said trustees should at any time or times thereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his said office, the said company and the surviving or continuing trustees should select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and should thereupon make, execute, and deliver such other instruments or assurances as might be necessary to enable such selected person to act in the premises.

7. Your orator shews that said trustees assented to said deed and took upon themselves the burthen of its execution; that since then two of said trustees have departed this life, to wit, William B. Hallett, of Mobile, who died in July, 1860, and John I. Palmer, who died before the said Hallett, and that the only surviving trustee is the said
798 Morris Ketchum, and that said Ketchum is a resident citizen of the State of New York, and is an alien enemy of the Confederate States of America.

Your orator also shews that at sundry times before the 15th April, 1861, your orator, in pursuance of the terms of said deed of trust, applied to the said Ketchum to unite with your orator in the appointment of trustees to fill the vacancies occasioned by the death of said Hallett and Palmer; but said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of such trustees, and the places of said deceased trustees remain vacant.

8. Your orator charges that said conduct on the part of said Ketchum is a breach of the spirit & letter of said trust deed, and that it has proceeded from selfish and interested motives on his part, and that he has pursued a course of conduct in relation to the trust that has embarrassed and operated to the injury of your orator.

Your orator shows that no provision is made in said deed for 799 compensation to the trustees, except in event of a forfeiture thereof, which has not occurred, & which your orator hopes will not occur. No services have been rendered by said trustees beyond the simple acts of signing the mortgage-bonds and few other papers, directing and authorizing the sale of a small portion of the lands; said trustees have not made any of the annual reports called for by the deed. It was the duty of the trustees to have directed the sale of lands, but they have failed to do so except to a small extent, hereinafter named. Such plain duties they have disregarded, whereby great injury has been done to your orator, and to the bondholders, retarding and preventing the sale of lands, and thereby impairing the market value of the bonds which were to have been received in payment for lands.

The said Hallett, before his death, resided in Mobile, but when applied to he declined acting, stating that the active management of the trust was with his co-trustee, Ketchum, always referring your 800 orator to said Ketchum, and professing to refer all communications to him. Thus having the active management of said business, the said Ketchum has used his power oppressively to your orator, and for selfish purposes.

When said bonds herein described were signed, the said Ketchum, in the name of himself & co-trustees, retained eighteen thousand dollars in the pretence of compensation for signing said bonds; and thus against the wishes of your orator, and notwithstanding the protest of your orator, which was then made and been repeatedly renewed, said bonds with all the coupons for interest thereon have been withheld from your orator; said Ketchum has in addition also demanded regular salaries at high rates, while your orator would not object to reasonable compensation for actual services, it has refused to accede to the demands because they were exorbitant, and could not be yielded without submitting to gross wrong. Since the death of his said co-trus-801 tees, said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of new trustees, except on condition that he shall retain what he has already obtained & also have a fixed salary at some high rate, to begin about the year 1855 and continue till the maturity of the trust in 1883.

Said Ketchum also claims the right to move the management of the land department from Mobile to New York, and then to organize it by committing it to officers appointed by himself, & has notified the president of this company of his having appointed the chief agent or superintendent thereof. Your orator, to induce said Ketchum to consent to the appointment of new trustees, has obtained the request of a majority of the bondholders for tha' purpose, but without avail in his refusal to unite in the appointment of such new trustees.

Your orator charges that these actings and doings of said 802 Ketchum are in violation of his duties as trustees, and that he is an unfit person to continue in his position of trustee.

9. Your orator further shows that by a writing under date of 10 January, 1855, the said Ketchum and other trustees advised and directed the sale of lands embraced in the trust not exceeding 100,000 acres, in such terms as to price and time of payment as said company by its board of directors should approve, and promise to ratify such sale and execute proper deeds to the lands so sold. In pursuance of said authority orator has sold a large quantity of land to sundry purchasers, who have complied with the terms of sale, and paid most of the purchase money. Orator has made due reports of said sales to said Ketchum & has in all things performed the conditions on which such sale was to be made, and called for deeds for the purchasers from him as trustee holding the legal title, but he has refused to ratify the sale, and has failed to make deeds for the purchasers. Said purchasers have de- 803 manded of your orator deeds for their lands, and one has filed his bill in this hon. court to compel the specific performance of the contract with him. Others of said purchasers are threatening to pursue a similar course, and so your orator has been subjected to annoyance and cost, and is likely to be still further injured by the misconduct of said Ketchum in his said office of trustee.

These matters have been urgently presented to said Ketchum by your orator, but he has given no heed to their application, and not even acknowledged its reports to him, and when personally applied to, refused to execute the necessary deeds except on condition of his demands for past compensation & future salary being complied with.

Your orator shews that it is highly important that further sales of land should be made, that such was originally intended to be made, for the purpose of completing said road. And it was expressly de- 804 clared that the said sterling bonds so issued by the company should be received in payment of lands to be sold.

This can only be done by the agency of trustees under said deed of trust; that the lands lie in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, and their management should be confided to persons who can and will superintend their management in those States, and in the city of Mobile, where the trust-deed was executed, and where the chief business of your orator has necessarily to be executed, and where the trust will have to be executed, and that the removal of the control and direction of this business would be to the manifest detriment and injury of your orator & all others concerned.

It shows that the security of the bondholders requires the active agency of suitable and a full board of trustees to look after their interest in this property, and that interests so large should not be left in the control of one person alone. That the deed was originally to three, and good faith to the creditors of your orator, the cestuis qui trust, 805 requires that the office should be full.

Your orator charges that said Ketchum has proved himself an improper person to manage this property as trustee thereof; that he has been unfaithful to said trust. It also charges that said Morris Ketchum is an alien enemy; said property is wholly in the Confederate States, and consists of real property, and franchises, and personal property whose chief value arises from its connection with the realty, and can be properly managed only by resident citizens of these Confederate States.

Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum may be removed from his said position of trustee under the said deed of trust herein described, that the vacancies created by the deaths of John E. Palmer and William R Hallett may be filled, and that some suitable person be also appointed trustee in the place of said Morris Ketchum; and that said trustees so to be appointed be clothed with all the powers con-806 ferred by said deed upon the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett.

Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum be made a party hereto, and that publication be made as provided by the statute in the case of application for the appointment of trustees, and for such other and further relief as may be consistent with equity and the nature of its case, and as in duty bound will ever pray, &c.

Whereas W'm R. Hallett and J. J. Palmer, two of the trustees under our first mortgage executed to secure our sterling bonds, have departed this life, and whereas Morris Ketchum, the surviving trustee, has attempted, & so far as in his power practiced gross fraud on this company and the bondholders; and whereas said Ketchum is a citizen of the State of New York and an alien enemy, and in all respects disqualified and unfit to act as a trustee:

Therefore resolved, That our counsel be instructed to apply to the chancery court, or such court as may be most suitable, to have three trustees appointed to act under said mortgage, with power to order sales of land, directing, if they deem it best, the taking of sterling bonds in payment, and to make deeds for lands already sold, to be hereafter sold, and to do all and everything necessary & proper to be done in the due execution of said trust; and be it further resolved, that we recom-

808 mend the appointment of Charles Walsh, of Alabama; George W. Young, of Mississippi; and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, said trustees under said mortgage.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of a resolution passed by the Board of M. & O. R. R. Co., at a meeting of said board on the 5th December, 1861.

Deed of trust.

This indenture, made this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of the first part, and Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, of the city of New York, and State of New York, and William R. Hallett, of the city of Mobile, and State of Alabama, of the second part, witnesseth:

Whereas the legislature of the State of Alabama passed an act of incorporation, approved the third day of February, 1848, creating certain associates therein named, and their survivors, a body politic and corporate, by the name of Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and by that name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to make and have a common seal, and the same break, alter, and renew at pleasure; vested with all powers, privileges, and immunities which are or may be necessary to carry into effect its purposes and ob-
810 jects; authorized and empowered to locate, construct, and finally complete, a single, double, or treble railroad or way, from some suitable point in the city of Mobile, in a western or northwesterly direction, to the mouth of the Ohio River, in such route as shall be deemed most expedient, and to transport, take, and carry property and persons upon said railroad or way, by the power and force of steam, of animals, or of any other mechanical or other power, or any combination of them, which said company may cho'se to apply; and for the purpose of constructing said railroad or way, the said company is authorized to lay out the road, not exceeding one hundred feet wide, through the whole length; and for the purposes of depots, cuttings, and embankments, and for the purpose of necessary turnouts, and for obtaining stone and gravel, may take as much more land as may be necessary for the construction and security of said road, with permission to make any lawful contract with any other railroad corporation in relation to the 811 business of said company, and also to make joint stock with any other railroad corporation.

Further, the State of Mississippi incorporated the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company by act of its legislature, approved the seventeenth day of February, 1848. The State of Tennessee did also incorporate said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Compay, by act of the legislature approved the twentieth day of February, 1848; and also the State of Kentucky invested said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company with corporate rights by an act of its legislature, approved the twenty-sixth day of February, 1848, constituting the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company a full and complete corporation through the said States, authorized to purchase, hold, and dispose of real and personal estate; to borrow money; to make contracts for the loan of money, and to give evidence of debt, and securities for the payment of the same, by pledge, 812 mortgage, or otherwise, as it shall deem necessary and proper.

And whereas said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in pursuance of the authorities vested by said charters, have surveyed and located the line of said road from the city of Mobile to or near the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, secured the rights of way, obtained depot-grounds, and value the assets, all of which are of record in the records of said Company, and of record in the counties intersected.

And whereas the said ro'dway is under contract for the complete work of the road-bed from its respective termini and in progress of construction, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, parties of the first part, resolved by vote of the board of directors, and in pursuance of the power authority in said company vested, to raise a sum of money not exceeding six millions of dollars for the purpose of completing said road, viz, the purchase of the iron and laying of the same, the 813 necessary turnouts, depots, and equipments; and for that purpose to execute, issue, sell, and transfer the bonds of said company, in sums of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling each, of even date with these presents, payable in thirty years from date, each with coupons attached for interest, payable semi-annually, each coupon being for £6 15s. sterling; both the principal and coupons, and interest on said bonds, until paid, payable at the counting-house of Geo. Peabody & Co., bankers, in London, England, each of said sterling bonds being the same as one thousand dollars money of the United States of America, and not exceeding six thousand bonds, each to be numbered respectively from number one to six thousand inclusive; and for security for the payment of said bonds; to transfer to the said parties of the second part, all and singular, all the rights and franchises of said company, together with all its personal property of a fixed character, 814 real estate, including its depots, warehouses, lots in town and country, and especially all land donated by act of Congress under date of the twentieth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, transferred in fee simple to the said company, party of the first part, by act of the legislature of the State of Alabama, approved December first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; by act of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved January twenty-eight, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two; said lands having been selected, set apart, and confirmed to said railroad company, partly of the first part, and designated by described tracts, as will appear by the act of the Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington, certified, affirmed, and ratified by the act of the honorable the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, one of the executive departments of the Government of the United States of America, dated Washington, 815 D. C., February the fourth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.

Now, therefore, this indenture further witnesseth, that the said

Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the better to secure the payment of said bonds, and every part thereof, with interest, according to the tenor thereof, and in consideration of the sum of five dollars unto the said company well and truly paid by the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, at or before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledge', have granted, transfer'ed, set over, and conveyed, and by these presents do grant, transfer, set over, and convey unto the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, the survivors a successors of them, in fee-simple, all and singular of the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth, being the first and only conveyance of title, grant, a mortgage, hereby guaranteeing and warranting the described items, assets, and real estate, free from all liens or incumbrances done or suffered to be done by the 816 said party of the first part. The said items, as set forth, are as follows:

All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress hereinbefore referred to, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting, as by the certificate of the Department of the Interior, to 419,528$\frac{56}{100}$ acres in the State of Alabama; to 737,130$\frac{36}{100}$ acres in the State of Mississippi—total, 1,156,658$\frac{92}{100}$ acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township four south, range one west, of lands subject to entry in the S't Stephen's land office, Alabama, being 692$\frac{78}{100}$ acres, more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, State of Alabama, outside of the line of 817 the railway, outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private purchase, not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County, and saving and reserving the right and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction thereon in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that said State in the event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, which aid is provided for by law of that State, and if used by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad the said prior lien in favor of said State will be to the extent of said State aid, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile.

To have and to hold the said premises hereinbefore set forth to the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, their survivors or successors, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or cor-818 porations, or any other party who shall or may be holders of the before-described bonds, or any of them, conditioned as follows: The said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of the lands donated by act of Congress, and set forth in the before-mentioned certificate of the Secretary of the Interior, of February fourth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, for 1,156,658 $\frac{92}{100}$ acres, and any other lands that may be obtained for the said company, by the present or by future act of Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds, said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first days of January of each and every year during the period of the trust herein made, to the said parties of the first part.

The said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett shall have full authority to appoint an agent or agents to attend to said land business, who 819 shall account for his or their doings to them, paying over to them all the proceeds of sales, or rents, or profits derived from said lands.

It is provided, however, that unless the said railroad company should be in default on any obligations connected with said lands, no sale of said lands shall be made except by and with the advice and consent of said company. The said party of the second part, themselves, or regularly constituted attorney, are hereby vested with authority to issue proper and sufficient deeds or muniments of title.

As to other items of assets of real estate, tolls, or income of said company, they are to remain in the possession or under the control of the said company, except the said company become in default for the payment of said lands or interest, or any portion thereof; in such case the said party of the second part is hereby vested with full authority to take possession and control of all and singular the entire estate and properties of whatsoever name or kind, and hold the same for the benefit of any and all 820 creditors, with such other action and disposition as shall be equitable to all concerned, provided the said party of the second part shall claim to take such possession and control, unless said company remains in default of payment of the said lands or interest for the space of three months after being due and payable.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company further covenant and agree to make to said party of the second part, their survivors or successors, any further assurance or instrument as may be necessary at any further time, to carry out the equitable intentions of this deed, and the said company, for themselves, their successors and assigns, do hereby covenant and agree with the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or their successors in behalf of the bondholders, that the money received on the said lands shall be applied in good faith on the construction and completion of said road, and putting the same into operation.

And on the failure of said company to do and perform any and 821 all the covenants herein agreed, the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or survivors or successors, upon the request in writing of any one or more of the bondholders, may and shall take actual possession of all said railroad and the other property and effects of said company hereby conveyed, transfer'ed, and assigned, or so intended to be, and, through the agency of such person or persons as they may from time to time appoint, may receive and collect to tolls, incomes, and profits of the same, for the purpose of the security hereinbefore declared, and may sell and dispose of the said road and other property hereby mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned, or so intended to be, and all benefit and equity of redemption of the said company therein, always with the benefit of franchise, and subject to the conditions thereof, at public auction, giving reasonable public notice of the time and place of sale, and as the attorney or attorneys of the said company for that purpose, by these presents duly constituted, to make and deliver to the purchaser or 822 purchasers thereof good and sufficient deed or deeds of conveyance for the real estate, in fee simple or otherwise, according to the title of said company therein, and good and proper transfer and assignment of the personal property, and out of the money arising either from the income or profits of the said road and other mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned property or effects of the sale thereof, after deducting the expenses incurred in carrying on the business of the road, and in keeping the same in repair, together with the costs, charges, and counsel fees incurred in their proceedings, and a reasonable compensation to themselves for their services, in case of such sale, to apply so much of the residue as may be necessary to pay the principal and interest which may be due on said bonds issued as aforesaid, rendering the balance of such moneys, if any shall remain, to said company.

823 them. Provided, however, and it is hereby expressly understood and agreed, that neither of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or their successors or assigns, shall in no manner be liable or responsible for any act of the other to which he does not expressly assent, and that they shall be accountable only for the exercise of reasonable care and diligence in their management in the premises.

And it is further covenanted and agreed between the said parties, that if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company and the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and shall thereupon make, execute, and deliver, all and singular, such other and further instruments or assurance as may be necessary to en-824 able such person or persons so selected to act in the execution of these presents.

But until such selections of some person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and the execution of the papers requisite to enable him or them to act, the act or acts of the other shall, notwithstanding such vacancy, be in all respects legal and valid.

And it is expressly understood that the conveyance made by this indenture is only on and for the present rights, interest, and property, and appurtenances of the parties of the first part as do or may exist on the line of said railroad from the city of Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River.

And it is hereby further provided, and these presents are upon the express condition, that upon the payment or satisfaction of the principal and interest of the aforesaid bonds, the estate hereby granted and conveyed to Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, their survivors or successors, and the property and effects mortgaged, conveyed, or trans-825 fer'ed to them, shall cease and become void; and the said company shall thereupon be fully and immediately reinvested with the same both in law and equity and in fact, without any entry or other act whatever.

In witness whereof the parties of the first part have caused these presents to be acknowledged by their president and attested to in their behalf by their president and secretary, and their common seal thereunto affixed; and the said parties of the second part hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

Decree.

At a special term of the court of chancery, held at Mobile, for the first district of southern chancery division of the State of Alabama, on the first Monday of April, A. D. 1863, being the 1st day of said month, the hon'l' Nathaniel W. Cooke, chancellor of said court, present and presiding, and on the 7th day of April, 1863, the same being a regular day of said term, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

This cause was submitted on the bill, exhibits, and decree pro confesso. The object of the bill is to appoint trustees under a certain deed of trust exhibited by the complainant, of the date of 1st November, 1853, a copy of which is attached to the bill, in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, who are dead, and also to remove the surviving trustee, Morris Ketchum, for breaches of duty as trustee, and also because he is an alien enemy and incompetent to act. 829

The court is satisfied of the death of said Palmer & Hallett, and of the fact that said Ketchum is an alien enemy. It is therefore ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Ketchum be removed from his said trusteeship, and further that the prayer of the bill be granted for the appointment of trustees in place of said Ketchum, Hallett and Palmer be granted.

And the said complainant suggests as proper persons to be appointed in place of the former trustees, Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson, all citizens of the Confederate States.

It is accordingly referred to the master to ascertain and report whether the above-named parties be suitable persons to receive the said appointment of trustees aforesaid.

830 Master's report.

And on the 8th day of April, A. D. 1863, the same being another day of the special term of the court aforesaid, the following report was made by the register of said court in this cause, to wit:

THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

Master's report.

This cause comes before the master with instructions to ascertain and report whether Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson are suitable persons to be appointed trustees in place of William R. Halllett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, who are dead, and of the defendant, who has been removed.

The master reports that he gave notice of the time and place of considering the matters referred to him, and was attended by complainant's solicitors; that he examined reliable witnesses introduced, and is satisfied from their testimony that the said Walsh, Young & Jackson are fit and proper persons to be appointed trustees under the 831 deed of November 1, 1853, and in place of the former trustees, Hallett, Palmer & Ketchum.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JNO. M. TAYLOR, Master.

APRIL 8, 1863.

And it is ordered that said report lie over one day.

Final decree.

And on the (ninth) 9th day of April, 1863, being still another day of said special term, the Honl. Nathaniel W. Cocke, chancellor of said court present and presiding, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

In this cause the master, in pursuance of the former order of this court, having made his report at a former day of this term, and the same having been read in open court more than one day and no exceptions being filed, it is ordered that said report be in all things confirmed.

It is thereupon ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander 832 Jackson, of Tennessee, who consent thereto, be appointed trustees under the deed described in the bill of complaint, in room and in place of W'm R. Hallett & John J. Palmer, former trustees, deceased, and of Morris Ketchum, former trustee, remove' by decree of this court.

William E. Kimball, being duly sworn, deposes and says that, on some day late in January or in the early part of February last, meeting M'r John Graham in the street, in the city of New York, the subject of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad affairs was brought up. M'r Graham asked deponent what there was in reference to said affairs. Deponent replied that he understood a suit had been brought in New Orleans to remove Duncan & Elliot as trustees. M'r Graham answered to this, that he thought it an unnecessary and unwise proceeding, and that in his 853 judgment no better person could be got than M'r Duncan to have charge of the property and that he was sorry to hear of this suit. Deponent afterwards, by personal examination of certain books and records at the office of Duncan, Sherman & Co.'s assignee, discovered that certain coupons which were originally attached to the bonds now alleged to belong to Georgie Warnes had been converted into cash by M'r Graham in November, 1874.

MORRIS KETCHUM AS SURVIVING TRUSTEE, &C., against
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO., W. B. DUNCAN and A. F. Elliott as receivers.
} In equity.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York:

Morris Ketchum, being duly sworn, deposes and say that he is trustee of the first-mortgage sterling bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Rail-857 road Company and was such trustee at the time hereinafter mentioned.

That on the first days of May and November, 1874, the semi-annual coupons of said bonds, being of the sterling issue, became due according to their tenor, and on said days or immediately thereabout, as he deponent, is informed, and believes, many holders of said bonds went to the office of Duncan, Sherman & Co., where the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company had previously paid its coupons, W. B. Duncan of said firm being then a director of said company, and presented their said coupons and demanded payment of the same, as he had been accustomed to do, when the said coupons had become payable at previous dates.

That, as deponent is informed and believes, the said coupons were received by said Duncan, Sherman & Co. for said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and were examined by them, and the numbers of the coupons were transcribed, and after this process of verification in the regular course of business had been proceeded with, the said Duncan, Sherman & Company delivered to said bondholders checks for the amount of the interest due them, to their order. That said bond-858 holders received payment of the said check, being the interest on their first-mortgage sterling bonds due May and November 1st, 1874, from the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

That the said payment of the coupons then due was in the regular, usual, and ordinary course of business, and deponent never heard at said time or until very lately that said payment was claimed to have been made in any other way than in the ordinary method of payment of coupons upon its bonds by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

That deponent never supposed that the bondholders were selling said coupons to any one whatsoever, but supposed that they were simply delivering the said coupons upon receipt of their interest for surrender and cancellation, and deponent has learned for the first time within the past few weeks that it is claimed and set up by William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott, that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company defaulted in the payment of interest on its first-mortgage bonds at the times above set forth, May 1st and November 1st, 1874, when the 859 coupons of said sterling bonds were presented by the bondholders and paid in the manner above set forth. That deponent has been informed, and verily believes, that the said pretence of said Duncan and Elliott, that the said coupons were not paid by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company arises from the fact that the said coupons so surrendered to and paid by the company as above set forth, were afterwards improperly and fraudulently delivered by said Duncan and others, or by some one for them, to Alexander Duncan, the father of said William B. Duncan and others, or to some one for him or them, and that said Alexander Duncan and others, and said William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott for them, claim and set up that said coupons so paid as aforesaid, are now lawfully outstanding and are prior and paramount liens upon the property mortgaged to secure bondholders.

That said pretense and claim of said William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott is false, fraudulent, and a breach of duty and confidence towards the bondholders aforesaid, and is utterly rejected and repudiated by them.

That deponent has been informed, and verily believes, that 860 a petition has been presented to the United States circuit court for the southern district of Alabama by said W'm B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott, in reference to the payment of the floating debt of said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, which debt is an inferior and subordinate claim upon the property on which deponent holds a first prior and paramount claim.

That in said petition of said Duncan and Elliott, the following allegation is contained:

"But at the same time they (referring to themselves, Duncan and Elliott) are ready to concede that the character, credit and business of the company, the value of the franchises, and the future prosecution of its business, would be promoted by the removal of this body of debt (referring to the floating debt) from the corporation, and that the work of reorganization would probably be forwarded by the discharge of some portion of these demands."

That deponent is informed and believes that on said petition the question of paying this floating debt was referred to a master in chancery; that no evidence in opposition to the payment thereof was 861 tendered by said Duncan and Elliott, and no opposition by argument or otherwise, as appears from the record, was offered by them; that thereupon, after certain proceedings had, the master reported in favor of the disbursement of about two hundred and thirty thousand dollars ($230,000) of the property of deponent and the other first mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company for the benefit of these floating subordinate creditors. That one of the largest of said creditors to be so benefitted, as deponent is informed and believes, is Adrian Iselin, of the city of New York, who is cognizant of said proceeding of said Duncan and Elliott, in the capacity of a trustee of the mortgage of said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company given to secure the holders of securities known as the Tennessee substitution bonds, and of which mortgage the said W. B. Duncan is also a trustee.

That another of the parties most largely interested in the satisfaction of said subordinate floating claims, is W. D. Dunn, who is liable upon said claim to a very large amount. That said Dunn is one of the trustees of the second mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad 862 Company, and is cognizant of said record in that capacity.

That deponent is informed and verily believes that said W'm B. Duncan and his assignee in insolvency are likewise largely interested in said floating claims, and that said Duncan has been for a long time past a dealer and speculator in said floating claims against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and that said Duncan has misapplied moneys which were remitted for the purpose of paying the interest on the mortgage bonds to the payment in full of floating claims held by him on his firm, Duncan, Sherman & Co., which had been purchased by him or them at about seventy-five cents on the dollar.

That the securities which it is claimed are pledged to secure said floating claims, consist of about seven hundred thousand dollars ($700,000) so-called consolidated bonds, which purport to be an inferior and third lien on the property, if they have any validity whatsoever, which deponent is informed and believes is exceedingly doubtful. And the said bonds have no market value whatsoever, and in the present con- 863 dition of the property are of the most inconsiderable and trifling value, if they have any intrinsic value whatsoever; that about sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) of second mortgage bonds are alleged to be pledged to secure a portion of said floating claims. And said second mortgage bonds have no claim or equity to payment or redemption before the coupons and bonds of the first mortgage are paid. That the said proceedings whereby it is attempted by said floating creditors and said Duncan and Elliott to procure the payment of their claim ahead of the first mortgage bondholders, and in violation of the duty of several of them towards their cestuis que trust is grossly unjust and fraudulent towards said bondholders; that there is no reason or fairness in taking the assets, which are properly applicable to the payment of the overdue coupons on the first mortgage bonds, and using them for the benefit of claimants whose equity is inferior to that of said bondholders.

That the existence of said floating debts has no such bearing upon the sale and reorganization of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company as alleged in the said proceedings, and the reasons set up in the 864 said proceedings why the holders of said floating claims should receive their moneys in preference to mortgage bondholders are specious and puerile in the extreme.

That the floating debt has already been reduced from $1,166,492.19, which was its amount in January 1st, 1875, to the sum of $529,598, which is alleged to be the amount at the present time. That the said reduction in the floating debt of $636,894.19 between January and May of the past year, has been accomplished at a time when the bondholders were not receiving any interest upon their mortgage, and long after the time when the said Duncan and Elliot aver that the company had already defaulted in the payment of the coupons of its first-mortgage sterling bonds. And deponent avers upon his information and belief that a large proportion of said floating claims were paid at said late period to the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Company, to which said Duncan and Elliott belonged. That the said payments to Duncan, Sherman & Company were fraudulent, upon the showing of said Duncan and Elliott, they claiming to be trustees for the first mortgage bondholders, and that the road was in default in the payment of its mortgage 865 interest, and yet refraining from taking possession of the mortgage estate or applying to the court therefor, while they were paying to themselves and others these subordinate floating claims. That deponent and the bondholders are greatly dissatisfied with the aforesaid preferential payment of claims subordinate to their own, and are determined, so far as lies within their power, that no more of said floating claims shall be paid, at least until the resumption of interest payment on the mortgage bonds.

That the conduct of said Duncan and Elliott in reference to said floating debt is a strong additional reason to deponents' minds why the said Duncan & Elliott, who are utterly insolvent, should not hold any position of trust in connection with the affairs of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and particularly why they should not be receivers thereof.

That the said Duncan was a director at the time the coupons due May 1st and November 1st, 1874, were paid by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and the said Duncan and Elliott exercised a substantial control of the affairs of said company at said times through the rela-866 tions of the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Company with the railroad. That the conduct of said Duncan and Elliott in regard to the said coupons, as above set forth, utterly unfits them for the occupancy of any position of trust connected with the railroad. That if the statements contained in their bill filed in this court were correct, that the coupons for May and November, 1874, were not paid by the company, then they practiced a gross fraud upon the bondholders in leading them to suppose, at the time of the payment of said coupons, that they were paid in the ordinary course of business by the company. That if, on the contrary, the said coupons were paid by the company so that no third parties could have any lawful or honest title to them, which deponent alleges to be the fact, then the allegation in the bill filed by said Duncan and Elliott to the effect that the interest due in May and November, 1874, remains unpaid by the company is false, and a fraudulent attempt on the part of said Duncan and Elliott to set up a fictitious and improper claim against the interest and the property of the bondholders.

867 That since W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott were appointed receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company their insolvency has become known, and on or about the 26th day of July, 1875, the said William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott, the receivers aforesaid, made an assignment of all their and each of their interest in the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., and the said Duncan also assigned all his individual estate, the said assignment reciting their insolvency.

That the said Duncan and Elliott, receivers aforesaid, had at the time they became receivers aforesaid carried on business with others under the firm-name of Duncan, Sherman & Co., and the said Duncan purported on the public records to be the owner of valuable pieces of land, situate in the city of New York, and other places, which property stood in his name in the registers of conveyances.

That the said Duncan, being the apparent owner of said real estate, and purporting with others under the firm-name of Duncan, Sherman & Co. to carry on a banking business, obtained large sums of money from depositors, who to the number of more than two thousand had on 868 deposit with them at the time of their said failure more than two millions of dollars.

That at the time above named the doors of the place of business of Duncan, Sherman & Co., of which firm Duncan and Elliott were members as aforesaid, were closed and their insolvency announced to their creditors, and thereupon it appeared that the extensive property theretofore and down to said time still standing in the name of said Duncan, had been for a long time previously conveyed by said Duncan to his father, though still kept ostensibly in the ownership of William B. Duncan, the receiver herein, on the public records.

That thereafter the said Duncan proposed to his creditors to accept his promissory notes payable at long dates for one-third of the amount of their claims to be taken by such creditors in satisfaction of their claims, and in said proposal averred that his assets, and those of the said firm, would approximate only about one-third of the liabilities, but said proposal was rejected by the creditors of said Duncan and Elliott, the aforesaid receivers.

869 That the said Duncan and Elliott are now under orders of arrest at the suits of their creditors for frauds as stated by their creditors to have been committed by said Duncan and Elliott upon them in obtaining their money under false pretences.

That the said Duncan has made application upon such proof as he could present to the supreme court of the State of New York to be released from certain of said orders of arrest, but said application was after full hearing and subsequent advisement denied by one of the justices of said supreme court.

That the said Duncan is at present out of jail upon bail in several of said suits, and the said Elliott has not yet been arrested for the reason that he could not be found by the sheriff, and orders of arrest were in the hands of the sheriff for service upon said Duncan and Elliott, these receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, when the service thereof was stayed as against said Duncan upon his application to the court of bankruptcy.

That on or about the 18th day of December, 1875, the said William B. Duncan was adjudged a bankrupt on the petition of a number of 870 his creditors by the United States district court for the southern district of New York.

That since said time and very lately the said Duncan renewed his application before the supreme court of the State of New York on all the further testimony he could furnish for release from the orders of arrest for frauds on his creditors. That said renewed application was after full hearing and advisement denied on March 21st, 1876, by said supreme court, and said arrests were maintained against said Duncan.

That the solvency of the said Duncan and Elliott and the very large number of suits which have been and are being continually instituted against them and the examination to which said Duncan has been subjected, and is being continually subjected, and the arrests which are being continually enforced against them, and the bail which they are under the necessity of furnishing, and the duties which are devolved upon said Duncan by the bankrupt laws of the United States, render them incompetent on account of the immense preoccupation and embar'assments to which they are subjected to perform the duties of receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

871 That the aforesaid circumstances have likewise thrown them into such a position of financial and personal dependence as utterly unfits them to execute the responsible and enormous trusts which devolve upon them as such receivers; that the independence of action which is necessary for the due performance of the said trusts is lost, if ever maintained by said Duncan and Elliott, with the loss of their solvency and personal freedom, and they would not have been selected as such receivers had their insolvency been known at the time of their appointment.

That the badges of fraud evidenced by the keeping of the conveyances aforesaid, from the public records, and leaving their depositors and creditors to suppose William B. Duncan to be still the owner of the large properties standing in his name as aforesaid; that the enormous disproportion between their cash available assets of about $60,000 and their deposit liabilities of about $2,400,000, and moreover, the judicial ascertainment of the fraudulent conduct of said Duncan, and the order of arrest now extant against said Elliott render them utterly un-872 fit to act as receivers of the Mobile and Ohio bondholders and representatives of the circuit court of the United States.

That the enormous and varied interests involved in this trust afford unusual opportunities for temp'ation to abuse of trust, and render it a peculiarly inappropriate position for bankrupts and persons who have been already adjudged guilty of frauds, and the large number of persons of small means and under legal disabilities, who own the first-mortgage bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, made it additionally important not to leave the custody of their property and funds in the possession of improper persons.

That the bonds furnished by said receivers do not and cannot afford an adequate protection to the cestuis que trust; that the receivers can easily commit malversations in connection with the administration of such a diverse and extensive property, which frauds are scarcely discoverable, or if discovered, hardly susceptible of proof, and consequently their bonds are not available for the protection of their cestuis que trusts in such respects.

873 That the bondholders do look and are entitled to look for their safety mainly to the solvency of their receivers, and the consequent sense of responsibility which such solvency implies, and likewise to the fair reputation of the receivers for honesty and good faith, as the principal safeguards for the beneficiaries in the administration of the estate.

That deponent does not place confidence in the said Duncan and Elliott, and is informed and believes that a large number of the bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio take the same view of the impropriety of maintaining W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott in said position of trust after the discovery of their insolvency, the concealment of the transfers of Duncan's property to his father, their failure with a deposit liability of more than two millions dollars, and with only less than sixty thousand dollars of cash on hand, together with their absolute omission down to the present time to account in any manner for the loss of their depositors' money, the arrest of Duncan for frauds, and his failure to obtain reversal of the orders of arrest after full opportunity is there-874 for and hearing thereupon, the issuance of an order of arrest of Elliott and the adjudication of bankruptcy.

That it appears from the schedules filed on the insolvency of said Duncan and Elliott, that they and their estate are the owners of—$78,925 Con. Mobile & Ohio bonds.

" 2,000 arrearage " " "
" 10,800 2 mort. Mobile & Ohio bonds.
" 3,000 1st st'g " " "
" 4,000 1st mort. " " "
" 9,109 shares " " R. R. stock.

That the said Duncan and Elliott are far more largely interested in the subordinate claims against the Mobile and Ohio Railroad than in the first-mortgage sterling bonds, and their interest is directly enlisted against the first-mortgage bondholders in all questions which arise between the holders of the aforesaid bonds and the holders of the subordinate securities of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and they are on that account unfit persons for the position of unbiased and independent receivers.

That said Duncan and Elliott are utterly unfit and improper 875 persons to be or continue as receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and to conduct this litigation in a fiduciary capacity, and had the facts above recited, been known to the bondholders at the time they were constituted such receivers, the bondholders would not have suffered them to be so constituted.

That two other men, solvent, honest, and capable, can be found to represent the bondholders under the first mortgage as receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and to represent the bondholders in this important litigation by the proper or improper conduct of which the property of your deponent and the other bondholders will be irretrievably affected.

That the said Duncan and Elliott, as members of the said firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., were the financial agents of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and in such capacity made various charges of account against said company, and the accounts of Duncan and Elliott, and of said Duncan, Sherman & Co., as such financial agents, should be investigated and passed upon by an impartial person represent-876 ing said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and the claims of said company arising thereout should thereupon be presented without delay to the legal custodians of said estate of Duncan, Sherman & Co. before the distribution thereof and payment thereof enforced.

That some of the creditors of Duncan and Elliott in insolvency are first-mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and there is great diversity of interest and feeling, and of views in regard to the administration of the affairs of said company between said Duncan and Elliott and their said creditors and bondholders of said Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

That the said Duncan, immediately before his appointment as receiver, was the representative of the stockholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, and in that capacity was president thereof, and deponent is informed and believes and avers the orders heretofore had appointing Duncan and Elliott receivers were made without opposition upon the part of the directors and the stockholders of said company.

MORRIS KETCHUM AS SURVIVING TRUSTEE, &c., against
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO., W'M B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, as receivers.
} In equity.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

MORRIS KETCHUM, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That he is the complainant in the above-entitled suit.

That he refers to the bill of complaint heretofore filed in this court, and to the records, affidavits, and papers presented by him on the motion for the appointment of a receiver herein as the grounds of said application for a receiver, and he also refers to the same documents for the allegations showing the unfitness of W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott for the offices of receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

878 That he has read all the said documents and knows the contents thereof. That all the statements contained in the said affidavits and papers are true where the same are positively averred, and where the same are averred on information and belief, he believes the same to be true.

And deponent further says that immediately before the commencement of hostilities between the United States and the Confederate States, the officials of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company had persistently neglected and refused to reply to or comply with the letters of deponent on the business of his trust for the first mortgage sterling bondholders of the company aforesaid.

That sometime after the cessation of the rebellion, when deponent heard that the failure to attend to his official communications as trustee as aforesaid, had been with the design of and had been followed up by hostile proceedings against deponent to remove him from his trust, on the ground of his being an alien enemy of the Confederate States of America, deponent deemed it useless to communicate with the officials representing the stockholders who had acted in the improper and 879 unlawful manner above mentioned, and more fully set forth in the records and affidavits in this proceeding for the appointment of receivers herein, and who had been evidently bent on ousting deponent from the trusteeship so that they might pursue their fraudulent designs on the property of the bondholders without hindrance.

That he has frequently advised with parties interested, who have applied to him since the ending of the rebellion, to the effect that the persons who have since said time intruded themselves into a claim upon the trusteeship of the first mortgage of said company were without right or title to the said property, and could convey no interest in the lands or any of the assets belonging to the trust; and deponent has warned all persons interested that he was the only lawful trustee of said mortgage, and the only person competent to convey its lands.

That he has examined the schedule of accounts filed by William D. Shipman, the assignee of Duncan, Sherman and Company, now insolvent, and sworn to by William B. Duncan, and discovered the following entries therein, to wit:

880 Under the schedule entitled "Sup'lementaly Ledger Account," the item Mobile and Ohio purchase account, interest on common bonds due March 1st, 1875, $9,740; "bills receivable, trustees Mobile and Ohio Railroad, $16,429.23"; "trustees and receivers Mobile and Ohio Railroad, $29,945.57"; "Walsh, Crawford & Co., Mobile, Alabama, $78,968.78."

That he found also, in a schedule entitled "bills discounted," an item entered Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, Mobile, Alabama, $20,000, and an item under "stock & bonds," "Mobile and Ohio consolidated bonds, $78,925."

883 Decree removing trustee.

At a special term of the court of chancery aforesaid, held in the city of Mobile on the first Monday of April, 1863, and being the sixth day of said month, Hon. Nathaniel W. Cocke, chancellor of said court, present and presiding, and on the 7th day of April, 1873, the same being a regular day of said special term, the following decree was rendered and enrolled in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

This cause was submitted on the bill, exhibits; and decree is to appoint trustees under a certain deed of trust exhibited by the complainant of the date of 1st November, 1853, a copy of which is attached to the bill, in place of W'm R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, who are dead, and also to remove the surviving trustee, Morris Ketchum, for breaches of duty as trustee, and also because he is an alien enemy and incompetent to act.

The court is satisfied of the death of said Palmer and Hallett, and of the fact that said Ketchum is an alien enemy; it is therefore ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Ketchum be removed from the said trusteeship; and further, that the prayer of the bill be granted for the appointment of trustees in place of said Ketchum, Hallett and Palmer be granted.

And the said complainant suggests, as proper persons to be appointed in place of the former trustees, Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson, all citizens of the Confederate States. It is accordingly referred to the master to ascertain and report whether the above named parties be suitable persons to receive the said appointment of trustees aforesaid. 884

Final decree.

And on the 9th day of April, 1863, the same being another day of said special term of said court, it was further decreed in this cause as follows, to wit:

MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

In this cause the master, in pursuance of the former order of this court, having made his report at a former day of this term, and the same having been read in open court more than one day and no exceptions being filed, it is ordered that said report be in all things confirmed. It is thereupon ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Charles Walsh of Alabama, George H. Young of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson of Tennessee, who consent thereto, be appointed trustees under the deed described in the bill of complaint, in room and in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, deceased, and of Morris Ketchum, former trustee, who has been and is removed by decree of this court.

885 It is further ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said trustees, hereby appointed, be clothed with all the rights, powers, and privileges named in said deed of trust, and that they be charged with all the duties by said deed imposed upon the trustees in the same mn ner and to the same extent as if they were the original appointees, ad - that they proceed and execute the trusts declared in said deed accorof ing to the terms and provisions thereof; and as to all other matters ll complaint and prayers in said bill contained it is ordered that said bi n be dismissed without prejudice to complainant's right to relief therei or to any matter of account.

It is ordered that the complainant pay the costs of this proceeding.

Thomas Belknap, j'r, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That the said exhibits were copied from the letter-press book of Morris Ketchum, kept in his possession, and the impressions in which were taken from the original of said letters.

888 That the letter hereto annexed and marked "Exhibit D," dated New York, June 6th, 1860, and addressed to Arch'l Gracie & Son, Mobile, referred to a suit which had been instituted against Morris Ketchum and his co-trustees as trustee of the first mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in relation to some land of the company subject to said mortgage.

889 EXHIBIT C.

NEW YORK, March 16, 1859.

DEAR SIR: I have received your letter of the 4th March, and in reply I have to state that, as you know, the correspondence of the trustees of the M. & Ohio Railroad Co. was with our late lamented friend J. J. Palmer. Most of the letters written by him to the co. have been submitted to me and received my approval. All the papers relating to our business with the co. and the correspondence was in the possession of M'r Palmer, and soon after the death of that gentleman I applied to his son, requesting him to turn them over to me. Within the last few weeks I have applied again, and he has promised to collect all the papers and correspondence with the co. and hand them over to me, which he will no doubt do, and when he does I shall be prepared to do all that is proper and necessary in the premises as a trustee.

890 With regard to President Brown's strictures on the conduct of the trustees, I can only say that they are unnecessarily severe and utterly uncalled for. I have acted as one of the trustees of the great landed estate of the Illinois C. R. R., and am daily in the habit of signing deeds transmitted me, when final payments have been made, and no inconvenience has been experienced, nor any complaints made as to the course taken by the co. If the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. will consent to do their business in the same simple and business-like way, they cannot fail to experience the same facility in transacting the business of the land department. And that they may understand how this is done, I will send them an explanation of the mode, with a copy of one of the deeds. The acceptance of this trust was not a mere matter of form, the execution of which was to be confided to others; at least, that is not the was I shall perform my duty. The co. can sell by contract, but when a deed is presented it should show in the face that a bond, or a portion of a bond by endorsement, has been canceled 891 equal to the amount the deed calls for. I know of no other mode in which I can execute the trust.

With regard to the compensation to be paid to the trustees, and their withholding $18,000 of the bonds, and the amount seeming to the company excessive, but forced to a reluctant acquiescence, and that the coupons will be promptly paid, past and to become due, but with the express understanding that the amount retained by them as compensation is to include future as well as past services; I can only say to the best of my recollection of the correspondence held between the late M'r Palmer and the company on the subject of compensation, the company made a specific proposal as to their compensation, which, after mutual consultation, was accepted by them; all of which will be found in the records of the company; I adhere to that arrangement, and shall expect the M. & O. R. R. Company to adhere to it also, without any further stipulations. I have no particular desire to receive these bonds in payment, and am quite willing to surrender them to the com-892 pany. We took them, as you will remember, at their suggestion, and they suppose that they were coerced; we can return them and reimburse ourselves from the trust fund.

If the company should conclude to adopt the simple plan of the Illinois Central R. R. Company, which I trust they will, then so far as they have gone, for the sake of dispatch, it would be best for the company to make out an abstract of the lands ready to deed, approved by you and the company, and then send it to me, and I will approve and transmit to you, and you can deliver it to the company for record; you seeing that an amount equal to the amount received by the company is endorsed on a bond or bonds of the company.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

To W. R. HALLETT, Esq., Trustee.

893 NEW YORK, March 24th, 1859.

DEAR SIR: Some days since I requested the secretary of the Illinois Central R. R. Co. to furnish me with all the form incidental to the sale of the lands, by the land department of that co., thinking that some of them might be found useful in the land department of the M. & O. R. R. C.

These documents have been gotten up by men of great experience in the sale of lands (M'r Wilson, late of the department at Washington, having been at the head of the office for the last two or three years), and probably many of the system. Should any of them be found useful to the M. & O. R. R'd Co., in the sale of the lands, I shall not regret having forwarded them.

Very respectfully, your ob't s'v't,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM.

Milton Brown, Esq.,
Pres'd't Mobile & Ohio R. R.:

Dear Sir: On the 21st of May I addressed a letter to the late W. R. Hallett, my associate trustee in the Mobile & O. R. R'd Co., trus., with the request that he would lay it before your board.

M'r Hallett, as you are doubtless aware before this, has deceased. The letter, on inquiry, I find, could not have been received by him before he left for the North, consequently could not have been passed over to you as I desired. I now enclose a copy of that letter, which, I believe, embraces all that is necessary for me to say to the R. R. Co. I regret that there should have been any difference of opinion between us as to the course to be pursued in the sale of the bonds or the manner of executing the trust, and shall be most happy to do all in my power to forward the interest of the co., consistent with the trust confided to me. I am now the trustee left, and I deem it important that one 895 or more should be appointed, and I should be glad to hear from you on this subject. You will see that they are appointed with the surviving trustee. I should also be glad to know if the co. desire to act as the agent of the trustees in conformity to the mode adopted by the trustees for conveying the fee. If they do not, then I shall deem it my duty to establish an agency for that purpose.

I again enclose a blank form of the Ill. Cen. R. R'd Co., to be used by the M. & O. R. R'd Co., which I would recommend be adopted in this instance; it has been found to work well. They like it very much after having used it for some time.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

Trustee M. & O. R. R'd Co.

Mess'rs Arch. Gracie & Son,
Mobile:

Gents: Presuming upon my long acquaintance with the senior 896 of your house, M'r A. Gracie, I take the liberty of committing to you some business, not very profitable to you, but which I doubt not will receive your attention.

The writer is one of the trustees, and now the only surviving trustee, to the deed of trust of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, M'r Palmer, of this city, having deceased, and now M'r Hallett, of Mobile.

By a notice which I enclose, which is all the information I have on the subject, it would seem there is a suit pending against the trustees, which comes on on the 26th inst. I had written M'r Hallett on the subject, but the letter could not have reached him before he left for the north. I therefore do not know whether M'r Hallett had employed counsel ot answer on behalf of the trustees or not, and the object of this letter is to have counsel employed, if he, M'r Hallett, had not done it. This may be ascertained by applying to the counsel of the plaintiff in the suit. I enclose a copy of my letter to M'r Hallett, which, together with 897 this letter, you will please hand over to the counsel you may employ, which will be quite sufficient for him to make an answer. It is quite possible from some things that have come to my knowledge that the company may be accessory to this suit for some purpose of their own, and if this is the case, I desire to show through the counsel of the trustees that it is not their fault, but the fault of the company in not preparing the deeds for our execution, they having assumed to act for the trustees (by their consent) on the sale of the lands conveyed to us. In employing counsel, please be particular that the party employed is not in the interest of the M. & O. R. R. Co., and the counsel will understand that he is to act for me individually as a trustee, unless, in conferring with the counsel employed by M'r Hallett (if such counsel employed by M'r Hallett), he finds that all has been done to place the trustees on the right ground before the court. The counsel must bear in mind that it is possible my interests and that of the company may be adverse.

For whatever cash may be necessary, you will please check 898 on me as trustee of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

Very respectfully, your ob't s'v't,

MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

To the Directors of the Mobile & Ohio R. R.:

NEW YORK, July 25th, 1860.

GENTLEMEN: Your president, M'r Milton Brown, has been here, and by an arrangement with him, the deeds called for by the full payment on the tracts of land sold, in the early part of the week will have them filled out in conformity to the descriptions furnished to me, which I think are somewhat incomplete, as in many instances the initials only of the Christian names are furnished. From your returning them in this way, I take it for granted you deem that sufficient.

I would have preferred that the deed should have emanated from the land department at Mobile, but it seems that it is necessary these 899 deeds should be furnished as soon as possible, and to facilitate this object, I shall have them all completed, executed, and finished the early part of next week, when I shall expect a corresponding amount of bonds cancelled, and delivered to me. Of this I will write more particularly when I forward the deeds.

I have received but one return of land sections and lots sold where the payments have been made in full, and the parties consequently entitled to deeds. The document is marked thus: "Abstract III, continued," from which it would seem a previous abstract had been furnished some one of the trustees, which would confirm President Brown's impression, that a large amount of payments in full had been made, and yet the numbering of the deeds in the abstract commencing with sale No. 1, would indicate this to be the first return. Please set me right on this point, and if there are other parties entitled to deeds, send a description and the deeds will be executed and returned at once.

I would suggest, as we are now prepared and gotten up, in 900 which these deeds shall be registered. Such a book I shall have prepared here for my own guidance, but I desire such a record kept at the department in Mobile, so that no possible difficulty can hereafter occur in regard to sales and deeds, and that the page of the book in which the deed is entered, as having been executed and delivered, be endorsed on the back of each deed.

Yours, respectfully,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

NEW YORK, July 25, 1860.

CHA'S WALSH, Esq., Pres't:

DEAR SIR: Accompanying this, I have forwarded you 88 deeds of the trustee of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co., for lands sold by the Co. under the instructions of the trustee, upon w'ich the Co. make returns, after full payments have been made. The aggregate amounts of these deeds is $49,881.41, which, by an arrangement with the R. R. Co., I have stipulated to receive in the sterling mortgage bonds of the trustees of that Co.

901 I have taken the liberty of confiding this business to you from the circumstance of your filling the same official status in the Bank of Mobile as my late associate trustee, M'r Hallett, and also from your name having been proposed as his successor in this trust. With this explanation, may I ask that you will make this exchange with the M. & O. R. R. Co., the deeds for a corresponding amount of the above-described bonds, which bonds, when rec'd, I desire you to cancel in the usual way, sending me a return of the numbers, and holding them subject to the order of the trustee or trustees of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

It is my intention to make some change in the future mode of disposing of these lands, in which event I shall direct the money rec'd on acc't of land sales deposited to the credit of the trustees in your institution, which will, I trust, be some equivalent for any favors I may ask in this way.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

902 NEW YORK, Oct. 23, 1860.

To the pres't and directors of the M. & O. R. R'd Co.:

GENTS: On the 25th of July last I addressed you a letter advising of having forwarded 88 deeds to Cha's Walsh, esq., and requesting you to give me a new statement of sales of land previous to 1 July, 1857, arranged so that I could make out the deeds to the parties, to which letter I have rec'd no answer. I now call your attention particularly to it, & request you will furnish me with the necessary information. I also wish a duplicate of sales No. 3 and transcript of your land department cash-book from July 1, 1857 (the balance as then brought down was $37,300.80), that may have a correct record of the sales of the land, and the receipt of money on of the trust.

I remain yours respectfully,
MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

903 NEW YORK, Nov. 21, 1860.

MILTON BROWN, Esq.,
President of the M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: I received your letter of the 16th inst., some three days since; we have been in the midst of a financial crisis, to which you may attribute my not giving you an immediate answer, which I will now do. I have read with care the papers enclosed, and beg to state that I see nothing in them to change my views on the subject of electing two additional trustees as communicated to you in my letter of the 7th of July last. That proposition was entirely reasonable and in strict conformity with the requirements of the deed of trust, and I cannot but regret that we should have any disagreement on that subject.

I have written you two or three letters that have an important; I now beg to call your attention particularly to them, & request that you will give me the information desired, so that the deeds may be 904 made out & delivered to you, and the bonds cancelled and deposited in the Bank of Mobile, subject to my order.

Very re'p'f'y,

MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

NEW YORK, April, 1860.

J. S. MORGAN, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: Yours of the of the 21st duly received I sent you a hasty note by last steamer, in which they are asked to sign a request to the trustees to allow the parties purchasing the lands of the co. to pay for the same in the bonds of the co., which shall be cancelled when the deed is given, similar to the plan adopted by the Ill. Central Co.;. that there is a considerable amount of these bonds held in England, and the holders are disposed favorably to consider the plan, but as they learn the trustees object to such an arrangement, they hesitate; and that you have promised to write me and ascertain what are the objections.

There is some great mistake or misapprehension somewhere.
905 The statements are erroneous in almost every particular. By the enclosed correspondence you will see that, so far from objecting to the plan suggested, I had proposed it and sent them all the blanks used by the trustees of the Illinois Central trust, in order that they might at once adopt them.

I have never made any objections to signing deeds, because none have been made out by the company and sent to me for that purpose. Whenever they are sent me, with the cancelled bonds to the amount of the purchase-money, they will be executed and returned without delay.

The company have written requesting me to give some one a power of attorney to sign deeds, which I agreed to do as far as lands have been paid for, though on mature reflection I have my doubts of the full propriety of my giving them even that authority, in view of my responsibility to the bondholders, for whose benefit I have been appointed, and shall now insist on separate deeds being sent me for 906 signature for all the lands sold, with the numbers and amounts of bonds cancelled and endorsed in each deed, in the same manner as is done by the Ill. Central R. R. trust.

It is quite certain that the managers of this company could not so far have knowingly departed from the facts in the case in these representations to the bondholders without an object; what their object is, I will not pretend to say.

You will see by my letter to M'r Hallett, also to the executive committee, dated March, 1859, copies of which I herein enclose, that though all the necessary blanks used by the Ill's Central trust (and these schemes are identical), were forwarded that they might at once have prepared to conduct this department without any delay or embarrassment, yet no reply has ever been received from M'r Hallett or the executive committee, nor have they indicated to me any plan of operation except the one before referred to, which will not be submitted to.

With regard to the charge of my having thrown obstacles in 907 the way of what was proposed by the directors in order to throw the money into my hands on which to charge a commission, is simply ridiculous. The plan of conducting the land sales presupposed the co. to be provided with the bonds of the road, which would be absorbed at par just as fast as the money came in; and if this was done in good faith no money would, as there never has any, reached the hands of the trustees, we preferring the company to sell lands, as they should do, and furnishing the bonds whereby they realized a profit of the difference between the market value and par.

I have deeded in this way nearly a million and a half of the Illinois Central lands, and cancelled that amount of their bonds; have never charged them any commission, nor has a dollar of their money passed through our hands. It was just this system I desired this company to adopt.

908 I have now disposed of all the charges, and I thank you for giving me an opportunity of correcting these misrepresentations to the bondholders. The trust is a large and responsible one, and I should like to be relieved from it; it is not only the responsibility, but to protect the bondholders it is likely to be annoying. It has always appeared to me that the M. and O. R. R. has felt restive under the restraint of the N. Y. trustees, and now, while the bondholders are together, I beg you will induce them to designate some responsible person in Mobile to supersede me.

I am the N. Y. trustee left, and it would be more agreeable to the managers to have one of their own people to fill the station, and by a judicious selection equally safe for them.

If they will do this, I will speedily adjust my account with the co., and

The enterprise, in my judgment, when unembarrassed, is destined to become a successful one, and the bonds a good and improving security. It only requires an honest, economic, and persevering administration, which I have no reason to doubt it now has, except the shade thrown over it by these erroneous statements, to realize all the success that its friends have anticipated.

I am, dear sir, yours, very truly,

MORRIS KETCHUM.

To W'm B. Duncan, Andrew F. Elliott, and the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company:

Take notice, that the motion for a receivership of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of which motion you have already received notice, will, in addition to the papers referred to in said notice, be made on the opinions of the supreme court of the State of New York, copies of which are herewith served upon you, and upon an affidavit of Morris Ketchum, copies of which are herewith served on you. And also take notice, that the affidavit of Morris Ketchum, sworn to on the 30th day of March, and a copy of which has also been served on you, should include in the 16th paragraph thereof, after the words "were fraudulent upon the showing of said Duncan and Elliott, they claiming, 910 the following words: "by the reports and circulars of the directors, from which they did not dissent, though being directors, to be acting in the interest of and honestly towards the first-mortgage bondholders, and also claiming for a portion of said time."

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Morris Ketchum, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That the annexed paper, marked "Exhibit A." is a true copy of the circular that was issued by the directors of the Mobile and Ohio 911 Railroad Co. to the bondholders thereof in April, 1875.

That on the 8th of March, 1876, W. Butler Duncan issued a circular to the holders of the bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Co., and signed the same: "By an order of the board.—W. Butler Duncan."

EXHIBIT A.

MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY.

The directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company beg to inform the holders of their bonds that the unexampled falling off in earnings, resulting from business depression, general throughout the country, and which will probably continue until another crop is assured, deprives the company of the ability to meet the May interest at its maturity.

All the earnings of the past business season has been applied 912 arrears of pay-rolls, to current supplies, to necessary improvements of the road, and to other matters strictly in the interest of the bondholders.

All our labor and current supply bills are now paid, as far as practicable, in cash.

The directors recognize the fact that the bondholders have the first claim on the property, and that it is imperative upon the directors to apply all the earnings of the road to the interest in the strict order of equity.

With this assurance, the directors invite the confidence of the holders of the mortgage liens to enable them to make some acceptable proposition, upon a substantial basis, which will permit the continued development of the property in the interest of all concerned.

For details of the application of the earnings of the past year, the directors beg leave to refer to the annual report of the company.

By order of the board.

A. L. WILLOUGHBY,
Secretary.

MOBILE, April 23d, 1875.

913 ROEBLING ag'st DUNCARN & ALS.

Motion to vacate an order of arrest.

M'r Macfarland for the motion. M'r Morange opposed.

LAWRENCE, J.:

The complaint in this action does not appear to have been submitted with the motion papers; but it is evident from the affidavits that the cause of action and the ground of the arrest are distinct, and in such cases it is settled that the court must decide upon the motion, whether upon the whole case, as made by the affidavits on both sides, the court would, if called upon to act in the matter as res nova, have granted the order. (Allen v's McCarvan, 32 Barb., 663, per Sutherland, J.; Chapin v's Seeley, 13 How., 490; Union Bank v's Mott. 6 Abb', 315; & see Phillips v's Benedict, 20 How., 265; Frost v's McCayer, 14 How., 131.)

914 After carefully reading the affidavits on both sides, I cannot say that there exists such a preponderance of evidence in favor of the defendants as to warrant me in coming to the conclusion that the order of arrest ought not to have issued, and ought not to be maintained. There are many allegations in the affidavits of the plaintiffs which have no bearing on the case, and which do not, in my opinion, tend to strengthen it; but after discarding all such allegations, there seems to be enough stated by the plaintiffs, in the absence of a positive explanation by the defendants, to lead to the result that the order should be upheld.

The allegations contained in the plaintiffs' affidavits in respect to the conveyances to M'r Alexander Duncan, are in no manner met or explained by the defendants. One of those conveyances was made as far back as the year 1868, and was not recorded until July 27, 1875, the other was made in 1874, and recorded in July 27, 1875. These conveyances covered the premises in which the business of the defend-915 ants had been for years carried on. The property was of great value, and the defendant, Duncan, the apparent owner of it. It must, I think, be assumed that one of the elements which contributed very greatly to the establishment of the credit of the defendants as bankers, was the reported ownership by the members of the firm, or some of them, of this property.

It seems to me, further, that these secret conveyances to M'r Alexander Duncan, and the failure to record them, constituted a fraud as to those persons who were dealing with the defendants, or that, on the most favorable view of the case for the defendants, such conveyances were badges of fraud, and as such should receive great weight on the determination of this motion. (Hawley vs. Sackett, 3 How., 605; Fox vs. Meyer, 54 N. Y., 126, 131; Case vs. Phelps, 39 N. Y., 169, and cases cited by Woodruff, J., p. 170.)

It appears that the bill of exchange was sold to the plaintiff, only six days before the failure and assignment of the defendants, and while it is true that no actual representations appear to have been 019 made to the plaintiff at the time such bill was sold, as to the defendants' responsibility, it further appears by the defendants own affidavits that the defendants were at that time in greatly embarrassed circumstances, and that without assistance they could not possibly meet their liabilities.

In Johnson vs. Monell (2 Keyes, p. 655) the court of appeals say, per Morgan, J., that in the absence of a satisfactory explanation, it is not a violent presumption to infer that a man who stops to-day because he is hopelessly insolvent, must have known and contemplated it six days before. That in order to establish fraud in the purchase of goods, it is not necessary that a purchaser should have made false statements concerning his pecuniary ability, and that it is only where the evidence of circumstances fails to establish a presumption of fraud, that evidence of false representations became indispensable to prove the purchase fraudulent.

And it was further held in that case that the usage between parties in their dealings together for a period of years is competent evi-917 dence in the case of an alleged fraudulent purchase of goods as tending to show that the seller had a right to presume the solvency of the purchaser, when he gave the order for the goods in the usual way. I can discover no difference in principle between that case and the case before me.

The defendants were, in my opinion, hopelessly insolvent when they sold the bill of exchange to the plaintiff, and I cannot avoid the conclusion that they knew that they were insolvent. The plaintiff had been accustomed for several years to purchase bills of exchange from the defendants, and such bills had been duly honored. There was nothing to indicate to the plaintiff that there had been any change in the circumstances of the defendants, at the time that they purchased the bill. As I have said, at that time the defendants must have known that they were insolvent, and although it has been held in some cases that an omission to declare insolvency is not necessarily an evidence of fraud, yet it has also been held, that if an insolvent, who is carrying on 918 business, with knowledge that he can no longer continue it, and that his property must be surrendered to his creditors, purchases goods upon credit, without disclosing his circumstances to the vendor, his concealment thereof is equivalent to fraud, and his assignment of the purchased property for the benefit of his creditors will pass no title therein to his assignee. (Chaffee vs. Fort L. Lansing, 82). And in the same case it was further held that the same rule applies to a banker, who, under like circumstances, receives the money of his depositor. (See particularly remarks of Muller, J., at p. 87, 88.)

It is stated in one of the affidavits of the defendants that the bank upon which the bill was drawn had a large amount on deposit to the credit of the defendants, but upon examining the schedules filed with the assignment it appears that the defendants were largely indebted to said bank. Although there the defendants state that they drew 919 the bill in the full expectation that the same would be paid, I cannot say, upon all the facts as presented to me, that the defendants were at all justified in such expectation. There is no allusion in the defendants' affidavits to the conveyances to M'r Duncan, except such as may be contained in the general allegation that the defendants are advised that certain of the matters in the plaintiffs' affidavits contained are impertinent, and that the defendants are not called upon to answer them.

If those conveyances were fair, were based upon a good consideration, and if there is any just explanation of the failure to record them while the land and buildings which they conveyed appeared to be owned by the defendants or some of them, and were held out to the world to be so owned, it would have been easy to have set forth the facts in the affidavits. Again, in cases where it is sought to vacate an order of arrest, a mere denial by the debtor of the facts sworn to on the part of the plaintiffs is not sufficient to vacate the order of arrest. There 920 must be a preponderance of evidence, either by other witnesses or by the statement of other matters to confirm the defendants' denial. (Phillips vs. Benedict, 20 How., 265.)

Here there is neither a denial of the fact that the conveyances were made and that they were not recorded until the failure of the defendants, and, as I have already stated, the allegations of the plaintiff in respect to such conveyances are entitled to great weight in arriving at a proper determination of this motion.

The case made by the plaintiffs on their original affidavits does not seem to me to have been answered or contradicted, and as I regard the order as having been properly made in the first instance, the motion to vacate it must be denied.

WILLIAM B. DUNCAN AND OTHERS.

BARRET, J.:

The rule of law which governs in cases of this kind is well settled.

The question is one of intent, to be ascertained by an inquiry as to whether the debtor had any reasonable expectation of meeting his obligations at maturity.

If he had such reasonable expectation, then it is the case of a legitimate effort by an embar'assed person, to be a trader or banker, to retrieve his fortunes, and then the law is not so strict as to require a disclosure which would probably defeat the effort; otherwise it falls within that other class of cases where the merchant or trader, finding himself hopelessly insolvent and with stoppage im'inent, without disclosing his situation, and in virtue of his supposed solvency and well-established credit, contracts fresh obligations which he cannot reasonably hope to 922 meet, and this the law condemns as fraudulent.

Now, in the case at bar, the defendants were hopelessly insolvent when they sold the bill in question; that is, their liabilities amounted to about $5,000,000.00; their assets to less than $2,000,000.00. They deny knowledge of insolvency but admit knowledge of embar'assment. Six days later they stopped payment and made a general assignment.

Under these circumstances, it became very clearly the duty of the defendants, especially after the admonition of M'r M'r Justice Lawrence, to lay before the court all the facts upon which they based their sanguine expectations. This they have failed to do. They say that they were negotiating for additional means which would have insured their ability to continue, and that they had strong hope of accomplishing that result. But they furnish no facts upon this head.

They do not say with whom they were negotiating, nor for what 923 sums; nor do they give letters, telegrams, or other particulars.

It was for the court to say, when the facts were presented, whether the hopes and expectations of which the defendants speak were reasonable and real. It certainly will not do for a firm which owes $5,000,000, and has less than $2,000,000 of assets, when taxed with continuing after knowledge of that state of things, to rely upon generalities.

Again, on this question of knowledge, there is, unfortunately, the same reticence.

The defendants admit, that about the time of the sale of the bill, they were engaged in an examination of their financial affairs and had discovered that they were embarrassed, though not hopelessly insolvent, The court could better have sustained that view of the case if the defendants had given the facts as to such examination and discoveries.

Presumptively such examination disclosed the truth, viz, that the defendants could not pay forty cents on the dollar. If it did not;
924 if there was any mystery about their their affairs which could not be immediately unravelled by an examination of the books, or any peculiarity about their assets which rendered at least an approximately accurate valuation impossible, the defendants should have shown what the difficulty was.

No light is thrown upon the subject by simply declaring that they found themselves embarrassed.

That again was a matter for the court. What the defendants in fact found was that they owed so much, and that they had such and such assets with which to pay. It was their duty to give the court, as nearly as might be, a photographic view of this examination, and of all the facts tending to justify the assumption of mere embarrassment, which might be relieved by the acquisition of additional means.

It is true that there is an averment in the defendants' affidavits that the realizable value of assets did not "necessarily" appear upon the face of their books, and that without a close examination of the sev-925 eral accounts the value of assets or amount of losses would not "necessarily" appear. This is a general statement, which is true of almost every firm; but whether or to what extent the defendants here, in continuing after such examination, were misled by any such state of things is not detailed.

It thus appears that when the defendants sold the bill their liabilities exceeded their assets by upwards of three millions of dollars, and that they had made an examination of their condition, which ought to have disclosed that fact, and the consequent futility of negotiating for the enormous sum which would have been necessary to have placed them upon a reasonably sound basis, under such circumstances; therefore, it was their duty to have stopped at once; and now, when they seek to justify their continuance until the failure of the negotiations for additional means, they should have spread before the court fully and explicitly the particulars of the examination which they had made, the assets which it showed, the value which it placed thereon, the facts upon which they grounded such valuation, and, as a sequitor, 926 what deficiency there then appeared to be between debts and means of payment. If upon such facts having been presented, the court had been of opinion that as the defendants were then situated (that is, treating them as honest men of fair judgment, looking at their affairs according to the best lights then afforded to them) they were justified in believing that theirs was a case of mere embarrassment and not of complete insolvency, it would have justified them in continuing their business without disclosing their condition. But even then if the embarrassment appeared to be of so grave a character, that without additional means there was no prospect of retrieving themselves, the court before finally justifying the incurring of fresh obligations (even pending the negotiations) would have been compelled to ask for full and precise information as to the amount necessary to be had and the grounds upon which the defendants based their hope of obtaining it—in fact for the details of such negotiations.

927 The explanations made by the defendants with respect to the state of the account with the Union Bank of London are sufficiently full.

They do not, however, alter the effect of the failure to furnish the facts which have been discussed; of course the payment of the bill did not altogether depend upon the fact that the defendants had money or credit with the drawee. It depended rather upon their continuance.

In other words, they were not justified in the expectation that the bill would be honored merely because the drawees had funds in their hands, unless they were also justified in the expectation of success in the negotiations for additional means and in the belief that such additional means would enable them to continue their business without interruption. Indeed, as they themselves say, the cause of the failure of the Union Bank of London to honor their bills, including that now in question, was the telegraphic report in London of their stoppage, and of the execution of their assignment.

928 The court is therefore constrained to hold as the necessary result of the conceded facts, calling as the' do for clear and precise evidence (which has not been furnished) of other facts sufficient to justify the alleged expectation of continuance, that the defendants must have known, when they sold the bill, that before it reached London they would be compelled to close their doors, and that a refusal to accept would be the result.

It follows, therefore, without the necessity of considering the other branch of the case, that the motion to vacate must be denied.

929 Transcript of proceedings against Morris Ketchum et als.

[SEAL.] The President of the United States of America to all to whom these presents shall come, greeting:

Know ye that we, having inspected the records and files of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, do find certain paper writings there remaining of record, in the words and figures following, to wit:

930 To the honorable the judge of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, in the second circuit:

Charles I. Davis and Charles B. Pope, as survivors of the copartnership firm of said Pope & Company, composed of themselves and Edmund Aiken, now deceased, bring this their bill of complaint against Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, Edward B. Ketchum, Augustus A. Robinson, and Charles J. Ketchum, all, each, and every of whom are residents of the city and county of New York, in the State of New York.

And thereupon your orators as surviving, as aforesaid, complain and say, that your orators and the said Edmund Aiken, now deceased, at the several times hereinafter stated, were copartners in business 931 under the name and firm of Davis, Pope and Company, and as such copartners carried on business as merchants at and in the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, where your orators still reside, and that the said Edmund Aiken departed this life in or about the month of January, 1867, leaving your orators as the survivors of said copartnership as survivors, as aforesaid.

And your orators further shows that prior to and since the first day of January, in the year 1865, Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, have carried on and conducted business in the city of New York, in copartnership, under the name, style, and firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, which business so conducted and carried on by the said copartnership firm of Ketchum, Son and Company had been previously conducted and carried on by the said Morris 932 Ketchum, associated at different times with others, and which copartnership firm of Ketchum, Son and Company had existed for several years prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, and in or about the year 1860 was composed of the said Morris Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, and Thomas Belknap, junior, who afterwards, and for a long time prior to the fifteenth of August, in the year 1865, associated with themselves, as members of the said firm, the said Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, so that on the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, and for a long time prior thereto, the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company was composed of the said Morris Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further shows that 933 the said Morris Ketchum, by means of the long series of years that he had been engaged in said brokerage and banking business, and the very large business carried on and conducted by him, and his manner of living and conducting and carrying on business, and from other causes, became reputed to be a person of large wealth and great business and pecuniary facilities, and upon the formation of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, said firm, by means of the reputation acquired by the said Morris Ketchum from the commencement thereof, had a large and unbounded credit for its wealth and means and facility of doing business, and its business capacity, and sought and obtained the business of a large number of banks, bankers, and merchants, who with them would deposit money and securities as bankers, to be drawn upon in the usual and ordinary course of doing a 934 banking business, and among others your orators and said Edmund Aiken, as co-partners as aforesaid, on or about the first day of January, 1865, commenced doing business with the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, by depositing money and securities with the said firm as bankers, to be drawn upon by your orators, said firm of Davis, Pope and Company, as their business and necessities should require, and continue such business with said firm until on or about the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid further state, upon information and belief, that prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company were very extensive dealers and speculators in stocks, gold, and government bonds and securities, and that for several months prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, Edward B. Ketchum, one of the said firm of 935 Ketchum, Son and Company, had been speculating in gold on his individual account by buying and selling gold and stocks to enormous amounts—many millions of dollars; and for the purposes of said speculations, he, the said Edward B. Ketchum, embezzled and took large amounts of bonds, stocks, and other securities left and deposited by different persons and corporations with the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company for safe-keeping, and as securities for loans and advances and for other confidential purposes, and belonging to the said persons and corporations so leaving and depositing the same with said Ketchum, Son and Company, and sold and disposed of the same without the knowledge or consent of the persons and corporations owning, depositing, and having the same as aforesaid, and converted the same and the proceeds thereof to his own use, and also made and issued forged checks purporting to be drawn by the firm of Brockleman, Unger & Company, 936 Hallgarten & Hertzfeldt, and others whoes names are unknown to your orator, upon the Bank of New York, a corporation doing business in the city of New York as bankers, and other banks and bankers, the signatures to which checks were not written by the parties purporting to have signed the same, but were false, fictitious, and forged signatures, made and written by the said Edward B. Ketchum, which checks required the bank or bankers upon whom they were drawn to pay to the payees thereof, or order, the amount for which said checks were drawn, in coin of the United States, and were what was then known in the city of New York as gold checks, and that he, the said Edward B. Ketchum, used and negotiated said forged and fictitious gold-checks by selling and disposing of the same, or some of them, and by borrowing large sums of money and depositing said fictitious and forged 937 checks, representing them to be good and genuine, as security for the money so loaned, and that the said Edward B. Ketchum had, prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, so made, issued, negotiated, and deposited, as collateral, such fictitious and forged gold-checks to the amount of several hundred thousand dollars.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show and state on information lately obtained and belief, that for a long time, at least for two months prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, and especially the said Morris Ketchum, well knew that the said Edward B. Ketchum had been and was purloining and using said bonds, stocks, and other securities deposited with the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company for safe keeping, and otherwise, as aforesaid, and selling and disposing of the same, and converting the same, or the proceeds 938 thereof, to his own use, and suppressing the fact of the said purloining, using, and conversion from the said persons and corporations to whom said bonds, stocks, and securities belonged, and took no means to prevent the said Edward B. Ketchum from continuing the purloining, taking, using, disposing of, and converting the stocks, bonds, and other securities belonging to other persons and corporations, deposited by them, the owners thereof, with the said firm of Ketchum,

Son and Company for safe keeping, and otherwise as aforesaid, and that the amount of the said bonds, stocks, and other securities purloining, taken, used, disposed of, and converted by the said Edward B. Ketchum prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, amounted in the aggregate to between one and two millions of dollars.

939 And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show and aver, upon information lately obtained and belief, that the said firm of Ketchum, Son, and Company were for and during several months prior to the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, largely indebted, and that the liabilities of the said firm, immediately and for some weeks prior to the said fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, amounted to about the sum of three millions of dollars; and that the property and assets of the said firm, and of the several individual members thereof, greatly exceeded the total amount of the liabilities of the said firm, and of the several members thereof, individually; and that on the said fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, the said firm of Ketchum, Son, and Company, and the several individual members thereof, exclusive of the said Edward B. Ketchum, had and possessed in their own right more than sufficient property and means to fully pay and satisfy all the debts and liabilities of the said firm, and of the several members thereof, excluding the said Edward B. Ketchum, and 940 were fully able to pay and satisfy all said debts and liabilities, including the amount and value of the said bonds, stocks, and other securities purloined, taken, used, disposed of, and converted as aforesaid by the said Edward B. Ketchum.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show and aver, upon information lately obtained and belief, that the said Morris Ketchum, when he was informed of the purloining, taking, using, disposing of and converting of the said bonds, stocks, and other securities, by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid, or shortly thereafter, being apprehensive that to pay the debts and liabilities of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, and the owners of the said bonds, stocks, and other securities purloined, taken, used, disposed of, and converted by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid, for the amount and value thereof, would involve and require the greater part, if not all the property and assets of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, 941 and of his private fortune and property, conceived the scheme and contrivance to make use of the fraudulent practices of the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid, as a means of compromising and compounding with the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, so that he, the said Morris Ketchum, might, by means of such composition and compromise, save to himself his private fortune and property, or the greater part thereof; and in pursuance of the said scheme and contrivance; and combining and confederating with the said Franklin M. Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, it was arranged and agreed by and between the said Morris Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, that the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company should suspend payment of its debts and liabilities for the alleged reason of 942 the abstraction of the said bonds, stocks, and other securities by the said Edward B. Ketchum, as aforesaid, and to fraudulently take advantage of the commotion and alarm that would be created among the creditors of the said firm when said abstractions of said bonds, stocks, and other securities should become known, as aforesaid, to affect a composition and compromise with the creditors of the said firm of their several claims and demands against said firm, so that the said Morris Ketchum might preserve and keep to his own use the whole or the greater part of his private fortune or property; and that upon such suspension of payment of its debts and liabilities by the said firm being agreed upon as aforesaid, certain persons and firms dealing with said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, and who it was the interest of said firm to protect, were advised by said firm, or some members thereof, to, and did, withdraw all moneys and securities then on deposit by them respectively with said firm and close their respective accounts with said firm, the names of which persons and firms are 943 now unknown to your orator, but whose names, when discovered, your orator prays leave to insert herein.

And the said Edward B. Ketchum absconded and secreted himself in the city of New York under a false name, and immediately thereafter the said forgeries committed by him as aforesaid became known.

Whereupon the said Morris Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, to carry out the said fraudulent scheme and contrivance, and in pursuance thereof taking advantage of the commotion and alarm created by the fact of the absconding of and the forgeries committed by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid being made public, and to cheat and defraud the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, determined that the said firm should immediately suspend payment, and 944 thereupon, on the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, announced that the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company were insolvent, and unable to pay their debts and liabilities in full, and declined to pay any of such debts and liabilities, and when called upon by parties interested as creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, he, the said Morris Ketchum, in pursuance of the said fraudulent scheme and design, stated and represented that the said Edward B. Ketchum had taken and abstracted from the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company two or three millions of dollars, and made use of the same for his own purposes, in consequence of which the said firm had stopped payment, and were unable to go on with their business, but meant to make an examination of its resources and liabilities for the purpose of seeing how it was situated pecuniarily, and that said Edward B. 945 Ketchum had absconded, and he did not know where he was, and gave out and pretended that the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company were insolvent and unable to meet or pay its liabilities, when, to the contrary thereof, the said Morris Ketchum well knew the extent of the abstractions from said firm by the said Edward B. Ketchum, and that they did not amount to two or three millions of dollars, and that the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company were not insolvent, but that said firm, and the individual members thereof, owned and possessed sufficient property to pay all its debts and liabilities after applying the individual property of each member of said firm to the payments of his individual debts and liabilities, except in the case of the said Edward B. Ketchum, and well knew the then whereabouts of the said Edward B. Ketchum, and was himself a party to the concealment of the said Edward B. Ketchum.

946 And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further aver and state on information and belief, that, in pursuance of said fraudulent scheme and contrivance to cheat and defraud the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, the said firm by the respective members thereof, except said Edward B. Ketchum, in the name of said firm and of said individual members thereof, on the seventeenth day of August, in the year 1865, made, executed, and delivered to Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement an instrument in writing, bearing date on the day and year last aforesaid, in which, in pursuance of said fraudulent scheme and contrivance, it was recited that Edward B. Ketchum, a partner of said firm, had absconded himself from his residence and from the place of business of the said firm, having appropriated to his own use a large amount of the assets of the said firm, by means whereof the said firm had become 947 embarrassed and had been compelled to suspend payment, and was unable to provide for its debts as fast as the same became due and payable, and by which instrument in writing they pretended and purported, in consideration of the premises and of the sum of one dollar to them in hand paid, to grant, bargain, sell, assign, transfer, and set over unto the said Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, and to the survivors of them, all and singular the property, assets, and effects of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, of whatsoever nature, or wheresoever situated the same might be, to have and to hold the same unto the said Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, in trust, nevertheless, and to and for and upon the uses and purposes therein declared of and concerning the same, that is to say, in trust to reduce to their possession all and singular the property, assets, and effects thereby conveying and assigning, or intended to be, and 948 to convert the same into cash by sale or collection thereof, as the same might require, and to appropriate and apply the proceeds thereof.

First. To the payment of the expenses of making and executing the trusts thereby created, or pretended to have been created, including the lawful commissions and compensations of the said P. C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, and of such agents and servants as they shall lawfully employ in and about the execution of the said pretended trust, and then,

Secondly, to the payment, so far as such proceeds would go, of all the lawful debts and liabilities due and owing, or theretofore incurred, and then maturing by the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, to their creditor*ers* respectively rateable and in proportion to the several amounts of such debts respectively, until such debts should be fully paid and satisfied.

And they, the said Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, be-849 came parties to the said instrument in writing by signing the same, and therein and thereby severally, respectively, each for himself, pretended or purporting to accept the trust pretended to have been created by the said instrument in writing, and agreed faithfully to perform the same.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid further show, aver and state upon information lately obtained and belief, that the said instrument in writing was signed by the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and by the name of Ketchum, Son & Company and, although purporting to be under their respective seals, was not in fact sealed by them, or either of them, and that said instrument in writing was acknowledged on the said 17th day of August, in the year 1865, before C. W.
950 Bangs, a notary public in and for the said city and county of New York, by the said Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, and by the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, individually and further, that they had executed the same for and in the name of Ketchum, Son and Company as well as each of them in his own name; and that on the said 17th day of August, in the year 1865, the said instrument in writing was recorded in the office of the clerk of the city and county of New York, in the State of New York.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information lately obtained and belief, that the said recitals contained in the said instrument in writing were untrue in fact, and were inserted and recited for the fraudulent purpose of representing to the 951 creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company that the said firm had been rendered insolvent by the abstractions of the said Edward B. Ketchum, and in pursuance of the said fraudulent scheme and contrivance hereinbefore set forth, and that, in truth and fact, at the time of signing and execution of the said instrument in writing, the said Edward B. Ketchum had absented himself from his residence and from the place of business of the said firm, with the knowledge and assent and by reason of the preconcerted scheme and contrivance of the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, to so absent himself, so that it might be given out that he had absconded with a large part of the property and assets of said firm, so as to enable the said firm to make a fraudulent settlement with its creditors, whereby the private fortune and property of the said Morris Ketchum 952 might be secured from being applied and appropriated to the payment of the debts of said firm; and that at the time of the execution and delivery of the said instrument in writing it was, and for a considerable time prior thereto it had been, known to the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan that the said Edward B. Ketchum had appropriated to his own use some of the assets of the said firm, and the nature and extent of such appropriation by the said Edward B. Ketchum; and that such appropriation of the assets of the said firm by the said Edward B. Ketchum did not render said firm insolvent or unable to pay its debts and liabilities in full, and would not embarrass said firm in the private fortune and property of the respective members thereof, was applied and appropriated to the payment and liquidation of its debts and liabilities.

953 And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show upon information lately obtained and belief, that in pursuance of the said fraudulent scheme and contrivance, the said Morris Ketchum, Franklin M. Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, gave out and pretended that he, the said Morris Ketchum, did, on the sixteenth day of August, in the year 1865, by an instrument in writing, bearing date on that day, assign and transfer a part and portion of his individual and private property to Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun in trust, to convert the same into money, and to apply the proceeds thereof to and for the benefit of his creditors and the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company; and that, by a further instrument in writing, bearing date the seventeenth day of August, in the year 1865, he, the said Morrit Ketchum, did assign and transfer to the said Edward Bemens 954 and Philo C. Calhoun the remainder of the individual and private property and estate of said Morris Ketchum, in trust, to convert the same into money, and to apply the proceeds to and for the benefit of the creditors of the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, whereas, in truth and in fact, as yours have very lately been informed and believe, although such instruments of assignment may have been made and executed they were not in fact delivered, and that no such assignments are recorded in the office of the clerk of the city and county of New York, in the State of New York, whe're by the laws of the State of New York relative to voluntary assignments by insolvent debtors, they are required to be recorded.

And your orators, as survivors aforesaid, further show that they have been lately informed and believes that, in pursuance of said fraud-955 ulent contrivance and scheme, the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, prepared, or caused to be prepared, a paper purporting to be an inventory of the estate assigned, or pretended to be assigned, by the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to the said Philo
C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, by the said first-mentioned instrument in writing, or assignment, at the date of the said instrument in writing, and of all the estate of the said assignors, and purporting also to be a full and true account of all the creditors of the said assignors, which paper was prepared with a view to filing the same in pretended pursuance of and compliance with an act of the legislature of the State of New York, passed April 13, 1860, entitled "An act to secure to creditors a just division of the estates of debtors who convey to assignees for the benefit of creditors, and such paper was prepared and filed 956 in the office of the clerk of the city and county of New York, or of the court of common pleas of said city and county, on or about the fifth day of September, 1865, and was endorsed as follows:

"The firm of Ketchum, Son & Company having made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors to Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, by an instrument dated August 16, 1865, and Morris Ketchum, one of the said firm, and a resident of the State of Connecticut, having assigned a part of his property to Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun for the benefit of the creditors of the said firm, by an instrument dated August 17, 1865, and having assigned the remainder of his property to the said Philo C. Calhoun and Edward Bement, by an instrument dated August 17, 1865, in trust for the benefit of the creditors of the said firm, the said debtors made this inventory 957 or schedule of the creditors of the said firm and of the estate of said Ketchum, Son and Company and of said Morris Ketchum, at the dates of the said assignments respectively, pursuant to the second section of an act of the legislature of the State of New York, passed April 13, 1860, entitled 'An act to secure to creditors a just division of the estate of debtors who convey assignees for the benefit of creditors.'"

And as your orators had been lately informed and believes, no inventory, or paper purporting to be an inventory, required to be filed by the said act of the legislature of the State of New York of the property assigned, or pretended to be assigned, by the said two several instruments pretended to be made by the said Morris Ketchum, one to the said Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun, and the other to the said Edward Bement and Philo C. Calhoun, was ever filed as required by the said act of the legislature of the State of New 958 York, except so far as it may be pretended that the said pretended inventory and schedule, filed as aforesaid, was a compliance with the requirements of the said act.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information lately obtained, and belief, that the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, in pursuance of the same fraudulent and illegal schemes and contrivances hereinbefore stated and set forth, and for the purpose of hindering, delaying, and defrauding the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, purposely and carefully omitted from the said paper, called and styled an inventory or schedule, large amounts of property and assets belonging to the said firm and the said Morris Ketchum, among which is a claim of ninety thousand dollars, or thereabouts, against the New York and New Haven Rail-959 road company; in which the said Morris Ketchum had an interest of two-thirds, and of which he, the said Morris Ketchum, subsequently personally received between sixty and seventy thousand dollars, no part of which ever came to the hands of his said pretended assignees, any or either of them; and the said pretended inventory or schedule stated a balance of account due to said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company from J. A. Robinson, on transactions of gold coin, of twenty-seven thousand nine hundred and seventy-three dollars in currency, whereas, in truth and in fact, there was due from the said Robinson to the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company that amount in gold coin; and also stated, as part of the assigned estate or property, an estate in fee in remainder, after the death of Mary Munroe, in premises in West Thirty-sixth street, in the city of New York, of the value of four thousand dollars, whereas your orators are lately informed, and believe, in truth and in fact, the said premises in West Thirty-sixth street 960 were the property of the said Morris Ketchum in fee absolute, and that the said Mary Monroe had no estate or interest therein, but, for the purpose of deceiving and defrauding his creditors on the eve of the announcement of the insolvency of said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, the said Morris Ketchum or procured to be made an instrument in writing purporting and pretending to give to the said Mary Munroe an estate for life in the said premises in West Thirty-sixth street, which papers was antedated, and which premises in West Thirty-sixth street were then reasonably worth the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars; and when, after having deceived his creditors as herein stated, and thereby procured a settlement with his creditors, as hereinafter stated, the said property in Thirty-sixth street came back to the said Morris Ketchum, freed from any life estate, and he sold and disposed of the same for the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, no part of 961 which sum went in any way to the benefit of the said Mary Munroe.

And the said pretended inventory also stated, as a part of the assigned estate or property, two hundred and eleven shares of the capital stock of the Hartford Carpet Company, a manufactoring corporation; and for the purpose of deceiving the creditors of the said Ketchum, Son & Company, said stock was put down in the said pretended inventory as of the value of one hundred and four $\frac{36}{100}$ dollars per share, when in truth and fact the same was worth in the market at the time of the making and filing of the said pretended inventory, and could have been sold for the price or sum of one hundred and eighty-five dollars per share.

And that said pretended inventory also stated, as a part of the assigned estate or property, the individual property, real and personal, of the said Edward B. Ketchum, and that the same was subject to attachments issued against his property, and for the purpose of deceiv-962 ing the said creditors of the said Ketchum, Son and Company, the value of said property was, in said pretended inventory, stated at the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, when, in truth and fact, the said attachments were all afterwards set aside and vacated, and were expected to be set aside and vacated, and the then true value of the said real and personal property of the said Edward B. Ketchum, individually, was the sum of at least three hundred and eighty thousand dollars.

And that by the said pretended schedule and inventory, the debts and liabilities of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, and the said Morris Ketchum, are made to appear at the sum of three million nine hundred and forty-five thousand six hundred and eighty dollars, and the property and effects of the said Morris Ketchum and the said Ketchum, Son and Company at three million and ninety-three thousand six hundred and thirty dollars, and when in truth and in fact the 963 property of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and the said Morris Ketchum was of greater value and amount than the whole amount of the indebtedness of the said firm and of the said Morris Ketchum, as would have appeared by said pretended inventory if the whole amount of the property and effects of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and of the said Morris Ketchum had been fully stated and set forth in the said pretended inventory had been therein set forth at its true and fair value.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information lately obtained and belief, that the said pretended inventory or schedule filed as aforesaid, stated and set forth pretended liabilities of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company which did not exist, and other liabilities for a great deal larger amount than did actually exist, and was so made for the fraudulent purpose of deceiving the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company and inducing 964 them to believe that the liabilities of the said firm were largely in excess of the true amount.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information and belief, that in pursuance of said fraudulent scheme and contrivance, the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, on or about the fifteenth day of August, in the year 1865, sent to each of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company a printed communication in the words and figures following, that is to say:

"OFFICE OF KETCHUM, SON AND COMPANY,
"No. 40 EXCHANGE PLACE,
"New York, August 15th, 1865.

"DEAR SIR: The developement, yesterday, of very heavy frauds practised upon us by E. B. Ketchum, a junior partner in our house, has forced us to suspend payment until we can collect and convert 965 our assets and ascertain our exact position. We hope that a short time will suffice for this, and that we may soon be able to submit a proposition for the settlement of our affairs.

"Respectfully yours,

"KETCHUM, SON & CO."

And on or about the seventeenth day of August, in the year 1865, they sent to each of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company another printed communication, in which they announced that, in consequence of hostile proceedings, they had been forced to make an assignment for the benefit of their creditors.

And in further pursuance of said fraudulent scheme and contrivance the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, on or about the 23rd day of August, 1865, sent to each of their creditors a printed communication, in words and figures following, that is to say:

966 NEW YORK, August 23rd, 1865.

DEAR SIR: Since the events of last week, which disclosed to ourselves the unfortunate condition of our house, and drove us to an assignment, we have been busily engaged in efforts to secure our property to our creditors, and to give early information of the state of our affairs. We are now able to say, for the first time, that, according to the balances on our books, our liabilities are, in round numbers, $4,000,000, while the available assets applicable to the payment of our liabilities and the expenses of winding up the estate cannot properly realize more than $2,500,000 to $3,000,000, and, in a forced realization, probably less than either sum. Some claims, amounting to about $250,000, have been made upon us, which, we think, we are not liable for, and there is a faint prospect that our assignees may regain a very small amount of the assets of which we were fraudulently deprived. The amount 967 of funds and and securities abstracted from us, without our knowledge at the time and to our so great loss, is now definitely ascertained to have been not less than $2,800,000.

Under these circumstances we are urgently advised by many of our creditors to invite your attendance at a meeting of our creditors, to be held at our late banking house, No. 40 Exchange Place, at 12 o'clock m. of Friday, the first day of September, at which time we shall submit detailed statements of our liabilities and assets, and in the mean time we shall endeavor to be prepared with some proposition, which, if consented to by all creditors, will, we hope, facilitate the settlement of our affairs.

At this juncture the greatest promptness of action is necessary, and we beg that you will either attend in person or by a representative authorized and prepared to act in the premises.

In the mean time, and always, unless the voluntary action and 968 consent of our creditors shall justify a different course, our assignees will continue to act in preserving and disposing of our estate as the law requires.

Respectfully, yours,

KETCHUM, SON & COMPANY.

And your orators, as survivors, as aforesaid, further show, upon information lately obtained and belief, that said printed communications were sent to the creditors of the said firm with a fraudulent intent of representing to them, and inducing them to assume and to believe that the statements of fact therein contained were true, and procuring from them a compromise of their several claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, for a great deal less than the amount of said respective claims and demands, whereby the private estate and fortune of the said Morris Ketchum might be saved to him, and should not be taken or made use of for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the said firm; and that the 969 statements and representations contained in the printed communications, as your orators have been lately informed and believes, were wholly false and untrue, and were known to be false and untrue by the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, at the time of the sending of the said printed communications, and were made and sent by them to induce a settlement by their creditors for a less amount than the property and effects of the said Ketchum, Son & Company and Morris Ketchum, if honestly appropriated to the payment of their debts and liabilities, would have paid their said creditors; and that the statements contained in the said first-mentioned printed communication, "that the development of yesterday (August 14th, 1865,) of very heavy frauds practiced by E. B. Ketchum forced a suspension of payment," and in the said last-mentioned printed communication, 970 "that the events of the then last week had disclosed to them the condition of their house, and drove them to an assignment," were untrue, and, on the contrary thereof, the events therein referred to had long been known to the members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and were made use of as a means to enable them to make a settlement with their creditors, whereby the private fortune and estate of the said Morris Ketchum might be preserved from being used to pay the debts and liabilities of the said firm; and that the assignment referred to in said last-mentioned printed communication, and both of the said printed communications, were a part of the means adopted for the same end; and it was not true, as stated in first-mentioned printed communication, that the frauds practiced by E. B. Ketchum had been developed for the first time the day prior to the date of the said first-mentioned printed communication, 971 but, on the contrary thereof, they had for a long time been known to each and every member of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company; and it was not true that at the time of the sending of the said last mentioned printed communication the available assets applicable to the payment of the liabilities of the said firm could not probably realize more than three million dollars, and in truth and in fact the said available assets, as was then well known to the members of said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, fully equalled the liabilities of the said firm, if the private fortune and estate of the said Morris Ketchum were included therein, and were quite sufficient, under any circumstances, to have paid all the liabilities of the said firm; and it was not true, as stated in the said last-mentioned printed communication, as was then well known to the members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, that the amount of funds and securities ab- 972 stracted from said firm without their knowledge amounted to not less than two million eight hundred thousand dollars, but on the contrary thereof the said abstractions by the said Edward B. Ketchum, which were the abstractions referred to in the said last-mentioned printed communication, amounting to less than the sum of two million dollars.

And your orators, as survivors, further show that at the time of the suspension of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Co., as aforesaid, and at the time of the making of the said pretended assignments, your orators' said firm of Davis, Pope & Company was a creditor of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company in the sum of eleven thousand eight hundred and ninety-two dollars and twenty cents, in currency of the United States, for moneys in currency previously deposited by your orators with said firm said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, as the bankers of your orators' said firm; and to be repaid to your orator said 973 firm on demand, no part of which said sum of eleven thousand eight hundred and ninety-two dollars and twenty cents has ever been paid or secured to the said firm of Davis, Pope & Company, or to your orators, as the survivors of said firm, except as is hereinafter particularly stated.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid further show that, one of each of said printed communications, signed by the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, was sent to your orators, said firm of Davis, Pope & Company, at the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, and was received by your orators' said firm in due course of mail, and said last-mentioned communication was received by your orators' said firm shortly after the 28th day of August, 1865; and at the time of receiving the same and for a long time afterwards, your orators and said Edmund Aiken had no knowledge or suspicion of the fraudulent schemes, contriv-974 ances, designs, acts, and practices of the said Morris Ketchum, and of the said members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, hereinbefore stated and set forth, or any or either of them; but, on the contrary thereof, believed that the said Edward B. Ketchum, without the knowledge of his co-partners, the other members of the firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, had fraudulently abstracted from the said firm property and assets of the value of about three million dollars, belonging to said firm, and that the respective members of said firm and said Morris Ketchum had thereby been deprived of sufficient means and property to pay their debts and liabilities in full, the said Morris Ketchum devoting all his private fortune and estate and the said firm devoting all its property and effects to that purpose.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information and belief, that for the purpose of carrying out the 975 said fraudulent schemes and contrivances of the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, and to induce the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company to enter into an agreement with them for a compromise of their several claims and demands against the said firm, without examination into the affairs of the said firm, so that the private fortune and estate of the said Morris Ketchum might be preserved to him; and to deceive the said creditors, they, the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan conceived the further scheme that a meeting of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company should be called, at which meeting a compromise agreement, previously prepared, should be presented to be signed by the said creditors, or as many of said creditors as could be induced to sign the same; and 976 to deceive those of said creditors that would be present at said meeting, some kind of a report should be made of the condition of the affairs of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company by persons whose standing and reputation would influence the minds and actions of those who should be present at said meeting; and in pursuance of the said last mentioned scheme and contrivance of the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, they sent to the several creditors of the said firm the printed communication bearing date the 23rd day of August, 1865, a copy of which is hereinbefore set forth; and at or about the date of the said last-mentioned communications had prepared and printed the compromise, agreement, or agreement to assign and transfer to Charles L. Anthony, bearing date New York, September 1st, 1865, a copy of which is hereinafter set forth; and on the 31st day of August, in the year 1865, addressed a letter to John J. Phelps, B. B. Sher-
977 man, Moses Taylor, Jonathan Sturges, and Edmond Howe, a copy of which is as follows:

NEW YORK, August 31st, 1865.

Mess'rs JOHN J. PHELPS, B. B. SHERMAN, MOSES TAYLOR, JONATHAN STURGES, EDMUND HOWE.

GENTLEMEN: In view of the calamity which has overtaken our house, so suddenly and unexpectedly, we venture to ask the favor of you, as representing in so high a degree the mercantile community, to examine into our affairs, and to state for the information of our creditors what you find to be our condition and what course you should recommend for a just and speedy settlement; if you should think that we can make more for our creditors than the assignment can do, will you suggest some plan by which that end may be accomplished, and oblige,

Respectfully, yours,

KETCHUM, SON & COMPANY.

And on the same day, they, the said John J. Phelps, B. B. Sherman, Moses Taylor, Jonathan Sturgess, and Edmund Howe, addressed 978 a letter to the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, a copy of which is as follows:

NEW YORK, August 31, 1865.

Mess'rs KETCHUM, SON & COMPANY:

GENTLEMEN: Upon the receipt of your letter of this date, requesting us to make an examination of your affairs, we have attended at the office of your assignee, and gone over the sworn inventory made up by you, and have ourselves made a careful valuation of your assets. It appears that the total of your liabilities is $3,985,608.35, including $250,000 in dispute, and $32,500 unadjusted, and that the total of your assets, together with those of your senior partner, is $3,093,639.63, including $243,500 disputed.

The conflicting claims between different classes of creditors which have already risen to some extent, and which will certainly rise to a greater extent if a speedy settlement is not effected, will greatly embarrass the assignee, and create a long delay in the final settlement of the estate.

979 Taking these circumstances into consideration, and bearing in mind the nature of your business, and the character of your liabilities and assets, we are of opinion you can make more of your assets than your assignees can, and that it is best for your creditors, as well as for yourselves, that by some arraingements you should be permitted to take the assets and settle with your creditors.

Upon the whole we advise you to offer and your creditors to accept 50 per centum in cash, and 10 per centum in your notes, at 12 months without interest, in full for your indebtedness, and this being done, that the estate be surrendered back into your hands.

Respectfully yours,

MOSES TAYLOR,
JONATHAN STURGES,
EDMUND J. HOWE,
JNO. J. PHELPS, AND
B. B. SHERMAN.

That said last-mentioned letter, signed by the said Phelps, Sherman, Taylor, Sturges, and Howe, was, as your orators' said firm lately informed and believes, prepared by the counsel and legal adviser 980 of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, at or about the same time the letter addressed to them by the said Ketchum, Son & Company was written, and that neither the said John J. Phelps, B. B. Sherman, Moses Taylor, Jonathan Sturges, or Edmund Howe, made any examination into the affairs of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, except examining a copy of the said pretended inventory, filed in connection with the said assignments made by said firm for the benefit of creditors, and did not make any other valuation of any assets of said firm except such valuation as appeared by said inventory.

That said Phelps, Sherman, Taylor, Sturges, and Howe, could not in one day have made an examination of the affairs of the said Ketchum, Son & Company, and the request to them to make such examination was purposely delayed until the day before the the time fixed for the meeting of said creditors, so that they would be disabled from making any examination other than that of said pretended inventory, 981 and of such papers and figures as would be prepared for them by the said Ketchum, Son & Company, and in the expectation that they would rely upon the statements of the members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, all of whom at that time enjoyed a high reputation for integrity, and thereby the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, would be enabled to obtain a report from reputable persons that would mislead and deceive such of their creditors as attended at the then proposed meeting.

And your orators is lately informed and believes that the said Morris Ketchum has, since the said meeting of the creditors of the said firm, boasted of the success of the said scheme, whereby the said Phelps, Taylor, Stinges, Sherman, and Howe were beguiled into writing said letter, a copy of which is hereinbefore set forth, and of the effect said 982 letter had in influencing the creditors of the said firm to come into the proposed arrangement for a compromise.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show that in pursuance of the said printed communication of the 23rd day of August, 1865, a meeting of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company was held at the office of the said firm, in the city of New York, on the first day of September, in the year 1865, at about two o'clock in the afternoon, which meeting was presided over by William R. Cone, of Hartford, Connecticut, and of which meeting E. W. Blatchford was secretary, and by reason of said printed communication of the 23rd day of August, 1865, one of the members of your orators' said firm of Davis, Pope & Company attended said meeting of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and at that time neither your orators or the said Edmund Aiken had any knowledge or information of any of the matters or things hereinbefore stated as having recently or 983 lately come to the knowledge of your orator, or as to which, as hereinbefore stated, they have recently or lately been informed, at which meeting of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company there was present a large number of creditors, or the representatives of creditors, and the said Morris Ketchum and other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, together with their counsel.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information and belief, that, in pursuance of the said schemes and contrivances of the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, j'r, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, and to influence and deceive the said creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Co.

that should be present at said meeting of creditors, they, the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, j'r, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan, within a few days prior to the 984 first day of September, in the year 1865, caused to be prepared a certain address or appeal by the said Morris Ketchum, and certain letters by Thomas Belknap, j'r, and Lyndon M. Swan, all of which were read at said meeting of creditors by the counsel of said firm, copies of all of which are as follows, that is to say:

NEW YORK, August 31, 1865.

To the Creditors of Ketchum, Son & Co.:

GENTLEMEN: A sudden and disastrous blow has prostrated our house. The conduct of one of its members, too painful for me to dwell upon, has deprived us of upward of $2,600,000. Securities belonging to others are abstracted, as well as those belonging to the firm. The former, we are advised by counsel and mercantile friends, it is our duty to replace. That being done, and trust funds secured, we have made an assignment of all our property for the equal benefit of our creditors. I have also assigned all my private property for the same 985 purpose.

Till the morning of the day after he absconded I never had the slightest doubt of my son's integrity. I never supposed him capable of doing wrong to any one, and, least of all, to me. Even now his conduct is inexplicable, and I cannot believe he was in his right mind when he so cruelly wronged you and me.

Since the failure of the firm the two following letters have been put in my hands; they explain themselves. The writers could never have supposed that the amount taken was beyond the ability of the house to replace, and the secrecy, therefore, was the dictate equally of good sense and kindness. I do not blame them, for they acted according to their best judgment and under trying circumstances. They have filled prominent positions in my house for many years, having, deservedly, my entire confidence, unimpaired by the decision they came to in their efforts to regain the securities abstracted. I have ventured to call you 986 together to render plain to you the state of our affairs and to ask your advice.

Five gentlemen whom you all know as of the highest character and ability as merchants, Mess'rs Moses Taylor, Jonathan Sturges, Edmund G. Howe, Benjamin B. Sherman, and John J. Phelps, have been invited to examine our affairs. The letters requesting this examination and their answer are subjoined. I cannot close this communication without expressing to you my deep regret that any of you should be a loser by our failure. In my prosperity I never supposed this would happen. It is not the loss of my own property which causes me the deepest regret, for now, if I could have my son back, with his good name, and you were all paid in full, I should die content.

MORRIS KETCHUM.

NEW YORK,
Monday Morning, August 28th.

MR. MORRIS KETCHUM:

DEAR SIR: The events and developments of the past fortnight 987 have been of such an overwhelming character, and the necessity for instant and incessant action in important matters has been so pressing, that I have been delayed in stating to you, as it is my duty to do, and in this form and without restriction upon your use of it, all that is within my knowledge respecting the transactions which have now resulted so ruinously to myself and all of us. I am especially impelled to do so by the consideration that without the greatest degree of frankness on my part, one of the junior partners in our house, M'r Swan, may be subjected to criticism which he ought not to bear alone, while your sons, Franklin and Landon, might suffer by the suspicion that they were aware of transactions of which I am confident they knew nothing.

In looking over the loans and securities about the first of June, M'r Swan found that there was missing some $430,000 U. S. $7\frac{3}{10}$ per cent. notes, $350,000 U. S. legal tender five per cent. notes, $195,000 988 in 5 20 U. S. bonds.

The current rumors of large stock speculations by our house, which he knew to be unfounded, had aroused his suspicions that Edward was speculating on his own account, and the suspicions now pointed to Edward as connected with the missing securities. Upon being taxed by M'r Swan, with their abstraction, Edward admitted it, and that he was speculating on on his own account, but asserted that the securities were within his control if a little time was afforded him. These bonds and notes appeared, on a thorough examination, to be the only property appropriated by Edward, and he solemnly protested that M'r Swan knew the entire extent of his defalcation. And yet I now believe from information about his dealings, gathered since he absconded, that his large losses must have been made before that time, and that his frauds upon us were as great as recently, but conducted in such a way that we did not detect them and may never know them all.

M'r Swan informed me of the case at once, and that Edward 989 stated that he would close up his speculations and return the securities then lodged as collateral with his brokers. Having no conception of the magnitude of his stock speculations, M'r Swan and myself were both of the opinion that by holding over him the threat of exposure he would be induced to retire from speculations and make good his abstractions.

In this belief, and of course dreading the effect upon the firm, upon ourselves, though innocent, and upon yourself and the rest of Edward's relatives, of the publicity of such transactions as these, we permitted the matter to run along. Edward was not aware of any knowledge on my part, but was told that all the partners would be informed if he did not keep his promise to at once close his speculations and return our property, and then retire from the firm on some pretext or other.

All this he engaged to do with the utmost solemnity of word and manner.

Time passed on, however, and he failed to make good his prom-990 ise, and about the 4th of this I told M'r Swan that he must make one more effort to force Edward to a settlement, and if that failed must inform you of the facts.

M'r Swan, therefore, sent him the note, of which I now hand you a copy, and which was partly composed by myself, stating that if the property was not all returned by the 15th he should inform all the partners of the facts, and urging and imploring him to act as he had promised.

Before the 15th, the detection by other parties of facts of a different nature resulted in the flight of Edward, and the enormous nature of his past defalcations and the hopelessness of expecting to regain the securities taken was disclosed to us, the loss being sufficient, when augmented by the very heavy sums of money missappropriated by him within a day or two of his departure, to cripple and destroy our house.

M'r Swan's name alone appears on the note enclosed, but I am equally responsible for his course, and must, with him, bear the conse-991 quences. I have only to add that what we finally saw, that the firm would, in all probability, lose heavily, we, neither of us, ever for a moment contemplated the possibility of such losses from Edward's dealings as could injure our creditors.

Respectfully, yours,

THOMAS BELKNAP, J'R.

FRIDAY, August 1st, 1865.

DEAR EDWARD: I was in hopes that you would have before this closed up your outside operations, as you promised, and return the securities of the firm which you had been using for your own purposes.

I am satisfied, however, that you are as deeply engaged as ever in these speculations, and I tell you frankly that I know that the amount of your abstractions from the assets of the firm are much greater than you admitted to be the case when I first spoke to you on this subject; many securities been taken of which I have not spoken to you.

Now, I have no wish to injure you, and if you are in difficulty 992 you will find myself, and I have no doubt the other junior partners, ready to do everything that can be done in the matter to aid you, but your speculations are doing the firm great injury, and if they should turn unfavorably may ruin us all, as well as your father, and I cannot let things go on in this way any longer. If the securities which you have taken from the firm are not all returned by the 15th of this month, I shall lay all the facts of the case before the other members of the firm.

Now, Edward, I beg that you will at once set about closing up this business. I am sure that I can promise that all of us would do anything in our power to help you if you are in trouble. You are aware that it is for our own interest that no one of us should suffer in this way, for the exposure of such a matter as this, however brought about, would bring disgrace upon the firm that would cling to the individual members as long as they lived, and be a worse injury to them 993 than any pecuniary loss that your operations may bring upon them. If you will only close up and keep from all outside operations, and let us know how you stand, I am sure we can keep you along, and with our business you can, by devoting your attention to it, work out any money troubles.

This is certainly the only way in which this thing can be kept quiet. I can't but think that you will do this, if you reflect upon the trouble and sorrow that you bring upon your father and family, and upon your other partners and families, by pursuing any other course. You must know that it is a hard task for me to write to you in this manner, and on a subject like this, but you also know that I am bound to do what I think is my duty.

Yours, &c.,

L. M. S.

And your orators, as survivors aforesaid, further show upon information lately obtained, and belief, that the statements contained in 994 the said address or appeal by the said Morris Ketchum were false and untrue, and were fraudulently made by the said Morris Ketchum to induce your orator and others of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Co. to make such a settlement or compromise with said firm as would insure to the said Morris Ketchum the saving to and retention by him of his private fortune and estate, and in pursuance of said fraudulent scheme and contrivances hereinbefore set forth, and that it was not true that the conduct of the said Edward B. Ketchum, or of either of the members of said firm, had deprived said firm of $2,600,000; that although the said Morris Ketchum pretended to have assigned all his private property for the equal benefit of his creditors, he actually secreted large portions thereof, and fraudulently omitted to enumerate the same in the inventory in which he pretended to enumerate all his property and estate, with the intent of depriving his 995 creditors of the benefit and advantage thereof, and covered up other portions of his said property with a like intent.

That it is not true, as stated by the said Morris Ketchum, that till the morning of the day after he absconded he never had the slightest doubt of his son's (Edward B. Ketchum) integrity, and on the contrary thereof had for a long time previously been informed, and knew that he had stolen and abstracted from the said firm the money and property of the said firm, and securities left with said firm for safe keeping, or pledged to said firm as security for loans of money.

That it is not true that the said letters from Thomas Belknap, jr., and Lyndon M. Swan, had been put in the hands of the said Morris Ketchum since the failure of said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, but, on the contrary thereof, the said letters had been prepared by the advise and direction of the said Morris Ketchum, and through his procurement, as a part of a scheme to deceive the creditors of the said firm and to excite their sympathy, whereby the said Morris Ketchum, at the 996 time he signed and issued this appeal or address, contemplated any loss of his own property, so far as the same was comprised in his private fortune and estate, but, on the contrary thereof, he then contemplated the saving to himself his said private fortune and estate, and issued said appeal or address to mislead and deceive the creditors of said firm, so that he should be enabled to carry into effect that object so then contemplated by him.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid, further show upon information lately obtained and belief, that the statements contained in the said letter of the said Thomas Belknap, j'r, hereinbefore set forth, were false and untrue, and were fraudulently made by the said Thomas Belknap, j'r, to induce your orators, said firm, and others of the creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to make such a settlement and compromise with said firm, as would secure to the said Morris 997 Ketchum the saving to the retention to him of his private fortune and estate, and in pursuance of said fraudulent schemes and contrivances hereinbefore set forth, and that the said letter was written in the instance of the said Morris Ketchum, for the purpose of being read at the said meeting of creditors, and that it was not true that he had been delayed for any reason in stating to the said Morris Ketchum what was within his knowledge respecting the transactions of the said Edward B. Ketchum, which are therein stated to be the transactions that had resulted ruinously to the said firm and the members thereof; and, on the contrary, the said Thomas Belknap, j'r, had a long time previous to the date of the said letter, communicated the said transactions to him, the said Morris Ketchum, and that upon the first discovery of the abstraction from the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, by the said Edward B. Ketchum, or shortly thereafter, the said Morris Ketchum was fully informed thereof by the said Thomas Belknap, j'r, and the said Lyndon M. Swan.

998 That it is not true that the said Thomas Belknap, jr., had no conception of the magnitude of the stock speculations of the said Edward B. Ketchum, but, on the contrary thereof, at the time and times of said stock speculations, and before and after the first day of June, 1865, up to the time of the failure of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, the magnitude of the stock speculations of the said Edward B. Ketchum were the subject of common talk in the streets and among stock operators, brokers, and others; and the said Thomas Belknap, jr., was informed and well knew that the said Edward B. Ketchum was then the largest stock operator in the city of New York; that it is not true that the said Edward B. Ketchum was not aware of his abstractions of the property and funds of the said firm being known by the said Thomas Belknap, jr., but, on the contrary thereof, the said Edward B. Ketchum well knew that the said Thomas Belknap, jr., had knowledge thereof.

999 That it is not true that on the fourth day of August, 1865, or at any other time, the said Lindon M. Swan sent the note or letter to the said Edward B. Ketchum which is mentioned and referred to in the said letter of the said Thomas Belknap, jr., or the said note or letter was partly composed by the said Thomas Belknap, jr., and on the contrary thereof, the said note or letter of the said Lyndon M. Swan, purporting to be written to the said Edward B. Ketchum, was never sent to him, but was concocted and got up by the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, jr., and Lyndon M. Swan, shortly prior to the time appointed for the said meeting of creditors, and to influence and deceive said meeting.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show that this meeting of creditors was very boisterous and confused, and was expected so to be by the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, jr., Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, and Lyndon M. Swan 1000 when the same was called, and it was their expectation that by reason of the confusion that would probably exist at such meeting the papers and letters that were prepared as aforesaid to be read at said meeting would not be fully understood and critically canvassed and examined, and thereby they would be able to make use of the said letters of the said John J. Phelps, Moses Taylor, B. B. Sherman, E. G. Howe, and Jonithan Sturges by stating the same to be a recommendation to said creditors by men of mercantile character and repute, after a careful examination of the affairs of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company and of said Morris Ketchum, to accept the sum of sixty cents on the dollar of their respective demands against said firm.

That at said meeting the first business transacted, after the appointment of a chairman and secretary, was the reading of the said letter or appeal by the said Morris Ketchum, the said letter of Thomas Belknap, jr., and Lyndon M. Swan, the said letter to said John I. Philps, 1001 B. B. Sherman, Moses Taylor, Jonathan Sturges, and E. G. Howe, and their reply thereto, all of which were read at said meeting and are hereinbefore set forth.

And immediately thereafter great confusion and debate ensued, and it was then and there stated and represented at said meeting of creditors, by the said Morris Ketchum and other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and their said counsel for and on their behalf, to the creditors of said firm then present, including said firm of Davis, Pope and Company, represented by one of the members thereof, then and there attending for and on behalf of said firm, that the said

Edward B. Ketchum had abstracted from the funds and property of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company about two million eight hundred thousand dollars in amount and value, and that he had absconded and concealed himself, without the knowledge of the said firm or any member thereof; that he had remained concealed without any 1002 member of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company having any knowledge as to his whereabouts, until his arrest by the police authorities of the city of New York, a few days before such meeting, and that neither member of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, except as stated in said letters of said Belknap and Swan, had any knowledge, information, or reason to suspect that the said Edward B. Ketchum had abstracted any of the said property or effects from the said firm until after he had absconded as aforesaid; that by means of the said abstractions of the said Edward B. Ketchum the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company had become insolvent and unable to meet its debts and liabilities, after devoting thereto all the property and effects of the said firm, and each individual member thereof; that the debts and liabilities of said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company amounted to the sum of three million nine hundred and thirty-five thousand six hundred and eight dollars, and the total assets and property 1003 of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and the said Morris Ketchum, together, amounted in value to the sum of three millions and ninety-three thousand six hundred and thirty dollars, or thereabouts, consisting in part of a large amount of real estate belonging to the said Morris Ketchum, in which his wife had an inchoate right of dower, the value of which had not been deducted, and that after appropriating all the property and effects of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and of the said Morris Ketchum, to the payment of the debts and liabilities of the said firm, the said firm would not be able to pay more than sixty cents on the dollar of such liabilities.

And thereupon, the said creditors were requested by the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm to settle and compromise their several claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, upon receiving sixty per cent., or sixty cents 1004 on the dollar, thereof; and, as a further inducement to the said creditors to accept such proposition, it was stated and represented at said meeting by the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of said firm that the said proposed settlement was to be a general settlement with all the creditors of said firm; that no creditor of the said firm who was a creditor since the discovery of the said transactions by the said Edward B. Ketchum had been paid or settled with, and that no preference should be given to any creditor of said firm or of said Morris Ketchum, and that the said settlement, if made at all, was to be made uniformly with all the creditors at the same rate, and that no creditor should be paid more than another, and that the object of said proposed settlement was to enable the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to obtain a reassignment of the said property and effects assigned by them as aforesaid, by means of which and 1005 their ability from their better acquaintance with the said property and effects, its situation and condition, to manage the same, they, the said Morris Ketchum, and Ketchum, Son & Company, would be able to realize larger amounts than the said assignees could possibly do, and thereby be able to pay sixty per cent. of the said debts and liabilities of the said Morris Ketchum and Ketchum, Son & Company, which amount would not probably be realized by the creditors under and by virtue of the said assignment; and, in response to a question put to the said Morris

Ketchum, it was stated by the said Morris Ketchum to the said meeting of creditors, including your orator, said firm of Davis, Pope and Company, that neither the said Morris Ketchum, nor the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, had paid, secured, or in any manner satisfied any of the said gold certificates or checks forged and fraudulently issued by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid.

1006 And your orators as survivors as aforesaid, further show unto your honors that, at the said meeting of creditors of the said Ketchum, Son & Company, there was presented by the said Morris Ketchum, and the said Ketchum, Son & Company, a printed paper which had been previously prepared and printed in contemplation of said meeting, as hereinbefore stated, which the said Morris Ketchum, and Ketchum, Son & Company then and there requested their creditors to sign, and which is in the words and figures following to wit:

The parties whose names are subscribed hereto, being creditors of the firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and of Morris Ketchum hereby, severally and respectively, each for himself, and neither for the other, in consideration of the sum of one dollar, to each in hand paid by Charles L. Anthony, of the city of New York, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and in further consideration of our mutual agreements herein set forth, do hereby covenant, promise, and agree to, and 1007 with each other and also to and with the said Charles L. Anthony, as follows, that is to say:

Each of us shall and will sell, and transfer, and deliver, as far as possible, to the said Cha's L. Anthony, for his own absolute use and benefit, all our respective claims and demands, cause and causes of action, credits, balances of account, lien, choses in action, vouchers, evidences of debts, suits, attachments, processes, and proceedings, which we now severally have, or which have heretofore, accrued, or are now accruing, to us respectively against the said Ketchum, Son & Company for the said Morris Ketchum by reason of any matter heretofore done, or transacted by the said Ketchum, Son & Company, or the said Morris Ketchum, or by reason of any omission, or neglect of the said Morris Ketchum, or the said Ketchum, Son & Company to perform any contract with or obligation to us respectively, or by reason of any other matter or thing 1008 whatever, and also to sell and transfer to the said Charles L. Anthony all and any property or effects belonging to us now in the hands of the said Morris Ketchum and Ketchum, Son & Company, respectively, or for which they, or either of them, are or is answerable to us respectively; and also all demands, &c., against Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun, assignees of the said Ketchum, Son & Company and Morris Ketchum, respectively, and all our liens, distributive shares, and interest of and in the property in the hands of the said Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun, or any or either of them, or to which they or any or either them are or is entitled as such assignees; such sale and transfer to be made, and deemed to be made, when, and provided that the said Charles L. Anthony shall, on or before the first day of November, eighteen hundred and sixty-five, pay, or cause, or procure to be paid to us respectively, in cash, a sum equal to fifty per cent. upon the amount or value of our said re- 1009 spective demands against said Ketchum, Son & Company, and of our respective assets or effects in their hands, and a further sum equal to ten per cent. upon the amount of such demands and property respectively in the notes of said Ketchum, Son & Company, to be made payable to their own order, and endorsed by them at twelve months from the first day of November, eighteen hundred and sixty-five; the said cash payment to be made in gold coin of the United States in every case in which the demand hereby agreed to be transferred shall have arisen against the said Ketchum, Son & Company by reason of transactions in gold coin, or in checks, or securities payable in gold.

And the amount upon which the said proportion of ten per cent. is to be calculated in every case in which the demand or property to be assigned arose from gold transactions, is to be determined by adding to the par value of the debt or property in gold, a premium equal to 1010 the premium at which gold shall be selling in the city of New York on the first day of November, 1865.

And we further severally agree, that in any case in which the demand to be assigned by virtue of this agreement did not arise from transactions in gold coin exclusively, but in which the balance due is by said Ketchum, Son & Company in currency, is partially offset by a balance due by either of us arising on gold transactions, the amount so due by us shall be adjusted by adding to the par amount of such balance in gold a like premium, and the balance so adjusted shall be deducted from the amount due to us respectively in currency.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our respective copartnership or corporate names, and our individual and corporate seals, and have set opposite to our respective names the amount and value of the debts, and demands and property hereby agreed to be assigned, 1011 the amount due as respectively on any transaction of gold coin being stated at the par value of gold coin.

Dated New York, September 1, 1865.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show that at the said meeting the said creditors were requested to settle with the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company upon the basis proposed by the said printed paper presented at such meeting as aforesaid, and that your orators' said firm represented by the matters hereinbefore set forth, and the said statements and representations made by or on behalf of the firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and the several members thereof, and believing all, each, and every of the statements, representations, and assurances so made as aforesaid to be true, and upon the faith thereof and believing that it would require the whole of the property and effects of the said Ketchum, Son & Company and the said Morris Ketchum to pay to creditors of said firm sixty cents on the dol-1012 lar of their respective claims and demands against said firm, consented to unite with the other creditors of said firm in a general composition or settlement of their respective claims and demands against the said firm for sixty per cent., or sixty cents on the dollar thereof, upon the express understanding and belief that no creditor should have any advantage over any other creditor in such settlement or composition, and that all the creditors of said firm should unite in such settlement or composition for sixty per cent., or sixty cents on the dollar of their respective demands, then and there, at said meeting of creditors, signed the said printed agreement, prepared for and read at said meeting, bearing date the first day of September, in the year 1865.

And thereupon said Morris Ketchum and said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company paid to your orators' said firm, on or about the first day of November, in the year 1865, the sum of five thousand nine hun-1013 dred and forty-six dollars in currency, and gave to your orators' said firm their promissory note for the sum of eleven hundred and eighty-nine dollars and twenty cents, payable without interest twelve months thereafter, which has been paid by them, said Ketchum,

Son and Company, or said Morris Ketchum, being, together, sixty per cent. of the said claims and demands of your orators' said firm against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and requested your orators' said firm to execute a paper writing, prepared by the said Morris Ketchum and the said Ketchum, Son & Company, which was in its nature and effect an assignment of the claim and demand of your orators' said firm against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, to one Augustus A. Robinson, and they stated and pretended to your orators and said Edward Aiken that said printed agreement, signed by your orators' said firm had been assigned and transferred to the said Augustus A. Robinson, that an assignment of the claim of your orators against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company 1014 to the said Augustus A. Robinson, instead of in form a release of the claims of your orators. Said firm was necessary, for the reason that all claims and demands against said firm were required to be concentrated in one person to facilitate the transfer by the said pretended assignees under the said pretended assignments of the property pretended to be assigned thereby to the said Morris Ketchum, and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, to enable them to convert the same, so that they might be able to pay the amount of such composition, and that all other claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company had been, or would be concentrated by assignment in the said Augustus A. Robinson, and that the said Charles L. Anthony, named in the said printed agreement, produced at the said meeting aforesaid, had assigned and transferred to the said Augustus A. Robinson the agreements made by the creditors who had signed the said printed paper or agreement produced at said meeting as 1015 aforesaid, all rights, claims, and demands that he, the said Charles L. Anthony, had or might have under said agreements, and that the said paper or assignment to the said Augustus A. Robinson, so produced to and requested to be executed by your orators' said firm, as aforesaid, was, in effect, a release of the remainder of the claim of your orators' said firm against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and was to be made so to operate by the said Robinson, after the retransfer of the said pretended assigned estate had, in fact, been made, so that the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company were, in fact, repossessed thereof, and that he, the said Augustus A. Robinson, would then release and discharge the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company from the claim and demand of your orators' said firm against said firm.

And your orators' said firm, believing said last-mentioned 1016 statements and representations to be true, and that the true object and purpose in procuring the said assignment to said Augustus A. Robinson was to effect a release of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company from the claims and demands of your orators' said firm, and for no other purpose, upon receiving said sixty per cent. of its said claim and demand, your orators' said firm duly executed and delivered to the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company a paper writing which purported, and in consideration of the sum of one dollar therein recited, to have been paid by Augustus A. Robinson, your orators' said firm granted, bargained, and sold, assigned, transferred, and set over unto the said Augustus A. Robinson, and his assigns, all and singular your orators' and said Aiken's claim and demand, cause and causes of action, credits, balances of account, liens, choses in action, vouchers, evidences of debt, suits, attachments, processes, and proceedings, as your orators and said Aiken had, or which had theretofore accrued or was then accruing to your orators and said Aiken 1017 against Ketchum, Son & Company, or Morris Ketchum, by reason of any matter theretofore done or transacted by the said Ketchum, Son & Company or the said Morris Ketchum, or by reason of any omission or neglect of the said Morris Ketchum, or Ketchum, Son & Company, to perform any contract with or obligation to your orators' said firm, or by reason of any other matter or thing whatever, and also all and any property and effects belonging to your orators' said firm then in the hands of the said Morris Ketchum or Ketchum, Son & Company, of which they or either of them were answerable to your orators and said Aiken, and also all demands, cause, and causes of action, credits, and balances of account in favor of your orators' said firm, against Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun, assignees of said Ketchum, Son & Company and Morris Ketchum respectively, and all your orators' and said Aiken's distributive shares and interests of, in, and upon the property in the hands of said 1018 Moses Taylor, Edward Bement, and Philo C. Calhoun, or any or either of them, or to which they, or any or either of them, are or is entitled as such assignee, to have and to hold the same unto the said Agustus A. Robinson and his assigns, to his and their own sole use, benefit, and behoof absolutely, forever.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show, that at the time of the execution and delivery as aforesaid of said paper writing or assignment to the said Augustus A. Robinson, your orators and said Aiken were wholly ignorant of the fraudulent practices and pretences herein set forth, but, on the contrary thereof, believed the said statements and representations made, as aforesaid, to be true, and if your orators and said Aiken had then been informed of the matters in this your orators' bill of complaint set forth, or had any reason to believe that said representations and statements so made, as aforesaid, 1019 were untrue, your orators and said Aiken would never have executed or delivered the said paper writing or assignment to the said Augustus A. Robinson.

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show that the said Augustus A. Robinson, named in said paper writing, was a person without any means, and a cashier in the employ of said Ketchum, Son & Company, and that the said sixty per cent., or sixty cents on the dollar, paid to your orators' said firm, as aforesaid, was paid by the said Morris Ketchum, or the said Ketchum, Son & Company, or from means he had obtained from their several estates, and that no part thereof was paid by the said Augustus A. Robinson; and that said transfer of the claim and demand of your orators' said firm to the said Augustus A. Robinson, although in form to him, the said Robinson, was for the sole use, benefit, and behoof of the said Morris Ketchum, and the said Ketchum, Son & Company; and that in taking such assignment 1020 and transfer, the said Augustus A. Robinson acted for and on behalf of said Morris Ketchum, and the said Ketchum, Son & Company, and in no other way or capacity whatever; and that afterwards, as your orators are informed and believe, the said Augustus A. Robinson, in execution of the trusts upon which he received the said assignment of the claim and demand of your orators' said firm, at the request of the said Morris Ketchum, or the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, by an instrument in writing, duly executed by him, assigned and transferred the said claims and demands to one Charles J. Ketchum, or a son of the said Morris Ketchum, for and on behalf of the said Morris Ketchum, or the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and to be held by him, the said Charles J. Ketchum, as the property of the said Morris Ketchum, or the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and to be transferred to him or them on demand; and that the 1021 said Charles J. Ketchum never took or had any interest in said claims and demands, except as a trustee for the said Ketchum, Son & Company, or some member of said firm.

And your orators, as survivors, as aforesaid, further show, upon information and belief, that the said several pretended assignments by the said Morris Ketchum and the said Ketchum, Son & Company, and said letters to the creditors of the said firm hereinbefore mentioned or set forth, and said circular calling said meeting of creditors, and the said statements and representations made at and after said meeting to your orators' said firm and others, creditors of said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and the said printed paper produced at said meeting of creditors, and the said agreements with the said Charles L. Anthony, and the said assignment thereof to the said Augustus A. Robinson, and the said assignment of your orators and said Aiken to the said 1022 Augustus A. Robinson, and the said assignment by the said Augustus A. Robinson to the said Charles J. Ketchum, were made, done, and procured to be done, in pursuance of the said scheme and contrivance to effect a settlement with the creditors of Ketchum, Son & Company, without using or applying the private fortune or estate of the said Morris Ketchum to the payment of the debts and liabilities of the said firm, and were a part of the machinery made use of for the effecting of that purpose, and were made, done, and procured to be done with the preconceived purpose and design of cheating, defrauding, hindering, and delaying your orators and said Aiken and the other creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company; and that all, each, and every of the said statements, representations, and pretences so made by the said Morrris Ketchum, and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and the respective members 1023 thereof, to your orators and said Aiken and the other creditors of said firm at and after the said meeting of creditors, were each and every one of them false and untrue at the time they were made as aforesaid, and were then known by the said Morris Ketchum and the respective members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, to be false and untrue, and that the said Edward B. Ketchum had not abstracted from the funds and property of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company about two million eight hundred thousand dollars, in amount and value, or anything like that sum, and that the said abstractions were less than two million dollars, as was well known to the said Morris Ketchum, and to the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, before and at the time of the said meeting of creditors, and that the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company were privy 1024 to the absconding of the said Edward B. Ketchum, at the time he absconded as aforesaid, and knew of his whereabouts during all the time he had concealed himself, as it was pretended that he was concealed, up to the time of his arrest by the police of the city of New York, as hereinbefore stated.

And that the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company knew of the said abstractions by Edward B. Ketchum of the property and effects of the said firm, before and at the time the same were so abstracted as aforesaid, and that the said abstractions from the said firm by the said Edward B. Ketchum did not render the said firm insolvent and unable to pay its debts and liabilities, if the property of the said firm and of the said Morris Ketchum was devoted to the payment and liquidation of the said debts and liabilities.

And that the debts and liabilities of the said firm of Ketchum, Son &
Company did not amount to the sum of three million nine hun-1025 dred and thirty-five thousand six hundred and eight dollars, but were a great deal less than that sum by many thousands of dollars; and that the total assets and property of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and of the said Morris Ketchum exceeded the sum of three millions of dollars by several hundred thousand dollars, and that if all the property of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and of the said Morris Ketchum had been honestly devoted to the payment of the debts and liabilities of the said firm and of the said Morris Ketchum, said debts and liabilities would have been paid in full.

And that it was not intended by the said Morris Ketchum and the members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company that the said proposed settlement with their creditors by the payment of sixty cents on the dollar should be a general and uniform settlement at that rate with all the creditors of said firm; but the said Morris Ketchum 1026 and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company so fraudulently pretended, making use of such pretence and the said false representations to induce as many creditors as they could influence thereby to come into such settlement, secretly intending at the same time to make such settlement with the other creditors of said firm as would not accept of sixty cents on the dollar as they could negotiate and make the same, although they would have to pay a great deal more than sixty per cent. or sixty cents on the dollar on their respective claims.

And that the said Morris Ketchum and said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company had, as hereinafter stated, just previously and in many instances after the said meeting of creditors, compromised and settled with many of their creditors—some by paying their claims and demands in full and others by making payments to them at a rate greatly exceeding sixty cents on the dollar of their respective demands; 1027 and that, notwithstanding the positive averment to the contrary thereof by the said Morris Ketchum at the said meeting of creditors, he, the said Morris Ketchum, and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, had actually paid and taken up said gold certificates or checks forged and fraudulently issued by the said Edward B. Ketchum, as aforesaid, to the amount of over two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, by paying the full amount thereof, to wit, over two hundred and fifty thousand dollars in cash, belonging to the said firm, to the holder and holders of the said gold checks and certificates; and notwithstanding the assurances of the said Morris Ketchum and other member of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to the contrary, said firm had, and the respective members thereof intended thereafter to, make compositions and settlements with creditors of said firm whereby such creditors were or were to be paid or secured a greater amount than sixty per cent. or sixty cents on the dollar of 1028 their respective claims and demands, notwithstanding the assurances of the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to the contrary thereof.

That if the whole of the property of the said Morris Ketchum and of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company had been honestly surrendered to assignees for the benefit of creditors, and had been honestly administered by such assignees, the same would have realized sufficient to pay in full all the debts and liabilities of the said firm, and of the said Morris Ketchum.

And that it was not true that it would require the whole that would be realized on the estates of the said Ketchum, Son & Company, and the said Morris Ketchum, to pay the creditors of the said firm sixty per cent., or sixty cents on the dollar, of their respective claims and demands against said firm; and that it is not true, as your orators have since been informed and believe, that an assignment of the claim and 1029 demand of your orator was necessary to facilitate such settlement or the reassignment by the said assignees of any property assigned or pretended to be assigned to them, but as your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, aver the fact to be, the secret intent and object of the said Morris Ketchum, and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, was to thereby raise an obstacle to your orators and said Aiken, all or either of them prosecuting proceedings at law against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company for the balance of their claim and demand against said firm, after your orator and said Aiken should have discovered the fraudulent statements and representations, pretences and practices of the said Morris Ketchum and of the other members of the said firm as hereinbefore stated, by alleging and stating that they claim and demand did not belong to your ora-1030 tors' said firm, and had not been released, or undertaken to be released, but had been assigned to another party who had rights and interests therein.

And your orators, as survivivors as aforesaid, further show, upon information and belief, that, prior to the said meeting of creditors, the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company had paid to the National City Bank a corporation doing business as bankers in the city of New York, and others, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars and other sums for the purpose, and wherewith they did pay and take up gold checks or certificates forged and fraudulently issued by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid, purporting to be for more than said sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and also before the meeting of said creditors, and after the announcement of the insolvency of the said firm of Ketchum, Son 1031 & Company, the said firm paid to one Greenleaf a large amount of money, amounting to several thousand dollars, and therewith and thereby paid and took up forged checks and certificates, forged and fraudulently issued by the said Edward B. Ketchum as aforesaid, purporting to be for the amount of moneys so paid.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid further show that, as they are lately informed and believe, just prior to said meeting of creditors, the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company paid the firm of Smalls, Bacon & Robinson the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, on account of their indebtedness to said firm, and at the said meeting of creditors concealed such payment and reported the balance of the claim of said firm of Smalls, Bacon & Robinson as entitled to the proposed payment of sixty cents on the dollar in compromise, and that said firm, and the respective members thereof, obtained signatures to said agree-1032 ment to compromise from a number of the creditors of the said firm, upon the secret understandings and arrangements with them, severally, that if they would sign said compromise paper they should receive a larger amount than sixty per cent. of their respective demands, which arrangements and understandings were not to be revealed to any of the remainder of the creditors at any time, and in pursuance of which the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company and the said Morris Ketchum paid or secured in full the respective claims and demands against said firm held and owned by George P. Bissell & Company, of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut; the Saugatuck Bank, of Westport, in the State of Connecticut; S. Moulton, of Westport, in the State of Connecticut; R. P. Spencer, of Deep River, in the State of Connecticut; J. W. Prior, of the city of New York; G. F. Davis, of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut; the Lafayette Bank, of Cincinnati, in the State of 1033 Ohio; Joseph C. Butler, of Cincinnati, in the State of Ohio; Samuel Bowne, of the city of New York; the National City Bank, of the city of New York; I. K. Small, of the city of New York, and other persons, firms, and corporations whose names are now unknown to your orators, and whose names they pray leave to hereinafter insert herein when they shall be discovered, each and every one of whom were creditors of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company at the time the said firm was announced to be insolvent as aforesaid, and at the time of said meeting of creditors.

1034 promise or make a settlement of sixty cents on the dollar of their respective claims and demands against said firm, and were, subsequent to said meeting of creditors, paid in full for their respective demands against said firm, and the said Morris Ketchum, and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, that is to say, S. & C. H. Isham, of the city of New York, C. H. Isham, of the city of New York, William B. Isham, and Gallup, of the city of New York, the Glens Falls Bank of Glens Falls, in the State of New York, F. Cornish of the city of New York, the Home Bank of West Meriden, in the State of Connecticut, and others whose names are now unknown to your orator, but whose names, when discovered, your orators pray leave to insert herein; and that subsequently the said Morris Ketchum, being influenced by threats to expose the fraudulent practices, statements and representations hereinbefore set forth, has 1035 settled and compromised other claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, notwithstanding the same had been released or assigned, pursuant to the said arrangements proposed at the said meeting of creditors, by paying the same in full, or an amount on account thereof largely in excess of sixty per cent, or sixty cents on the dollar thereof, whose names are now unknown to your orators, but whose names, when discovered, your orators pray leave to insert herein.

And your orators as survivors as aforesaid further show that by means of said fraudulent practices, statements and representations in the manner and by the contrivances and machinery hereinbefore stated and set forth, the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company either paid and satisfied, or procured assignments and releases from all the creditors of the said firm and the said estate and property of the said Morris Ketchum, and of the said firm of 1036 Ketchum, Son & Company, after the pretended payment and satisfying of all debts and liabilities of the said firm, and the said Morris Ketchum, was transferred and paid over to the said Morris Ketchum, and notwithstanding the said Morris Ketchum endeavored to cover up the amount he actually received therefrom, by pretending to have paid large expenses in and about the winding up and settlement of the business of said firm and of him, the said Morris Ketchum, including the sum of about one hundred thousand dollars pretended to have been paid for legal expenses, the most of which was retained by the said Morris Ketchum and appropriated to his own use, he, the said Morris Ketchum, received as a balance of the estate of the said firm of Ketchum, Son and Company, and of his own estate, after the pretended payment, satisfaction and settlement of all claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, or him, the said Morris Ketchum, over the sum of one million dollars, which he now uses, applies and appropriates to his own use, claiming and insisting that the creditors of the said firm, and his own creditors, have no rights or interests therein, and setting all his creditors at defiance when requested to make some explination in respect thereto. 1037

And your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, further show that as they are informed and believe, and therefore allege, by means of the promises and the said false and fraudulent representations made to your orators and said Aiken, and the other creditors of Ketchum, Son & Company, whereby your orators and said Aiken were induced to execute said assignment of their said claim to the said Augustus A. Robinson, as hereinbefore stated, and the said fraudulent concealments by the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, which, if known to your orators and said Aiken, would have prevented your orators and said Aiken from executing or delivering said assignment, and by reason of the false, fraudulent and dishonest schemes, contrivances, machinery, statements, representations, and concealments, hereinbefore particularly stated and set forth, by means whereof, your orators and said Aiken were induced to execute the said assignment of their claim and demand, and by reason of the said Augustus A. Robinson, in taking and receiving such assignment, acting for and on behalf of the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and for their benefit and behoof, and not otherwise, and having assigned said claim and demand to said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, or some member of said firm, or to the said Charles J. Ketchum, for or on behalf of said firm or said Morris Ketchum, that the said assignment of the said claim by your orators and said Aiken to the said Augustus A. Robinson was absolutely void and of no force, validity and effect whatsoever; and that your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, are remediless in courts of law; and can only come into a court of equity, where the said Augustus A. Robinson, Charles J. Ketchum, the said Morris Ketchum and the other members of the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, can be together imple'ded, and the said fraudulent schemes, contrivances, statements, representations and concealments can be inquired into, and the said assignment by your orators and said Aiken, to the said Augustus A. Robinson, may be adjudged to be void, and of no value, force or effect whatsoever, and your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, may be restored to the same position as if no such assignment had been made or executed. 1038 1039

To the end, therefore, that the said defendants, each and every one of them, may, if they can, show why your orators as aforesaid should not have the relief prayed, and may, upon their several and respective corporal oaths, according to the best and utmost of their respective and several remembrance and information, hearsay, and belief, a full, true, direct, and perfect answer make to each and every of the charges and statements in this bill of complaint contained, as if the same were hereinafter particularly repeated, and they there- 1040 unto distinctly interrogated; and that the said assignment made as aforesaid by your orators and said Aiken to the said Augustus A. Robinson of the said claims and demands of your orators' said firm against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company may be adjudged and decreed to have been procured fraudulently, and by means of false and fraudulent pretences and representations, and for the use and benefit of the said Morris Ketchum and the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, and to be absolutely void and of no force or effect whatsoever; and 1041 that the said assignments and transfers of the said claims and demands of your orators' said firm by the said Augustus A. Robinson to the said Charles J. Ketchum, may be adjudged fraudulent and void, and of no force or effect whatsoever, and that the said Charles J. Ketchum took said assignment only for the use and benefit of the said Morris Ketchum or the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company; and that it may be adjudged and decreed by this honorable court that, notwithstanding said assignments by your orators and said Aiken and the said Augustus A. Robinson, your orators and said Aiken, as copartners or otherwise, have not assigned, transferred, or set over in any manner your orators' said claims and demands against the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, but, on the contrary thereof, that the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, 1042 composing said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company, are now justly indebted to your orators as survivors as aforesaid for and on account of the moneys so deposited with said firm by your orators, as aforesaid, over and above all payments and set offs, in the sum of four thousand seven hundred and fifty-six dollars and eighty cents in currency, with interest thereon in currency from and after the first day of November, in the 117 year 1865.

And also in the further sum of one hundred and eighty dollars and thirty-five cents for the interest on the sum of eleven thousand eight hundred and ninety-two dollars, due and owing to your orators' said firm, in currency, as hereinbefore stated, from the fifteenth day of August to the first day of November, in the year 1865.

And in the further sum of eighty-three dollars and twenty-four cents, being for twelve months' interest on the promisary note given by 1043 the said firm of Ketchum, Son & Company to your orators' said firm for ten per cent. of their indebtedness to your orators' said firm, upon the execution and delivery by your orators and said Aiken of the assignment to Augustus A. Robinson, as hereinbefore stated and set forth, and that your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, may be restored to the same position in all things that your orators and said Aiken as copartners as aforesaid would have been in if the said assignment and transfer had not been made by your orators and said Aiken to the said Augustus A. Robinson.

And that your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, may recover from the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, and Edward B. Ketchum, and they may be decreed and adjudged to pay your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, the sum of four thousand seven hundred and fifty-six dol- 1044 lars and eighty cents, with the interest thereon at the rate aforesaid, from and after the first day of November, in the year 1865, and said further sum of two hundred and ninety-three dollars and fifty-nine cents for interest as aforesaid. And that your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, may have such further and other relief in the premises as the nature of the case shall require and to your honors shall seem meet and proper—

May it please your honors to grant unto your orators, as survivors as aforesaid, the writ of subpœna issued out of and under the seal of this honorable court, directed to the said Morris Ketchum, Thomas Belknap, junior, Franklin M. Ketchum, Landon Ketchum, Lyndon M. Swan, Edward B. Ketchum, Augustus A. Robinson, and Charles J. Ketchum, commanding them, and each of them, under a certain penalty therein to be expressed, to be and appear, at a certain time to be therein 1045 named, before this honorable court, to answer your orators', as survivors as aforesaid, bill of complaint, and to do further and abide whatever this honorable court shall then direct. And your orators will ever pray, &c.

MOBILE, March 5th, 1875.

GEORGE N. STEWART, Esq.,
General Solicitor M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: In reply to your request that I shall execute a power of attorney jointly with the two other trustees of the mortgage made by the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. on the first of November, 1853, to an agent or agents in New York, to enable the company to do what may be there needed in respect to the management of the interests of the company, and also for the prosecution and defence of such proceedings as may arise in the court there, to execute bonds when necessary to protect the property of the trust, &c., I have to say that I have fully considered of the subject, and I have come to the conclusion that neither the interests of the company nor mine would be benefited by my so doing.

I suppose it is probable that under the present difficulties of this road, as well as of all other roads at this time, that intricate litigations will arise, and when commenced I cannot foresee how long it will be before they can be closed. I am not myself in a situation to attend personally at New York or elsewhere to the complicated questions which may arise in adjusting the rights of all the conflicting trusts; and, to tell the truth, I do not feel willing to empower others to act for me in such matters on my responsibility. I prefer to resign the position of trustee, so that trustees in New York, on the spot, may be appointed, who can act promptly and furnish such affidavits and bonds as may be needed in judicial proceedings, which I am not in a condition to do. I have reason to believe that my course would not be considered injurious to the parties interested. As the matter now stands, the trustees are scattered, never can act together, and their action cannot be very prompt or effectual. At all events, I prefer to tender my resignation as a trustee, which I will thank you to forward to the president of the com-1050 pany. I regret to have to take this course, but believe it best for all parties, under present circumstances.

Your obedient servant,

MR. GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: Having carefully considered the foregoing communication of Mr. Charles Walsh, and coinciding with his views, I hereby join in requesting that you will forward my tender of resignation as trustee to the president of the company, coupled with the request that in accepting my resignation all proper proceedings may be had necessary to exempt and relieve me from future responsibility as trustee.

Respectfully yours,

WAVERLY, MISS., March 10th, 1876.

TO GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: On consideration of the view expressed by Mr. Charles Walsh, and concurred in by Dr. Alexander Jackson, as within stated, I have to say that I fully concur with them in the opinion that it would be better for the interests of the company, its bondholders, and of my own, that I should also resign the position of trustee of the deed of trust within referred to, and I therefore request that you tender my resignation as such trustee to the president of the company; and I 1051 also make the request, as made by Dr. Alexander Jackson, that such proceedings be had that I shall be relieved from all future responsibility on account of said trusts.

MOBILE, March 12th, 1875.

GEORGE N. STEWART, Esq.,
General Solicitor Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: When I addressed to you my request that you should tender my resignation as trustee under the deed of mortgage and trust made by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company on the 23d of November, 1853, I did so with the great desire to be relieved for the future from the duties and responsibilities of said trust. Such is now still my earnest wish, but it was under the full belief that it would cause no injury or inconvenience to the company, but rather advance its interests.

I have now, however, been shown that the two other trustees having also resigned, the result is that the mortgage is left without any trustee to represent the interests of the beneficiaries, and that the trust, for want of a trustee, cannot be made effectual without application to a court of chancery, which would require much time, and the duty has been pressed on me that at least one trustee should remain, in order that the succession of trustees may be maintained; under this pressure on me, in view of the consequences and upon urgent solicitations of friends, I have been induced to say to you, as my determination to resign has not yet been presented by you for acceptance by the railroad company, that you will withhold it and consider it revoked until further instructions from me.

This course seems now a duty on my part under the circumstances, although I had hoped to be relieved from the trust, and such it is still my desire to effectuate so soon as future events will permit.

1052 Please consider my instructions to you in this respect as revoked and annulled.

Your ob't servant,

MOBILE, April 20, 1875.

J. J. WALKER, Esq.,
Vice-President of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

SIR: I have heretofore, in a letter to Geo. N. Stewart, esq., expressed my desire to resign my position of trustee under the deed of mortgage and trust executed by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, dated November 1st, 1853, known as the first mortgage of said company, but at your suggestion the said resignation has not been presented. I have, since that time, at the request of the company, and in accordance with what seems to be my duty under said deed, united with the company in the appointment of trustees in place of Messrs. Young and Jackson, trustees, whose resignation as trustees under the same deed have been accepted.

I now renew my intention of resignation, and request that I may be immediately relieved of all further duty and responsibility in the trusteeship by the acceptance of this my resignation, and that proper resolutions be adopted by the company for my security and protection.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO R. R. CO. & AL.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

Charles Walsh being duly sworn deposes and says as follows: I have heard read the portions of the bill of complaint in this suit which relate to me. The fact about M'r Duncan procuring from me a resignation is as follows: I had been acting as trustee for a long time. I had been a director in the company, and upon my firm having suspended its payments, I tendered my resignation as director a long time before it was accepted by the company; and in New York I stated to M'r Duncan that I was ready to tender my resignation as trustee.

He remarked to me that he did not care to have my resignation, 1054 but he would like to have the resignation of the other gentlemen in Mississippi, who were out of the way, and have some more active men, or something of that kind occurred. I went to Mobile, and after I got there I sent my resignation in to the board, and M'r Stewart, the attorney there I believe, took it, and M'r Young and M'r Jackson, the other trustees, also resigned. After that was done M'r Stewart came to me and said it would not do to vacate all these trusteeships at once, and wouldn't I therefore allow its being withheld, as the board had not accepted it, and it was temporarily withdrawn; and afterwards when I had done what was necessary to fill the two vacancies created by the resignation of Mess'rs Young and Jackson, the board accepted my resignation; I was placed in a position where I could not have retained my trusteeship. I said I must persist in my resignation.

The only reason for withholding was to enable me to act in filling the vacancies in accordance with the deed of trust. The other two resignations were accepted, and mine was held only for the purpose above stated, with the intention on my part from the beginning of insisting upon it. I was a trustee and acted as a trustee from the time of my appointment shortly before 1864, up to the time of my resignation being accepted by the board, and during that time I had no knowledge of M'r Ketchum ever having applied to me on the subject. I signed deeds, and performed all the other duties during that period.

I was, as a trustee, party to suits, and acted and was recognized by the courts as such. I never received any compensation for my services.

1055 Guesnard's affidavit as to paym't coupons.

United States circuit court in and for the fifth judicial circuit and southern district of Alabama.

MORRIS KETCHUM, AS SURVIVING TRUSTEE,
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of Alabama:

Theodore Guesnard, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

That he has been for many years past, and now is an owner and holder of first mortgage sterling bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

That on the first day of May, 1874, or thereabout, at the time when the semi-annual coupons on said bonds became due, he presented his said coupons at the office of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in the city of Mobile.

That the said coupons were received from him by the treasurer of the company, who delivered to deponent in payment thereof, a check 1056 to deponent's order on the Bank of Mobile, which was paid in the usual manner of paying checks by said bank.

That deponent's said coupons had always theretofore been paid by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in the manner first above stated.

That deponent never heard until very lately, since the litigations concerning the road commenced, that it was claimed by anybody that the coupons for May, 1874, had been bought by any person whatsoever, and the claim was a great surprise to deponent, and deponent never supposed he was selling, nor did he ever sell his said coupons to anybody, but was paid the same by the company in the ordinary manner of paying their coupons.

That he has been informed to-day for the first time that it is claimed by the, or some of the officials of the company, that there was a notice placarded in the office of the company to the effect that the said coupons were being bought.

1057 And deponent says that he never saw such notice or heard of it except as above, and never saw or heard any similar notice until to-day; that his attention was not called to any notice when his coupons were paid, or since, by any official of the company, or except as above on this day.

That when deponent's coupons for November, 1874, were presented by him, on the first day of that month, or thereabout, the treasuref, A. L. Willoughby, put the coupons in an envelope, marked the envelope with the numbers thereof and with deponent's name, and said to deponent, "Take this to the Bank of Mobile, and they will pay you."

That deponent took them to said bank, and the paying-teller thereof entered the amount thereof then and there on deponent's deposit-book to deponent's credit.

That deponent did not then suppose or surmise in any way that he was selling his coupons to any one, but regarded the payment 1058 thereof through the accustomed agency of the Bank Mobile as a payment of the coupons by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and never had any other idea about the matter until within a few weeks past, during these litigations.

1061 Affidavit of A. L. Willoughby.

Circuit court of the United States at Mobile.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

Alonzo L. Willoughby, being duly sworn on his oath, saith: He was the secretary and treasurer of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company during the year 1874, and for some years before, and so continued till the trustees took possession of the railroad and property, and is now treasurer of the trustees and receivers.

That the coupons of the first mortgage bonds on their face are payable in London, though some of them, by special agreement attached thereto, are made payable in Mobile at the treasury of the company. None are payable in New York.

That before the coupons falling due in May, 1874, matured, the managers of the company became aware they would not have the means to pay them. This was largely produced by the depression of business in connection with the panic, which began in September, 1873. The managers were hopeful that if they could obtain time, and the assistance of friends, the business of the company would still revive, and enable them to take them up in the course of a few months. An arrangement was made with Messrs. Duncan, Sherman & Co., whereby they undertook to purchase the coupons falling due in May, 1874, through the agency of the Bank of Mobile.

When coupons falling due May, 1874, were presented at my office, I received them, assorted them, put them in an envelope, returned them to the holder with the statement that if he presented them at the Bank of Mobile, he would get the money for them.

The money so used was not the money of the company, and the transaction was not intended by the company to be a payment of the coupons. Said coupons so obtained by the Bank of Mobile were never returned to the company, and are not its property, and had never been canceled by the company. Same coupons have since been presented to me by the Bank of Mobile for payment, and payment demanded, which, however, was never made for want of funds.

When the November, 1874, payment approached, the company still found itself short of means, its hopes of improved business not realized. A similar arrangement was again made with Duncan, Sherman & Co. for themselves and friends, who agreed to purchase the coupons falling due in November, 1874, and to hold them for a time to enable the company to obtain the benefits of an increased business, for which they still hoped.

When holders of coupons then due, presented them to me at the treasury for payment, I received, assorted them, and returned them as before in an envelope, with the information that if they presented the coupons presented at that time for payment were coupons which matured the May, 1874, previous, which were treated in the same way.

When I received coupons, as I sometimes did by mail, for payment, I, myself, presented and received money for them from the Bank of Mobile as other holders, and returned by mail to the sender a cheque by the Bank of Mobile, stating collection as stated in letter hereto attached, which is a copy of the form I used.

At this time there was attached to my counter, in full sight of the parties presenting the coupons, a notice to the effect that all coupons then presented were purchased by the Bank of Mobile, and not paid by the company. This was done under the arrangement hereinbefore stated.

These November coupons, like the May coupons, have never been returned to the company, nor canceled, nor paid by it. They have since been presented by the bank to the company for payment, and payment demanded, but refused for want of funds, and said coupons, both May and November, 1874, have never been the property of the company.

This affiant has no knowledge of how the matters were transacted in London or New York. All he knows is that payments there were not made with the money of the company, and therefore he gave no directions concerning them, as he had done formerly in all cases where the company had paid the interest.

(Signed) A. L. WILLOUGHBY.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD CO. ET ALS. } No. 97.

Comes William Butler Duncan, who being duly sworn, on his oath saith:

He does not admit that complainant is the trustee of the first mortgage sterling bonds of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. Said Ketchum was one of the parties originally appointed trustees in said deed. Deponent on information, which he believes to be true, states, that said Ketchum did not faithfully perform the duties of the trust, but neglected the same, and sought to use his powers as trustee to his private advantage; refused upon the death of his co-trustees to unite with said company in the appointment of proper successors, and demanded conditions of the company, which were dangerous to the trust, and injurious to the company, and the trust property. The said company then sought his removal from said trust, by bill in the court of chancery at Mobile for good causes alleged in the bill and in the mode pointed out by the laws of Alabama, copies of the letters from the president of the company to M. Ketchum and Mr. O. S. Beers, then auditor of the R. R. Co. 1064 which were furnished to counsel, with instructions to file the bill, are herewith produced A. B.

Upon said bill a decree was rendered removing said Ketchum, and appointing new trustees, to wit: Charles Walsh, George H. Young and Alexander Jackson in the room and stead of said Ketchum, and the deceased trustees—a full and not a partial copy of the record of said course and proceedings will be produced herewith. No appeal has ever been taken from said decree, and no proceedings have been had to vacate or in any manner qualify said decree, and deponent is advised, that the same remains and is a valid and binding decree.

Said new trustees accepted the trust, performed the duties thereof, as valid & lawful trustees without question, or challenge by said Ketchum, or any person whatever, till their resignation in April, 1875, when deponent and A. Foster Elliott were appointed trustees, under said mortgage and deed of trust, by the then continuing trustee, and the said corporation, in the mode and manner prescribed by said deed, and have executed the duties of the trust, with right and title unassailed by any person, and not at all by Ketchum, till the filing of his bill in this cause on 14 March, 1876.

The charges of collusion, and deceit made in the bill, as to the mode in which respondent and his co trustee were appointed, are un- 1065 true. They were regularly in good faith, and for honest purposes, and upon resignation in good faith tendered and accepted, appointed to their present position of trustees.

It is not true that deponent and Elliot were or are partners in business in New York. Mr. Elliot was not a member of that firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., and had no interest in its capital, profits, or business.

It is not true that the only ground alleged by the corporation for the removal of Ketchum from the trusteeship was the charge of his being an alien enemy to the Confederate States. Good causes for his removal existed in his own conduct with regard to the trust-property.

Said Ketchum has, at no time since the conclusion of the late war, and while the courts and the county have been fully open to him, in any manner whatever, asserted his rights as trustee under said mortgage. He has performed none of the duties of the trust; he has not offered to perform any of them; has not sought to perform them; and has, in fact, as this deponent is informed and verily believes, made no communication or application on the subject to said R. R. company, or any officer thereof, or to the said above-named trustees, or any of them. He has taken no step, and has done no act of any kind whatever in the nature of a single duty under said trust. Said Ketchum, in 1066 plain fact, during all this time, has abandoned the said trusteeship, and, so far as he was concerned, has allowed the whole business to shift for itself, without any care or consideration extended to it by him.

This respondent is informed by the deposition of said Ketchum, on file in this court, that said Ketchum is not the holder of any bonds of said corporation, or of its stock, so that this deponent saith that said Ketchum has no interest in this suit and trust fund, either as trustee or beneficiary.

This deponent saith, that under the powers of the deed, with the assent of the corporation, and on the request of holders of coupons and first-mortgage bonds of said company, in May, 1875, he and his co-trustee took possession of all the property embraced in said mortgage, and have been in possession ever since. That by reason of the nature of the property, its location in four States, and the different liens thereon by mortgages of different dates, and judgments against the company, and the existence of debts of almost every conceivable variety of form, the trustees found themselves in absolute need of the instructions and protection of the courts having jurisdiction over the property; said trustees, with the approval of the corporation and of many of the hold-1067 ers of the bonds secured by said mortgage, made that application by bills in equity to the several courts, and for the security of all parties offered to account as receivers, and under such sanction as the court might direct. Such orders have been made, and are part of the records of this court, and under them this deponent and his associate has been acting; they have filed reports and accounts, as directed by the court; these accounts and reports are now under orders of this in process of examination by a master regularly appointed for that purpose. This deponent denies all collusion in obtaining these orders; they were all obtained on notice to the parties of record, all the parties whom said trustees and receivers could put upon the record. No information has been withheld from persons entitled to knowledge and sought it. The best skill that could be obtained has been secured, and is now busy about the management of the trust property. The utmost economy has been used in business thus confided to this deponent and his associate. Deponent attaches hereto a letter he addressed to some enquirer, bondholders, and shown to others, and which by their request has been published.

Deponent, with this, also presents to the court, the written approval of a large number of bondholders, and a letter of approval by the agent of the English holders, such as could be gathered at the short notice allowed to deponent.

1068 This deponent denies all charges of misappropriation of the moneys of the trust; he denies all favoritism to any party, or any class of creditors, and that he is seeking the advantage of any party or class. All charges and insinuations of that character he denounces as untrue and false, and known to be so by the parties making them.

The statements of the complainant as to the coupons due in May and November, 1874, are not true; said coupons were not paid by the company, nor by deponent, or his firm, or by any other person for the company; they were not after payment delivered to Alexander Duncan, or any other person; they were never paid by or for the R. R. Co. at all. They were not payable in New York, but in London, and those with a special agreement thereon at Mobile.

The company knew they could not meet their interest in May, and applied to the firm of deponent to purchase the coupons for that month and retained them. Said firm agreed to do so, the directors of the company being sanguine that their business, then greatly depressed, would revive, and that a little time only was needed to enable them to redeem the coupons so purchased. To effect this, Duncan, Sherman & Co. purchased said coupons, and afterwards borrowed the money so used from Alexander Duncan and others, mainly from Mr. Duncan, and 1069 subsequently transferred the coupons to them. The same hopefulness existed in the directors, as to the interest falling due in November, 1874, and the same arrangements were made regarding them. Neither the coupons for May and November, 1874, were paid by the company at all, nor were they dealt with in the usual manner. At Mobile, after being verified as correct, they were returned by the treasurer of the company to the holder, with the information that the Bank of Mobile would advance the value of them. At London those for May were purchased by the Union Bank of London, correspondents of Duncan, Sherman & Co., who charged the costs thereof to the account of that firm, and remitted to them the coupons uncancelled. Those for November were purchased by the Credit Foncier of London, in like manner. Some were purchased by deponent's firm in New York, but usually at a discount for trouble of remittance and collection, and no attempt was made to mislead the holder; and any statement to the contrary is false. All said coupons for May and November, 1874, purchased by or for Duncan, Sherman & Co., Alexander Duncan, or any other party now the holder of the same, were afterwards presented to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and payment demanded, but which was refused.

Deponent cannot answer what knowledge complainant had of 1070 the matter. He doubts if he had any knowledge, and verily believes he took no interest in the matter; and now puts the glass he applies to the transaction, not on any knowledge at all, but at the suggestion of parties hostile to deponent, and whose course is not dictated by regard for the bondholders, but to advance selfish schemes in the possession and management of this trust-fund. But whether he knew or not, the fact that these coupons had not been paid by the railroad company, but now still outstanding, was distinctly stated in the last annual report of the stockholders at the annual meeting in April, 1875, and which was immediately thereafter published and extensively circulated among all persons interested.

Deponent repeats that said coupons were not paid by the R. R. company, nor by any moneys of the company, either owned by or loaned to the company; they were purchased at the request, and from friendly regard to the company, and by means in which the company had no interest, and by independent parties, with the design not to press payment then, but holding them with all rights and liens belonging to them for their security, that the R. R. company might have a reasonable time to recover its business and pay them off. Any other representation of the purchase of these May and November coupons, 1874, is entirely untrue, and, as made in complainant's affidavit, is false.

1071 If it is intended, as seems from these statements of complainant, to charge these parties with the intention to pay this claim at the expense of holders of prior claims, or to use the trust power in their hands for that purpose, it is false. The claims of the holders of these coupons has been brought to the attention of the court, and the merits of these and all other claims upon the trust property in the hands of the trustees has been referred to the master for his examination and report. Deponent has been advised that such course was his duty, and he has cheerfully submitted this, with all other questions of rights and priorities, to the decision of the court, and will as cheerfully obey its instructions.

Further, deponent admits that unsecured claims, alleged to be for money, supplies, and materials, have been presented to the trustees, and pressed upon them. It is equally true that these claims have not been recognized by them. They have submitted the rights claimed, to the court for its direction and instruction. The court has referred the facts for investigation to the master, who has returned his report thereon, and upon which the court will doubtless, at a proper time, make its judgment. Deponent denies that the receivers and trustees have thereby done anything other than they should have done. Their duty is orders of the court. They have not paid the claims thus complained of. Said claims stand now as unrecognized by these receivers as they have always stood. Receivers are in no way committed to them, or their recognition as to them; they propose to do what the court may direct after learning the facts on which the claims are based, and in view of the mortgages and liens, all of which are fully set out in the bill they have filed in the cause.

Deponent denies that in their conduct in this respect they have done other than their duty as receivers of the property, which they hold for the benefit of such parties as the court may find and decree to be entitled thereto.

The statement that deponent has been a dealer and speculator in floating claims against the company is false; it is false that he has misapplied moneys which were remitted for payment of interest to the payment of floating claims held by him, or his firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co., and which had been purchased at discount.

Deponent, nor his firm, nor any connection of them, or either, was never engaged in such business, and neither he, nor Wm. D. Shipman for him, in his right, nor any other person for him, holds any such claim.

1073 Deponent did at sundry times, by himself or firm, advance money for the company on the trust prior to 26 July, 1875. The item of $9,740, mentioned in the supplemental affidavit of Ketchum, is for money advanced to pay interest on bonds, known as convertible. To this amount his firm is a creditor of the company, and it must share the fate of claims of its class after the payment of the 1st & 2d mortgage debts. Neither deponent, nor his firm, nor any person for them, has advanced any other claim for its payment.

The item of $16,429.23 is money advanced to pay for iron purchased for trustees, for the use of the road, and is an item for necessary disbursement in the business of the trust.

The item of $29,945.57 is for money paid to the Government of the United States for a judgment obtained by them in compromise of a claim of over $60,000 principal for duty on iron, imported by the R. R. Co., and for which suit was pending when the trustees took possession, and for which the United States claimed a lien or the iron in the track. This payment was a necessary disbursement by the trustees, and made with the approval of the court.

The item of $20,000 in schedule bills discounted, mentioned in complainant's affidavit, represents an unsettled overdraft on deponent's firm.
No portion of this has been paid by receivers, and the amount 1074 and merits of the claim remain to be settled under the orders of this court. with the class to which it belongs.

The item of $78,968.78, Walsh, Crawford & Co., is an unfortunate mercantile debt, in no way connected with claims against the R. R. Company, and is introduced without reason into this matter, and for malicious motive and intent.

The claims above were not obtained on speculation by this deponent, nor were any others. They were all in legitimate business, and are original claims, and not acquired from third parties.

Any attempt to implicate deponent or his firm with the dealing in floating debt of the company, or to obtain payment of the same for themselves or friends by any influence or opportunity as trustees or receivers, is without any foundation in fact.

Deponent has not sought, attempted, or intended any such thing. He and his co-receiver have sought to obtain the instruction of the court, not to advance their own claims, but in good faith, for the performance of their whole duty as receivers of the court, and upon presentation of the facts. The virtuous criticism of complainant upon their course is not justified by the facts; and his judgment upon the bearing of the settlement, if proper to be made upon the success of a future re-1075 organization of the corporation, has about the same value.

The reduction of the floating debt from $1,166,492.19 in January, 1875, to $529,598 in May, 1875, is not correctly stated; but if made, as alleged in said affidavit, was made before deponent and Elliot became trustees of the property, or had the right to the possession on default of the R. R. Company, and therefore the inference attempted to be made of neglect of duty and misappropriation of trust-funds is false. No such application of the income of the trust-property was made by them; and the statement that a large proportion of said payments were made to Duncan, Sherman & Co. for floating debt held by them is false.

Deponent denies that the conduct of himself and co-trustee and receiver, with regard to this floating debt and the application of trust money, has been at all wrong or objectionable. He denies that any of the trust fund which has been received by them has been wasted or in any manner misapplied; he denies that anything but the strictest integrity has been practiced by them about the business of the trust fund and property and the floating debt of the company.

He denies all the statements of improper conduct with regard to the coupons due in May and November, 1874. He avers that in all 1076 their conduct in these particulars, and all others connected with this trust, that he and his associate, Elliott, have conducted themselves and the business with fidelity, integrity, and care, and that they have in all respects been loyal to the duties of their position and the interests confided to them. He denies that there is in their past management any reasonable ground to allege any risk or damage, of loss or injury to the property in their hands, or that there is any cause to fear such. He denies that their character or past conduct justifies any suspicion or fear of any malpractice or breach of trust on their part, or that they, or either of them, will do other than deal justly and faithfully with all the interests intrusted to them by the court. He denies that they are so interested in the lower securities of the company as to render them, or either of them, unfit to be continued in the trusts and confidence heretofore reposed in them by the court, or that the commercial misfortunes of deponent have placed him in any such position of dependence as unfits him to execute the duties of receiver of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Company. He has not neglected the duties of his office, but has given them his regular attention, and has frequently attended at Mobile whenever his personal presence has been required for any pur-1877 pose whatever, and the same is true of his associate, Elliot, who resides within six hours' run of the chief office of the company, where its general business is transacted. Deponent is frequently on the line of the road, and keeps himself carefully informed of all the matters of its business. The daily details are in the care of competent clerks and subordinates, and the general supervision of the traffic & business of the line, as a common carrier of freight and passengers, is in the charge of a trained, experienced, and educated railroad engineer and manager, with whom deponent, when not present personally, is in daily and almost hourly intercourse by mail and telegraph.

The accounting department is in the care of a thoroughly trained, educated, and experienced railroad accountant, and deponent with pride points to the fact that perfect discipline and order prevails among the employees of the company. The trains are run regularly and safely, the road has been gradually improved with the rolling and locomotive stock, and is being brought to a condition of great efficiency, so as to ensure the largest returns with the smallest outlay. All employees & contractors are regularly paid their just demands, and the dwellers along the line are generally satisfied with the business & workings of the road.

Deponent admits that he has met with commercial misfortunes, 1078 and as is not unusually the fact in such case, he has been subjected to many harsh and unjust charges and suspicions, and has been subjected to some annoying suits and legal proceedings.

He denies that he has failed in the performance of any duty or obligation upon him in any fiduciary capacity; on the contrary, he avers that he has faithfully met and performed all such obligations, and with pride refers to the judgment of his character and integrity which has been formed of him by men of high commercial & financial character, who express their approval of his appointment as receiver, and their protest against the change prayed for in this complainant's bill, in the paper herewith produced to the court. For a more particular answer to the several allegations of complainant's affidavit, as to deponent's private business and that of his firm, this deponent refers to and adopts his answer on file in this court to the petition of Georgie Warnes, and the affidavits and documents therewith filed as to the late refusal by the supreme court of New York, or one of its judges, to vacate an order of arrest against this deponent, as alleged in complainant's affidavit, this deponent states an appeal has been taken to the general term of that court, with the approval and concurrence of the judge who made the order, who desires the law of case settled. The matter in con-1079 troversy is less than $2,000, and deponent is contending for principle and to prevent unscrupulous process of black-mail upon him.

This deponent and his co receiver Elliot have invited the fullest investigation of their dealings with this trust property and with the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company and of their accounts therewith, and the same has been ordered by the court, with directions to the master, if desired, to inspect all the books of account of the receivers.

This deponent thus offers the fullest security against peculation and misappropriation which can be given. All the books, vouchers, accounts, and reports in the possession of the receivers are now at the service of the master appointed by the court for examination and investigation.

Deponent denies that any means of concealment or deception on the master have been reserved to himself and associate, and denies that he or his associate have anything to conceal; and denies there is any ground or reason why any change should be made in the receivership or management of this property.

This deponent and his associate have given all the bonds required by the court. Their sufficiency has not been assailed by the complainant, and cannot be so assailed.

1080 This deponent further states that said Ketchum is not a fit person for either the trusteeship or receivership, as is abundantly shown by the allegations of the bill filed for his removal, a copy of which the complainant does not give, and by the protest of the bondholders herewith produced.

NEW YORK, July 20, 1860.

MORRIS KETCHUM, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: After fully considering the construction you seem to put on our deed of mortgage, and the exercise of power you claim as surviving trustee under it, it becomes my duty to reply and state the conclusions of my mind on the subject.

When, therefore, sales take place before default they must be made in accordance with the mutual consent and agreement of the company and trustees acting together for the benefit of all parties interested in the fund. In giving this consent & making this agreement, as to the manner & terms on which sales are to be made, and the mode of investing proceeds are of course to be arranged. This is the way in 1082 which it was done in the sales heretofore authorized, and is the only way in which sales can be legally made. But now Mess'rs Palmer & Hallett being gone, & you being the sole surviving trustee, you propose to change the entire system, and claim a power which if granted would put an entire land-fund under your personal control. You claim the power to appoint agents & conduct sales & invest proceeds without consulting the company, or obtaining their approval as to the mode of doing it. You have already informed me that you design to put a M'r Wilson (if I don't mistake the name) in possession of the land department; whether his seat of power is to be at Mobile or at New York you did not inform me, but I suppose at New York, as that seems to be the point to which you intend in future to transfer the management of our land-fund.

In the lifetime of your co-trustee, Col. Hallett, you refused to allow him or any one else, to make deeds in Mobile for lands sold, by which much trouble & unnecessary expense to the company might have been saved. Since I have been in this city you were pleased to express great respect for my business capacity and integrity, & taking advantage of this seeming confidence, I requested you to authorize me to execute deeds, & offered to give, if desired, bond in any amount you would name that everything should be correctly done. My object was to 1083 save the company unnecessary trouble and expense. But you declined this also, saying that deeds must & should be executed in New York.

Under instructions from the board of directors, I proposed the names of Mr. Charles Walsh, the successor of Col. Hallett in the presidency of the Bank of Mobile, and Mr. Parker (another gentleman distinguished for his business capacity and integrity) as trustees, to fill the vacancies occasioned by the deaths of Col. Hallett & Mr. Palmer. You made no objection to the fitness of either of them for the faithful execution of the trust; but you enquired what compensation or salary would be paid to them & you in the event you consented to their appointment. I replied that no such question had been raised, but that whatever might be paid to either of them would, of course, be paid to you. That certainly no such question ought to be raised as a condition on which you would give your consent to their appointment. You seemed not to be satisfied with this, and took time to consider the matter until next day.

At our meeting the next day you informed me that you had come to the conclusion to send a communication to the board of directors, ratifying the appointment of either Mr. Walsh or Mr. Parker, but leaving the other out, & nominating myself in his place. To this I interposed candid & earnest objections; but you overruled my objections, 1084 and said I need feel no delicacy about it, because the movement was your own, & would be most satisfactory to the bondholders. At last, at your apparent earnest solicitations, and in my extreme desire to put an end to further conflict, I consented that you might nominate me as one of the trustees. In giving this consent, I felt sure that Messrs. Walsh & Parker, and all others who knew me, would appreciate my object, & acquit me of all selfish motives.

As soon as I had distinctly given my consent, you said you would then address the board of directors, making the nominations, and proposing "the terms" on which they were to be confirmed. I promptly enquired what "terms" you alluded to. You replied that you thought it most proper that you and the board should arrange the matter between yourselves, and that the board should dispose of it, in my absence, and without my knowledge, until after it was closed. I replied that this seemed proper enough, but that if any "terms," as a condition of my appointment, were to be imposed, it was proper that I should know what these terms were. You then disclosed to me that the "terms" to which you referred were that the compensation to be given to the trustees should be first settled. I replied that or myself I intended to accept no compensation, & could not allow my name presented 1085 to the board with any such terms or conditions annexed. You then declined nominating me, and also declined to confirm the nominations of Messrs. Walsh & Palmer, unless your compensation was fixed in advance.

I then appealed to you to consent that the company might sell lands for bonds, the bonds to be cancelled & immediately delivered up, as this measure was of great importance, as well to the bondholders as to the company, but you declined giving your consent, & our conference closed. I deeply regret this condition of things, but I have done my whole duty & can do no more. To allow a trustee under a mortgage, every time a measure is proposed necessary for the success of our enterprize, to append, before he will give his consent, a condition for his personal benefit, would put us on the road to ruin, over which so many American enterprizes by similar means have gone.

As to the question of compensation, the trustees have done nothing but sign the mortgage bonds, and two or three papers authorizing the sale of lands. For years the company have appealed to you to give your assent to measures of the greatest importance to our success, but no response has been given, and we have been left to struggle on with no "aid" or "comfort" from you. During the last three years, 1086 if not longer, there is not to be found, and you cannot exhibit, a single act of the trustees in connection with the affairs of the company or its land-fund. The mortgage requires annual reports by you to the company, & you never have made one. Regular reports of our sales have been made to you, and you never have acknowledged the receipt of one. It was your duty to make deeds, but not one has been made. By this our sales have been retarded, because purchasers feared they could get no titles. Purchasers of land previously sold refused to make payments until deeds were ready for delivery, and we were thereby deprived of the use of money in times of our greatest need. Fifty thousand dollars would not compensate our company for the damage by this neglect.

The trustees saw proper to retain in their hands eighteen thousand dollars of our bonds, with back coupons to the amount of several thousand, making in all some twenty two or three thousand dollars. This is far, very far beyond any reasonable compensation for the services performed, and hereafter to be performed, to say nothing of the positive damage inflicted on us by a total neglect of duty to which I have referred. To buy peace and avoid an open rupture, I have proposed to give this up & let it be retained, provided no further claim for services is set up, now or hereafter.

1087 But this seems not to be satisfactory. You claim the right to decide on the value of your own services, & to fix your own compensation. You further declare you will appoint your own agents, and of course fix their salaries & have them responsible to you alone. You further declare that the land-fund must pass through your hands and through the hands of agents appointed by you, and responsible to no one but you.

These facts & this extraordinary claim of power brings us to a crisis. To have an open rupture with our only surviving trustee is bad enough, for he has the power to do us harm and force us to make an appeal to the courts of the country for protection & relief. But to submit to this astonishing claim of power would be worse. It would transfer our entire land-fund from the control of our company & put in hands having no interest in the enterprize beyond the fees and emoluments to be extracted from it.

The trustee would fix his own compensation from time to time, & the company must pay it. He would appoint his own agents, without limit as to number, & fix their compensation, & the company must foot the bills. The expenses of our land system would be run up to ten times what it now is.

The seat of power & responsibility would be transferred from Mobile to New York, & the assets of the company would be put beyond 1088 the jurisdiction of the courts of the States in which the trust was created & through which the road runs.

But I have extended this communication beyond my original design. In conclusion, I desire to make one more appeal to you and request you to reconsider the position you have taken. I think there is not a bondholder in Europe or America who will not, when rightly informed of the facts, say that all we have requested you to do is reasonable, and to their interests.

Respectfully, yours,

NEW YORK, July 21, 1860.

M'r BEERS:

DEAR SIR: Your dispatch met me on my arrival here on the 18th, but the papers referred to have not yet arrived; but Mr. Ketchum has read me his copy, and we have had two long interviews on the subject, besides dining together at his house. His first effort was an appeal to my fears as to the consequences if I did not agree forthwith & fix his salary, and pay up from the signing of the mortgage until now. This failed. He then changed his attack by making it an appeal to my vanity. He praised my firmness, my ability, & my great success. He said that from the time of my election he knew the enterprise would succeed; that no man had built up such a reputation as I had, and concluded by inviting me to dine with him, saying that he had no doubt we could arrange all our differences satisfactorily. I eat his dinner and drank his wine, and with a warm and confiding shake of the hand we parted to meet next day. We met accordingly, and he began to hope that by his appeals to my stomach through his dinner and wine, and to my vanity by his speeches, he had me in a good condition, and if he could also get my avarice enlisted by the hope of a salary as 1090 trustee, that he & I, acting together, "could make a good thing of it," as the Yankees say when they are about to do a smart thing by cheating somebody. The result of our interview, and the facts relating to the whole affair, are carefully stated in my written reply, a copy of which I herewith enclose. It presents a case of corrupt motive and dishonest purpose never before surpassed. His character is worse than I supposed. No one who knows him has the least confidence in his integrity. In a conversation with M'r Osborn, president of the Illinois Central, the death of Col. Hallett was referred to, & I remarked that it left M'r Ketchum sole trustee under our mortgage. He replied, "Then you are in a hell of a fix." He then went on to tell me that he was one of the trustees under their mortgage, & also a director in the road; that he managed first to get a fixed salary of fifteen hundred dollars a year; then not contented with that, taking advantage of his position, he carried his frauds so far that the other two trustees had to take the trust into their own hands, and the board of directors refused to consult with him. In face of all this he had the impudence to appear at a meeting of the board.

On his entering the room he (Osborn) rose and said to him, 1091 "How dare you show your face at a meeting of this board?" He enquired if the board allowed the president to use such language towards him, and no reply was given. He then retired, but he still holds on to his office as trustee. The other two trustees perform the duties & he collects his salary.

Osborn thinks he never will consent to fill the vacancies except upon conditions that will put the company in his power, or unless at least one of those to be appointed is under his influence & will unite with him in his frauds. But I think he will soon find himself powerless, & if he can get no funds in his hands, as he certainly cannot beyond what he has, he will probably resign. Of course we can agree to no appointments, except such as are in Mobile, or on the line of the road, and are beyond his fraudulent influences. He is very uneasy about the danger of his paying costs in the bill filed against him & the company at Mobile, & in other cases that may be commenced.

Tell our counsel to see to the question of costs & make him pay them, & if necessary take proof as to his conduct. Tell M'r Hamilton to examine the facts contained in the copy of my letter to Ketchum, & other facts of the case, & write me to Jackson, Tennessee. 1. As to the power of the Alabama courts to remove him; 2. How we 1092 shall reach him for damage already done; 3. How we can enforce the appointment of trustees to fill the vacancies, & such other suggestions as may occur to him. File the copy I send you for the inspection of our board & counsel, and any that may desire to see it.

Yours, truly,

(Signed) MILTON BROWN,
Pres't M. & O. R. R. Co.

P. S.—I understand Ketchum is now hunting up your report of sales, and says he will stop the suit at Mobile by making a deed, & that he will make deeds in all cases. But if he does, costs already incurred he must pay, for he could have made these deeds long before suit, as well as now. By setting up to do things himself, without consulting us, he will be apt to make great mistakes. To execute the deeds, he will have to advance the fees. He is getting into trouble.

C.

A transcript of the record and proceedings had in a certain cause heretofore pending in the honorable court of chancery held at Mobile for the first district of the southern chancery division of Alabama, wherein the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a body politic and incorporate, was complainant, and Morris Ketchum, a citizen of the city and State of New York, was defendant.

Original bill.

To the Hon. N. W. Cocke, chancellor of the southern chancery division of the State of Alabama, presiding at Mobile:

1. The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a body politic and incorporate, chartered by the laws of Alabama, and also by the States of Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee, respectfully shews to your honor that, by virtue of its powers so granted by said States respectively, it has constructed a line of railway from Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River, and is now running and operating the same.

2. The said company further shows that under and by virtue of 1094 purchases and by grant from the Congress of the United States of America, it has obtained title to and possession of a large quantity of land and real estate. Among this property so owned by the company is a large quantity of vacant land in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, which this company obtained from the source above named for the purpose of aiding said company in the construction of said road.

3. The said company further shows that to enable it to proceed and complete its said railway, said company has been compelled to borrow large sums of money for the payment of said loan; and also, in some instances, in payment for work and materials furnished the company by sundry parties, it has issued its bonds for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds of the currency of Great Britain, each, which are commonly known in the market as sterling bonds. These bonds are made payable in London, England, in the year 1883, at the office of George Peabody & Co., and bear interest at the annual rent of six per cent., which is payable semi-annually, at the place aforesaid, on the first days of May and November. Six thousand of these bonds have been executed, 1095 amounting to the sum of thirteeen hundred thousand six hundred and fifty pounds sterling, English currency.

4. Further your complainant respectfully shews to your honor, that on the first day of November, 1853, said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, by its deed of that date, conveyed to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, of the city and State of New York, and to William R. Hallett, of the city of Mobile & State of Alabama, the better to secure the payment of the bonds hereinbefore described, and every part thereof, with the interest accruing thereon, the following described property, to wit:

All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned and which may hereafter be owned by said company, including the said lands donated by the Congress of the United States; that is, 419,528.56 acres of land in the State of Alabama, and 737,130.36 acres of land in the State 1096 of Mississippi; total, 1,156,658.92 acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township 4 S., R. 1 W., of lands subject to entry in the S't Stephens land-office, being 692.78 acres more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, outside of the line of the railway outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County derived under and by the act of Congress, and saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction therein in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that State, in the event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile. All which will more fully appear by reference to said deed which is on record in the office of the judge of probate of Mobile, and a copy whereof in print is herewith filed as an exhibit to, and part of this bill.

5. Said deed was executed to said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, 1097 their survivor or successors, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations or any other party who shall or may be holders of the before described bonds, or any o them, in trust for that purpose, and with certain powers over said property in said deed fully set forth.

It was therein provided that of the said 1,156,658$\frac{97}{100}$ acres of lands donated by the said Congress, the said trustees should be deemed to be in immediate possession, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds, said trustees to render annually, on 1st January of each year, to the said railroad company, accounts of their doings in the matter of the trust; said trustees were authorized to appoint an agent to attend to said land business; but that no sale of said lands should be made so long as said grantor was not in default on any obligations connected with said bonds, except by and with the advice and consent of said company. The other property named in said deed was to remain 1098 under the control of said company, unless said company became in default for the payment of said bonds or interest.

6. Your orator further shows to your honor, that said deed also contains a provision that if either of the said trustees should at any time or times thereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his said office, the said company and the surviving or continuing trustees should select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and should thereupon make, execute, and deliver such other instruments or assurances as might be necessary to enable such selected person to act in the premises.

7. Your orator shows that said trustees assented to said deed and took upon themselves the burthen of its execution; that since then two of said trustees have departed this life, to wit, William R. Hallett, of Mobile, who died in July, 1860, and John J. Palmer, who died before the said Hallett, and that the only surviving trustee is the said Morris Ketchum; and that said Ketchum is a resident citizen of the State of New York, and an alien enemy of the Confederate States of America.

1099 Your orator also shows that, at sundry times before the 15th
April, 1861, your orator, in pursuance of the terms of said deed of trust, applied to the said Ketchum to unite with your orator in the appointment of trustees to fill the vacancies occasioned by the death of said Hallett and Palmer, but said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of such trustees, and the places of said deceased trustees still remain vacant.

8. Your orator charges that said conduct, on the part of said Ketchum, is a breach of the spirit and letter of said trust-deed, and that it has proceeded from selfish and interested motives on his part, and that he has pursued a course of conduct in relation to the trust that has embarrassed and operated to the injury of your orator.

Your orator shows that no provision is made in said deed for compensation to the trustees, except in event of a forfeiture thereof, which has not occurred, and which your orator hopes will not occur. No services have been rendered by said trustees beyond the simple acts of signing the mortgage-bonds and a few other papers directing and 1100 authorizing the sale of a small portion of the lands. Said trustees have not made any of the annual reports called for by the deed. It was the duty of the trustees to have directed the sale of lands, but they have failed to do so, except to a small extent, hereinafter named. Such plain duties they have disregarded, whereby great injury has been done to your orator and to the bondholders, retarding and preventing the sale of lands, and thereby impairing the market value of the bonds which were to have been received in payment for lands.

The said Hallett, before his death, resided in Mobile, but when applied to he declined acting, stating that the active management of the trust was with his co-trustee, Ketchum, always referring your orator to said Ketchum, and professing to refer all communications to him. This having the active management of said trust business, the said Ketchum has used his power oppressively to your orator, and for selfish purposes. When said bonds herein described were signed, the said Ketchum, in the name of himself and co-trustees, retained eighteen of said bonds of the par value of eighteen thousand dollars, on the pretence of com-1101 pensation for signing said bonds; and thus against the wishes of your orator, and notwithstanding the protest of your orator, which was then made and been repeatedly renewed, said bonds, with all the coupons for interest thereon, have been withheld from your orator. Said Ketchum has, in addition, also demanded regular salaries at high rates. While your orator would not object to reasonable compensation for actual services, it has refused to accede to the demands, because they were exorbitant, and could not be yielded to without submitting to gross wrong. Since the death of his co-trustees said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of new trustees, except on condition that he shall retain what he has already obtained, and also have a fixed salary at some high rate, to begin about the year 1855 and continue till the maturity of the trust in 1883.

Said Ketchum also claims the right to move the management of the land department from Mobile to New York, and then to organize it by committing it to officers appointed by himself, and has notified the president of this company of his having appointed the chief agent or superintendent thereof. Your orator, to induce said Ketchum to consent to the appointment of new trustees, has obtained the request 1102 of a majority of the bondholders for that purpose, but without avail. Said Ketchum has still persisted in his refusal to unite in the appointment of such new trustees.

Your orator charges that these actings and doings of said Ketchum are in violation of his duties as trustee, and that he is an unfit person to continue in his position of trustee.

9. Your orator further shows that by a writing under date of 10 January, 1855, the said Ketchum, and other trustees, advised and directed the sale of lands embraced in the trust, not exceeding 100,000 acres, in such terms as to price and time of payment as said company by its board of directors should approve, and promised to ratify such sale and execute proper deeds to the lands so sold.

In pursuance of said authority, orator has sold a large quantity of land to sundry purchasers, who have complied with the terms of sale, and paid most of the purchase-money.

Orator has made due reports of said sales to said Ketchum, and has in all things performed the conditions on which such sale was to be made, and called for deeds for the purchasers. Said purchasers 1103 have demanded of your orator deeds for their lands, and one has filed his bill in this honorable court to compel the specific performance of the contract with him. Others of said purchasers are threatening to pursue a similar course, and so your orator has been subjected to annoyance and costs, and is likely to be still further injured by the misconduct of said Ketchum in his said office of trustee.

These matters have been urgently presented to said Ketchum by your orator, but he has given no heed to their applications, and not even acknowledged its reports to him, and when personally applied to, refused to execute the necessary deeds except on condition of his demands for past compensation and future salary being complied with.

10. Your orator shows that it is highly important that further sales of land should be made, that such was originally intended to be made, for the purpose of completing said road, and it was expressly declared that the said sterling bonds, so issued by the company, should be received in payment of lands to be sold.

This can only be done by the agency of trustees under said deed of trust.

1104 That the lands lie in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, and their management should be confided to persons who can and will superintend their management in those States and in the city of Mobile, where the trust-deed was executed, when the chief business of your orator has necessarily to be executed, and where the trust will have to be executed; and that the removal of the control and direction of this business should be to the manifest detriment and injury of your orator and all others concerned.

It shows that the security of the bondholders requires the active agency of suitable and a full board of trustees to look after their interest in this property, and that interests so large should not be left in the control of one person alone—that the deed was originally to three—and good faith to the creditors of your orator, the cestui que trust, requires that the office should be full.

Your orator charges that said Ketchum has proved himself an improper person to manage this property as trustee thereof; that he has been unfaithful to said trust.

1105 It also charges that said Morris Ketchum is an alien enemy; said property is wholly in the Confederate States, and consists of real property and franchises, and personal property whose chief value arises from its connection with the realty, and can be properly managed only by resident citizens of these Confederate States.

11. Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum may be removed from his said position of trustee under the said deed of trust herein described; that the vacancies created by the deaths of John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett may be filled, and that some suitable person be also appointed trustee in the place of said Morris Ketchum, and that said trustees so to be appointed be clothed with all the powers conferred by said deed upon the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett.

Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum be made a party hereto, and that publication be made as provided by the statute in the case of application for the appointment of trustees, and for such other 1106 and further relief as may be consistent with equity and the nature of the case, and, as in duty bound, will ever pray, etc.

HAMILTONS & OWEN,
Sol'rs Compl't.
GEORGE N. STEWART,
Sol'r for Compl't.

Comes Milton Brown, who being duly sworn, saith he is president of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company; that said Morris Ketchum is of mature age, and is a resident citizen of the State of New York, in the United States of America; and, further, that he, said affiant, has read the foregoing bill of complaint, and the allegations thereof are true to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief.

Whereas William R. Hallett and J. J. Palmer, two of the trustees under our first mortgage executed to secure our sterling bonds, have departed this life; and whereas Morris Ketchum, the surviving trustee, has attempted and, so far as in his power, practiced gross fraud 1107 on this company and the bondholders; and whereas said Ketchum is a citizen of the United of New York, and an alien enemy, and in all respects disqualified and unfit to act as a trustee:

Therefore, resolved, That our counsel be instructed to apply to the chancery court, or such court as may be most suitable, to have three trustees appointed to act under said mortgage, with power to order sales of land, directing, if they deem it best, the taking of sterling bonds in payment, and to make deeds for lands already sold and to be hereafter sold, and to do all and everything necessary and proper to be done in the due execution of said trust; and be it further resolved that we recommend the appointment of Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George W. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, said trustees under said mortgage.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of a resolution passed by the board of M. & O. R. R. Co. at a meeting of said board on 5th December, 1861.

Decree of reference, &c.

At a special term of the court of chancery aforesaid, held in the city of Mobile, commencing on the first Monday of April, 1863, being the 6th day of said month, honorable Nathaniel , chancellor of said court, present and presiding, and on the 7th day of April, 1863, the same being a regular day of said special term, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

This cause was submitted on the bill, exhibits, and decree pro confesso. The object of the bill is to appoint trustees under a certain deed of trust exhibited by the complainant, of the date of 1st November, 1853, a copy of which is attached to the bill, in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, who are dead, and also to remove the surviving trustee, Morris Ketchum, for breaches of duty as trustee, 1112 and also because he is an alien enemy and incompetent to act.

The court is satisfied of the death of said Palmer & Hallett, and of the fact that said Ketchum is an alien enemy; it is therefore ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Ketchum be removed from his said trusteeship, and further, that the prayer of the bill be granted for the appointment of trustees in place of said Ketchum, Hallett and Palmer, be granted.

And the said complainant suggests as proper persons to be appointed in place of the former trustees, Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson, all citizens of the Confederate States. It is accordingly referred to the master to ascertain and report whether the above-named parties be suitable persons to receive the said appointment of trustees aforesaid.

Master's report.

And on the 8th day of April, 1863, the same being still another day of the said special term of said court, the following report was read by the master in this cause, to wit:

1113 MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

The master came into court and reported as follows:

This cause comes before the master with instructions to ascertain and report whether Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson are suitable persons to be appointed trustees in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, who are dead, and of the defendant, who has been removed.

The master reports that he gave notice of the time and place of considering the matter referred to him, and was attended by complainant's solicitors; that he examined reliable witnesses introduced, and is satisfied from their testimony that the said Walsh, Young, and Jackson are fit and proper persons to be appointed trustees under the deed of November 1st, 1853, and in place of the former trustees, Hallett, Palmer, and Ketchum.

Respectfully submitted.

JNO. M. TAYLOR, Master.

April 8th, 1863.

And thereupon it is ordered that said report lie over one day.

1114 Final decree.

And on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1863, the same being another of the special April term aforesaid, honorable Nathaniel W. Cocke, chancellor of said court, present and presiding, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

In this cause the master, in pursuance of the former order of this court, having made his report at a former day of this term, and the same having been read in open court more than one day, and no exceptions being filed, it is ordered that said report be in all things confirmed. It is thereupon ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, who consent thereto, be appointed trustees under the deed described in the bill of complaint, in room and in place of Wm. R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, deceased, and of 1115 Morris Ketchum, former trustee, who has been removed by decree of this court.

It is further ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said trustees hereby appointed be clothed with all the rights, powers, and privileges named in said deed of trust, and that they be charged with all the duties by said deed imposed upon the trustees in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were the original appointees, and that they proceed and execute the trusts declared in said deed, according to the terms and provisions thereof; and as to all other matters of complaint and prayers in said bill contained, it is ordered that said bill be dismissed without prejudice to complainant's rights to relief therein, or to any matter of account.

It is ordered that the complainant pay the costs of this proceeding.

I further certify that the annexed pamphlet, marked "Exhibit to Bill," is, from pages to inclusive, a duplicate and fac-simile copy of the pamphlet filed in said case and now on file as one of the papers thereof.

D.

NEW YORK, 30 March.

DEAR SIR: I have to acknowledge the receipt of your esteemed favor of the 27th ult., which reached me when I was absent in Mobile.

I only returned from there a few days since. I am giving my careful personal attention to the affairs of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. The present situation is as follows:

As you are aware, in May last, on the demand of some of the holders of the first-mortgage bonds and coupons, the latter being in default, the road was delivered into the custody of the trustees of the said mortgage, Duncan & Elliot, who subsequently applied to the circuit court of the United States, and were clothed by it with the powers of receivers, which consequently placed the road under the protection of the said court, thus freeing it from the interference of local courts, and affording a complete protection until the claims at issue shall be determined. This was of vital importance, for there is no estimating the confusion and damage that would have arisen had this property become subject to the jurisdiction of such local courts; and for this purpose it was 1118 also essential that the proceedings should be taken ab initio in the United States court, it being the highest authority.

I enclose you herein the original order (marked "A,") with the supplemental order in Tennessee and Kentucky (marked "B").

When the road came into my possession, as trustee, it had a large floating debt, partially unsecured; but of this we were instructed by the court to pay a portion, namely, that due for labor and supplies maturing within three months of the beginning of these proceedings. At that period of the year, however, the receipts of a southern railroad are at their minimum, and the experience of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad is, that the receipts of those months barely equal the current expenses, and this was especially the case in 1875.

With Southern railroads the summer months is the period when, the days being long, and the road comparatively free from traffic, extraordinary repairs, if required, should be made, and under all circumstances these roads should then be put in good condition for the pressing business of the autumn months, as such repairs and betterments can be then most economically done.

1119 It became, therefore, necessary to apply to the court for authority to borrow money to make the payments ordered by the court, and such authority was also intended to cover the making of extraordinary repairs, which latter should and would have been made had not I been notified by some of the parties in interest that they were entirely opposed to such extraordinary repairs, however requisite, being paid out of other than the receipts of the road itself. I accordingly availed of the authority granted by the court to a limited extent, for I appreciated these objections to receivers' liens, and as the betterments were not absolutely necessary, I preferred to conform to the views of the parties objecting. The order permitting the issuance of receivers' certificates is enclosed (marked "C").

The result has been that I did not issue certificates under this authority to any great extent at any one time, and they are now all repaid, and will not be reissued.

I also enclose (marked "D") the report to the court of the operations of the road to October 31st, 1875, and ere long I expect to issue a report of its operations for the entire year of 1875, both under the man-1120 agement of the company from January 1st to May 1st, 1875, and subsequently from May 1st to December 31st under the management of the trustees.

The statement will show:

Gross receipts for 1875	$1,914,342
As against " " 1874	2,391,016
Decrease	476,674

This decrease is to be accounted for, among other causes, by the general depression existing throughout the whole country; by the fact that after the first of January, 1875, the shipments of cotton almost entirely ceased, the receipts of November and December, 1874, showing a relative increase, and showing also that the crop of that season had been hurried to market; by the fact also that in the autumn of 1875 the rivers competing with the Mobile & Ohio Railroad were in navigable order from the middle of September, while in 1874 they were navigable for only a very limited period; and by the reductions in rates which have been made by the trustees, as it was hoped that such reductions would increase the volume of business and attract settlers on the line of the road; and lastly, though by no means least, by the loss in business resulting from the extension of the N. O., St. L. & C. R. R., from Jackson, Tennessee, to Cairo.

1121 The opening months of 1876 are encouraging, showing that even at these reductions the business is improving, and the gross receipts show a monthly increase over last year.

The experience of other roads also show that the decrease of 1875 was not exceptional.

As furnished in the text of the enclosed report, I am now engaged in putting the road in good order and remedying many of the neglects of past years. The important expenditure to accomplish this is mainly in the cost of new rails.

As you are aware, the Mobile & Ohio Railroad is an unballasted road, there being no gravel or stone ballast on its line, and to obtain such would entail considerable expense—an expense which should sooner or later be incurred, but which can for the present be deferred.

Under this state of things it is imperative to the economical operation of the road that it should be put into good serviceable condition. The road-bed, originally well constructed, had been allowed to somewhat deteriorate. The ties are in fair condition, but the iron is defective and badly worn.

To remedy this it will be necessary to relay about one hundred 1122 and twenty miles, and I am engaged in laying from six to seven thousand tons of iron during the coming summer. The same expenditure in 1877 would repair the entire road, and thereafter the replacing of ordinary wear and tear—say three thousand five hundred to four thousand tons per annum—would maintain the road in excellent condition; and such a result would insure its economical working more effectually than by any other course, especially in repairs to rolling-stock and machinery, which, you will notice, are at present large.

To exemplify this, let us take ten miles of road, the first mile being perfect in every particular, the second mile being less so, and so on, until the last mile shall be a common dirt road; now, start a first-class engine on the first mile, and say that it can haul a train of forty cars at a minimum cost, the second mile it would be obliged to drop five cars, and the cost would increase, and so on until the last mile, at which point it would not be able to haul itself, no matter at what expenditure. So much for mere traction; but on smooth iron and good road-bed the engine would run with scarcely appreciable wear. As the iron and road became worse and rough the machinery and cars would pound 1123 themselves to pieces, while destroying the road itself still further; in fact, it really needs no argument to prove the entire economy of such expenditure. Thus much are the trustees doing in the care of the property.

Next, as to what shall be done in reorganizing or taking the property out of the custody of the court.

No one contends that it is the legitimate duty of a court to run and operate a railroad, and it can only be excused for so doing pending the determination as to who are the real owners of the property when that is questioned; and pending the legal proceedings necessary to a judicial foreclosure and sale, or until the success of negotiations for a reorganization without a foreclosure.

The trustees of the first mortgage, claiming their rights, have commenced proceedings for foreclosure and sale of the property, and the distribution of the proceeds to the parties entitled to the same. The first step was to file a bill for that purpose, making all the parties interested parties to the bill. This has been done.

In the answer of some of the parties defendant, it is set up that there are questions as to who are entitled to the proceeds of the property; accordingly, the court has appointed a master to take the evi-1124 dence submitted, and to report to the court the nature of such evidence. I enclose a copy of the order which explains itself, marked "E."

Previous to this, however, some of the holders of the floating debt, amounting in the aggregate to about five hundred and fifty thousand dollars, secured by a pledge of the securities of the company, including some of the first and second mortgage bonds the property of the company, applied to the trustees to have their claims recognized as preferred claims, claiming, amongst other things, that the money had been so borrowed for the purpose of enabling the company to pay the interest on its bonds and to purchase material and supplies necessary to the life and existence of the road. The trustees, having no discretion to deal with these claims, appealed to the court, and the court appointed a master to report (marked "F") thereon, and he has so reported, his report being now on file subject to exceptions of any of the parties interested.

There is some force in the argument used, more especially where it would result in turning over to the trustees valuable securities affecting their trust, which would otherwise be sacrificed to the detri-1125 ment of the trust itself; and another important consideration is, that this debt is held by parties residing on the line of, and who are daily dealing with, the road; and if it can be disposed of by compromise for a small percentage it would undoubtedly be most desirable.
This, however, is a matter for the court to determine, and the trustees and receivers must and will abide by its decision.

You will observe that the master is required to report in October next; the regular sessions of the United States court are in June and December, and the time fixed is the earliest possible within which the report can be acted upon. Arguments may be made before the master or upon exceptions taken to his report.

You will also observe that the master is asked to report any plan of reorganization which shall have the endorsement of three-fourths of the parties interested.

This property must, some day or other, be reorganized, and it will either be by the purchaser who shall purchase under foreclosure sale in his own right, or by the purchaser who shall purchase under foreclosure sale for a scheme of reorganization which shall have been agreed upon, or by a scheme of reorganization, which, with the consent of all parties, 1126 shall o'tain from the court the surrender of the property before and without a foreclosure sale.

This latter is, of course, the most to be desired, as the simplest and speediest. There may be difficulties in the way of its accomplishment, but with the assistance of the court under these proceedings these difficulties may be overcome.

My first effort has been to secure the good management of the property, so that when it has resorted to the sanction of the court by purchase or amicable arrangement it will be in condition to avail itself of the new life which a new organization will bring to it.

As an officer of the court, I regard myself as stakeholder, as it were, for all the parties in interest; but as trustee of the first-mortgage bonds, I do not hesitate to urge, in the interest of those whom I represent, the recognition and payment of their just dues, and with the view of reaching this these proceedings in foreclosure have been commenced.

Under the most favorable circumstances, such a foreclosure suit, involving so many adverse interests, is subject to many and tedious delays, but the proceedings are being pressed with all the speed possible.

As I have before stated, it seems to me that the best result can be 1127 reached by means other than hostile foreclosure; but, while I am of this opinion, my duty as trustee compels me to proceed with such foreclosure with all diligence, while at the same time expressing a hope that its final consummation will be unnecessary, or, if it be necessary, that the purchase under it be made for the purpose of a reorganization which shall have been agreed upon by and between all or a majority of the parties at present interested; and it is with this hope that the board, in their circular of March 8th, which I enclose, have suggested that the several classes of securities be represented by committees, whose duty it shall be to provide a scheme and recommend it for adoption; such recommendation would without doubt be accepted by all.

The chartered rights and franchises of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Co., granted within the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, are extremely valuable, and I do not myself doubt but that they would pass to a purchaser under foreclosure. The fact, however, that in some quarters there is an inclination to test this question is one of the many considerations which induced me to urge so strenuously an amicable readjustment, if such be possible.

The circular of March 8th gives the general principles which 1128 should govern such reorganization, and I am in hopes it will result in the adoption of some practical scheme.

I remain, yours, truly,

W. BUTLER DUNCAN,

1138 Exhibit to bill.—Copy of deed of trust.

This indenture, made this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of the first part, and Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, of the city of New York and State of New York, and William R. Hallett, of the city of Mobile and State of Alabama, of the second part, witnesseth:

Whereas the legislature of the State of Alabama passed an act of incorporation, approved the third day of February, 1848, creating certain associates therein named and their survivors a body politic and corporate, by the name of Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and by that name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to make and have a common seal, and the same break, alter, and renew at pleasure; vested with all powers, privileges, and immunities which are or may be necessary to carry into effect its purposes and objects; authorized and empowered to locate, construct, and finally complete a single, 1139 double, or treble railroad or way from some suitable point in the city of Mobile, in a western or northwesterly direction to the mouth of the Ohio River, in such route as shall be deemed most expedient, and to transport, take, and carry property and persons upon said railroad or way by the power and force of steam, of animals, or of any other mechanical or other power, or any combination of them which said company may choose to apply; and for the purpose of constructing said railroad or way, the said company is authorized to lay out the road, not exceeding one hundred feet wide, through the whole length; and for the purposes of depots, cuttings, and embankments, and for the purpose of necessary turnouts, and for obtaining stone and gravel, may take as much more land as may be necessary for the construction and security of said road, with permission to make any lawful contract with any other railroad corporation in relation to the business of said company, and also to make joint stock with any other railroad corporation.

Further, the State of Mississippi incorporated the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company by act of its legislature, approved the seventeenth day of February, 1848. The State of Tennessee did also incorporate 1140 said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by act of the legislature, approved the twentieth day of February, 1848; and also the State of Kentucky invested said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company with corporate rights by an act of its legislature, approved the twenty-sixth day of February, 1848, constituting the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company a full and complete corporation through the said States, authorized to purchase, hold, and dispose of real and personal estate; to borrow money; to make contracts for the loan of money; and to give evidence of debt, and securities for the payment of the same, by pledge, mortgage, or otherwise, as it shall deem necessary and proper.

And whereas said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in pursuance of the authorities vested by said charters, have surveyed and located the line of said road from the city of Mobile to or near the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, secured the rights of way, obtained depot-grounds and valuable assets, all of which are of record in the records of said company, and of record in the counties intersected.

And whereas the said roadway is under contract for the com-1141 plete work of the road bed from its respective termini, and in progress of construction, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, parties of the first part, resolved by vote of the board of directors, and in pursuance of the power and authority in said company vested, to raise a sum of money not exceeding six millions of dollars for the purpose of completing said road, viz, the purchase of the iron and laying the same, the necessary turnouts, depots, and equipments; and for that purpose to execute, issue, sell and transfer the bonds of said company in sums of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling each, of even date with these presents, payable in thirty years from date, each with coupons attached for interest, payable semi-annually; each coupon being for £6 15s. sterling; both the principal and coupons, and interest on said bonds until paid, payable at the counting-house of Geo. Peabody & Co., bankers, in London, England, each of said sterling bonds being the same as one thousand dollars, money of the United States of America, and not exceeding six thousand bonds, each to be numbered respectively from number one to six thousand inclusive, and, for security for the payment of said bonds, to transfer to the said parties of the second part, all and singular, all 1142 the rights and franchises of said company, together with all its personal property of a fixed character, real estate, including its depots, warehouses, lots in town and country, and especially all lands donated by act of Congress, under date of the twentieth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, transferred in fee-simple to the said company, party of the first part, by act of the legislature of the State of Alabama, approved December first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; by act of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved January twenty-eight, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two; said lands having been duly selected, set apart, and confirmed to said railroad company, party of the first part, and designated by described tracts, as will appear by the act of the Commissioner of the General Land Office at Washington, certified, affirmed, and ratified by the act of the honorable the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, one of the executive departments of the Government of the United States of America, dated Washington, D. C., February the fourth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three:

Now, therefore, this indenture further witnesseth, that the said 1143 Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the better to secure the payment of said bonds, and every part thereof, with interest according to the tenor thereof, and in consideration of the sum of five dollars unto the said company well and truly paid by the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, at or before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted, transferred, set over, and conveyed, and by these presents do grant, transfer, set over, and convey unto the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, the survivors or successors of them, in fee-simple, all and singular of the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth, being the first and only conveyance of title, grant, or mortgage, hereby guaranteeing and warranting the described items, assets, and real estate, free from all liens or incumbrances, done or suffered to be done by the said party of the first part. The said items as set forth are as follows:

All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, 1144 rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress hereinbefore referred to, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting, as by the certificate of the Department of the Interior, to 419,528$\frac{56}{100}$ acres in the State of Alabama; to 737,130$\frac{36}{100}$ acres in the State of Mississippi—total, 1,156,658$\frac{92}{100}$ acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township four south, range one west, of lands subject to entry in the St. Stephen's land office, Alabama, being 692$\frac{78}{100}$ acres, more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, State of Alabama, outside of the line of the railway, outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private purchase, not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County, derived under and by the act of Congress; and saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction thereon, in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that said State, in the 1145 event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, which aid is provided for by law of that State, and if used by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad, the said prior lien in favor of said State will be to the extent of said State aid, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile.

To have and to hold the said premises hereinbelore set forth to the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, their survivors or successors, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations or any other party who shall or may be holders of the before-described bonds, or any of them, conditioned as follows:

The said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of the lands donated by act of Congress, and set forth in the before mentioned certificate of the Secretary of the Interior of February fourth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, for 1,156,658 $\frac{92}{100}$ acres, and any other lands that may be obtained for the said company, by the present or by future act of Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net 1146 proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds, said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first days of January of each and every year during the period of the trust herein made to the said parties of the first part.

The said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett shall have full authority to appoint an agent or agents to attend to said land business, who shall account for his or their doings to them, paying over to them all the proceeds of sales, or rents, or profits derived from said lands.

It is provided, however, that unless the said railroad company should be in default on any obligations connected with said bonds, no sale of said lands shall be made except by and with the advice and consent of said company.

The said party of the second part, themselves, or regularly constituted attorney, are hereby vested with authority to issue proper and sufficient deeds or muniments of title. As to other items of assets of real estate, tolls, or income of said company, except the said company become in default for the payment of said bonds or interest, or any portion thereof; in such case the said party of the second part is hereby 1147 vested with full authority to take possession and control of all and singular the entire estate and properties of whatsoever name or kind, and hold the same for the benefit of any and all creditors, with such other action and disposition as shall be equitable to all concerned, provided the said party of the second part shall not claim to take such possession and control, unless said company remains in default of payment of the said bonds or interest for the space of three months after being due and payable.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company further covenant and agree to make to said party of the second part, their survivors or successors, any further assurance or instrument as may be necessary, at any future time, to carry out the equitable intentions of this deed; and the said company, for themselves, their successors and assigns, do hereby covenant and agree with the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or their successors, in behalf of the bondholders, that the money received on the said bonds shall be applied in good faith, on the construction and completion of said road, and putting the same into operation.

And on the failure of said company to do and perform any and 1148 all the covenants herein agreed, the said Ketchum, Palmer and

Hallett, or survivors or successors, upon the request in writing of any one or more of the bondholders, may and shall take actual possession of all said railroad, and the other property and effects of said company hereby conveyed, transferred, and assigned, or so intended to be, and through the agency of such person or persons as they may from time to time appoint, may receive and collect the tolls, incomes, and profits of the same, for the purpose of the security hereinbefore declared, and may sell and dispose of the said road and other property hereby mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned, or so intended to be, and all benefit and equity of redemption of the said company therein, always with the benefit of franchise, and subject to the conditions thereof, at public auction, giving reasonable public notice of the time and place of sale, and as the attorney or attorneys of the said company for that purpose, by these presents duly constituted, to make and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, good and sufficient deed or deeds of conveyance for the real estate, in fee simple or otherwise, according to the title of said company therein, and good and proper transfer and assignments of 1149 the personal property, and out of the money arising either from the income or profits of the said road and other mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned property or effects of the sale thereof, after deducting the expenses incurred in carrying on the business of the road, and in keeping the same in repair, together with the costs, charges, and counsel-fees incurred in their proceedings, and a reasonable compensation to themselves for their services, in case of such sale, to apply so much of the residue as may be necessary to pay the principal and interest, which may be due on said bonds issued as aforesaid, rendering the balance of such moneys, if any shall remain, to said company.

And the sale so made shall be a perpetual bar against the said parties of the first part, and persons claiming by, from, or under them. Provided, however, and it is hereby expressly understood and agreed, that neither of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or their successors or assigns, shall in no manner be liable or responsible for any act of the other to which he does not expressly assent; and that they shall be accountable only for the exercise of reasonable care and diligence in their management in the premises.

1150 And it is further covenanted and agreed between the said parties that if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company and the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and shall thereupon make, execute, and deliver all and singular such other and further instruments or assurances as may be necessary to enable such person or persons so selected to act in the execution of these presents. But until such selection of some person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and the execution of the papers requisite to enable him or them to act, the act or acts of the other shall, notwithstanding such vacancy, be in all respects legal and valid.

And it is expressly understood that the conveyance made by this indenture is only on and for the present rights, interest, and property, and in the future to be acquired rights, interest, and property, and appurtenances of the parties of the first part, as do or may exist on the line of said railroad from the city of Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River.

1151 And it is hereby further provided, and these presents are upon the express condition, that, upon the payment or satisfaction of the principal and interest of the aforesaid bonds, the estate hereby granted and conveyed to Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, their survivors or successors, and the property and effects mortgaged, conveyed, or transferred to them shall cease and become void; and the said company shall thereupon be fully and immedeately reinvested with the same, both in law and equity, and in fact, without any entry or other act whatever.

In witness whereof the parties of the first part have caused these presents to be acknowledged by their president and attested to in their behalf by their president and secretary, and their common seal thereunto affixed; and the said parties of the second part hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

1172 Answer of M. & O. R. R. Co. to motion for removal of trustees.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
State of Louisiana, City of New Orleans:

Custom house of the United States in the city of New Orleans. In the court-room of the circuit court of the United States, at noon, 15th May, 1876.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of the State of Alabama; W'm Butler Duncan, a citizen of the State of New York, A. Foster Elliot, a citizen of the State of Louisiana, under protest and for a special and particular purpose, appear at the time and place above mentioned to show cause upon a notice they have respectively received, and a copy of which is appended to this answer.

The notice is entitled—

United States circuit court, southern district of Alabama.

MORRIS KETCHUM, AS SURVIVING TRUSTEE,
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL. }

1173 In the notice it is affirmed "that, in pursuance of the direction of his Honor M'r Justice Bradley, the notice is given of a motion to be made on 15th May, 1876, to the circuit court of the United States, at the United States court-room in the custom house in the city of New Orleans, for an order and decree in the above cause to place the complainant, Morris Ketchum, in possession, as trustee, of the line of road and all the property of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company," &c., &c.

These respondents aver that there is no order, direction, or other proceeding in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama signed by his Honor Judge Bradley, nor by his authority, nor evidence whatever whatever of the truth of the statement in the notice, that it was directed by his Honor Judge Bradley; and they further aver that as a matter of fact it is wholly and entirely without a foundation in fact to warrant it.

1174 The records of the said circuit court indicate that M'r Justice Bradley has been absent from the said court during this entire year. And it is notorious that he has been engaged in the Supreme Court of the United States, at Washington City, during the whole session of that court for the whole of the term until its adjournment on 8th May, inst.

Wherefore and because of the want of any authority from the said circuit court or any judge thereof for issuing the notice aforesaid, and because of the unfounded averments that such an order or direction had been made, the parties aforesaid pray the dismissal of these proceedings with costs.

II.

And the said respondents still appearing under protest and for a single purpose, aver that the cause mentioned in the said notice is pending in the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama. By the terms of the statutes of the United States the 1175 sessions of that court are appointed to be held in the city of Mobile. That it is not competent for said court to transfer the cause aforesaid from the circuit court aforesaid to the circuit court of the United States for the district of Louisiana. Nor is it competent to the circuit court of the United States for the district of Louisiana to make any order or give any directions relative to the said cause, or to any proceeding in it under any law of the United States. And that the circuit court of the United States for the district of Louisiana is without jurisdiction of the subject of the said matter.

Wherefore the same should be discharged, and all cognisance thereof refused.

III.

And the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company says that the said corporation was served at the city of Mobile with process of subpœna 1176 in the said cause, in March, 1876, and in the first week of April, 1876, appeared and filed in the circuit court of the U. S. a special plea in bar of the prayer of discovery and relief, denying the title of the said plaintiffs, which plea is not disposed of, but is still pending in the said court.

That the railroad and other property of the said corporation is immovable property for the most part, and is within the judicial district of Alabama, aforesaid, in so far as it is within the jurisdiction of the said court; and that the domicil of said corporation is at the city of Mobile. That the said defendant is not, under the laws of the United States, subject to suit for their property aforesaid elsewhere than in the said judicial district in the courts of the United States. And that the said corporation cannot be required or coerced into the jurisdiction of the circuit court of the United States for the district of 1 77 Louisiana, nor be held to answer to any claim or demand upon their property beyond the limits of the said district by any other court, nor by the judges of the same court without their consent. And for the reason that the said motion has been wrongfully and vexatiously made to a tribunal which has no jurisdiction of the same, the defendant prays that it may be discharged with costs.

IV.

And the said W'm Butler Duncan says that he is a citizen of the State of New York, and was served within the limits of that State with a notice of the motion (a copy of which is filed) within the present month.

This respondent says that he has appeared to the cause in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Alabama after the service of a subpœna, and is in no default.

11.8 That there was no order nor direction of the said circuit court for the district of Alabama, to authorize any service upon him of notice of this motion in the State of New York, to appear at the time and place stated and for the purpose stated in said notice; and that the statement that there was such a direction by any judge is not true.

The respondent denies the title of the said plaintiff to make the said motion or to give the notice of the motion aforesaid, and the jurisdiction of the circuit court to entertain the same in the manner and at the place and on the notice aforesaid.

V.

The said Andrew Foster Elliot says that he has not been served with subpœna in the cause designated in the said notice, nor does he know of any attempt to make him a party to the cause in any other form than that of serving a subpœna, nor has he entered any appearance to the said bill.

He states he was served with a copy of the notice in the State 1179 of Louisiana within the present month.

He denies the authority of the plaintiff to make him a party to the proceedings and to bind him to appear in the manner and form herein set forth.

He denies the authority and jurisdiction of the circuit court of the United States for the district of Louisiana to hear the said motion or to make any judgment to affect him in the premises.

He denies the validity of the notice and of its service on him, and that there was any direction of the associate justice to give the notice or to authorize the service upon this respondent of the notice aforesaid.

VI.

The said parties further state that at the December term of the said circuit court of the United States for the southern district of Alabama, and in April last, the said plaintiff made, in the circuit court 1180 aforesaid, a motion of the same import and to obtain the orders and decrees specified in the said notice; that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and the said W'm B. Duncan were notified thereof, and answered to the said motion in open court, and that the same was heard upon the pleadings and affidavits, and upon the hearing of the same in the said circuit court the motion was denied and the plaintiff ordered to pay the costs; that the said judgment was in full force and has not been in any respect vacated, altered, or modified by the said circuit court.

And these defendants state that no order, direction, nor authority has been given by the said circuit court, nor by any judge thereof, either at rules at the clerk's office, or chambers, or elsewhere, for the renewal of the said motion, or to serve these respondents with notice of the same. And that the said motion to bring the case into the 1181 circuit court of the United States at New Orleans, and to obtain these orders and decrees, is without any warrant from the laws, the courts, and the judges of the courts, and they pray that the same may be dismissed at the cost of the said plaintiff.

The undersigned, as counsel for the parties mentioned in this answer, appear especially and for the only purpose of protesting against the proposed motion as unwarranted by the laws of the United States and the rules in equity of the Supreme Court of the United States, and to deny the authority and jurisdiction of the court to hear the matter.

In the circuit court of the United States in and for the fifth judicial circuit and southern district of Alabama.

To the honorable the judges of the circuit court for the fifth judicial circuit and southern district of Alabama:

Your orator, Morris Ketchum, a resident of the county and State of New York, and a citizen of said State, brings this his bill of complaint against the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, a body corporate, constituted by and organized under an act of the general assemb'y of the State of Alabama, approved February 3rd, 1848, entitled "An act to incorporate the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company," and under an act of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved Feb. 17, 1848, & entitled "An act   ," and under an act of the general assembly of the State of Tennessee, approved February 20, 1848, entitled "An act to incorporate the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and the Tennessee Railroad Company," and under an act of the legislature of the State of Kentucky, approved February 26, 1848, entitled "An act to authorize the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to extend their railroad from the south boundary-line of the State of Kentucky to 1191 the Mississippi & Ohio Rivers," and under the acts of the legislatures of the said States amendatory of and supplemental to the aforesaid acts, and against William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott, as receivers of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company as aforesaid; and against William D. Dunn, George H. Young, and William Dickson, the said Dunn & Dickson being residents and citizens of the State of Alabama, and the said Young a resident and citizen of the State of Mississippi.

That in and by the acts of the legislatures of the States above referred to, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company was authorized to purchase, hold, and dispose of real & personal estate, to borrow money, to make contracts for the loan of money, and to give evidences of debt and securities for the payment of the same by pledge, mortgage, or otherwise, as it should deem necessary and proper.

That on or about the first day of November, in the year 1853, the said defendant, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, purposed to contract and negotiate a loan of six millions of dollars to complete and equip its said railroad, and to that end prepared to execute and dispose of by sale six thousand bonds, a copy of one of which bonds is hereto attached, as forming a part of this bill of complaint, and is marked "Exhibit A."

1192 That each of the said bonds was to be for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling, and payable in thirty years from the date thereof, with coupons attached for interest payable semi-annually, and each coupon being for six pounds fifteen shillings sterling, and the said bonds were to be numbered from No. one to No. six thousand inclusive.

That to provide a full, fair, and available security for the principal and interest of the said loan, and for the bonds & coupons representing the same, and to insure to those who might invest therein the payment of the interest and principal money thereof in all respects, according to the true intent and meaning of the said bonds, was the chief and leading purpose of the conveyance hereinafter recited.

That therefore, and in consideration of the premises & the sum of five dollars, the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company granted, bargained, sold, aliened, assigned, transferred, conveyed, & confirmed to your orator, Morris Ketchum, and to John J. Palmer & William R. Hallett, by the conveyance of said company, duly executed and delivered to your orator, the said Morris Ketchum, and to said Palmer and Hallett, bearing date the first day of November, 1853, the following property, part of which was at the time of the execution of the said conveyance constructed, and part of which was to be thereafter constructed, purchased, acquired, held, possessed, & owned by the said Mobile and Ohio 1193 Railroad Company, and which said property is described and set forth in said conveyance in the words and figures following, to wit: "All and singular of the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth, being the first and only conveyance of title, grant, or mortgage, hereby guaranteeing and warranting the described items, assets, and real estate, free from all liens and incumbrances, done or suffered to be done by the said party of the first part, and "all the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, lying between its respective termini, constructed, or to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress, hereinbefore referred to, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting as by the certificate of the Department of the Interior to 419.528$\frac{56}{100}$ acres in the State of Alabama, to 737,630$\frac{36}{100}$ acres in the State of Mississippi; total, 1,156.658$\frac{92}{100}$ acres, with certain exceptions of lands, and certain reservations of a lien in favor of the State of Tennessee; and for a fuller description of the property, rights, and franchises conveyed by said deed of mortgage your orator refers to the true copy of said mortgage annexed hereto, as forming a part 1194 of this bill of complaint, and marked "Exhibit B."

That your orator and said Palmer and Hallett were, as provided in said conveyance, "to have and to hold the said granted and described premises, property, and franchises, in trust, nevertheless, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations, or any other party who might become holden of the bonds hereinbefore described, or any of them issued or to be issued by the said company, and for the payment of the interest-coupons thereon, as the same should respectively fall due."

That your orator, Morris Ketchum, and the aforesaid John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett, duly accepted the conveyance of the property above described, and the deed above mentioned, and likewise accepted the trusts therein set forth, and thereupon became the mortgagees of the said property in trust for the holders of the bonds above described.

That said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, after the execution, delivery, and acceptance of said conveyance by said trustees, and after the same was in due form of law recorded in the proper counties in Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, in which the said property thereby conveyed was and is situated, did execute large amounts of its said bonds of the denominations and to the purport in said mortgage mentioned, and the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company did 1195 afterwards negotiate said bonds to bona-fide holders thereof, the same being made negotiable by delivery, and the said bonds or most of them are now outstanding, and are valid claims against said company, and valid liens against and upon the property and income and assets of said company.

That the holders of said bonds, and of the interest thereon unpaid by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, are entitled, by reason of the premises, to payment of said interest, as well as of the principal thereof so conveyed to your orator, and to Palmer and Hallett aforesaid, in trust for the holders of said bonds, and have by virtue of said conveyance in trust the elder and prior and paramount lien on said premises, and the income thereof, and are entitled to payment out of the same in preference to any and all other claims against said company arising in any manner whatsoever.

That in and by the third paragraph of the mortgage above referred to it is provided, in reference to the lands conveyed as security for the bondholders, as follows:

"The said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, shall at once have possession and control of the lands donated by act of Congress, and set 1196 forth in the before-mentioned certificate of the Secretary of the Interior, dated Feb. 4th, 1853, for 1,156,658.92 acres, and any other lands that may be obtained for the said company by the present or by future act of Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management of sales, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds." And it is further provided in said mortgage that the party of the second part, themselves, or regularly constituted attorney, are hereby invested with authority to issue proper and sufficient deeds and muniments of title."

That on or about the first day of February, 1861, the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company applied to and requested your orator, notwithstanding, and in defiance of the aforesaid provision of the mortgage, to sign, execute, and deliver deeds of the lands conveyed by said mortgage, in trust as aforesaid, for the benefit of the bondholders, without tendering or in any way offering to your orator any consideration or equivalent for such proposed deeds; and the said directors furthermore requested your orator to permit the said directors to have and to exercise complete power and control over the said bonds, in contravention of the terms of the mortgage conveying the title and 1197 possession thereof, for the benefit of the first-mortgage bondholders of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to your orator and his co-trustees.

That your orator refused to execute or deliver the proposed deeds unless he received proportionate amounts of bonds or money in consideration therefor, according to the tenor of the mortgage above set forth, or to confer upon the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company any power over said lands which was by the said mortgage devolved upon him in trust for the equitable mortgagees.

And your orator further shows and avers that his co trustees, John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett, both deceased on or about the first day of January, 1861, and left your orator, Morris Ketchum, the sole surviving trustee of the first mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad above described. That it is provided as follows by the mortgage to your orator above described:

"And it is further covenanted and agreed between the said parties that if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company and the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and shall thereupon make, execute, and deliver all and singular such 1198 other and further instruments or assurances as may be necessary to enable such person or persons so selected to act in the execution of these presents. But until such selection of some person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and the execution of the papers requisite to enable him or them to act, the act or acts of the other shall, notwithstanding such vacancy, be in all respects legal and valid."

That to your orator's best remembrance and belief, after the death of his co-trustees aforesaid, your orator offered the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to comply with the terms of the mortgage aforesaid, in reference to the appointment of new trustees, and made every effort on his own behalf, and with the said directors, to prevail upon them to conform to the requirements of the mortgage, and to fill the vacancies in the board of trustees thereof.

That your orator submitted to said directors the forms used in like circumstances by your orator and the other trustees of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, both in reference to the release of lands, in the mortgage hereinbefore referred to, as well as to the appointment of trustees, and the proceedings under which had been highly advantageous to the bondholders of said Illinois Central Railroad Company, who had been paid off in full, and urged that the spirit and letter 1199 of the mortgage should be complied with by appointing a resident of New York and a resident of Mobile to the vacancies in the said trust, according to the residencies of the original trustees, then deceased.

That the board of directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company persistently refused to execute the said trust in reference to the appointment of successors to the two original trustees aforesaid, unless your orator would surrender the rights of his cestui que trust in the lands belonging to them, as aforesaid, or would appoint new trustees, who would so violate their trusts. That your orator declined to accede to the above terms, or any of them, and the said vacancies in the said board of trustees have remained unfilled to the present day, and your orator still remained, and now remains, the sole surviving trustee of the mortgage aforesaid.

That your orator is informed that soon after the matters just above recited had transpired, and on or about the fifth day of December, 1861, and nearly nine months after the State of Alabama had adopted an ordinance of secession from the United States, and several months after the commencement and existence of armed hostilities between the so-called Confederate States, of which the State of Alabama formed a part, and the United States, and long after all intercourse with 1200 the said Confederate States and the said State of Alabama had been prohibited by law to the citizens of the United States and of the State of New York, where your orator then resided, and to the government of which he owed allegiance, the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company applied to a court of chancery, then sitting in the said Confederate States, so called, and within the territory of the State of Alabama, for an order declaring the removal of your orator from the trusteeship of the first mortgage aforesaid.

That your orator is likewise informed that the proceeding in which his removal was sought averred as its foundation that your orator was "a citizen of New York, and an alien enemy to the Confederate States" aforesaid.

And your orator further shows to your honors that he never heard of or in any way had any knowledge of the said pretended proceeding to divest him of his property, as trustee as aforesaid, until after the termination of armed hostilities between the said Confederate States, and State of Alabama, and the United States, in the year 1865.

That notwithstanding your orator was in entire ignorance of the said pretended proceeding, and was prevented by force, and prohib- 1201 ited by law, from appearing and responding thereto, and on the above account could not and did not appear or respond thereto, a certain order or decree was obtained therein on or about the seventh day of April, 1864, as your orator is informed, purporting to remove your orator from the said trust, and deprived him of the estate aforesaid in his absence, both in person and by attorney, and while he was ignorant that any such proceedings were instituted or pending, and on the sole ground that he was "a citizen of New York, and an alien enemy to the Confederate States."

And your orator charges that the said proceedings of said court of chancery were and are entirely null and void, and without jurisdiction to divert the title of a citizen of the United States, residing in the State of New York during the pendency of hostilities between said State of New York and the political authorities of the territory where such court was sitting, and no notice of which was brought to the knowledge of your orator, and the ground of which was loyalty of your orator to the lawful authority and government of the territory where the said court was sitting.

That on or about the first day of April, 1875, certain William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott were engaged in conducting the 1202 business of Duncan, Sherman & Co., which firm had conducted and were then engaged in conducting certain financial transactions with the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company. That the said Duncan and Elliott were directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in the month of April, 1875, and the said Duncan represented the stockholders, as the president of said company. That the said Duncan procured a certain Charles Walsh, who had been named a trustee under the pretended decree aforesaid, to present a form of resignation. That said Duncan soon thereafter procured said Walsh to withdraw said resignation, and the same was never accepted.

That notwithstanding the said resignation had no validity, the said Duncan procured the said letter of resignation of Walsh to be exhibited to G. H. Young and A. Jackson, who had also been named trustees under the invalid decree above mentioned, with a request that they would likewise resign, and thereupon the said Young & Jackson did formally resign. That immediately thereafter, and notwithstanding the pretence to said Young and Jackson that said Walsh had resigned, whereby their resignations had been procured, the said Duncan procured the said Walsh to act as a trustee, and to appoint himself, the said Duncan, and his associate in business, the said Elliott, trustees, in place and stead of said Walsh, Young, & Jackson.

That the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company claimed to exercise the joint power of appointment with said Walsh, and said Elliott 1203 being then a director of said company, and the said Duncan its president, and a large stockholder thereof, and the said Duncan representing the unsecured and floating claims of Alexander Duncan, his father, which claims are in direct hostility to the rights of the first-mortgage bondholders, as hereinafter set forth, they, the said Elliott and Duncan, pretending to represent the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, promptly concurred in the said pretended appointment of themselves as such pretended trustees.

That your orator has entirely disregarded and ignored the aforesaid pretended, invalid, and void proceedings of said tribunal sitting under the authority of the Confederate States, whereby the property of your orator, as a loyal citizen of the United States, was attempted to be taken from him without notice or jurisdiction, and on the specific ground that he was performing his duty as a loyal citizen of the United States, and an alien enemy of the Confederate States. And your orator has likewise disregarded and ignored all the subsequent proceedings of the parties aforesaid, pretending to act under said void and unlawful decree, as well the proceedings of said Walsh, Jackson, and Young, as of their pretended successors, the said Duncan and Elliott.

1204 That your orator has always and continually, from the time of his appointment as an original trustee under said mortgage, down to the present time, continued to act as such trustee, and perform the duties of the said office, and has acted with and connected with his cestui que trust, during all said time, for the protection of the rights of the bondholders. That he has not in the slightest manner abandoned his trust, if such abandonment there could be, but, on the contrary, the directors of said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company have unlawfully and persistently endeavored to abandon the trusteeship of your orator, for the purpose of carrying out the fraudulent and improper designs upon the trust property, as hereinbefore and hereinafter set forth.

That after the said William B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott had intruded themselves into the trusteeship as aforesaid, and under color of the void and fraudulent proceedings above recited had filed a bill of complaint in this court, and been appointed and taken possession as receivers of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, though representing the fraudulent claims of Alexander Duncan and others, as hereinafter set forth, your orator deemed it prudent and advisable to await the expiration of the three months limitation provided in the mortgage and then and thereafter has been diligently engaged in consult-1205 ing with his cestuis que trust, the bondholders, and with his counsel, and in preparing his proceedings for the protection of the property of the bondholders and the execution of the trusts devolved upon him.

And your orator further shows and avers that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has failed to pay the interest on any of the said first-mortgage bonds which fell due on the first day of May, 1875, and the interest on any of said bonds which has fallen due since the date last mentioned, and all of said interest so due and in default still remain wholly due and unpaid, though the same has been duly demanded, and has remained so due and unpaid for more than three months after it became due and payable, and that the amount now overdue and payable for interest on the first mortgage bonds exceeds the sum of $338,000.

That the holders of the bonds secured to be paid by the mortgage above referred to are very numerous, and are in great part unknown to your orator, and your orator avers that the number of said holders is so great that it is impracticable to make them parties to this suit. That your orator has been requested by a number of the holders of said bonds, owning bonds to a large aggregate amount, to institute these proceedings upon the default in the payment of interest aforesaid.

1206 And your orator further shows that the said railroad company, by the terms of its charter and the laws of the States of Alabama,
Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky, before and at the time of the execution and delivery of said conveyance to your orator and his co trustees as aforesaid, was authorized abd had full and competent power and authority to construct, maintain, and operate a railroad from the city of Mobile, in the State of Alabama, through the several counties in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky mentioned in the mortgage herein, to the Ohio River, in the State of Kentucky; and that, at the time said conveyance was made and delivered to your orator and the co-trustees aforesaid, said company was actively engaged in the business of building said railroad, so far as the same had not been previously constructed, and in operating the same so far as then completed; and that said company now has in operation its said railroad from Mobile, in the State of Alabama, to Columbus, in the State of Kentucky, with certain branches and leased lines, and with a large amount of rolling-stock necessarily used in said business, and supplies and tools and implements of all descriptions.

And your orator further avers that the said Mobile and Ohio 1207 Railroad Company likewise executed a second mortgage of the premises and property secured by the first mortgage aforesaid, of which William D. Dunn, Geo. H. Young, and William Dickson, hereinbefore named, are trustees for the holders of certain bonds, which have been issued and are now outstanding in whole or in part; and that the said mortgage created a second and subordinate lien upon the property mortgaged to secure the bonds represented by your orator.

And your orator also avers that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company also executed several other mortgages, some of which are valid and some invalid, and all of which are subordinate and inferior liens to your orator's mortgage, and purports to be such inferior liens, and none of the trustees of said mortgages can be herein joined without ousting the jurisdiction of this court.

And your orator alleges that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company is largely indebted otherwise than is hereinbefore stated to a large number of persons, and is greatly embarrassed in its business and affairs, and is in fact utterly insolvent and unable to pay its debts and meet its engagements.

1208 And your orator is likewise informed and verily believes, and therefore avers, that, notwithstanding the payment of the coupons of the first-mortgage bonds, which fell due on the first day of November, 1874, and the first day of May, 1874, and the first day of November, 1873, by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in the ordinary and accustomed manner, in which said coupons had been theretofore paid, it is claimed and was set up by the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, on the first day of January, 1875, that there remained outstanding coupons matured and unpaid, to the amount of $$735,415\frac{32}{100}$.

And your orator is informed and believes, that the said coupons so claimed to be matured and outstanding are the same coupons which were presented by the holders thereof to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, and by it received and paid, and presumably cancelled.

That the said coupons were not cancelled, as of right they should have been, but were, by the then president of the company, and by William B. Duncan, and the directors thereof, delivered to Alexander Duncan, the father of said William B. Duncan, and other persons, as pretended security for certain claims of said Alexander Duncan and others, upon said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

1209 That the said coupons are still in the possession of said Alexander Duncan and other persons, and are claimed by them to constitute a subsisting first, prior, and paramount lien upon the property, conveyed to your orator in trust as aforesaid.

And your orator is informed and believes, that the said Alexander Duncan and others claim and pretend, and will endeavor to use said coupons which have been paid, and should be of right cancelled, to bid for, and obtain control of and title to, said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, upon the sale thereof by foreclosure under your orator's mortgage.

And your orator further shows, that in and by the mortgage hereinbefore described, and in addition to the other property therein conveyed to secure the holders of the first-mortgage bonds aforesaid, all the tolls, rents, income, issues, and profits of said property, and of the railroad last hereinbefore described, were mortgaged to your orator in trust for the bondholders aforesaid, to secure the payment of the interest and principal of their bonds. That the net income of the mortgaged estate is represented by Duncan and Elliott aforesaid to be only about thirty-eight thousand dollars for the past six months preceding Dec. 1st, 1875, while the annual interest payable on the bonds of which your orator is trustee is $360,000 per annum.

1210, 1211, 1212 That ever since the failure to pay the interest on the said bonds, the tolls and income of the said company have exceeded the expenses of operating the same, and large sums of money have properly accrued, as your orator is informed and believes, as net profits from the income and tolls of said railroad; but even the said tolls and income, such as they are, have not been applied to the payment of the interest, or any part thereof upon the said bonds, and will not be so applied unless this honorable court intervenes in the premises, for the protection of the holders of said bonds, by the appointment of proper persons as receivers of said property and its tolls and incomes.

And your orator further shows unto your honors, that all the property so conveyed to him as aforesaid, as surviving trustee, in trust for the holders of the bonds hereinbefore described, as well as that which was subsequently acquired by said company, together with all the corporate rights, privileges, and franchises of said company, and the tolls, rents, incomes, issues, and profits of the railroad above described, and the lands, claims, and demands of the said company, are held and bound by said first mortgage first above set forth, for the payment of the bonds and the coupons lawfully remaining upaid as aforesaid, and they 1213 have priority over every other demand and claim whatsoever in the premises.

And your orator likewise shows that he is totally remediless to enforce the said claims and liens at law and without the intervention of and process of a court of equity.

In consideration of all the foregoing matters your orator prays process of subpœna against the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and against the said William D. Dunn George H. Young, and W'm Dickson, and against W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, as receivers, commanding them and each of them to appear and answer this your orator's bill of complaint.

And to the end that the said defendant the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company may, if it can, show why your orator should not have the relief hereby prayed, and may, upon its knowledge and remembrance, full, true, direct, and perfect answer make to such of the several interrogatories hereinafter numbered and set forth under its corporate seal, to wit:

I. Whether it did not, as hereinbefore charged, make, execute, and deliver to your orator, and John J. Palmer, and William R.
1213 Hallett, the mortgage with the conditions and power hereinbefore mentioned.

II. Whether it did not make and negotiate its bonds and secure the payment thereof, as hereinbefore set forth, by said mortgage?

III. Whether the said bonds are not outstanding and unpaid, and the interest which became due thereon, as hereinbefore alleged, does not remain unpaid or otherwise?

IV. Whether the said John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett are not deceased?

V. Whether it did not make application to a court sitting in Alabama, during the existence of armed hostilities between the governments then styled the Confederate States and the State of Alabama & the United States, and while your orator was residing in the State of New York, for the removal of your orator from the trusteeship of the first mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, upon the ground that your orator was a citizen of New York and an alien enemy of the Confederate States, and did not thereupon obtain some order of such court 1215 purporting to remove your orator from the office of trustee aforesaid, upon the sole ground of his being an alien enemy to the Confederate States?

VI. Whether the interest coupons of its first-mortgage bonds, which became due before the first day of May, 1875, were not paid by it, and the said coupons surrendered to it? And whether said coupons paid by it before the first day of May, 1875, were not afterwards delivered by it to Alexander Duncan and other parties, or to William B. Duncan for Alexander Duncan and such other parties, or to some other person for them? And whether said coupons are not now out of the possession and control of it, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, to the amount of $700,000 or thereabouts?

VII. Whether it is not destitute of the means of paying the overdue interest on the coupons of its first-mortgage bonds which fell due on the first day of May, 1875, and thereafter, and its affairs embarrassed as stated? And wh'ther its property is not inadequate to pay its debts and liabilities?

1216 And as to such of the defendants who may be out of the jurisdiction of this court, your orator prays that process may be issued to make them parties, and compel them to appear and answer this bill of complaint, if they should come within such jurisdiction, and if not, such proceeding may be had in regard to such defendants by publication or otherwise as may be according to the forms of the statute in such case made and provided.

And your orator prays your honors to make such interlocutory and final orders, and orders of injunction and decrees, and restraining orders as may be necessary to keep and sustain said railroad and its appurtenances in proper repairs, order, and condition for use, and to have the same used and operated until it can be sold and disposed of for the benefit of the bondholders; and in the mean time the incomes and profits thereof paid, appropriated, and applied, according to the true meaning, purpose, and intent of the mortgage hereinbefore described.

And until the final hearing of this cause can be had, and said mortgaged premises may be sold and disposed of for the benefit of the bondholders, and in the mean time be preserved and taken care of, and said railroad of said company operated, and the business of said company 1217 prosecuted and carried on to the best advantage of the holders of the bonds secured by the mortgage above described, and the incomes and tolls of the said railroad applied according to the tenor of the said mortgage and the rules of a court of equity.

Your orator prays that your honorable court appoint a receiver or receivers of all the property hereinbefore described, with such powers as may be adequate for such purposes, or may place your orator in possession of said mortgaged estate, under the terms of the conveyance to him

And to ascertain, fix, and determine what amount is due and owing by said railroad company for principal and interest upon its bonds issued by said railroad company, and secured by the first mortgage herein mentioned, and what is otherwise due and owing by said company, that an account may be made, taken, and stated, before a master to be appointed by this court, of all the debts of said company, with power to report on the priorities of liens on said property, according to the course and practice of a court of equity.

And to the end that the said property may be applied to the satisfaction of said liens and debts according to their lawful claims, that 1218 it may be ordered, adjudged, and decreed that the said railroad, its appurtenances, rolling stock, lands, franchises, rights, credits, and effects, and all the lands of said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company conveyed by said mortgage, be sold and the proceeds of said sale distributed among the holders of the said bonds, according to their respective rights, and as shall be found to be proper in a due and lawful execution of the trust so to be executed by your orator.

And on the final hearing and pendente lite may it please your honors to grant your orator such other, and further, and different relief as may be equitable in the premises.

And your orator also prays this honorable court of equity, that it may instruct and direct your orator in the execution of his trust hereinbefore set forth, and for said purpose your orator herewith submits his said trust to this court.

And your orator will ever pray, &c.

EXHIBIT B.

(Copy of deed of trust.)

Deed of trust.

This indenture, made this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company of the first part, and Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer of the city of New York, and State of New York, and William R. Hallett of the city of Mobile, and State of Alabama, of the second part,

Witnesseth, whereas, the legislature of the State of Alabama passed an act of incorporation, approved the third day of February, 1848, creating certain associates therein named, and their survivors, a body politic and corporate, by the name of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and by that name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to make and have a common seal, and the same break, alter, and renew at pleasure—vested with all powers, privileges, and immunities, which are or may be necessary to carry into effect its purposes and objects—authorized and empowered to locate, construct, and finally complete, a single, double, or treble railroad or way from some suitable point in the city of Mobile, in a western or northwesterly direction to the mouth of the Ohio River, in such route as shall be deemed most expedient, and to transport, take and carry property and persons upon said railroad or way, by the power and force of steam, of animals, or of any other mechanical or other power, or any combination of them which said company may choose to apply; and, for the purpose of constructing said railroad or way, the said company is authorized to lay out the road not exceeding one hundred feet wide, through the whole length; and for the purposes of depots, cuttings, and embankments, and for the purpose of necessary turnouts, and for obtaining stone and gravel, may take as much more land as may be necessary for the construction and security of said road, with permission to make any lawful contract with any other railroad corporation, in relation to the business of said company, and also to make joint stock with any other railroad corporation. Further, the State of Mississippi incorporated the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by act of its legislature, approved the seventeenth day of February, 1848; the State of Tennessee did also incorporate said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company by act of the legislature, approved the twentieth day of February, 1848; and also the State of Kentucky invested said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company with corporate rights by an act of its legislature, approved the twenty-sixth day of February, 1848, constituting the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company a full and complete corporation through the said State, authorized to purchase, hold, and dispose of real and personal estate; to borrow money; to make contracts for the loan of money; and to give evidence of debt, and securities for the payment of the same by pledge, mortgage, or otherwise, as it shall deem necessary and proper. And whereas said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in pursuance of the authorities vested by said charters, have surveyed and located the line of said road from the city of Mobile to or near the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, secured the rights of way, obtained depot grounds and valuable assets, all of which are of record in the records of said company, and of record in the counties intersected. And whereas the said roadway is under contract for the complete work of the road-bed from its respective termini, and in progress of construction, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, parties of the first part, resolved by vote of the board of directors, and in pursuance of the power and authority 1226 in said company vested, to raise a sum of money not exceeding six millions of dollars, for the purpose of completing said road, viz: the purchase of the iron and laying the same, the necessary turnouts, depots, and equipments; and for the purpose to execute, issue, sell and transfer the bonds of said company, in sums of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling each, of even date with these presents, payable in thirty years from date, each with coupons attached for interest, payable semi-annually; each coupon being for £6 15s. sterling; both the principal and coupons, and interest on said bonds, until paid, payable at the counting-house of George Peabody & Co., bankers, in London, England, each of said sterling bonds being the same as one thousand dollars, money of the United States of America, and not exceeding six thousand bonds, each to be numbered respectively from number one to six thousand inclusive, and for security for the payment of said bonds, to transfer to the said parties of the second part, all and singular, all the rights and franchises of said company, together with all its personal property of a fixed character, real estate, including its depots, warehouses, lots in town and country, and especially all lands donated by act of Congress, under date of the twentieth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, transferred in fee-simple to the said company, party of the first part, by act of the legislature of the State of Alabama, approved December first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; by act of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved January twenty-eight, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two; said lands having been duly selected, set apart and confirmed to said railroad company, party of the first part, and designated by described tracts, as will appear by the act of the Commissioner of the General Land-Office at Washington, certified, affirmed, and ratified by the act of the honorable the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, one of the executive departments of the governments of the United States of America, dated Washington, D. C., February the fourth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.

Now, therefore, this indenture further witnesseth, that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the better to secure the payment of said bonds, and every part thereof, with interest according to the tenor thereof, and in consideration of the sum of five dollars unto the said company, well and truly paid by the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, at or before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted, transferred, set 1227 over and conveyed, and by these presents do grant, transfer, set over and convey unto the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, the survivors or successors of them, in fee-simple, all and singular of the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth, being the first and only conveyance of title, grant, or mortgage, hereby guaranteeing and warranting the described items, assets and real estate, free from all liens or incumbrances, done or suffered to be done by the said party of the first part.

The said items, as set forth, are as follows: All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular, the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress herein-before referred to, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting, as by the certificate of the Department of the Interior, to 419,528.56-100 acres in the State of Alabama; to 737,130.36-100 acres in the State of Mississippi—total, 1,156,658.92-100 acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township four south, range one west, of lands subject to entry in the S't Stephens land-office, Alabama, being 692.78-100 acres, more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, State of Alabama, outside of the line of the railway, outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private purchase, not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County derived under and by the act of Congress; and saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction thereon, in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that said State, in the event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, which aid is provided for by law of that State, and, if used by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad, the said prior lien in favor of said State will be to the extent of said State aid, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile. To have and to hold the said premises, hereinbefore set forth, to the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, their survivors or successors, for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations, or any other party who shall 1228 or may be holders of the before-described bonds, or any of them, conditioned as follows:

The said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of the lands donated by act of Congress, and set forth in the before-mentioned certificate of the Secretary of the Interior, of February fourth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, for 1,156,658-100 acres, and any other lands that may be obtained for the said company by the present or by future acts of Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds; said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first days of January of each and every year during the period of the trust herein made, to the said parties of the first part.

The said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett shall have full authority to appoint an agent or agents to attend to said land business, who shall account for his or their doings to them, paying over to them all the proceeds of sales or rents, or profits derived from said lands. It is provided, however, that unless the said railroad company should be in default, on any obligations connected with said bonds, no sale of said lands shall be made, except by and with the advice and consent of said company.

The said party of the second part, themselves, or regularly constituted attorney, are hereby vested with authority to issue proper and sufficient deeds of muniments of title.

As to other items of assets of real estate, tolls, or income of said company, they are to remain in the possession or under the control of the said company, except the said company become in default for the payment of said bonds or interest, or any portion thereof; in such case the said party of the second part is hereby vested with full authority to take possession and control of all and singular the entire estate and properties of whatsoever name or kind, and hold the same for the benefit of any and all creditors, with such other action and disposition as shall be equitable to all concerned, provided the said party of the second part shall not claim to take such possession and control, unless said company remains in default of payment of the said bonds or interest for the space of three months after being due and payable.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company further covenant and agree to make to said party of the second part their survivors or successors, any further assurance or instrument as may be necessary, at any future time, to carry out the equitable intentions of this deed; and the 1229 said company, for themselves, their successors and assigns, do hereby covenant and agree with the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or their successors, in behalf of the bondholders, that the money received on the said bonds shall be applied in good faith on the construction and completion of said road, and putting the same into operation.

And, on the failure of said company to do and perform any and all the covenants herein agreed, the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or survivors or successors, upon the request in writing of any one or more of the bondholders, may and shall take actual possession of all said railroad and the other property and effects of said company hereby conveyed, transferred, and assigned, or so intended to be, and through the agency of such person or persons as they may from time to time appoint, may receive and collect the tolls, incomes, and profits of the same for the purpose of the security hereinbefore declared, and may sell and dispose of the said road and other property hereby mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned, or so intended to be, and all benefit and equity of redemption of the said company therein, always with the benefit of franchise, and subject to the conditions thereof, at public auction, giving reasonable public notice of the time and place of sale, and as the attorney or attorneys of the said company for that purpose, by these presents duly constituted to make and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof good and sufficient deed or deeds of conveyance for the real estate in fee simple or otherwise, according to the title of said company therein, and good and proper transfer and assignments of the personal property; and out of the money arising either from the income or profits of the said road and other mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned property, or the effects of the sale thereof, after deducting the expenses incurred in carrying on the business of the road and in keeping the same in repair, together with the costs, charges, and counsel-fees incurred in their proceedings, and a reasonable compensation to themselves for their services, in case of such sale, to apply so much of the residue as may be necessary to pay the principal and interest which may be due on said bonds issued as aforesaid, rendering the balance of such moneys, if any shall remain, to said company.

And the sale so made shall be a perpetual bar against the said parties of the first part and the persons claiming by, from, or under them. Provided, however, and it is hereby expressly understood and agreed that neither of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or their successors or assigns, shall in no manner be liable or responsible for any act of the other to which he does not expressly assent; and 1230 that they shall be accountable only for the exercise of reasonable care and dilligence in their management in the premises.

And it is further covenanted and agreed between the said parties, that if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company and the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and shall thereupon make, execute, and deliver all and singular such other and further instruments or assurances as may be necessary to enable such person or persons so selected to act in the execution of these presents. But until such selection of some person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and the execution of the papers requisite to enable him or them to act, the act or acts of the other shall, notwithstanding such vacancy, be in all respects legal and valid. And it is expressly understood that the conveyance made by this indenture is only on and for the present rights, interest, and property, and in the future to be acquired rights, interest, and property, and appurtenances of the parties of the first part as do or may exist on the line of said railroad, from the city of Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River. And it is hereby further provided, and these presents are upon the express condition, that upon the payment or satisfaction of the principal and interest of the aforesaid bonds, the estate hereby granted and conveyed to Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, their survivors or successors, and the property and effects mortgaged, conveyed, or transferred to them shall cease and become void; and the said company shall thereupon be fully and immediately reinvested with the same, both in law and equity and in fact, without any entry or other act whatever.

In witness whereof, the parties of the first part have caused these presents to be acknowledged by their president, and attested to in their behalf by their president and secretary, and their common seal 1231 thereunto affixed; and the said parties of the second part hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY et als.
} On bill, &c.

The petition of the Rogers Locomotive and Machine Works, of Patterson, New Jersey, a corporation of the State of New Jersey, respectfully shows that it is the holder of a large number of bonds, issued by the said defendant corporation, under and by virtue of a mortgage executed by the same, commonly called the second mortgage. That the said bonds, so held by the petitioner, amount in the aggregate to about the sum of $100,000$\frac{00}{100}$.

Petitioner, under advice of counsel, states that the plaintiff in the above-entitled cause, as this court has solemnly adjudged, is 1233 the lawful trustee and owner of the of the legal estate of the said The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in all its railroad appurtenances, land granted by the United States Government in aid of the construction of the said railroad, and all other property whatsoever that is included in and covered by the first mortgage, referred to in the bill of complaint in this cause, and made a part thereof, and is in equity the the representative of the holders of bonds issued under the said first mortgage, who are the real owner' of said property in the first instance; but petitioner shows that if the value of said property is more than sufficient to satisfy the said first mortgage, petitioner and others in similar right, holders of the bonds issued under the second mortgage, are entitled to be satisfied out of the proceeds of the property aforementioned.

Petitioner desires to be heard in the above-entitled suit in order that its rights may be duly respected and enforced, and that the rights 1234 of all other holders of bonds issued under the said second mortgage who shall or may come in and pray to be heard may have their rights respected and enforced.

Petitioner prays that this honorable court will be pleased to admit petitioner as a party defendant to the said bill of complaint, and that petitioner may have leave to answer the same.

And petitioner further prays that this petition, in so far as it answers the allegations of said bill of complaint, may be taken and considered as an answer to said bill, and petitioner hereby expressly admits all the allegations of said bill.

And petitioner prays for such other and further relief in the premises as may be agreeable to equity and good conscience.

Petitioner joins in the prayer of said bill of complaint for the appointment of a receiver or receivers of said railroad and other property mentioned therein.

MORRIS KETCHUM, AS SURVIVING TRUStee, &c., vs. THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMpany et als.	No. 97. On bill, &c.

The petition of the Rogers Locomotive and Machine Works, of Patterson, New Jersey, a corporation created by the laws of said State, on behalf of itself and all others in like interest who may come into this petition, respectfully shows that it is necessary, pending the said entitled cause, that a fit and suitable person or fit and suitable persons should be appointed receiver or receivers of the said railroad, lands, and other property mentioned and referred to in the said bill of complaint.

Petitioner further states that the annexed is a true copy of a cir-1239 cular from bondholders representing, as as firms and individuals, at the time of the issuance of said circular, and without including proxies received since the date thereof, five hundred and eighty-eight thousand dollars of first-mortgage sterling bonds of the corporation defendant.

The said paper annexed is marked "Exhibit A," and the statements therein contained petitioner believes to be true.

Petitioner states that other holders of bonds issued under the said second mortgage of the said defendant corporation, who are represented by a committee, are in accord with your petitioner in this its petition. The said committee represents bonds issued under the said second mortgage to the amount of about three hundred thousand dollars.

Petitioner respectfully refers this honorable court to a true copy of the unanimous opinion of the court of appeals of the State of New York, which is annexed hereto, marked "Exhibit B," and which exhibit 1240 petitioner states, under the advice of counsel, conclusively shows the unfitness of W. B. Duncan, one of the present receivers, to be in charge of said property as an officer of this court.

In regard to the other receiver, A. F. Elliott, petitioner states that he has made an assignment in insolvency as a member of the firm of Duncan, Sherman & Co.; that he is at present engaged in the business of an insurance-agent in the city of New Orleans, and therefore is entirely unfit for the functions of receiver of said railroad and property.

Petitioner further states that the said W. B. Duncan has been adjudicated a bankrupt by the United States district court for the southern district of New York on the petition of his creditors under the provisions of the law of the United States commonly called the bankrupt law, and the bankruptcy proceedings are now pending.

Petitioner therefore prays, the premises considered,

First. That this honorable court will be pleased to appoint receivers in this suit under the title of the complainant herein for the purpose 1241 of executing the trusts of the mortgage to him, and with all the powers of receivers according to the practice of the court of chancery.

Second. That all other persons whomsoever now in possession of said railroad and other property under any claim of title whatsoever, be ordered and directed by this court to surrender and deliver up the said possession to the receivers who shall be appointed by the court in the said entitled cause, and further that the persons at present in possession of the said railroad and property do account to the court for all their actings and doings, under any previous orders of the court, and that petitioner may have such other and further relief as may seem meet to the court, and petitioner will ever pray.

THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET ALS.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern District of New York, ss:

Charles Moran, Daniel C. Moran, Amedie D. Moran, Henry Amy, and Gustave L. Hoppenstett, being duly and severally sworn, deposes and says each for himself that he and the firms of Moran Bro's and H. Amy & Co. are the owners and representatives, as individuals and firms, of five hundred and sixty-seven thousand dollars of bonds, secured by the first sterling mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of which forty thousand dollars thereof are interest bonds. That it the bondholders whom they represent are in great part aliens and 1244 residents of various States of the Union far distant from the line of said railroad, and their constituents rely entirely upon them for the protection of their interests, as they are unable, on account of their scattered condition, to act each in his own behalf.

Most of these bondholders purchased these securities for legitimate investment, and the strictest application of the property and of its resources to the payment of their interest is a matter of the utmost necessity to them. They advanced their money on the faith of the first lien upon the greater part of the property and its resources, and they are unwilling that any portion of the estate or its income should be diverted to any other purpose than the prior satisfaction of the debts justly due them. They are also unwilling that the credit and character of the estate, which is their security, should suffer from the fact that its custody, as well as its administration, is in the hands of W'm B. Duncan and Andrew F. Elliott.

They present to this honorable court the the statements contained 1245 in the following sworn papers, and in the documents hereinafter referred to, and all of which statements are true, as they are informed and believe. They exhibit the affairs of the property since it has been under the control of said Duncan and Elliott, and likewise the facts showing the personal unfitness of said parties to occupy positions of great trust and power in connection with the management and resuscitation of a railroad property reduced to insolvency and requiring the highest character, credit, and competency for its redemption.

And your petitioners likewise show that both Duncan & Elliott are wholly irresponsible in a pecuniary point of view, and their bondsmen are two attorneys at law, S. L. M. Barlow and W. W. McFarland, who are likewise on the bond of W. D. Shipman, the assignee in insolvency of Duncan and Elliott, to the amount of six hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and the total amount of said bonds deponents verily be-1246 lieve is in excess of their ability to respond over and above their other liabilities.

1247 EXHIBIT A.

OFFICE OF MORTGAGE BONDHOLDERS OF THE
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY,
November 24th, 1876.

To the creditors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company:

The undersigned, owners of first mortgage sterling bonds of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, have duly considered a circular signed by Messrs. William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Dupuy, accompanying a plan of reorganization of said company, which has been submitted to us for our signatures.

The object of this plan can only be, it appears to us, to further the interests of the inferior securities of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, at the expense of the first and other mortgage bondholders. After a careful examination we believe it to be most unjust to our interests as holders of those bonds, and we respectfully call the attention of all the parties in interest to the following simple statement of facts, and the conclusions drawn from them by us. The facts are mostly taken from the records of the courts having the present custody of the property of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and hence cannot be denied.

Messrs. William B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott have been for several years directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company. The former was the head of the banking-house of Duncan, Sherman & Co., of this city, and the latter the New Orleans agent of that house. For about a year before the default of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company on the interest of the first mortgage bonds, Mr. Duncan had been president of the company, and still acts as such president.

In April, 1875, shortly before the default in the payment of interest, Messrs. Duncan and Elliott claimed to become trustees of the first sterling mortgage, Mr. Duncan, at the time, being a trustee for the so-called Tennessee substitution bonds, and likewise for the consolidated mortgage bonds. Immediately upon the default, which transpired in May, 1875, the directors surrendered possession of the entire property 1248 of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to Duncan and Elliott, as trustees for the first mortgage bondholders. A few days afterwards, Duncan and Elliott filed a bill in the United States circuit court for Alabama, and were invested by said court with the powers of receivers of the property. Since that time Duncan and Elliott have administered the property, through the agency of T. Haskins Dupuy.

THE FLOATING DEBT CLAIMS.

On or about the 9th day of April, 1876, the floating debt creditors of the company applied to the United States court for the sale of $550,000 (five hundred and fifty thousand dollars) of securities, belonging to the first mortgage, and the application of the proceeds in liquidation of their claims.

W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott claiming to represent the first mortgage bondholders offered absolutely no opposition to this demand.

The sole defense of the interests of the first mortgage bondholders was made on behalf of Mr. Morris Ketchum, as surviving trustee of their mortgage, aided by some of the bondholders. Without this timely action on the part of Mr. Ketchum, it is clear that the court would have been led to grant the order in favor of the floating debt claimants, which would, in effect, have appropriated our property for the benefit of other persons. Indeed, the lack of all opposition on the part of the first mortgage bondholders, other than as above stated, was urged on the court as an acquiescence by the bondholders generally in this appropriation of their property. Fortunately, however, the scheme was entirely defeated, and the United States circuit judge sustained Mr. Ketchum in his opposition on our behalf.

The assets, amounting to more than half a million dollars, of securities, thus saved for our benefit, we should seek to have applied to the payment of our over-due coupons. This strange proceeding of the floating-debt holders, and the absence of all defense on our behalf by W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, warn us of the necessity of a proper representation of the first mortgage bondholders.

1249 ALEXANDER DUNCAN'S CLAIMS.

In their proceedings by bill filed in the United States circuit court, Messrs. Duncan and Elliott declare that the coupons of the first mortgage bonds which fell due in May and November of 1874, which had been paid to the bondholders, were still outstanding and subsisting first mortgage liens on our property. These coupons were presented and were paid in the same manner in which all previous coupons had been presented and paid. It was generally supposed, and every one had a right to suppose, when they were paid and surrendered, that they ceased to be a part of the first mortgage. Nevertheless, it was claimed about the time of the default in 1875, that these coupons were outstanding liens on the property, and they now appear mainly in the hands of Mr. Alexander Duncan, father of William B. Duncan, who claims them by assignment from Duncan, Sherman & Co., to the amount of nearly ($736,000) seven hundred and thirty-six thousand dollars. It is claimed that these coupons should participate in our mortgage, and, to the same extent, reduce the value of our bonds. These coupons were paid in the regular and usual way, and they should not be paid again, at least with our consent. Dead and paid coupons cannot be revived in this way to eat up mortgaged property. If this should be submitted to, the payment of mortgage interest can always be turned into a loan to the bondholder, to be deducted from the amount of his mortgage. We cannot consent to any plan of reorganization which proposes to take three-quarters of a million dollars from the mortgage estate, as does the plan offered under date of October 12th, 1876, which purposes to include all coupons "whose original due date named therein shall not be later than November 1, 1877."

THE TENNESSEE CLAIMS.

In the various proceedings before the United States circuit courts, W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott admit that certain claims called Tennessee substitution bonds, hold a priority over the first mortgage sterling bonds, on the 118 miles of the main line running through the State of Tennessee. In addition, a distinct suit in the United States 1250 circuit court of Tennessee was instituted in the name of William B. Duncan, Adrian Iselin, and R. T. Wilson, as trustees for these Tennessee substitution bonds, to enforce in their favor a priority over the first-mortgage bonds. The sole representatives of the first-mortgage bonds served with notice of these legal proceedings in Tennessee were Duncan and Elliott, who claim to represent the first-mortgage bonds as trustees. No defense whatever was made by them in this action, and the consequence was that a decree was obtained, by default, against the first mortgage, and an order of sale of the Tennessee section of the road was entered for the benefit of the Tennessee substitution bonds, leaving the first mortgage bonds only such balance, if any, as might remain. The excuses offered by W. B. Duncan to palliate his conduct in this matter, and his efforts to avoid the effect of his laches, cannot countervail his express admissions in favor of these subordinate claims and against the first mortgage.

Now, in fact, the first mortgage is a first lien on the entire line, the lien formerly created to protect the advances made by the State of Tennessee to the company having long since been satisfied by a return to the State of its bonds to the full amount of the advances made by the State. It is true, there was an attempt to assign the State's lien, after its liquidation, to the holders of the Tennessee substitution bonds; but, as these bonds were created long after the first-mortgage bonds, and were issued only after the full liquidation of the advances of the State, and as they are entirely different in nature from the cancelled State bonds, these new substitution bonds cannot obtain a priority over the first-mortgage bonds by any arrangement between the company and its subsequent creditors.

But, even assuming that the substitution bonds are entitled to the benefit of the satisfied and extinct lien of the State of Tennessee, the proposed plan of reorganization gives them an advantage over the first-mortgage bonds entirely unwarranted and unjust. These bonds are for £225 sterling each, payable in London, equal to $1,100 gold or $1,200 in currency. These bonds are proposed to be admitted into the 1251 reorganization only for the sum of $1,000, and they are allotted only $440 in the new first-mortgage bonds for each sterling bond; whilst the Tennessee substitution bonds, which cannot claim more than $1,000 currency under the State lien, are allotted $625 for each $1,000 bond; and the past-due coupons of these bonds are admitted into the proposed reorganization at $36 each, although only entitled to claim under the State lien $30 in currency.

In fact, these various proceedings are simply attempts to give an unjust priority over the paramount rights of the first mortgage bonds to the following claims:

Floating claims	$536,000
Alexander Duncan's claims	736,000
Tennessee claims	2,018,028
Total loss to mortgage bondholders	3,290,028

Those who favor or passively submit to the priority of these various claims over the first mortgage bonds, appeal to the current, well-founded objection against litigation in the courts. But, if litigation continues, on whom shall the blame fall—on those who defend their just rights, or on those who attempt to secure an undue and unjust advantage over prior liens? In all events, we shall henceforward take good care that the property and assets are fairly managed and applied for the benefit of the parties entitled to them.

In our judgment the property should be taken out of the courts and placed under the direct administration of the mortgage bondholders and their representatives; and we sincerely believe that an effort of the bondholders to protect themselves against the foregoing claims, and to reorganize the property in their own interest, while treating all the various other interests with the utmost liberality, will meet the same success that attended the resistance to the priority over the mortgage bonds sought to be obtained by the floating creditors.

In case of the sale of the road on foreclosure, it would probably not bring the amount of the first mortgage. It therefore rests entirely with the first mortgage bondholders to determine the conditions on which they will admit the junior securities to participate in the purchase.

1252 We suggest and recommend to our fellow-bondholders and to all other parties in interest to unite with us in order to effect on the following terms, which appear to us equally just to all the various parties in interest:

I. Obtain from the court an order for the application to the payment of our overdue coupons of the assets which it was lately attempted to apply to the payment of the floating-debt creditors.

II. Release the property from the hands of the court, by the sale of the entire line, from Mobile, Alabama, to Columbus, Kentucky; at such sale the property to be purchased for the benefit of all the securities ot the present company, and the purchasers to reorganize the company in accordance with this plan.

III. The reorganized company to create and issue new securities, as follows:

(a.) Six per cent. bonds, payable, principal and interest, in gold, secured by a first mortgage on the entire line from Columbus, Kentucky, to Mobile, Alabama, and on all the property, rights, franchises and lands acquired by the purchase for account of the reorganized company; said bonds to be issued in exchange for the first-mortgage sterling bonds, and for the interest-bonds, and for the unpaid coupons on those bonds, which matured on and after the first of May, 1875. We propose to admit the interest-bonds on the same basis with the first-mortgage bonds, because the old first-mortgage coupons are held in trust for the benefit of the holders of the present interest-bonds.

(b.) First-preferred income-bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the present second-mortgage bonds, and for unpaid coupons to March 1, 1878.

(c.) Second-preferred income-bonds, bearing 7 per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the present convertible bonds and unpaid coupons to March 1, 1878.

1253 (d.) Third preferred income-bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the Tennessee substitution bonds and unpaid coupons, to January 1, 1878.

(e.) Fourth preferred income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the consolidated bonds.

(f.) Surplus income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in settlement of floating debt.

COMMON STOCK.

To be issued to the amount of the present common stock, but to be held and voted on by the trustees of the new first mortgage until interest on all the above bonds has been paid out of nett earnings for three successive years. Thereupon, the certificates to be assigned to the present stockholders or their representatives.

We are satisfied that the property is amply able to meet the amount of first mortgage interest called for by the above plan, and that the charter rights will be unimpaired by a sale for our benefit.

The holders of all the securities, other than the first mortgage, who do not accede to this plan within a time to be limited by the purchasing committee, will be debarred from participating in the purchase and reorganization.

In order to consummate the above plan of reorganization without unnecessary delay, we request all the creditors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to return, signed, the accompanying power, addressed to Committee of Mobile & Ohio Railroad Bondholders, 68 William street, New York.

The undersigned, holders of securities of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, now revoking all other powers, do hereby request and authorize to act in our behalf in the election of a 1254 purchasing committee, to be composed of two first mortgage bondholders and one second mortgage bondholder, who shall have the preceding plan carried into execution, by final decrees of the circuit courts of the United States, and by purchase and reorganization thereunder; and who shall take any and all proceedings deemed by them advisable in furtherance of said plan, which shall not be effectual until approved by a majority of the first mortgage bondholders. After the reorganization on the foregoing basis, the possession of the road to be delivered to the directors who may be selected by a vote of the first mortgage bondholders, controlling the stock of the company under the foregoing plan.

EARL, J.:

The order of arrest against the defendants was based upon the provisions of the code, which authorizes such an order "when the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or incurring the obligation for which the action is brought," (Code, sec. 179, sub. 4,) and the sole question for us to determine is, whether the facts of the case, as disclosed in the affidavits, authorized the order.

1255 The defendants had for several years been bankers in the city of New York, doing an extensive business. They lived in princely style, had an elegant banking-house, with a large retinue of cashiers and clerks, and were reported to be very wealthy. The plaintiffs had done business with them for many years, and believed them to be perfectly responsible.

On the 21st day of July, 1875, the plaintiffs purchased of the defendants, in the ordinary way, at their banking house, a sight draft on the Union Bank, London, which was presented for payment early in August, and payment was refused. On the 27th day of July the defendants publicly failed, and made a general assignment for the benefit of their creditors. They then owed to creditors, in all parts of the world,

$5,000,000, mostly due, and had less than $2,000,000 of assets; and their financial condition must have been substantially the same when they sold the draft. They admit that they had learned of their embarrassed condition prior to the 21st day of July, and that they were then negotiating with European parties for help. They claim that they kept books in their business in which the entries were honest and real. It is incredible, then, that they did not know substantially their true condition. Although they had ample opportunity to do so, they did not show how much, if any, capital they at any time had in their business; they did not explain when, nor how, nor by what disaster they came to be thus largely insolvent; they did not disclose what they had discovered in the examination of their books, nor what their negotiations for help were, nor what reasons they had to hope that they could go on in their business. They were doing business based on a net indebtedness of $3,000,000, due to a set of duped and confiding creditors scattered through Europe and America. They must have known that they were utterly and hopelessly insolvent; that their condition was such that no change of fortune or friendly aid could relieve them; that their banking house might any day be closed, and that they would soon have either to go into bankruptcy or make an assignment. From the facts disclosed in the affidavits, they had no reason to hope that they would tide over their financial difficulties. Yet they kept on their busi-1256 ness, holding out to their customers the same delusive appearances of solvency, and inviting the same confidence. After they were in this condition they could not, honestly, continue their business and receive the money of their customers. It is true that they had no particular intent to cheat and defraud the plaintiffs, but they must be held to have intended what was the inevitable consequences of their conduct, to cheat and defraud all persons whose money they received and whom they failed to pay before the final catastrophe happened.

The circumstance that when they sold this draft they had, as shown by their own books, a large amount of money on deposit in the Union Bank, is of no importance. None of that money was specifically appropriated to the payment of this draft, and, before the draft reached London, it had been wholly exhausted by prior drafts and letters of credit, and the defendant had become largely indebted to the drawee.

This is not like the case of an insolvent merchant buying goods for his store. In such a case the buyer and seller are on a footing of equality. The seller can enquire as to the solvency of the buyer, and thus, if honestly informed, judge for himself. But here the plaintiffs would not be expected to enquire of the solvency of the defendants, or to have any dealings directly with the defendants, but in the ordinary course of business they would buy their bills, as they did, like other customers, over the counter of the bank, of a clerk, asking no questions as to the solvency of the bankers. Hence, in the case of bankers, where greater confidence is asked and reposed, and where dishonest dealing, such as is disclosed in this case, may cause widespread disaster, a more rigid responsibility for good faith and honest dealing must be enforced.

This not like the case of a trader who has become embarrassed and insolvent, and yet has reasonable hopes that by continuing in business he may retrieve his fortune. In such a case he may buy goods on credit, making no false representations, without the necessary imputation of dishonesty. (Nichols vs. Pinner, 18 N. Y., 295; Brown vs. Montgomery, 20 N. Y., 287; Johnson vs. Monell, 2 Keys, 655; Chaffee vs.

1257 But it is believed that no case can be found in the books holding that a trader who was hopelessly insolvent, knew that he could not pay his debts, and that he must fail in business and thus disappoint his creditors, could honestly take advantage of a credit induced by his apparent prosperity, and thus obtain property which he had every reason to believe he could not pay for. In such a case, he does an act the necessary result of which will be to cheat and defraud another, and the intention to cheat will be inferred.

It follows from these views that the order must be affirmed.

Circuit court of the United States, fifth judicial circuit and southern district of Alabama.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY, W'm Butler Duncan, et als. } No. 97. In equity.

To the honorable the judges of the circuit court of the United States for the circuit and district aforesaid:

1. The petition of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation of the State of Alabama, and of W'm Butler Duncan, respectfully shows that they are defendants in the above-entitled cause pending on the equity side of this honorable court; and

2. That said complainant filed his said bill alleging himself to be trustee of a certain deed of trust and mortgage executed by your 1268 petitioner, the said corporation, and dated 1st November, 1853, and praying a decree of foreclosure and sale of the property in said deed described; and charging that his right and title as the sole surviving trustee of said deed was valid and unimpaired, by anything which had occurred after the execution of said deed, though his said bill admitted that he had knowledge in the year 1865 that a decree for his removal from said trust had before that time been made by the court of chancery of the State of Alabama, sitting at Mobile, in said State, and that other persons had by said court been appointed trustees under said deed in place of said complainant and of his co-trustees, Palmer and Hallett, who had before that time, when said decree was rendered, departed this life, and did not show that he had at any 1269 time before the filing of his said bill in this honorable court taken any steps to open said decree, or in any manner review or revise the same, or cause the same to be vacated, as was authorized by the laws of the said State of Alabama.

Said bill also showed that said deed of trust had been made and executed in the State of Alabama, and included in it property in the State of Alabama, and that said railroad company, which was the settler of said trust deed, had its home and chief place of business within the limits and territory of said State, and that your petitioner, W'm Butler Duncan, in connection with A. Foster Elliot, also a defendant to said bill, was, at the time of the filing of said bill by said complainant, in actual possession of said trust property and claiming title thereto 1270 as trustees under said deed, and as one of the trustees so appointed by the said court of chancery of the State of Alabama, as aforesaid, and had also been, by the order of this honorable court, appointed receivers of said trust property upon a bill then pending in this court.

3. Your petitioner, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, further shows that, in defence of said bill of complaint by said Ketchum, it filed its plea in bar to said bill, and thereby pleaded that said Ketchum is not sole surviving trustee under said deed, and at the time of filing his said bill was not a trustee under the said deed of trust, and not entitled to possess the property in said deed described, because said Ketchum had been removed from said trusteeship by the decree of the court of chancery of the State of 1271 Alabama, sitting at Mobile, upon bill filed by this petitioner, which was a court of competent jurisdiction of the subject and of the parties, and had taken jurisdiction thereof, and had proceeded upon good cause alleged in said bill, according to the laws of the State of Alabama, and the rules and practice of the court, and, by decree thereon rendered, had removed said Ketchum from the said office of trustee, and had appointed a successor to said Ketchum in said trust, who, from the time of said decree, had held and executed the duties of the said office of trustee, as the successor of said Ketchum and in his lieu and stead, until the time when said Duncan and Elliot were appointed such trustees; that said decree is still of record, and of 1272 full force and effect, not in any manner impaired, revised, reversed, or in any particular set aside; that no new trial or rehearing had been applied for, nor any appeal taken by said Ketchum; but said decree had been fully executed; and that said Ketchum, well knowing he had been so removed and discharged, had, from the rendition of said decree, acquiesced in the same, and had not thereafter done or performed any act or thing as such trustee, and had done nothing whatsoever in the execution of said trust duties.

4. Your petitioner, W'm Butler Duncan, shews to your honors that, in defence of said bill of said Ketchum, he demurred thereto, and thereby insisted that said complainant did not, by his said bill, 1273 shew he was entitled to the relief he prayed, because, while he admitted that said decree of removal had been rendered by said court of chancery of the State of Alabama, and that he knew of the same in the year 1865, he did not shew that he had applied, as he was authorized by the laws of the State of Alabama to do, at any time prior to 26th June, 1869, to have the same reheard, retried, opened, or set aside by the said court by which said decree had been rendered; and did not, by his said bill, shew that he had taken any steps of any kind, as he had full opportunity, and as it was his duty to do, if he was not content with said decree of removal, to have the same revised and reviewed by appeal, or opened, reheard, or re-examined by the 1274 court which had rendered said decree, and, therefore, by the laws of the land, said decree, by the acquiesence of said Ketchum had, before the date of the filing of his said bill of complaint, become final and conclusive upon him, and he was not then trustee, as alleged by him, and not entitled to the relief by him prayed.

5. Your petitioners shew that, by order of this honorable court, said cause was set down for argument upon said demurrer and plea, and the same being afterwards argued before Honorable John Bruce, one of the judges of this court, it was by him adjudged and decreed on the 3rd day of February, 1877, a day of the term of 4th Monday of December, 1876, that said plea and demurrer be overruled, which plea, demurrer, 1275 and judgment of the court are of record in this honorable court.

6. Your petitioners respectfully shew to your honors that they are advised, and therefore respectfully so represent, that said judgment and decree upon said plea and demurrer are erroneous, and greatly to the injury of your petitioners; that said demurrer should have been sustained, and thereupon said bill of complaint dismissed, and that said plea in bar should have been held to be a good and valid defence to said bill, and complainant ordered to take issue thereon or his bill be dismissed, and that in not so ordering and decreeing your petitioners have been and are greatly aggrieved.

7. Your petitioners further show, that in substance, the same defence is presented by both plea and demurrer, though in different form;
1276 that at a former day in the progress of the cause, to wit, in April,
1876, the said plea in bar of your petitioner, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, was brought to the attention of his honor W'm B.
Woods, one of the judges of this court, then presiding, upon a motion of said complainant for the appointment of a receiver in the cause, and as an answer to said motion; and the same was considered by his honor, who thereupon refused said motion, and in his opinion declared that "Ketchum is not a trustee in the deed of trust, as claimed by him in his bill," and therefore his motion was without grounds to support it.

Your petitioners pray that said demurrer of petitioner Duncan, and the sufficiency of the plea of petitioner, the said Mobile and Ohio 1277 Railroad Company, may be reheard, and that said judgment and decree so made as aforesaid on the 3rd day of February, whereby said demurrer and said plea in bar were overruled, may be reversed, your petitioners submitting to pay such costs as the court shall award, in case their said complaint shall be found to be groundless.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET ALS.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Southern district of New York, to wit:

William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins DaPuy, being severally sworn, do depose and say, and each for himself says, that the following schedule is a correct and accurate list of the securities issued by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, transferred to these deponents as a committee of reorganization, under an agreement dated October 1st, 1876, a copy of which is hereto attached, said list containing the names of the assignors and the par value or amount of the several securities transferred to these deponents by said assignors respectively.

(S'gn'd) W. H. HAYS.
" W'M S. PIERSON.
" T. HASKINS DUPUY.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23 day of May, 1877.
(S'gn'd) JOSEPH GUTMAN,
United States Commissioner Southern Dist. New York.

1307 Memorandum of agreement and transfer, made the first day of October, 1876, by and between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a corporation by that name existing under the laws of Alabama, and operating also under the laws of the States of Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky respectively, party of the first part, and the various other parties whose names are subscribed hereto, being creditors of said company, some holding security as hereinafter specified, and others unsecured, each subscriber for himself and neither for the other, parties of the second part, and William H. Hays, of the city of New York, William S. Pierson, of Windsor, in the State of Connecticutt, and T. Haskins DuPuy, of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, parties of the third part:

Whereas the said railroad company, originally incorporated by the State of Alabama, and operating under the laws of that State, has, by the legislation of the several States of Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky respectively, obtained valuable corporate rights and privileges, as well as important exemptions, in those respective States;

And whereas, owing to a succession of misfortunes, the said corporation has fallen into arrear in the payment of its bonded and other indebtedness to such an extent that proceedings for the foreclosure of mortgages executed by it are now pending, which proceedings 1308 have gone to an advanced stage and are still being pushed, and, in addition, the day of payment named in some of its mortgages is near at hand;

And whereas differences and disputes have arisen between the different classes of holders of the securities and evidences of debt issued by said company, which differences and disputes, if persisted in, are likely to lead to protracted litigation, and to the sacrifice or deterioration of the property of the said company, and to great delay in the resumption of regular and legitimate operations on its road, and it is therefore deemed expedient that a scheme should be devised, to be assented to by the various classes of claimants upon the said company, for the harmonizing and compromising their respective claims, without ending the corporate existence or corporate powers of said company, and without putting an end to or limit upon its corporate privileges;

And whereas the secured indebtedness of the said company now exists in the form of bonds and coupons secured by mortgage liens, as specified in the schedule hereto annexed, and as appears by the books of the company, exclusive of interest on said coupons;

And whereas, in addition to said mortgage indebtedness, judgments have been recovered against said company, which are claimed to constitute liens upon some of its property, subject to its mortgage
1309 indebtedness, but a large part of which judgment indebtedness is presumed by lapse of time and otherwise to have been in fact satisfied, and in addition thereto the said company owes a considerable amount of floating or unsecured indebtedness, and the undersigned, holders of claims of the various classes against said company, as well those specified in the said schedule hereto annexed as judgment creditors and unsecured creditors, have agreed to compromise and compound with said company upon the said company's issuing new securities for all the said indebtedness in the manner hereinafter agreed upon, to the end that, if practicable, said foreclosure suits may be discontinued, and the property affected thereby restored to the custody and control of the said company under the conditions of this agreement and the stipulations accompanying the same;

But whereas it is understood by said creditors that if such scheme shall be found to be impracticable because not assented to by a sufficient number of creditors, or for other reasons, that then the said foreclosure proceedings shall be prosecuted to either a sale or a strict foreclosure, and a purchase or acquisition of the property of the said company consummated for the benefit of the subscribers hereto, who are such creditors as aforesaid, and that a new corporation or corporations shall be created and new securities issued for the benefit of such creditors:

1310 Now this memorandum witnesseth, that the said parties hereto have covenanted, agreed, and transferred, and do hereby covenant, agree, and transfer, to and with each other, in manner and form following, that is to say:

First. The said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins DuPuy are hereby constituted assignees in trust, agents, managers, and attorneys of the said parties hereto who are creditors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, or holders of any of the securities specified in said schedule hereto annexed, for the purpose of receiving the several demands of said creditors who become parties hereto, and of realizing, converting, managing, and controlling the same, for the purposes, in the manner, and with the powers hereinafter specified.

Second. Each of the parties hereto, being a creditor of the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company at the time of the execution of this instrument, assigns, transfers, delivers, and makes over to the said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins DuPuy all the evidences of debt issued by said company, and claims against said company, now held by such subscriber hereto, whether in the shape of bond, coupon, note, judgment, open account, unliquidated demand, unpaid voucher, or otherwise, to be held by the said Hays, Pierson, and DuPuy, as such assignees, agents, managers, and attorneys, in the manner and for the purposes and upon the trusts so 1311 hereinafter declared concerning the same. Upon this instrument being subscribed by all the creditors of said corporation, holders of evidence of debt issued by said corporation, or of other claims against the same, the said assignees, agents, and attorneys shall have and hold the claims and evidences of debt of such creditors, with full power and authority to cançel, surrender, release, and discharge all such evidences of debt, claims, and demands so transferred to them, upon receiving from said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company new evidences of debt and securities to the extent and in the manner hereinafter provided.

Third. Upon the request of the said Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy, or their successors, the said corporation hereby agrees to execute and deliver, or cause to be executed and delivered, to the said William H. Hays, William S. Pierson, and T. Haskins Du Puy, or their successors or appointees, new bonds and obligations, or acknowledgments of indebtedess secured respectively by a new mortgage and trust-deed to be made by said corporation, as hereinafter provided, and containing such stipulations and clauses for the security of the creditors of said company as the said assignees and attorneys shall advise and require, not in conflict with the provisions of this agreement.

Fourth. The said new mortgage shall be called the first mortgage, and shall constitute a first and primary lien on all of the main line of 1312 the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad, lying at and between the city of Mobile and the city of Columbus, in the State of Kentucky, (exclusive, however, of the several branches now possessed or to be acquired or constructed, those now possessed being known as Aberdeen branch, Starkville branch, and the Gainesville branch,) covering all and singular the chartered rights, railways, sidings, turnouts, and all connected therewith; bridges, fences, warehouses, depot and office buildings, machine shops, tools, iron, timber, and all materials necessary in the repair of the road, rolling-stock or machinery, and all wood and coal and other materials necessary in running said road, and all fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may be hereafter owned by said company, and which shall be necessary to the business of said company, or for the purpose of carrying freight and passengers upon said main line; but not including any lands granted to said company by any State, or by the United States, nor lands which may be situated apart from the line of the road, and not actually required for the use or running of the road. The said trust deed shall be in the form, and shall have the effect and operation of a conveyance in trust to trustees, of the lands granted to said company by any State or the United States, as well as all lands belonging to the company and not necessary for the operation of the railroad of said company, 1313 and also so much of the net income of said company as shall remain after payment of current expenses, cost of maintenance, improvement and repairs, and interest on said new first mortgage, and on the debentures, as hereafter more particularly specified.

Fifth. The first mortgage mentioned in the last preceding paragraph shall be made for the security of the holders of the present outstanding issue of first mortgage bonds of said corporation, and of the coupons issued with said first mortgage bonds, whether such coupons are now detached from such bonds, or are now attached thereto, and for the benefit and security of the holders of the issues known as the sterling arrearage interest bonds, the funded arrearage interest bonds, and the coupons detached from or attached to such bonds, matured and unpaid, and also for the benefit and security of the holders of the issue known as the Tennessee substitution bonds, and coupons detached therefrom or attached thereto, matured and unpaid, all upon an equal footing as to grade of new security (provided such holders become parties to this agreement, and transfer the securities held by them respectively pursuant hereto), and for the purpose of providing funds for necessary expenses and outlay under this agreement. The total amount of principal money secured by bonds issued under the new first mortgage is 1314 to be seven millions of dollars, payable in the city of New York, in gold coin of the United States, on the first day of December, in the year 1927, bearing interest payable in lawful money of the United States, in the following manner: Two per cent. on the first day of December, 1877; two per cent. on the first day of June, 1878; three per cent. on each first day of December and June thereafter; and the bonds to be issued under said first mortgage may be in sums of either $1,000, $500, $300, or $100 each, and shall have negotiable interest warrants or coupons attached thereto, payable in New York. But the holders of the present first mortgage securities are to be interested in the new securities issued under the new first mortgage, as next hereafter stated; that is to say:

Sixth. Each subscriber hereto who shall have transferred to the said assignees, agents, and attorneys a first mortgage bond of said company, shall be entitled to receive an amount equal to four hundred and forty dollars for each one thousand dollars, or each £225, of the principal sum payable upon such bond so transferred, in a bond or bonds, to be issued under the said new first mortgage hereinbefore provided for, to be taken at par; and every subscriber hereto, who shall have so transferred first mortgage coupons of said company heretofore issued, (provided the due date originally mentioned therein shall not have been later than the first day of November, 1877,) shall receive an amount 1315 equal to the value of such coupons, as below estimated, in a bond or bonds, to be issued under said new first mortgage hereinabove provided for, each such coupon to be estimated for this purpose as being worth, and as securing the payment of, thirty-six dollars, except coupons maturing November 1st, 1877, which shall each be estimated as worth only six dollars; and each holder of sterling interest bonds who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bonds in pursuance hereof, shall be entitled in lieu of each bond so transferred, to a bond or bonds, for the principal sum of four hundred and forty dollars each, to be issued under said new first mortgage for each £200 of the principal amount of the bonds so transferred by him under this agreement; and each holder of coupons heretofore issued with any such sterling interest bond (provided the original due date named in such coupon shall not be later than the first day of November, 1877), shall be entitled in lieu thereof to a bond or bonds to be issued under such new first mortgage for the amount of the coupons so transferred, valuing each such coupon at the sum of thirty-six dollars, except coupons maturing November 1st, 1877, which shall be valued at only six dollars; and each holder of bonds generally known as arrearage interest bonds, who shall have become a subscriber to this instra-1316 ment, and who shall have transferred his bonds as aforesaid to said asignees and attorneys, shall receive in lieu of the bonds so transferred a bond or bonds to be issued under said new first mortgage for the par amount of $626 for each bond so transferred, and each holder of coupons heretofore issued with any such Tennessee substitution bonds (provided the original due date of such coupons was not later than July 1st, 1877), who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and who shall have transferred his coupons to said assignees and attorneys, shall be entitled in lieu thereof to receive a new first mortgage bond or bonds for the amount of his coupons so transferred, estimating each such coupon at thirty-six dollars, except the coupons maturing July 1st, 1877, which shall be valued at only thirty dollars each.

Seventh. The trust-deed hereinabove provided for shall be in part for the security of the same class of present creditors who, as above agreed, are entitled to be secured by the said new first-mortgage, to the extent of the difference, as below stated, between the amount of new bonds to be issued to them or for their benefit, as above provided, and the principal amounts of the bonds now outstanding and transferred by them respectively, and also for the benefit of the remaining creditors of said company who shall become parties to this agreement and become entitled to the benefit thereof; & to that end it is now provided—1317 Eighth. Each bond now held by any such present first-mortgage creditor as last aforesaid for the principal sum of one thousand dollars gold or lawful money, or for the principal sum of £225, £205, or £200, shall, for the purpose of ascertaining such difference, be estimated as worth one thousand dollars; and each bond payable in dollars, gold or lawful money, for a less sum than $1,000, shall be estimated at its face, without interest, and each bond payable in sterling money for less than £200 shall be estimated at the rate of five dollars for each pound sterling of principal money payable by the terms of such bond. And after charging to each subscriber hereto who shall have transferred bonds as above agreed, the principal amount of the bonds to be issued to him as above provided in the sixth paragraph, not taking into account any bonds issued in lieu of coupons transferred under said sixth paragraph, he shall be entitled to a preferred income and sinking-fund debenture or debentures, of the first series to be issued under said trust-deed, as hereinafter provided, for the difference between the principal sum of the new first-mortgage bonds so charged to him and the principal sum of the bonds so transferred, valued as above provided.

Ninth. The preferred income and sinking fund debentures issued under said trust deed may be in sums of $1,000, $500, $300, or 1318 $100 each, and shall not have any interest coupons attached thereto and shall not be payable absolutely, but only out of the sinking fund hereinafter provided; and shall be registered and shall be transferable only on the books of the company, at the office of the company, in the city of New York, and shall not otherwise be transferable; and shall be issued in successive series, the first series to be known as first preferred income and sinking-fund debentures; the second series to be known as second preferred income and sinking-fund debentures; the third series to be known as third preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, and the fourth series to be known as fourth preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, and such debentures shall be so expressed as that interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum shall be payable thereon yearly, that is, on the first day of February in each year, after the year 1878, upon the conditions herein specified, that is, on or before the first day of December, in the year 1878; and each year thereafter, said company shall ascertain as closely as practicable the net earnings of such company remaining after paying the expenses of the corporation, cost of maintenance, and proper repair, and the interest on the new first-mortgage bonds up to the first day of September next preceding, that being the end of the fiscal year; and in case there shall remain on such first day of December a residue of earnings for the year ending on the 1319 first day of September next previous, and if it shall then be ascertained that up to the first day of September next preceding that first day of December the earnings of said company, after making provision for such expenses, interest, and the proper maintenance of the property in good order, leave any sum applicable to the payment of interest on such debentures, then such net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest on said first preferred income and sinking fund debentures, not exceeding seven per cent. in lawful money of the United States; and such application and payment shall be made on or before the first day of February in the next succeeding year; and after payment of interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the first series, what remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest on said debentures of the second series, at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum; and after payment of interest at that rate on said debentures of the second series, what remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the third series; and what then remains of said net earnings shall be applied to the payment of interest at a rate not exceeding seven per cent. per annum on said debentures of the fourth 1320 series; but in case the earnings of any one of such years shall not be adequate to the payment of seven per cent. interest for that year on all or either series of said debentures, then the deficiency shall not have any claim upon the net earnings of any succeeding year. And the net earnings shall only be applicable to the payment of interest on either series of debentures in case such earnings shall amount to at least one per cent., or a multiple of one per cent., on the total amount of the debentures belonging to such series, so that fractions of net earnings exceeding such one per cent., or a multiple of one per cent., need not be included in the payment of interest for that year, but shall be carried to the credit of the earnings for the succeeding year.

Tenth. The aforesaid second preferred income and sinking-fund debentures shall be issued for the benefit and security of that class of the present creditors of said corporation who are known as second mortgage bondholders, all to be upon the same footing with each other as to security and priority. Each second mortgage bond of said company, and each coupon thereof now outstanding, shall be considered as of the par value represented on its face in currency, provided the the first day of March, 1878, except coupons maturing March 1st, due date originally specified therein shall not have been later than 1321 1878, which when for $80 on their face shall each be estimated as worth only twenty dollars, or in that proportion for any coupon of any smaller amount than $80. Each holder of a present outstanding second mortgage bond or coupon of said company, who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bond or coupon pursuant to the terms hereof, shall be entitled to receive dollar for dollar for the principal of his bond and coupon so transferred as aforesaid, in a second preferred income and sinking-fund debenture.

Eleventh. The said debentures of the third series shall be for the benefit and security of the holders of the present outstanding bonds of said corporation, known as convertible bonds, and shall be for an aggregate amount sufficient to represent the aggregate amount of now outstanding convertible bonds, and the interest thereon up to the first day of June, 1877. Each holder of a convertible bond who shall have become a subscriber to this agreement, and shall have transferred his bond as and in the manner aforesaid, shall be entitled in lieu thereof to a debenture of the third series, for the par amount of the bonds so transferred, estimating the same at its face value in currency, and the accrued interest on such convertible bond, to be computed up to the first day of June, 1877, shall be replaced by a debenture of the third series for the actual amount of such interest up to that date.

1322 Twelfth. The said debentures of the fourth series shall be for such amount as said assignees and attorneys shall determine to be necessary for the purpose of satisfying such judgment and unsecured indebtedness of the said company, as they shall deem to be morally obligatory in their discretion, so far as the same shall be held by subscribers to this instrument; who shall have transferred their claims to the said assignees and attorneys, subject to adjustment by said assignees and attorneys, but the same shall not exceed the sum of the face value of such judgments or indebtedness, and no unsecured or judgment creditor shall be admitted as a subscriber to this instrument, nor entitled to the benefit thereof, for any amount exceeding that which may be adjusted and allowed to him by said assignees and attorneys; and each such judgment and unsecured creditor who shall so become a party hereto, shall be entitled to a debenture of the fourth series for such sum as said assignees and attorneys may adjudge to be justly due to him.

Thirteenth. In case all the holders of the unsecured or judgment indebtedness of said corporation shall not have become parties hereto, or shall not have assented to the adjustment of their claims by the said assignees and attorneys, and the reduction thereof to the amount 1323 which said assignees and attorneys shall deem to be justly and equitably due thereon, then said assignees and attorneys, instead of cancelling and surrendering all of said mortgage bonds now outstanding, transferred to them under this agreement, shall hold said mortgage bonds or so much thereof as may in their discretion be necessary for the security of the new securities against said unsecured and judgment indebtedness, except that the new mortgage and trust deed issued by said corporation shall have priority over such old mortgage bonds; but such original mortgage bonds shall be held by the trustees in the new first mortgage, in trust for the benefit of the holders of the new securities of the said corporation, according to their order and priority, prior to and to the exclusion of the unsecured and judgment creditors, who shall not have assented to this agreement. And each of said present mortgage bonds transferred under this agreement, and held by said trustees as before stated, shall be stamped by the assignees and attorneys with the following words: "In pursuance of the terms of agreement made between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company and its creditors, bearing date October 1st, 1876, this bond is not negotiable, being held subject to the provisions and for the purposes mentioned in said agreement."

Fourteenth. The said assignees and attorneys shall not be au-1324 thorized to cancel or surrender any of the existing obligations or evidences of debt of the said corporation, transferred to them under this agreement, unless all the present holders of the mortgage securities of said company shall have become parties to this instrument and transferred the securities held by them on or before the first day of March, 1877, or at or before such time as the said assignees and attorneys shall have fixed, as in their discretion they may, by successive extensions of not more than sixty days each; nor until said corporation, or its stockholders, through legal and proper action of its stockholders, if such action be necessary, or otherwise, according to law, shall have entered into an adequate and sufficient arrangement or agreement with said assignees and attorneys, and with the holders of said debentures, enabling the holders of such debentures, or the trustees under said trust-deed, to vote at elections for directors of the said company, and irrevocably represent such stock, or a majority thereof, at all stockholders' meetings until such debentures shall be extinguished; and upon that privilege of representation being acquired by and vested in or secured to the trustees in said trust deed, or to the holders of the said debentures by the proper and legal action of such corporation or its stockholders, and upon all the new mortgages and securities above called for being issued, then such cancellation and surrender may be fully 1325 completed and consummated (except in the contingency provided in paragraph 13 of this agreement), and the property and management of the corporation may be restored to it, and said foreclosure suits may be discontinued.

Fifteenth. Any surplus of new securities created under this agreement not required for the satisfaction of the claims of existing creditors may be applied and appropriated by said assignees and attorneys to the payment of the expenses of making this agreement and carrying the same into effect, as well as the expenses of said foreclosure suits; and the said assignees and attorneys, as transferees and assignees of the subscribers to this instrument, shall have the same rights and relations to the foreclosure suits now pending, and to the complainants in said foreclosure suits, and to the receivers in said suits, and to the funds in their hands, which the subscribers to this agreement now have or would have if they continued to be holders of the bonds and claims subscribed hereto, and shall be entitled to the same share of the proceeds of the present management of the property of said company, and to the same share of the proceeds of the sale of such property, which their assignors would have upon a discontinuance of said foreclosure suits, or upon an 1326 accounting, or upon a sale or distribution of the proceeds; their several assignors to be considered, in relation to such proceeds, as being upon the same grade of priority and security as between and among each other upon which the provisions of this agreement would place them in relation to the new securities to be issued by said company.

Sixteenth. In case a sufficient number of subscribers shall not be obtained to this agreement on or before the time prescribed herein, to put it within the power of said assignees and attorneys to carry into effect the foregoing clauses and stipulations of this agreement, then this agreement shall be binding upon the subscribers thereto, provided it shall have been subscribed by holders of at least a majority in amount of the existing first mortgage indebtedness and Tennessee substitution bonds of said company, as recited in the schedules hereto annexed; and thereupon said assignees and attorneys shall have power and authority to appropriate the bonds, coupons, moneys (if any), and evidences of debt which shall have come into their possession, under the provision of this agreement, towards the purchase of the property of said railroad corporation, under such decree or decrees of foreclosure as shall be obtained in said pending suits, and shall have power and authority, 1327 and it shall be their duty, to aid the complainants in said suits in speeding said suits to their conclusion by decrees of foreclosure and sale, or of strict foreclosure, in the interest and for the benefit of the subscribers to this agreement, and they shall have power to turn the securities, received by them under this agreement, into court in payment for said property, upon the purchase thereof by them upon the foreclosure; and in the event of its becoming necessary for the protection of the interest of the parties subscribing thereto that any cash or other payment than the securities in their possession should be made into court, said assignees and attorneys shall have the power to make such payment for the account of and at the risk of the parties subscribing hereto, or by obtaining the amount thereof upon the security of the bonds and coupons in their hands; and shall likewise have power to apply for and receive dividends upon the bonds and coupons received by them under this agreement from the funds in court in the hands of the receivers, or of any master or marshal or clerk or otherwise to the same extent as the original holders of the bonds and coupons retained and held by them would have been; and while no authority is given to them to make any subscribers hereto personally responsible for the payment of any debt incurred by them, they are authorized with the assent of the trustees of the present first mortgages, or a majority of them, to pledge the

Seventeenth. The parties subscribing hereto and transferring any evidence of debt or claim according to the terms of this instrument, shall be entitled to certificates, specifying their contributions respectively and their interests respectively to and in this agreement and the benefits hereof; and each certificate shall be transferable and deliverable to bearer without a transfer being required to be made in any book or in writing, and shall represent on its face the securities deposited therefor.

Eighteenth. Upon the purchase of the property of said company by said assignees and attorneys at any sale or sales under decree of sale or strict foreclosure, it shall be their duty to avail themselves of any existing law in either of the States of Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, or Kentucky, or to procure legislation, so far as may be necessary, for the purpose of creating a new corporation or new corporations, to which it shall be their duty to transfer the property so purchased by them as early as practicable upon receiving from such new corporation the new bonds, debentures, mortgage and trust deed, hereinabove specified, for the same amount which would be required to carry the above pro-1329 posed compromise into effect, such mortgage and trust-deed to be made to one or more trustees, in each case to be selected by said assignees and attorneys, and to be properly framed for the security of the several classes of creditors to be benefitted thereby; and so far as the evidences of debt to be issued under such new mortgage or trust-deed, whether by said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company or by a new corporation, shall not be required to be issued or delivered in exchange for securities which shall have come into and remained in the hands of such assignees and attorneys under this agreement, such surplus securities shall be void, or so much thereof as in their judgment shall be necessary for the purposes hereinafter named; and the proceeds thereof, and also any sums received by them in cash from the receivers or from any officer of the court, shall be applied, in the first place, in repaying any sums advanced, or procured to be advanced, by said assignees and attorneys for the purpose of meeting the expenses of said foreclosure suits, and of carrying this agreement into effect, and the expense of making such purchase and reorganization; and then the surplus, if any, remaining from such disposition of such new securities, as well as any new securities which may remain unsold or undisposed of, and any sums realized by said assignees and attorneys from the receivers or managers of said property in said foreclosure suits, or from the management or running of the road, shall be accounted for 1330 by said assignees and attorneys to said new corporation, which said new corporation is to consist of and be created by the subscribers to this agreement, so far as they are entitled to the benefit of the same; and said new corporation, or said existing corporation, in case the compromise above specified shall be carried into effect, shall be considered as subrogated to all the rights of the subscribers to this agreement for the purpose of calling the said assignees and attorneys to account. The said assignees and attorneys shall be allowed out of the fund, for compensation for their services and responsibility, such amounts as shall be reasonably just according to the character of such services and responsibility; but there is no personal responsibility on the part of any subscriber hereto for any part of such compensation; and said assignees and attorneys, and their necessary clerks, bookkeepers, and their employees, of any grade or description, shall be entitled to a lien upon the new securities and upon the cash received by said assignees and attorneys, and the cash proceeds of such of the same as they are authorized to dispose of, for their compensation, liabilities, and disbursements, whether absolute or contingent, until their account shall have been duly and properly settled with such organization; and such existing corporation, or such new corporation or corporations, as the case may require, shall, before payment of interest on any of 1331 the new securities, assume and pay any excess of such compensation, liabilities, and disbursements above the amount realized by said assignees and attorneys from funds in their hands.

Nineteenth. The subscribers hereto, who shall respectively have transferred to said assignees and attorneys their several claims, provided such claims shall remain under the control of such assignees and attorneys, and available for the purpose of purchasing the property now mortgaged in said foreclosure suits, shall be interested in the property after such purchase and so long as the title thereto remains in said assignees and attorneys, as beneficiaries and cestui que trust, in the same proportions, and shall have the same relative rights and interests, as against each other, as in the new securities to be created under this agreement.

Twentieth. The trust-deed hereinabove provided for, whether executed in pursuance of the compromise agreed upon or by a new corporation or corporations to be created after a foreclosure, shall contain provision for the creation of a sinking-fund for the benefit of the holders of said debentures, in the order in which the interest on such debentures is, as above specified, payable.

Such sinking fund is to consist of the proceeds of all lands owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, with the excep-1332 tion of such as are covered by the above-mentioned first mortgage, and with the exception of the railway, rails, bridges, fences, warehouse, and other fixtures, rights, privileges, and real estate belonging to the above-mentioned branches, but including all lands not so covered, but conveyed to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company by any State or by the United States.

The trustees under said trust-deed are to have power of sale over said lands from time to time; and such trust-deed shall contain clauses properly framed conveying to the trustees under such deed the same powers of sale in respect to the lands conveyed thereby as are possessed by the trustees under the now existing first mortgage; and the first mortgage to be created under this agreement is not to apply to or cover such lands; and the proceeds of sales of said lands are to be free from the lien of said new first mortgage, and are to constitute a fund for the exclusive benefit of the holders of said debentures.

But such new trust-deed shall also contain a provision by way of covenant, declaration, grant, or otherwise, as said assignees and attorneys may direct, in substance and effect that the amount of principal and interest payable upon said debentures shall constitute a lien upon the railway property of said existing corporation, or of said new corporation or corporations, as the case may require, to such an extent that in case of a foreclosure of said new first mortgage and a sale thereunder, 1333 the trustees in said trust-deed, for the benefit of holders of said debentures according to their order and priority, shall be entitled to the surplus proceeds of such sale next after payment of said new first mortgage, to the amount of the aggregate principal sum due on such debentures, and so that in case any lien upon said railway property, or any part thereof, shall arise, subsequent to the making of said trust-deed by the act or sufferance of such existing or new corporation, and such subsequent lien shall be enforced to the extent of depriving said existing or new corporation of the possession of such railway property, or any part thereof, then the trustees in said trust-deed may enter into possession of such part of said railway property, and sell the same clear of all subsequent liens, for the benefit of holders of said debentures, according to their order and priority, or may exact redemption and payment in full of the principal amount of such debentures before surrendering such property to such subsequent lienors; and said trust-deed shall also contain proper covenants and securities for the ascertainment and application of the income of the property of said existing or new corporation and its successors, as the case may require, according to the provisions of this agreement; and there shall also be paid into the sinking-fund a further amount equal to the dividend which may hereafter be declared upon the capital stock now existing or here-1334 after to be created, of such company, which dividend shall not be declared or paid except an amount equal thereto is also paid in at the same time out of the net revenue into the sinking-fund.

The trustees making sales of said lands are to deposit the proceeds thereof in the Bank of the State of New York, in the city of New York, or such other depository as the trustees in said trust-deed may select in the said city of New York; and each six months—that is, on the first days of May and November—the trustees shall advertise in the cities of Mobile and New York, stating the amount so deposited and at the disposition of the sinking-fund, and asking for tenders thereof in the first series of said debentures then outstanding, awarding the amount so deposited to the holders of debentures tendered at the lowest grades of price in succession.

In default of any bids or tenders therefor at less than par the trustees shall thereupon draw by lot a sufficient number of debentures of the first series then outstanding to absorb such deposits, and shall apply such deposits to the purchase of the debentures so drawn by lot at par. After purchase of the said debentures of the first series the sinking-fund shall be applied in like manner and by the same means to the purchase of each other of the said several series of debentures in succession.

Twenty-first. In case a prosecution of said foreclosure-suits to a sale or to a strict foreclosure is found to be necessary, and it shall 1335 also be found necessary to create a new corporation or corporations, then the capital stock of such new corporation or corporations shall be fixed at not exceeding the sum of ten million dollars, to be divided into shares of one hundred dollars each, and shall be in the first instance issued to said assignees and attorneys as a part of the funds in their hands for the purposes of this agreement; and they shall so place a majority of such stock as to secure to the holders of said debentures, directly or through the trustees in said trust-deed, the control of the management of the corporation, and any surplus of such new stock remaining after that disposition of it, and after the trust under said trust-deed shall be fully executed, shall be treated in like manner with any surplus bonds or other securities to be issued by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, or by a new corporation or corporations under the provisions of this agreement.

Twenty-second. Bonds, securities, claims, and evidences of debt transferred to said assignees and attorneys under the provisions of this agreement, shall be deposited at the option of the parties transferring the same, either in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., in the city of New York, or in the Bank of Mobile, at Mobile, in the State of Alabama, or with C. M. Lampson & Co., in the city of London, or at 1336 the Frankfurter Bank Verein, in the city of Frankfurt, or with Lombard, Odier & Co., in the city of Geneva, who shall respectively be authorized to give therefore the certificates above provided for, or their receipts exchangeable for said certificates; and the securities so deposited shall remain in the several depositories, subject to the order of said assignees and attorneys, until the same shall be required for cancellation, surrender, exchange, or delivery into court by said assignees and attorneys, or for other purposes of this agreement, in which case the same shall be transmitted from the depositories thereof to such attorneys and assignees, either at the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., in the city of New York, or at the Bank of Mobile, in the city of Mobile, as said assignees and attorneys may direct; from which depositories the same may be taken by said assignees and attorneys when required for any or either of the purposes aforesaid; and securities and cash funds received by said assignees and attorneys, under the provisions of this agreement, shall be deposited by them, either in the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., in the city of New York, or in the Bank of Mobile, in the city of Mobile.

Twenty-third. In case of vacancy in the office of assignee or attorney under this agreement, arising from the death or resignation of either of the parties, or from his incompetency to act, the vacancy may be 1337 filled by the unanimous agreement of the trustees acting under this agreement.

Twenty-fourth. The said assignees and attorneys shall have an office in the city of New York, and shall keep regular accounts and books of account, showing their transactions, which shall be open to the inspection of certificate holders at reasonable times during business hours, and a majority of said assignees and attorneys shall be competent to transact business at any meeting of which all three of the assignees and attorneys shall have been notified, and any substituted assignee or attorney, duly appointed pursuant to the provisions of this agreement, shall have the same power, authority, and control which his predecessor had; and all the provisions of this agreement, and all the powers conferred thereby, shall apply to and be vested in such assignee and attorney so far as his predecessor had such power, or was subject to such provisions; but so far as any discretionary power is conferred by this agreement, no such discretion shall be or can be used without the consent of all the attorneys and assignees acting at the time under this agreement, and each assignee and attorney shall be responsible only for his own acts and not for the acts of others; and neither assignee or attorney shall be responsible for any error of judgment nor for any error or negligence of any subordinate officer or agent, unless such officer 1338 or agent shall be employed or continued in employment negligently by such assignees and attorneys.

Twenty-fifth. The new securities to be issued by said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, or by a new corporation or corporations to be created under the terms of this agreement, shall be, in the first instance, delivered by the said company to said assignees and attorneys, or their successors, who shall deposit the same in the said The Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., or in the said Bank of Mobile, and no subscriber hereto or his successor in interest shall be entitled to any portion of such new securities except upon a return or surrender to said assignees and attorneys at one or other of the said places of deposit of the certificate or certificates held by such subscriber. In case, in the original distribution of the new securities to be issued in pursuance of this agreement, any party shall become entitled to a fractional part, less than $100, of a bond or debenture, a certificate therefor may be issued, which, when united with other fractional certificates so as to make an entire bond or debenture for either one of the even amounts in which said bonds or debentures are above authorized to be issued, may be funded in such bonds or debentures of even amounts as the case may require.

1339 Twenty-sixth. The assignees and attorneys acting under this instrument are hereby invested with full power and authority to execute the provisions of this plan; to supply any and every defect in any and every case which is unprovided for in its terms, and to do anything and everything that is proper in their judgment to carry out its provisions.

Twenty-seventh. The said assignees and attorneys may, in the transaction of business, call themselves "The Committee of Reorganization of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company," and, when acting in that name, shall be considered as acting as attorneys, agents, managers, and assignees under this agreement.

In the adjustment of their accounts they shall be allowed such payments and expenditures as shall have been made by them in good faith, in the belief of the necessity of making such payments and expenditures for the benefit of the subscribers hereto and for the purpose of carrying this agreement into effect.

Twenty-eighth. All bonds, securities, and evidences of debt, etc., transferred under this agreement, shall be in the first instance deposited for the purposes of this agreement in one or the other of the depositories herein named, or in others selected as authorized by this agreement; and all new securities to be issued by the present corporation, or 1340 by a new corporation, shall, in like manner, be deposited with one or the other of said depositories, to be by such depository distributed to the parties entitled thereto, under the order and with the assent and approval of the assignees and attorneys; and in the transmission of either the present or future securities in fulfillment of this agreement, the assignees, attorneys, and depositories, using due diligence, may, in their discretion, insure or otherwise protect such securities at the expense of the fund, and in case of loss shall be relieved from liability.

Twenty-ninth. Any duplicate or other copy of this agreement which shall be subscribed by any holder of the said bonds, securities, liens, claims, judgments, or stock, and delivered to and accepted by said assignees and attorneys, shall have like effect as if such signatures were herewith subscribed.

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have hereunto set their hands and seals, or otherwise attested the same as the case may require:

NAME & ADDRESS.	CLASS OF BOND.	AMOUNT.

1341 Schedule annexed.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.

1. Sterling bonds, £225 each (by deed of trust stated as "each of said bonds being the same as $1,000"), issued 1853, due 1883.
2. Arrearage interest bonds, B. & C., £200 or £100 each, issued 1867, due 1883.
3. Interest bonds, O. P. Q, $1,000, $500, $200 each, issued in 1866, due 1876.
4. Arrearage interest bonds. F, F1, F2, F3, F4, $1,000, $500, $300, $100 each, issued 1868, due 1883.
5. Sinking fund gold bonds (Tennessee substitution), £205 or $1,000, issued 1871, due 1901.
6. The interest coupons on the above first mortgage issues appear by the books of the company to have been paid up to and including those which matured January 1, 1874, leaving outstanding and unpaid all the coupons on the above issues which matured on or after May 1st, 1874.

The foregoing principal and interest to be exchanged for first mortgage bonds, and first preferred income and sinking-fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

1342 SECOND MORTGAGE BONDS.

Several issues, L, R, S, T, Rr, Ss, Uu, $1,000, $500, $300, $100, and irregular amounts, issued in 1867, 1871, 1872, 1873.

The interest coupons on the above second mortgage bonds appear, by the books of the company, to have been paid up to and including those which matured March 1st, 1874, leaving outstanding coupons on above second mortgage bonds from and including those which matured March 1st, 1875; the principal and interest of these to be exchanged for 2nd preferred income and sinking fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS.

Secured next after the above-mentioned first and second mortgages by a mortgage known as the consolidated mortgage; also, by a deposit of the stock of the M. & O. R. R., 4 shares for each $100, in trust. Of these bonds there were issued in irregular amounts $977,550, but of this issue there remain unused by the company $471,000. The interest upon these bonds appears by the books of the company to have been paid up to and including that which matured December 1st, 1874, leaving outstanding unpaid the interest from that date. The principal and interest of these convertible bonds to be exchanged for 3d preferred in-1343 come and sinking fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

CONSOLIDATED MORTGAGE.

These bonds have been issued only to a very limited amount, as security to previously unsecured creditors, to give to them, as far as lay in the power of the company, a lien upon the property of the company, after the lien of the first mortgage, Tennessee substitution, second mortgage, and convertible bonds above enumerated. The original issue was contemplated to be $15,000,000, for the purpose of consolidating all the previous issues, but none were issued beyond the above amount, and the amount so issued was intended to cover all the floating and otherwise unsecured indebtedness, except judgments against the company. In the scheme of reorganization they are not recognized.

FLOATING DEBT AND JUDGMENTS.

The total amount of judgments outstanding appears by the records of the several counties through which the railroad runs to be about $170,000, but from various considerations it is inferred that many of them have been settled, or for other causes are no longer a claim against the company. The receivers are now engaged in examining into 1344 this matter. The total amount of floating debt outstanding, exclusive of interest, appears by the books of the company to amount to $538,702.78 (August 1st, 1876).

This may be increased by other unsettled claims, or reduced by realization of securities pledged. The principal and interest of judgments and floating debts is to be exchanged for fourth preferred income and sinking fund debentures, as provided by the scheme of reorganization.

DEED OF TRUST.

This indenture, made this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company of the first part, and Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer of the city of New York, and State of New York, and William R. Hallett of the city of Mobile, and State of Alabama, of the second part, witnesseth:

Whereas the legislature of the State of Alabama passed an act of incorporation, approved the third day of February, 1848, creating certain associates therein named, and their survivors, a body politic and corporate, by the name of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and by that name to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, to make and have a common seal, and the same break, alter, and renew at pleasure —vested with all powers, privileges, and immunities, which are or may be necessary to carry into effect its purposes and objects—authorized and empowered to locate, construct, and finally complete, a single, double, or treble railroad or way from some suitable point in the city of Mobile, in a western, or northwesterly direction to the mouth of the Ohio River, in such route as shall be deemed most expedient; and to transport, take, and carry property and persons upon said railroad or way, by the power and force of steam, of animals, or of any other mechanical or other power, or any combination of them which said company may choose to apply; and, for the purpose of constructing said railroad or way, the said company is authorized to lay out the road not exceeding one hundred feet wide, through the whole length; and for the purposes of depots, cuttings, and embankments, and for the purpose of necessary turnouts, and for obtaining stone and gravel, may take as much more land as may be necessary for the construction and security of said road, with permission to make any lawful contract with any other railroad corporation, in relation to the business of said company, and also to make joint stock with any other railroad corporation.

Further, the State of Mississippi incorporated the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by act of its legislature, approved the seventeenth day of February, 1848; the State of Tennessee did also incorporate said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by act of the legislature, approved the twentieth day of February, 1848; and also the State of Kentucky invested said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company with corporate rights by an act of its legislature, approved the twenty-sixth day of February, 1848, constituting the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a full and complete corporation through the said State, authorized to purchase, hold, and dispose of real and personal estate; to borrow money; to make contracts for the loan of money; and to give evidence of debt, and securities for the payment of the same by pledge, mortgage, or otherwise, as it shall deem necessary and proper.

And, whereas, said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in pursuance of the authorities vested by said charters, have surveyed and located the line of said road from the city of Mobile to or near the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, secured the rights of way, obtained depot grounds and valuable assets, all of which are of record in the records of said company, and of record in the counties intersected. 1350

And whereas the said roadway is under contract for the complete work of the road-bed from its respective termini, and in progress of construction, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, parties of the first part, resolved by vote of the board of directors, and in pursuance of the power and authority in said company vested, to raise a sum of money not exceeding six millions of dollars, for the purpose of completing said road, viz.: the purchase of the iron and laying the same, the necessary turnouts, depots, and equipments; and for the purpose to execute, issue, sell and transfer the bonds of said company, in sums of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling each, of even date with these presents, payable in thirty years from date, each with coupons attached for interest, payable semiannually; each coupon being for £6 15s. sterling; both the principal and coupons, and interest on said bonds, until paid, payable at the counting-house of George Peabody & Co., bankers, in London, England, each of said sterling bonds being the same as one thousand dollars money of the United States of America, and not exceeding six thousand bonds, each to be numbered respectively from number one to six thousand, inclusive, and for security for the payment of said bonds, to transfer to said parties of the second part, all and singular, all the rights and franchises of said company, together with all its personal property of a fixed character, real estate, including its depots, warehouses, lots in town and country, and especially all lands donated by act of Congress, under date of the twentieth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and fifty, transferred in fee simple to the said company, party of the first part, by act of the legislature of the State of Alabama, approved December first, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one; by act of the legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved January twenty-eighth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-two; said lands having been duly selected, set apart and confirmed to said railroad company, party of the first part, and designated by described tracts, as will appear by the act of the Commissioner of 1351 the General Land Office at Washington, certified, affirmed and titied by the act of the Honorable the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, one of the executive departments of the Government of the United States of America, dated Washington, D. C., February the fourth, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.

Now, therefore, this indenture further witnesseth, that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the better to secure the payment of said bonds, and every part thereof, with interest according to the tenor thereof, and in consideration of the sum of five dollars unto the said company, well and truly paid by the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, at or before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted, transferred, set over and conveyed, and by these presents do grant, transfer, set over and convey unto the said Ketchum, Palmèr and Hallett, the survivors or successors of them, in fee simple, all and singular of the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth, being the first and only conveyance of title, grant, or mortgage, hereby guaranteeing and warranting the described items, assets and real estate, free from all liens or incumbrances, done or suffered to be done by the said party of the first part.

The said items, as set forth, are as follows; All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad, lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular, the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may hereafter be owned, by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress hereinbefore referred to, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting, as by the certificate of the Department of the Interior, to 419,528 56-100 acres in the State of Alabama; to 737,130 36-100 acres in the State of Mississippi—total 1,156,658 92-100 acres; saving and excepting therefrom so much as lies in township four south, range one west, of lands subject to entry in the St. Stephens land office, Alabama, being 692 78-100 acres, more 1352 or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, State of Alabama, outside of the line of the railway, outside of its depots, and outside of the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private purchase, not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County derived under and by the act of Congress; and saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the roadway and construction thereon, in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that said State, in the event of said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz, one hundred and eighteen miles, which aid is provided for by law of that State, and, if used by said Mobile and Ohio Railroad, the said prior lien in favor of said State will be to the extent of said State aid, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile. To have and to hold the said premises, hereinbefore set forth, to the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, their survivors or successors, for the benefit security and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations, or any other party who shall or may be holders of the before-described bonds, or any of them, conditioned as follows: The said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of the lands donated by act of Congress, and set forth in the before-mentioned certificate of the Secretary of the Interior, of February fourth, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three, for 1,156,658 92-100 acres, and any other lands that may be obtained for the said company by the present or by future acts of Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds; said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first days of January of each and every year during the period of the trust herein made, to the said parties of the first part.

The said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett shall have full authority to appoint an agent or agents to attend to said land business, who 1353 shall account for his or their doings to them, paying over to them all the proceeds of sales or rents, or profits derived from said lands. It is provided, however, that unless the said railroad company should be in default, on any obligations connected with said bonds, no sale of said lands shall be made, except by and with the advice and consent of said company.

The said party of the second part, themselves, or regularly constituted attorney, are hereby vested with authority to issue proper and sufficient deeds of muniments of title.

As to other items of assets of real estate, tolls, or income of said company, they are to remain in the possession or under the control of the said company, except the said company become in default for the payment of said bonds or interest, or any portion thereof; in such case the said party of the second part is hereby vested with full authority to take possession and control of all and singular the entire estate and properties of whatsoever name or kind; and hold the same for the benefit of any and all creditors, with such other action and disposition as shall be equitable to all concerned, provided the said party of the second part shall not claim to take such possession and control unless said company remains in default of payment of the said bonds or interest for the space of three months after being due and payable.

The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company further covenant and agree to make to said party of the second part, their survivors or successors, any further assurance or instrument as may be necessary, at any future time, to carry out the equitable intentions of this deed; and the said company, for themselves, their successors and assigns, do hereby covenant and agree with the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or their successors, in behalf of the bondholders, that the money received on the said bonds shall be applied in good faith, on the construction and completion of said road, and putting the same into operation.

And, on the failure of said company to do and perform any and all the covenants herein agreed, the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or survivors or successors, upon the request in writing of any one or more of the bondholders, may and shall take actual possession of all said railroad, and the other prop-1354 erty and effects of said company hereby conveyed, transferred, and assigned, or so intended to be, and through the agency of such person or persons as they may from time to time appoint, may receive and collect the tolls, incomes, and profits of the same, for the purpose of the security hereinbefore declared, and may sell and dispose of the said road and other property hereby mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned, or so intended to be, and all benefit and equity of redemption of the said company therein, always with the benefit of franchise and subject to the conditions thereof, at public auction, giving reasonable public notice of the time and place of sale, and as the attorney or attorneys of the said company for that purpose by these presents duly constituted, to make and deliver to the purchaser or purchasers thereof good and sufficient deed or deeds of conveyance for the real estate, in fee-simple or otherwise, according to the title of said company therein, and good and proper transfer and assignments of the personal property, and out of the money arising either from the income or profits of the said road and other mortgaged, conveyed, or assigned property, or effects of the sale thereof, after deducting the expenses incurred in carrying on the business of the road and in keeping the same in repair, together with the costs, charges, and counsel-fees incurred in their proceedings, and a reasonable compensation to themselves for their services in case of such sale, to apply so much of the residue as may be necessary to pay the principal and interest which may be due on said bonds issued as aforesaid, rendering the balance of such moneys, if any shall remain, to said company.

And the sale so made shall be a perpetual bar against the said parties of the first part, and the persons claiming by, from, or under them. Provided, however, and it is hereby expressly understood and agreed, that neither of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, or their successors or assigns, shall in no manner be liable or responsible for any act of the other to which he does not expressly assent; and that they shall be accountable only for the exercise of reasonable care and diligence in their management in the premises.

1355 And it is further covenanted and agreed between the said parties that if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become from any cause incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company and the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and shall thereupon make, execute, and deliver all and singular such other and further instruments or assurances as may be necessary to enable such person or persons so selected to act in the execution of these presents. But until such selection of some person or persons to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and the execution of the papers requisite to enable him or them to act, the act or acts of the other shall, notwithstanding such vacancy, be in all respects legal and valid. And it is expressly understood that the conveyance made by this indenture is only on and for the present rights, interest, and property, and in the future to be acquired rights, interest, and property, and appurtenances of the parties of the first part as do or may exist on the line of said railroad, from the city of Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River. And it is hereby further provided, and these presents are upon the express condition, that upon the payment or satisfaction of the principal and interest of the aforesaid bonds, the estate hereby granted and conveyed to Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, their survivors or successors, and the property and effects mortgaged, conveyed, or transferred to them shall cease and become void; and the said company shall thereupon be fully and immediately reinvested with the same, both in law and equity, and in fact, without any entry or other act whatever.

In witness whereof the parties of the first part have caused these presents to be acknowledged by their president and attested to in their behalf by their president and secretary, and their common seal thereunto affixed; and the said parties of the second part hereunto set

This indenture, made this fifteenth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty, between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of the first part, and Robert A. Baker, of Alabama; George H. Young, of Mississippi; and Samuel Williams, of Tennessee, of the second part, witnesseth—

That whereas, by resolution of the board of directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, passed the 8th day of June, 1857, an issue of not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars of eight per cent. income bonds was authorized for the purpose of completing and equipping the road north of the Mississppi line, the bonds to be payable in not less than eight years from the first day of July, 1857, with interest-coupons attached, payable semi-annually from the net income of the road in operation in Tennessee and Kentucky.

And whereas, by another resolution of said board, passed the twentieth day of January, 1859, the executive committee of the board was authorized to ascertain the correct amount of the floating debt of the company and offer to the creditors the obligations of the company for the amount of such debts, and providing that such obligations of the company shall operate as a lien on the income of the road not otherwise appropriated. Said obligations or bonds to bear interest at eight per cent., payable annually, according to the coupons attached.

And whereas, by another resolution of said board, passed the second day of February, 1860, the amount of said bonds to be issued under the resolution of twentieth of January, 1859, above referred to, was limited to an amount not exceeding one million of dollars, and to be payable at not less than ten years' time. And whereas it was further directed by said resolution of the second February, 1860, above referred to, that, to give more ample and certain security to said bonds, to wit, to the five hundred thousand dollars authorized by the resolution of the eighth of June, 1857, and the one million of dollars authorized by the resolution of the twentieth of January, 1859, the president of the company was directed and required to execute a deed or deeds of 1360 mortgage upon the property, effects, and income of the road. Said deed or deeds not to interfere with prior liens on the same.

Now, therefore, this indenture witnesseth that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the better to secure the payment of said bonds authorized to be issued by said several resolutions above referred to, and every part thereof, with interest, according to the tenor thereof, and the coupons thereto attached, and in consideration of the benefit to accrue to the company from issuing and negotiating said bonds, and the sum of five dollars well and truly paid by the said Robert A. Baker, George H. Young, and Samuel Williams, at or before the sealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, have granted, bargained, sold, transferred, and conveyed, and by these presents do grant, transfer, set over, and convey unto said Robert A. Baker, George H. Young, and Samuel Williams, and to the survivors or successors of them, in fee simple, all and singular the rights and privileges of every name and kind, as hereinafter set forth. The said property and assets herein conveyed are as follows:

All the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad lying between its termini, constructed and to be constructed, including the Columbus, Mississippi, and Columbus, Kentucky, branches, together with all and singular the chartered rights, railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, depot buildings, machine shops, tools, iron, timber, and all materials necessary in repair of road bed, rolling stock, or machinery, and all wood and coal, and other materials necessary in running said road, and the receipts and income of said road, and all fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned, and which may be hereafter owned by said company, including the said lands donated by act of Congress, under date of the twentieth day of September, 1850, and reconfirmed by subsequent acts, and which reference is to be taken as a full and correct description of the lands derived from Congress, amounting, as by certificate of the Department of the Interior, to 419,528 56-100 acres in the State of Alabama, to 737,130 36-100 acres in the State of Mississippi—total, 1,156,658 92-100 acres; also, the right, title, and interest of the party of the first part, in and to the lands, property, and effects, particularly described in Schedule B, and made part of a mortgage by said party of the first part, to secure a debt due the State of Alabama, dated third of April, 1858, deposited for record the sixth of April, 1858, and recorded in Book of Mortgages, No. 5, N. S., probate court, Mobile County, pages 415 to 422, inclusive, reserving the prior lien

real and personal, now owned, or which may hereafter be owned, by said party of the first part, in the progress of the road, and in conducting the affairs of the company; to have and to hold said property, real and personal, franchises, privileges, assets and effects of every kind, to the said Baker, Young and Williams, their survivors or successors, for the benefit and security of the person or persons, corporations or parties holding the before-described bonds, or any of them, including those negotiated, as well as those hereafter to be negotiated; provided, however, if any of the bonds above referred to should have been included in a lien or mortgage on the Columbus, Kentucky, branch, the holders thereof shall receive no benefit over others, but are to take the benefit of this conveyance, on condition of putting all bondholders, secured by this mortgage, on equal equities and advantages with themselves.

But this conveyance is in trust for the following purposes, viz: to secure the payment of the accruing interest on the bonds referred to, and the payment of the principal at the maturity of said bonds; and said Baker, Young and Williams, parties of the second part, as trustees, are hereby invested with full power and authority to hold and protect said property, assets and effects, rolling stock, income, and everything hereinbefore referred to, from misapplication by which the objects of this trust could or might be defeated. And should the coupons on said bonds, or any of them, remain unpaid for the space of six months after they mature, and are duly presented for payment, in either case the said trustees shall have the right by themselves, or regularly appointed agent or attorney, to take possession of said road, property and effects, and every part thereof, and hold the same for the benefit of the bondholders and creditors herein named; and to collect and receive the income and profits of said road, and, after paying all expenses, to apply the residue in carrying out the objects of this trust; but until default is made in the manner above stated, the party of the first part to remain in undisturbed possession and control of said property and everything pertaining thereto. And this conveyance is not to interfere with the lien of Tennessee for bonds issued, or to be hereafter issued by that State. Nor is it to interfere with the lien created and rights conferred by the first mortgage; nor is it to interfere with and prevent the sale of lands heretofore 1362 ordered, or which may hereafter be ordered in accordance with the trusts of said first mortgage, or with the assent of the trustees under the same.

Should said Baker, Young, and Williams die, or resign, or from any cause become unable to act, then the one or more remaining in office, and the company, may fill the vacancy or vacancies; but, until this is done, the acts of the one or more remaining in office shall be good and valid. In the event said trustees should be compelled to take possession of said road and property, by themselves or agents, to carry out this trust, they shall be allowed to pay the expenses out of the funds, and retain a reasonable compensation for their own supervision of the same. And should it become necessary to sell said road, property, and effects hereinbefore specially described, either to satisfy the lien of the State of Tennessee, or under the first mortgage, the residue, after satisfying the prior liens, according to their respective rights and equities, shall be applied in satisfaction of the bonds and interest thereon secured by this conveyance.

*Note.—The said mortgage to the State of Alabama has been fully satisfied and extinguished.

In witness whereof the said parties of the first part have caused these presents to be acknowledged by their president, and attested in their behalf by the president and secretary, and their common seal thereunto affixed; and the said parties of the second part hereunto set their hands and seals this day and year first above written.

Whereof payment, both of principal and accruing interest, was to be made by this company as the same matured, and for the security of which payments of principal and interest, a lien was reserved to said State upon the entire road in the State of Tennessee, including the right of way, grading, bridges, masonry, iron rails, spikes, chairs, and the whole superstructure and equipments, and all the property owned by the company, as incident to or necessary for its business; and all depots and depot stations, and all the property and assets attached thereto, or belonging to said company, lying within the limits of said State, with power to seize, and in default of payment of the principal, to sell in the nature of a mortgage lien, as appears by reference to the said statutes of the State of Tennessee:

And whereas, by act of the said State of Tennessee, chapter xxxviii, passed at the second session of the thirty-fifth general assem-1366 bly of the State, entitled "An act to liquidate the State debt contracted in aid of railroad companies in the State of Tennessee," passed February 25, 1869, it is, among other things, enacted that any person or corporation may, with the consent of the board of directors of any railroad company, so having received aid under said general internal improvement law, passed 11th February, 1852, and the amendments thereto, pay off the indebtedness of such railroad company to the said State, in the mode and manner therein provided, and with the consent of such railroad company upon such payment be subrogated to all the lien or liens which the State of Tennessee had or has upon said railroad, or its property, and have the same right to enforce the same which the State of Tennessee had;

And whereas this corporation is desirous to avail itself of the provisions of said law, and return to said State of Tennessee the like amount of bonds of said State, as have heretofore been loaned to it, or advanced for its benefits by an issue of its own bonds, to be exchanged for said State bonds, with the holders thereof, and at the same time to secure to the holders of said substituted bonds in good faith all the protection and security which the said State of Tennessee held for its protection and indemnity against loss and damage, by reason of its said loan to the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, by virtue of the laws of the said State, were no change made in the form of security originally held by said State, according to the true intent and meaning of the act passed 25th February, 1869:

Therefore, be it resolved by the board of directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company as follows:

1st. The president of this company is hereby authorized and empowered to cause to be prepared and issued, under the seal of this company, to the amount of one million six hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars ($1,685,000), the same to be signed by the president, or in his absence by one of the vice-presidents, and countersigned by the secretary and treasurer, said bonds to be made payable in gold coin of the United States, in the city of New York, or in the city of London, at the option of the holder; to be each for the sum of one thousand dollars, or two hundred and five pounds sterling, and payable on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1901. Said bonds to bear interest at seven per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, or 1st January and July in each year, at New York or London, at the option of the holder, and for which interest coupons, or interest-warrants, are to be attached to said bonds.

1367 2d. That W'm Butler Duncan, Adrian Iselin, and Richard T. Wilson, their survivors and survivor, are hereby declared the agents of this company, to effect the substitution of its said bonds, as above authorized, in place of the said bonds of the State of Tennessee, for the purposes and objects declared in the preamble to these resolutions; and upon and from and after such substitution, and as rapidly as the same is effected, the said W'm Butler Duncan, Adrian Iselin, and Richard T. Wilson, their survivors and survivor, and their successors, are hereby declared to be trustees for the mutual benefit of this company, and of the holders of said bonds, and are hereby authorized to defend and protect the rights conferred on the holders of said acts and laws of the said State of Tennessee, and hereby acknowledged and recognized. In case of the death or resignation of any of said trustees, the vacancy shall be filled by the joint appointment of the remaining trustees or trustee, and the president of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, with the approval of its board of directors; and if all become incapable of acting, new trustees are to be appointed by this company.

3d. This company does hereby declare that it does and will at all times acknowledge and recognize the bonds herein authorized to be issued, when so substituted in the room and place of the said bonds of the State of Tennessee in manner herein and by said act provided, as entitled to, and in fact being a lien, in the nature of a first mortgage, upon all the property of this company in the said State, the same precisely as is now declared to exist in favor of the said State of Tennessee, under and by virtue of the statutes thereof, in pursuance of which the said loan and advance of State bonds was made to the company.

And this company does hereby covenant to and with the said trustees, the'r survivors and survivor, and successors, that it will in good faith do and perform all things, acts, and deeds necessary and proper, and which it may be reasonably requested to do, for the protection of the rights of the holders of said substituted bonds, and of said trustees for their benefit, according to the true intent and meaning of the said acts and laws of the State of Tennessee, hereinbefore referred to, and of these resolutions; and, further, that this company shall and will, annually hereafter, from and after the first day of April, 1873, within three months thereafter, and during each year, while said bonds, herein authorized, are running to maturity, provide and set apart from the earnings of 1368 the company a fund of at least one per centum of the amount of said bonds, and will annually faithfully apply said sums of money so set apart as a sinking fund to the purchase and gradual retirement of said bonds; and on or by the 1st day of April, 1874, and every year thereafter, till said bonds are fully retired, will furnish to said trustees evidence of the performance of this stipulation as may be agreed on.

Resolved, That the president of this company be, and he is hereby, directed, under its corporate seal, to execute and deliver to said W'm Butler Duncan, Adrian Iselin, and Richard T. Wilson, as trustees aforesaid, its deed, for the uses and purposes herein declared, and for the effectual protection and security of the holders of the bonds hereby authorized to be issued, according to the true intent and meaning of these resolutions.

STATE OF ALABAMA, Mobile County, ss:

This indenture, made and entered into this the twenty-fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and seventy-one, by and between the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, of the first part, William D. Dunn, John Reid, jr., and Robert C. Crawford, of the city of Mobile, as trustees, of the second part, and James Crawford, of the said city, of the third part, witnesseth:

That whereas, under and in pursuance of the provisions of an act of the general assembly of the State of Alabama, entitled "An act to authorize the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company to purchase the railroad constructed by the Mississippi, Gainesville and Tuscaloosa Railroad Company," approved March 3d, 1871, the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has purchased from the said James Crawford, and the said James Crawford, by deed bearing even date herewith, has conveyed to the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, the property hereinafter mentioned and described, for the sum of fifty-three thousand six hundred and one 97-100 dollars, whereof the sum of fifty-three thousand dollars is payable on the first day of November, A. D. 1880, with interest thereon, at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, from the first day of November, A. D. 1870, payable semi-annually on the first days of May and November of each year from the first day of November, A. D. 1870; and the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has agreed and is willing and desirous to secure the payment of the said sum of fifty-three thousand dollars, and the interest thereon as aforesaid, by a lien on the property purchased as aforesaid:

1375 Now therefore this indenture further witnesseth that the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, for and in consideration of the premises, and for the further consideration of five dollars to it paid by the said William D. Dunn, John Reid, j'r, and Robert C. Crawford, at and before the sealing and delivery of this indenture, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, hath conveyed, assigned, remised, released, and forever quit-claimed, and doth hereby convey, assign, remise, release, and forever quit-claim unto the said William D. Dunn, John Reid, j'r, and Robert C. Crawford, and to the survivors or survivor of them, and the heirs of such survivor forever, all the right, title, interest, and estate conveyed to it by the said James Crawford, as aforesaid, or which it now has, in or to the railroad extending from a point on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, in the State of Mississippi, commonly called the Gainesville Junction, to the town of Gainesville, in the State of Alabama; and also in or to all the property along the track of the said railroad hereby conveyed, lately belonging to the Mississippi, Gainesville and Tuscaloosa Railroad Company; and also in or to the franchises of the said last-mentioned railroad company, together with all the rights and appurtenances thereto belonging;

To have and to hold the said premises and appurtenances to the use of them, the said William D. Dunn, John Reid, j'r, and Robert C. Crawford, and the survivors or survivor of them and the heirs of such survivor forever, Upon condition and trust, nevertheless, that whereas the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, for the payment of the said sum of fifty-three thousand dollars and the interest thereon as aforesaid, has made and delivered to the said James Crawford its fifty-three several bonds, numbered respectively and successively from one to fifty three (both inclusive), each of said bonds bearing even date herewith, and each being for the sum of one thousand dollars, payable to the said James Crawford, or bearer, on the first day of November, A. D. 1880, at the office of the said company, in the city of Mobile, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of May and November of each year, from the first day of November, 1870, at the office of said company, in the city of Mobile, for the payment of which interest-coupons are attached to each of said bonds, payable as aforesaid.

Now, if the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company shall well and truly pay to the said James Crawford, or to such person or persons as shall be the holder or holders of said several bonds and coupons, or of any or either of them, the said several sums of money specified in said several bonds and coupons respectively, when the 1376 same shall be respectively due and payable, upon the presentation and demand of payment thereof at the office of said company in the city of Mobile, or within three months after such presentation and demand of payment, then this indenture shall be void and of no effect; and unless and until the said railroad company shall make default of payment as aforesaid, it shall be entitled to have possession, use and control of all of the said property.

But if the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company shall fail to pay the said several sums of money, or any or either of them in said several bonds and coupons respectively specified, to the said James Crawford, or such person or persons as may be the holder or holders thereof or of any of them when the same shall be due according to the tenor and effect thereof, upon presentation and demand of payment thereof at the office of said company in the city of Mobile, and shall continue such default of payment for three months after such presentment and demand of payment, then upon and by such default, and such continuance in default, the principal sum of money in each of said bonds respectively specified shall become and be then presently due and payable; and after such default and continuance in default as aforesaid, the said William D. Dunn, John Reid, jr., and Robert C. Crawford, or any or either one of them, upon the written request of said James Crawford or any other person or persons holding said bonds or coupons, or either of them, shall and may sell the said property hereby conveyed to them, or any part thereof, at public auction, in the city of Mobile, to the highest bidder

Dunn, John Reid, jr., and Robert C. Crawford, or such of them as shall act under the power hereby conferred, shall use and apply the monies arising from any such sale, after the first paying therefrom the reasonable expenses of such sale and of the execution of this trust to and for the payment of the money due on said bonds and coupons, with interest 1377 thereon ratably and equally, to such person or persons as may then be the holders of such bonds and coupons or any of them; and the surplus of such monies (if any there be) shall be paid to the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company or its assigns.

In testimony of all of which the said party of the first part has caused this indenture to be signed by its president, and its corporate seal to be set hereto, and the parties of the second and third parts have hereto set their hands and seals, this the day and year herein first written.

are, and are hereby declared to be secured as first or prior liens.
1383 By this mortgage, the new proposed bonds to be issued hereunder, for an equal amount, being reserved to retire or pay the same as hereinafter expressed.

Now, therefore, this indenture witnesseth, that the said party of the first part, in consideration of the premises and of one dollar to it in hand paid, by the parties of the second part at and before the ensealing and delivery of these presents, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and in order to secure the faithful payment of all of said bonds, as well those already issued as above mentioned, as those now proposed to be issued as herein set forth, and the interest due and to become due thereon according to their tenor and effect, has granted, bargained, and sold, aliened, assigned and conveyed, and by these presents doth grant, bargain and sell, alien, assign and convey to the parties hereto of the second part, and to the survivor of them and their successors, trustees as aforesaid, all the right, title and interest which the said party of the first part now has or may hereafter acquire in and to its franchises, its entire line of railway constructed or to be constructed as hereinbefore stated, extending from Mobile, in the State of Alabama, through and across the States of Misssissippi and Tennessee, to Columbus, on the Mississippi River, in the State of Kentucky, together with all branches thereof constructed or to be constructed, together with the tolls, incomes, rents, issues and profits thereof, and all real estate, rights of way, easements, fixtures, rolling stock, machinery, tolls and equipments, and all other personal property thereunto belonging in all of said States, the true intent of this indenture being to vest all and every the property and right of property, real, personal and mixed, and all the corporate powers and franchises of every kind whatsoever, belonging or appertaining to the said party of the first part, or hereafter to be acquired, touching the aforesaid lines of railroad, in the said parties of the second part.

To have and to hold the above described premises, property, rights, franchises and appurtenances to the said parties of the second part, and the survivor of them, and their successors, as joint tenants, and not as tenants in common, to the only proper use, benefit and behoof of them, the said parties of the second part, and the survivor of them, and their successors forever.

And the said party of the first part for itself, its successors and assigns, hereby covenants to and with the said parties of the second part, the survivor of them, and their successors, that it both shall and will, from time to time, whenever and so often as thereunto re-1384 quested by the said trustees, the survivor of them, or successors, execute, acknowledge, and deliver all and any such further deeds, conveyances and assurances in the law for the better assuring unto the said trustees upon the trust herein expressed all and singular the lands and premises aforesaid, or hereafter to be acquired as aforesaid, as by the said trustees, or the survivor, or successors, or their counsel learned in the law, shall be reasonably devised, advised, or required, in trust, nevertheless, for the equal benefit and security of all persons or corporations who may be, or who may become holders of any of the above mentioned consolidated mortgage bonds without any preference of any one of the said consolidated bonds over any other or others by reason of priority in time of issue, negotiation thereof, or otherwise; except so far as regards the bonds drawn at the annual drawing held, or hereafter provided, and for the uses and purposes herein declared and expressed.

It is hereby covenanted, declared and agreed that the premises, property, rights, franchises, and interest hereby mortgaged or conveyed, are to be had and holden by the said trustees and their successors upon and for the trusts, uses, and purposes following, that is to say:

First. Until default shall be made in the payment of the interest or the principal of any of the consolidated mortgage bonds aforesaid, the said party of the first part shall hold, use, and enjoy all its said property, and shall take and receive the income, earnings, and profits thereof, for its own proper use, as fully as if this indenture had not been made. And further, unless, and until default be made as aforesaid, and until all the first mortgage bonds heretofore issued by the said party of the first part, as aforesaid, be exchanged for the consolidated mortgage bonds to be issued under these presents, as herein and hereby provided for, or otherwise retired, nothing herein contained shall in any manner interfere with the sale and disposition of the lands donated to the said party of the first part, by the Congress of the United States, in manner and for the uses and purposes described in the said first mortgage or deed of trust executed by the said party of the first part; but the said parties of the second part shall, with the approval of the said party of the first part, appoint a suitable agent to co-operate in and about the sale and disposition of said lands, as provided in said first mortgage, and under such regulations as said parties of the said second part may prescribe, see to the proper application of the moneys realized from such sales, as provided for in said first mortgage and 1385 in pursuance thereof; and upon the exchange or retiring as aforesaid of the said first-mortgage bonds, and the using of the trusts therein heretofore created, then the said proceeds of said sales of said lands are applied to the withdrawal and retirement of the bonds issued under and in conformity to these presents; and of all their doings in this respect, by the said parties and their agent or agents, full records shall be made and kept, and always subject to the inspection of the parties to this indenture.

If default shall be made in the payment of the interest upon any of said consolidated mortgage-bonds on the demand of the bona fide holders of the coupons representing at least one fifth of the said bonds secured by this indenture, and ninety days after the said demand, the aforesaid trustees, or the survivor of them, or their successors, shall enter upon and take possession of all the above described property, franchises, and liens of said railroad, and by their agents duly appointed shall direct the management of the same, collecting all incomes and receipts, and after defraying the necessary and proper expenses of operating the said railroad of the said company, shall pay from the proceeds thereof all the interest then due and in arrears upon said consolidated mortgage-bonds; or the said trustees, in their discretion, may proceed, after ninety days' notice, to be given in one or more newspapers published in the city of Mobile, in the State of Alabama, and in the cities of New York and Boston, and London, in England, to sell, at public auction, in the city of Mobile, Alabama, such part of the said railroad company's property as shall be sufficient to discharge all said past due and unpaid interest, selling in the first instance the property of said company other than its lands, roadway, station-building, shops, and franchises; but if said property shall be insufficient to pay all said past-due interest, then, at and under the same notice, to proceed to sell the remainder of the property, roadway, lands, stations, and franchises, in such order as said trustees, or the survivor of them, his or their successors or successor may determine, until the full amount of such overdue and unpaid coupons shall have been realized, with all legal costs and expenses; and after any default shall have been made in the payment of the principal of any or either of the said consolidated mortgage-bonds as aforesaid, for ninety days from the time of demand for the payment of the same by the holders, and upon the demand of one-fifth in amount of said bonds remaining due at the time, then, and in that event, and if so required by the bona fide holders of said amount of bonds, the afore-1386 said trustees, the survivor of them, or their successors, shall enter upon the premises and take possession of the entire property, lines of railroad, and franchises of the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and shall proceed, by their duly appointed agents, to conduct the business of the same, and to control its affairs, receipts and disbursements, until the amount of any past due and unpaid principal and interest on said consolidated mortgage bonds shall have been fully discharged, or, in their discretion, the aforesaid trustees, the survivor of them, or their successors, after ninety days' notice, published in the newspapers aforementioned, may proceed to sell at public auction all such property, franchises, or such parts thereof as they may deem sufficient to satisfy and discharge all such claims, and in such order as they, or the survivor of them, or their successors, may determine to be proper.

And in case of any sale, as in either event herein authorized, said parties of the second part shall have power, and the same is hereby expressly conferred, to execute good and sufficient conveyance to the purchaser or purchasers of the same, passing thereunto all right, title and interest of the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company in the property and franchises so sold.

And it is hereby expressly agreed that any and every sale so made as aforesaid shall be a perpetual bar, both at law and in equity, against the party of the first part hereto, its successors and assigns, and against all and every person claiming, or to claim, the premises then sold, or any part thereof, by, through, or under it, its successors or assigns. The proceeds of such sale, after deducting the costs and expenses thereof, and the expenses of this trust, shall be, by the aforesaid trustees, applied in the first instance to the discharge of the past due and unpaid interest, and next to the payment of the principal of said bonds hereunder issued, pro rata; and the residue thereof (if any) shall be by them paid over to the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company.

Second. The said party of the first part further covenants and agrees that out of its net earnings, that is to say, out of the earnings left after the discharge of all expenses incident to the conduct of its business, maintenance of its property, and the discharge of its obligations on account of interest, to redeem annually one per centum of the entire amount of said consolidated mortgage bonds issued and then outstanding, as hereinbefore provided, and in order to determine which of said bonds shall be so annually redeemed, the said party of the first part shall give notice in one or more newspaper published in the city of New York, and in London, the same to be published for thirty days, of the amount of bonds to be redeemed as required by this deed, of the time and place at which by lot the specific bonds to be redeemed shall be determined; such election of the bonds so to be redeemed by lot, as aforesaid, to be made under the supervision of the aforesaid trustees, the survivor of them, or their successors, and in manner and form as they shall prescribe. Notice for at least thirty days in the newspapers aforesaid shall be given by the party of the first part, certified by the trustees aforesaid, of the specific bonds so selected by lot, and then redeemable according to the provisions of this deed; thirty days after which such bonds shall cease to bear interest. The bonds so redeemed to be cancelled under the supervision of the aforesaid trustees, who shall keep a registry thereof by their numbers; and in default of a sufficiency of net earnings for any year to provide such fund for redemption, the deficit thereof shall be made good and employed in the redemption of bonds out of the net earnings of the year or years next succeeding, in which there are such net earnings; and the expenses attending such drawings of bonds, and the publication and notification as herein required, may be defrayed by said trustees out of said sinking fund. Provided, That such redemption of the bonds issued under this mortgage shall begin for and with the fiscal year ending January 1st, 1880.

Third. The said party of the first part further covenants and agrees to deposit with the banking house of Duncan, Sherman & Co., New York, twelve million five hundred thousand dollars of the bonds herein authorized to be issued, not to be pledged or used in any manner by the party of the first part except in the manner and for the purpose hereinafter specified, but the same or their proceeds shall be drawn out from time to time only upon the order of the president of the aforesaid company, countersigned by the aforesaid trustees, the survivor of them or their successors; the coupons upon such bonds as remain so deposited to be regularly cancelled by the said party of the first part in the presence of the said trustees, as the same mature. The existing liens upon the mortgaged premises, exclusive of the bonds hereby secured, amounting to a sum not exceeding the said sum of twelve million five hundred thousand dollars, to provide for the payment of which this deposit is to be made.

The said bonds, when and as the same are so drawn out, shall 1388 be applied or used under the supervision of the said trustees solely in the acquisition, by exchange or otherwise, as the president and board of directors of the said Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company may arrange, and from time to time determine, of the aforesaid existing outstanding liabilities of said company, and no greater amount of said bonds shall be drawn out or used than shall equal the amount of such existing liabilities, purchased or acquired as aforesaid, until all of said liabilities, as above set forth, are fully purchased or acquired, the aggregate amount of such liabilities not exceeding as aforesaid the said sum of twelve million five hundred thousand dollars.

And the said party of the first part hereby covenants and agrees with said parties of the second part that the said mortgaged premises hereby conveyed are free and clear of all incumbrances save and except only the aforesaid liabilities, amounting in the aggregate to a sum not exceeding twelve million five hundred thousand dollars. The evidences of such existing indebtedness and liens, as the same are so purchased or acquired, as herein contemplated, to be deposited with the aforesaid banking-house for the further security of the bonds issued under this mortgage, and to be accordingly so endorsed across their face by the said trustees for the time being, until all such outstanding obligations shall have been replaced, substituted, or discharged by the issues under this deed; then the same to be delivered over to the said party of the first part after the same are duly cancelled by said trustees; or the said trustees having, by some proper endorsement thereof, put at end their assignability or negotiability, may deliver the same to the party of the first part, to be held by it as a protection to its title, in such form as may be found proper, so as in no case to interfere with the priority of the lien of this instrument over said indebtedness so purchased and surrendered; and except to the extent of the incumbrances hereinbefore specified, this conveyance is made with general warranty of title by the said party of the first part.

Fourth. The party of the first part shall and will at all times keep at its general office in the State of Alabama an appropriate book, to be designated as the "registry of first mortgage bondholders," and any and every holder of the bonds secured hereby shall be entitled to have his name and address, and the numbers of the bonds so held or owned by him, duly inscribed therein, upon the production at said office of such of said bonds as he may, by an endorsement to be made 1389 thereon, inscribe in his name as holder or owner; and after such registration such bonds shall not pass by delivery unless the same shall again be registered as payable to bearer, but such registration shall not compel the party of the first part to pay any overdue coupons on any such bonds to the registered owner, but the same may be paid to the bearer thereof.

Fifth. It is further mutually covenanted and agreed that said trustees shall not, nor shall either of them or their successors, be in any manner responsible for the default or misconduct of each other in said trust, nor for the neglect, default, or misconduct of any agent or attorney appointed pursuant to these presents, or for anything in respect to said premises, or the trust hereby created, except personal misconduct or gross negligence in the execution of said trusts.

Sixth. It is further provided and declared that the said trustees or either of them, or any succeeding trustee or trustees, may at any time hereafter, by an instrument in writing, duly signed and forwarded to the said party of the first part, resign his or their office, and withdraw from the further execution of this trust; and thereupon, or in case at any time hereafter either of said trustees, or any trustee hereafter appointed, shall die, or be removed by a court of competent jurisdiction, or become mentally or otherwise incapacitated to execute the trusts, the president of the company, with the written approval and assent of the holders of bonds (the said consolidated mortgage) secured hereby to the aggregate extent of not less than one-third of the said bonds outstanding and unpaid, may appoint a trustee or trustees to fill such vacancy, and in such case the new trustee or trustees appointed, either while he or they shall continue to be such, shall have and possess, and be subject to the like rights, powers, estates and duties, as if he or they had been originally trustees hereunder, and, during any vacancy in the trusteeship, the remaining or surviving trustee shall have power to execute the trusts until the vacancy is filled. In default of appointment as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the parties of the second part, or in case of neglect for a reasonable time, then for the party of the first part to apply to a court in Alabama, having jurisdiction in the premises, for the appointment of a trustee or trustees to fill such vacancy or vacancies, and so from time to time.

And it is further provided and declared, that the due appointment of a trustee or trustees shall be effectual to vest in him or them the appropriate estate, rights, powers and duties as herein provided in that behalf without any new deed or conveyance; but, nevertheless, the party 1390 of the first part hereby covenants, in any and every such case, to make and execute, upon request, any such deeds and conveyances or assurances as may be appropriate for more fully and certainly vesting in and confirming to such new trustee or trustees, such estate, rights, powers and duties; and in every case of resignation of a trustee, the resigning trustee shall, if requested, make and execute such conveyances or assurances to his successors.

And the said party of the first part further covenants that the party of the first part shall and will well and truly pay, or cause to be paid, unto the holder or holders of said bonds, the principal and interest thereof, as such principal and interest becomes payable according to the tenor of said bonds respectively, and of the coupons thereunto attached.

Seventh. It is further provided and declared, that if the said party of the first part shall well and truly keep and perform the foregoing covenants and agreements on its part to be performed, and shall well and truly pay the said bonds hereby secured, with interest thereon, according to the tenor thereof, then these presents shall be void, otherwise to remain in full force.

In testimony whereof the said the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company has caused its corporate seal to be hereto affixed, and the same to be attested by its president and secretary the day and year first above written. In duplicate.

Provided, That said company may commence the construction of said road, with all the powers and privileges contained in this act, whenever the sum subscribed to the capital stock shall exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the persons named in the first section, or a majority of them, shall open books to receive subscriptions to the capital stock of said company, at such times and places as they, or a majority of them, may appoint; and shall give such notice of the times and places of opening said books as they may deem reasonable; and shall receive said subscriptions under such regulations as they may adopt for the purpose; and if more than five thousand shares of stock shall be subscribed, they shall have the power to make the shares so subscribed the capital stock of said company: Provided, They shall not exceed one hundred thousand shares. And in case the subscription shall exceed one hundred thousand shares, the same shall be reduced, and apportioned in such manner as may be deemed most beneficial to the corporation.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the immediate government and direction of the affairs of said company shall be vested in a board of thirteen directors, who shall be chosen by the stockholders of said company, in the manner hereinafter provided, and shall hold their office until others are duly elected and qualified to take their places as directors; and the said directors, seven of whom, the president being one, shall be a quorum for the transaction of business, shall elect one of their 1393 number to be president of the board, who shall also be president of said company; they shall also choose a secretary and such other officers as they may deem necessary, and a treasurer, who shall give bond, with security, to said company, in such sum as the said directors may require, for the faithful discharge of his trust.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the persons authorized by the third section of this act, to open the books for subscription to the capital stock, are hereby authorized, after the books of subscription to the capital stock of said company are closed, or when the sum subscribed shall exceed two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to call the first meeting of the stockholders of said company, in such way and at such time and place as they may appoint, for the choice of directors of said company; and in all meetings of the stockholders of said company each share shall entitle the holder thereof to one vote, which vote may be given by said stockholder in person, or by lawful proxy; and the annual meeting of the stockholders of said company for the choice of directors shall be holden at such time and place and upon such notice as said company in their by-laws may prescribe.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That in case it shall so happen that an election of directors shall not be made on any day appointed by the by-laws of said company, said company shall not, for that cause, be deemed to be dissolved, but such election may be holden on any day which shall be appointed by the directors of said company; and said directors shall have power to fill any vacancy which may occur by death, resignation, or otherwise.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the directors shall have full power to make and prescribe such by-laws, rules, and regulations as they shall deem needful and proper touching the disposition and management of the stock, property, estate, and effects of said company, not contrary to this charter or the laws of this State or of the United States; the transfer of shares, the duties and conduct of their officers and servants; touching the election of and meeting of the directors, and all matters whatsoever which may appertain to the concerns of said company. Said company is also hereby authorized to purchase, receive, and hold such estate as may be necessary and convenient in accomplishing the object for which this incorporation is granted, and may by their agents, surveyors, engineers, and servants enter upon all lands and tenements through which they may deem it necessary to make said road, and to survey, lay or right of way, with the owners, through which they may intend to make the said road. In case said lands belong to the estate of any deceased person, then, with the executor or administrator of such; or in case of the same belonging to a minor, or person non compos mentis, then, with his or her guardian or guardians; or in case said lands be held by trustees of school sections, or other trustees of estates, then with such trustees; and the said executors, administrators, guardians, and trustees are hereby declared competent for such estate, or minor, to contract with said company for the right to use, occupy, and possess the lands of such estates, minors, or trustees, so far as may be useful or necessary to the purposes of said railroad; and the act and deed of such executors, administrators, guardians, or trustees, in relation thereto, shall pass the title in said land in the same manner, as if the said deed or act was made or done by a legal owner of full age; and such executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee shall account to those interested, upon their respective bonds, for the amount paid him in pursuance of such agreement and composition; and if the said company and parties representing lands prefer, they may refer the question of compensation to arbitrators, mutually chosen, whose award or that of their umpire, in case of disagreement, shall rest title according to its terms.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That if the said company cannot agree with the owner of the land, through which they desire said road to pass, or with the executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, it shall and may be lawful for the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which the said land lies, on application of said company or its agents, and he is required to issue a writ of ad quod damnum, commanding the sheriff that without delay he cause a jury of six good and lawful men to be upon such land on a day to be by said sheriff fixed and appointed, and whereof it shall be his duty to give notice to the owner, executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee at least five days before such day, if they be within his county; or if not, or if the owner or owners be unknown, then notice shall be given by advertisement, to be by said sheriff posted and fixed at the dwelling house, if such there be, or on a public or conspicuous place at least five days before such appointed day, and also by advertising the same in some newspaper published nearest the land, at least three weeks by weekly insertions, prior to said day; and then cause said jury, after being duly sworn by said sheriff or justice of the peace, to make true inquest of the damage 1395 that will be sustained by such owner or estate, by reason of making said road through such land. If any juror shall fail to appear, or by reason of challenge for cause, or otherwise fail to sit on said inquest, the said sheriff shall fill said jury from the bystanders, and if they fail to render a verdict the sheriff shall again, on the same or a subsequent day, empannel a new jury or jurors until a verdict be had; such verdict and inquest, regularly certified by such sheriff, shall be returned to the office of the clerk of the circuit court of the county in which said land may be, and there remain among the records; and such verdict shall vest in said company the right to occupy and use such land for the purpose of said railroad on the payment, or tender of payment, of the damages thereon assessed against such company; and in case of persons absent, or unknown as aforesaid, the placing of the amount of such damages to the credit of the owner, in the hands of the judge of the county court of the county in which such lands may lie, shall be deemed and taken as payment; and such judges shall be liable on their bonds to make due payment of said money on demand.

Sec. 9. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the sheriff to appoint and hold said inquest within ten days after the receipt of said writ of "ad quod damnum," except in cases of absence aforesaid, in which case thirty days shall be allowed him, and five days in addition are allowed him for every additional jury which he may have under said writ; and for every default therein the said sheriff shall be fined by the circuit court, at the instance of either party, not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars; and every juror and witness summoned shall be fined not less than ten dollars for non-attendance; of all such fines, as well as costs, the circuit court of the county shall have jurisdiction. There shall be allowed the following fees: to the clerk of the circuit court, for every writ of "ad quod damnum," seventy-five cents; for receiving and filing inquest, seventy-five cents; to the sheriff for giving notice, seventy-five cents, besides printer's fees, not exceeding two dollars in each case; for holding inquest, five dollars; and for summoning witnesses, twenty-five cents each; to jurors, seventy-five cents per diem each, which fees are not allowed until a verdict be returned and filed, and shall be taxed in the bill of costs and paid by the company: Provided, however, That before the application for said writ the said company may make a tender to the owner or owners of any such land a sum of money by them deemed equivalent to the damage to be sustained, and upon refusal to accept the sum tendered, and 1396 a verdict for the same amount or a less sum, the costs shall be taxed to and paid by the owners of the land upon which inquest is held.

Sec. 10. And be it further enacted, That said company is hereby authorized to construct, erect, build, and use a single, double, or treble railway, or road, of suitable width and dimensions, to be determined by the directors of said company, on the line or course by them designated, and also, under the same rules, regulations and restrictions, and with the like privileges and immunities, as are herein granted to the main railroad, to build and construct branch railroads, on either side of the said main road, not exceeding thirty miles, and shall have power to regulate the time and manner in which goods and passengers shall be transported, taken and carried on the same, and shall have power to erect and maintain toll-houses and other buildings for the accommodation of their concerns, as they may deem suitable for their interest.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That whenever it shall be necessary for the construction of their single, double, or treble railroad or way, to intersect or cross any stream of water or water-course, or any road or highway, it shall be lawful for said company, to construct across or upon the same; but the said company shall restore the said stream or water-course, or road or highway, thus intersected, to its former state, or in a sufficient manner not to impair its usefulness, and in all cases where any road or public highway is so located, that said railroad cannot be judiciously laid out and constructed across or upon the same, without interfering therewith, in such case or cases said corporation may, by their engineer, cause such road or roads to be changed or altered in such manner, that said railroad may be made on the best site of ground for that purpose: Provided, Said corporation shall put such road in as good repair as at the time of changing or altering the same.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the company hereby incorporated, from time to time, to fix, regulate, and receive the toll and charges by them to be received, for transportation of persons or property, on their railroad or way aforesaid, hereby authorized to be constructed, erected, built, or used, or upon any part thereof.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That if any person or persons, will, or shall wilfully do or cause to be done any act or acts whatsoever, whereby any building, construction, or works of said 1397 company, or any engine, machine, or structure, or any matter or thing appertaining to the same shall be stopped, obstructed, impaired, weakened, injured or destroyed, the persons so offending shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall forfeit and pay to said company double the amount of damages sustained by reason of such offences or injury, to be recovered in the name of said corporation, with costs of suit by action of debt.

SEC. 14. CHARTER OF THE COMPANY.

An act to incorporate the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, and the Tennessee Central Railroad Company.

Whereas, it appears to this general assembly, from the memorial of Jonathan Emanuel, president, and George N. Stewart, Sidney Smith, Moses Waring, Chas. LeBaron, and S. Griffitts Fisher, directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Association, that a company has been organized at Mobile, in the State of Alabama, for the purpose of constructing a railroad from Mobile to the Tennessee River, and from thence to a suitable point near the mouth of the Ohio River; for which purpose, said board of president and directors have applied to this general assembly for the passage of such a law as may be necessary to authorize the construction of said road through the State of Tennessee; and whereas, it is deemed a matter of vital importance to this State, that a direct communication by railroad to the Gulf of Mexico be established: Therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the said Jonathan Emanuel, president, and the said Geo. N. Stewart, Sidney Smith, Moses Waring, Charles LeBaron, and S. Griffitts Fisher, directors, and their associates, who shall be the stockholders of said company, and their successors, under the name and style of "The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company," are hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic under the laws of Tennessee, with succession for five hundred years, and a common seal, with capacity to have, 1403 receive, and enjoy, to them and their successors, property and estate of whatsoever nature and quality, and the same to alien, transfer, and dispose of, so far as may be necessary to carry into effect the main object of this charter, which is hereby declared to be the construction, use, and maintenance of a railroad from Mobile, in the State of Alabama, to some point on the Mississippi or Ohio River, near the mouth of the Ohio, passing through the State of Tennessee.

SEC. 2. Be it enacted, That said company is hereby declared capable of making all contracts; to sue and be sued; to make by-laws; to appoint officers, servants, and agents; and finally to do all things which may be necessary to carry on the business and object for which said corporation is created. The said company is invested with all the powers necessary for the construction, repair, use, and maintenance of the said railroad, with as many tracks, depots, turnouts, side tracks, landings, warehouses, workshops, and appurtenances as they may find necessary; and is authorized to make all works whatever, which may be necessary or expedient for the proper completion, use, and utility of said road; and to use the same for profit, and make dividends among the stockholders; to procure, by purchase, gift, or release, or otherwise, such lands and other property as may be necessary for the site of said railroad, or its construction and convenient use, or for the erection and use of depots, warehouses, landings, bridges, or other works connected therewith; and to construct as many lateral roads, with appurtenances, connected with said main stem as they may deem proper, not extending more than fifty miles from the main road.

SEC. 3. Be it enacted, That said company shall be authorized and required to open books for the subscription of shares in the capital stock of said corporation, in the State of Tennessee, so as to afford to the citizens of this State an opportunity to take stock, to the amount of one-fourth of the capital of said company: Provided, That if said fourth be not subscribed in Tennessee, within six months after the books are opened, then it may be taken elsewhere.

SEC. 4. Be it enacted, That the right of way is hereby granted to said corporation to pass through the State of Tennessee with said road; and to use all lands, rock, timber, earth, sand, gravel, water, or other materials which may be found on the route selected, and which may belong to the State of Tennessee, and be necessary for the use of the road; and also to appropriate and use all such land and materials, being private property, as may be necessary, making just compensation for all tration with them; and when the parties cannot agree upon the compensation to be made by the company, for the use of the road, depots, &c., then the value shall be ascertained by legal proceedings as hereinafter prescribed.

SEC. 5. Be it enacted, That where any lands or right of way may be required by said company for the purpose of constructing their road, and for want of agreement as to the value thereof, or from any other cause, the same cannot be purchased from the owner or owners, the same may be taken at a valuation, to be made by five commissioners, or a majority of them, to be appointed by the circuit court of the county where some part of the land or right of way is situated; and the said commissioners, before they act, shall severally take an oath, before some justice of the peace, faithfully and impartially to discharge the duty assigned them. In making the said valuation, the commissioners shall take into consideration the loss or damage which may occur to the owner or owners in consequence of the land being taken, or the right of way surrendered, and also the benefit and advantage he, she, or they may receive from the erection or establishment of the railroad or works, and shall state particularly the nature and amount of each; and the excess of loss or damage, over and above the benefit and advantage, shall form the measure of valuation of said land or right of way. The proceedings of said commissioners, accompanied with a full description of said land or right of way, shall be returned, under the hands and seals of a majority of the commissioners, to the court from which the commission issued, there to remain of record. In case either party to the proceedings shall appeal from the valuation to the next session of the court granting the commission, and give reasonable notice to the opposite party of such appeal, the court shall order a new valuation to be made by a jury, who shall be charged therewith in the same term, or as soon as practicable, and their verdict shall be final and conclusive between the parties, unless a new trial shall be granted; and the lands or right of way so valued by the commissioners or jury shall vest in said company in fee simple so soon as the valuation is paid, or tendered and refused. Where there may be an appeal, as aforesaid, from the valuation of commissioners, by either of the parties, the same shall not prevent the works, intended to be constructed, from proceeding; but where the appeal is by the company requiring the surrender, they shall be at liberty to proceed in their works only on condition of giving the opposite party a bond, with good security, to be approved by the clerk of 1405 the court where the valuation is returned, in a penalty equal to double the said valuation, conditioned for the payment of said valuation and interest, in case the same be sustained, and in case it be reversed, for the payment of the valuation thereafter, to be made by the jury and confirmed by the court: Provided, That when the land cannot be had by gift or purchase, the construction of the work shall not be hindered or delayed during the pendancy of any proceeding to assess its value as aforesaid; nor shall any injunction or supersedeas be awarded by any judge or court to delay the progress of said work.

SEC. 6. Be it enacted, That in the absence of any contract with the said company in relation to lands through which the said road may pass, signed by the owner thereof, or by his agent, or any claimant or person in possession thereof, which may be confirmed by the owner, it shall be presumed that the land upon which said road may be constructed, together with the space of one hundred feet on each side of the center of said road, has been granted to the company by the owner thereof, and said company shall have good right and title thereto, and shall have, hold, and enjoy the same as long as the same be used only for the purpose of the road, and no longer, unless the person or persons owning said land at the time that part of the road which may be on said land was finished, or those claiming under him, her, or them, shall apply for an assessment of the value of the said lands, as hereinbefore directed, within five years next after that part of said road was finished; and in case the said owner or owners, or those claiming under him, her, or them, shall not apply for such assessment within five years next after the said part was finished, he, she, or they shall be forever barred from recovering of the said land, or having any assessment or compensation therefor: Provided, Nothing herein contained shall affect the right of femes covert or infants, until two years after the removal of their respective disabilities.

Sec. 7. Be it enacted, That if any person shall wilfully or maliciously destroy, or in any manner hurt, damage, or obstruct the said railroad, or any bridge, or any vehicle, used for or in the transportation thereon, such person or persons so offending shall be liable to be indicted therefor, and on conviction shall be imprisoned not more than six nor less than one month, and pay a fine not less than twenty dollars, and shall be further liable to pay all the expenses of repairing the same. And it shall not be competent for any person so offending against the 1406 provisions of this section to defend himself by pleading that he was the owner, or agent or servant of the owner, of the land where such destruction, hurt, damage, injury, or obstruction was done, or caused, at the time the same was caused or done.

Sec. 8. Be it enacted, That every obstruction to the safe and free passage of vehicles on the said road shall be deemed a public nuisance, and may be abated as such by any officer, agent or servant of the company, and the person causing such obstruction may be indicted and punished for erecting a public nuisance.

Sec. 9. Be it enacted, That the said company is hereby expressly prohibited from carrying on any banking operations; but may effect insurance on lives and property transported on said road.

Sec. 10. Be it enacted, That the president and directors, clerks, agents and officers of said company shall be exempt from military duty, except in cases of invasion or insurrection, and serving on juries; and the servants of said company shall be exempt from working on public roads.

Sec. 11. Be it enacted, That the capital stock of said company shall be forever exempt from taxation, and the road, with all its fixtures and appurtenances, including workshops, warehouses, and vehicles of transportation, shall be exempt from taxation for the period of twenty-five years from the completion of the road, and no tax shall ever be laid on said road or its fixtures, which will reduce the dividends below eight per cent.

Sec. 12. Be it enacted, That the railroad authorized by this act shall be commenced within four years after the passage of this act, and shall be finished within ten years thereafter, otherwise the charter hereby granted shall be void.

Approved 28th February, 1848.

1414 EXHIBIT C.

NEW YORK, March 16, 1859.

DEAR SIR: I have received your letter of the 4th March, and in reply I have to state, that, as you know, the correspondence of the trustees of the M. & Ohio Railroad Co. was with our late lamented friend J. J. Palmer.

Most of the letters written by him to the co. have been submitted to me and received my approval. All the papers relating to our business with the co. and the correspondence was in the possession of Mr. Palmer, and soon after the death of that gentleman I applied to his son, requesting him to turn them over to me. Within the last few weeks I have applied again, and he has promised to collect all the papers and correspondence with the co. and hand them over to me, which he will no doubt do, and when he does, I shall be prepared to do all that is proper and necessary in the premises as a trustee.

With regard to President Brown's strictures on the conduct of the trustees, I can only say that they are unnecessarily severe and 1415 utterly uncalled for. I have acted as one of the trustees of the great landed estate of the Illinois C. R. R., and am daily in the habit of signing deeds transmitted me, when the final payments have been made, and no inconvenience has been experienced nor any complaints made as to the course taken by the co.

If the Mobile & Ohio Rail R. Co. will consent to do their business in the same simple and business-like way, they cannot fail to experience the same facility in transacting the business of the land department. And that they may understand how this is done, I will send them an explanation of the mode, with a copy of one of the deeds.

The acceptance of this trust was not a mere matter of form, the execution of which was to be confided to others, at least that is not the way I shall perform my duty. The co. can sell by contract, but when a deed is presented, it should show in the face that a bond, or a portion of a bond by endorsement, has been canceled, equal to the amount the deed calls for. I know of no other mode in which I can execute the trust.

1416 With regard to the compensation to be paid to the trustees, and their withholding $18,000 of the bonds, and the amount seeming to the company excessive, but forced to a reluctant acquiescence, and that the coupons will be promptly paid, past and to become due, but with the express understanding that the amount retained by them as compensation is to include future as well as past services; I can only say, to the best of my recollection, of the correspondence held between the late M'r Palmer and the company, on the subject of compensation, the company made a specific proposal as to their compensation, which, after mutual consultation, was accepted by them; all of which will be found in the records of the company; I adhere to that arrangement, and shall expect the M. & O. R. R. Company to adhere to it also, without any further stipulations. I have no particular desire to receive these bonds in payment, and am quite willing to surrender them to the company. We took them, as you well remember, at their suggestion, and if they suppose that they were coerced we can return them 1417 and reimburse ourselves from the trust funds.

If the company should conclude to adopt the simple plan of the Illinois Central R. R. Company, which I trust they will, then so far as they have gone, for the sake of dispatch, it would be best for the company to make out an abstract of the lands ready to deed, approved by you and the company, and then send it to me, and I will approve and transmit to you, and you can deliver it to the company for record; you seeing that an amount equal to the amount received by the company is endorsed on a bond or bonds of the company.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

To W. R. HALLETT, Esq., Trustee.

1418 NEW YORK, March 24th, 1859.

DEAR SIR: Some days since, I requested the secretary of the Illinois Central R. R. Co. to furnish me with all the forms incidental to the sale of the lands, by the land department of that co., thinking that some of them might be found useful in the land department of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

These documents have been gotten up by men of great experience in the sale of lands (Mr. Wilson, late of the Land Department at Washington, having been at the head of the office for the last two or three years), and probably many of the forms have grown out of the practical operation of the system.

Should any of them be found useful to the M. & O. R. R. Co. in the sale of the lands, I shall not regret having forwarded them.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

MILTON BROWN, Esqr.,
Pres'd't Mobile & Ohio R. R.:

DEAR SIR: On the 21st of May I addressed a letter to the late W. R. Hallett, my associate trustee in the Mobile & O. R. R'd Co. trust, with the request that he lay it before your board.

Mr. Hallett, as you are doubtless aware before this, has deceased.

The letter, on inquiry, I find could not have been received by him before he left for the North, consequently could not have been passed over to you as I desired. I now enclose a copy of that letter, which, I believe, embraces all that is necessary for me to say to the R. R. Co. I regret that there should have been any difference of opinion between us as to the course to be pursued in the sale of the bonds, or the manner of executing the trust, and shall be most happy to do all in my power to forward the interest of the co., consistent with the trust confided to 1420 me. I am now the only trustee left, and I deem it important that one or more should be appointed, and should be glad to hear from you on this subject. You will see that they are appointed with the surviving trustee. I should also be glad to know if the co. desire to act as the agent of the trustees, in conformity to the mode adopted by the trustees for conveying the fee. If they do not, then I shall deem it my duty to establish an agency for that purpose.

I again enclose a blank form of the Ill. Cen. R. R'd Co., to be used by the M. & O. R. R. Co., which I would recommend be adopted in this instance. It has been found to work well. They like it very much after having used it for some time.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM.
Trustee M. & O. R. R'd Co.

Mess'rs ARCH. GRACIE & SON, Mobile:

GENTS: Presuming upon my long acquaintance with the senior of your house, M'r A. Gracie, I take the liberty of committing to you some business, not very profitable to you, but which, I doubt not, will receive your attention.

The writer is one of the trustees, and now the only surviving trustee, to the deed of trust of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, Mr. Palmer, of this city, having deceased, and now Mr. Hallett of Mobile.

By a notice which I enclose, which is all the information I have on the subject, it would seem there is a suit pending against the trustees, which comes on on the 26th inst. I had written Mr. Hallett on the subject, but the letter could not have reached him before he left for the North. I therefore do not know whether Mr. Hallett had em-1422 ployed counsel to answer on behalf of the trustees or not, and the object of this letter is to have counsel employed if he, M'r Hallett, had not done it. This may be ascertained by applying to the counsel of the plaintiff in the suit. I enclose a copy of my letter to M'r Hallett, which, together with this letter, you will please hand over to the counsel you may employ, which will be quite sufficient for him to make an answer. It is quite possible, from some things that have come to my knowledge, that the company may be accessory to this suit for some purpose of their own, and if this is the case, I desire to show through the counsel of the trustees that it is not their fault but the fault of the company in not preparing the deeds for our execution, they having assumed to act for the trustees (by their consent) on the sale of the lands conveyed to us.

In employing counsel, please be particular that the party employed is not in the interest of the M. & O. R. R. Co., and the counsel will understand that he is to act for me individually as a trustee, unless, in con-1423 ferring with the counsel employed by Mr. Hallett (if such counsel has been employed by Mr.) he finds that all has been done to place the trustees on the right ground before the court. The counsel must bear in mind that it is possible my interests and that of the company may be adverse.

For whatever cash may be necessary, you will please check on me as trustee of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

Very respectfully, your ob't s'v't,

MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

1424 NEW YORK, July 25th, 1860.

GENTLEMEN: Your president, Mr. Milton Brown, has been here, and, by an arrangement with him, the deeds called for by the full payment on the tracts of land sold will be made out here. I have ordered a form printed, and in the early part of the week will have them filled out in conformity to the descriptions furnished to me, which, I think, are somewhat incomplete, as in many instances the initials only of the Christian names are furnished. From your returning them in this way, I take it for granted you deem that sufficient.

I would have preferred that the deed should have emanated from the land department at Mobile, but is seems that it is necessary these deed' should be furnished as soon as possible, and to facilitate this object, I shall have them all completed, executed, and finished the early part of next week, when I shall expect a corresponding amount of bonds 1425 cancelled and delivered to me. Of this I will write more particularly when I forward the deeds.

I received but one return of land sections and lots sold where the payments have been made in full, and the parties consequently entitled to deeds. The document is marked thus, "Abstract III—Continued," from which it would seem a previous abstract had been furnished some one of the trustees, which would confirm President Brown's impression, that a large amount of payments in full had been made, and yet the numbering of the deeds in the abstract commencing with sale No. 1 would indicate this to be the first return. Please set me right on this point, and, if there are other parties entitled to deeds, send a description, and the deeds will be executed and returned at once.

I would suggest, as we are now commencing to deed this property, that a book be properly prepared and gotten up in which these deeds shall be registered. Such a book I shall have prepared here for 1426 my own guidance, but I desire such a record kept at the department in Mobile, so that no possible difficulty can hereafter occur in regard to sales and deeds; and that the page of the book in which the deed is entered, as having been executed and delivered, be endorsed on the back of each deed.

Yours, respectfully,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

NEW YORK, July 25, 1860.

CHARLES WALSH, Esq., Pres't:

DEAR SIR: Accompanying this I have forwarded you 88 deeds of the trustee of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co., for lands sold by the co., under the instructions of the trustee, upon which the company make returns, after full payments having been made. The aggregate amounts of these deeds is $49,881.41, which, by an arrangement with the R. R. Co., I have stipulated to receive in the sterling mortgage bonds of the trustees of that co.

I have taken the liberty of confiding this business to you, from 1427 the circumstance of your filling the same official status in the Bank of Mobile as my late trustee, Mr. Hallett, and also from your name having been proposed as his successor in this trust.

With this explanation may I ask that you will make this exchange with the M. & O. R. R. Co., the deeds for a corresponding amount of the above described bonds—which bonds, when rec'd, I desire you to cancel in the usual way, sending me a return of the numbers, and holding them subject to the order of the trustee or trustees of the M. & O. R. R. Co.

It is my intention to make some change in the future mode of disposing of these lands, in which event I shall direct the money rec'd on acc't of land sales deposited to the credit of the trustees in your institution, which will, I trust, be some equivalent for any favors I may ask in this way.

Very respectfully, yours,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

1428 NEW YORK, Oct. 23, 1860.

To the Pres't and Directors of the M. & O. R. R. Co.:

GENTS: On the 25th of July last I addressed you a letter advising of having forwarded 88 deeds to Cha's Walsh, esq., and requesting you to give me a new statement of sales of land previous to 1 July, 1857, arranged so that I could make out the deeds to the parties, to which letter I have rec'd no answer. I now call your attention particularly to it, and request you will furnish me with the necessary information. I also wish a duplicate of sales No. 3, and transcript of your land department cash-book from July 1, 1857 (the balance as then brought down was $37,300.80), that I may have a correct record of the sales of the land, and the receipt of money on account of the trust.

I remain yours, respectfully,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee M. & O. R. R. Co.

1429 N. Y., November 21, 1860.

MILTON BROWN, Esq., President M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: I received your letter of the 16th inst. some three days since. We have been in the midst of a financial crisis, to which you may attribute my not giving you an immediate answer, which I will now do.

I have read with care the papers enclosed, and beg to state that I see nothing in them to change my views on the subject of electing two additional trustees as communicated to you in my letter of the 7th of July last. That proposition was entirely reasonable, and in strict conformity with the requirements of the deed of trust, and I cannot but regret that we should have any disagreement on that subject.

I have written you two or three letters that have an important bearing on this trust, to which I have rec'd no answer. I now beg to call your attention particularly to them, & request that you will 1430 give me the information desired, so that the deeds may be made out & delivered to you, and the bond cancelled and deposited in the Bank of Mobile, subject to my order.

Very re'p'f'y,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM,
Trustee.

NEW YORK, April, 1860.

J. S. MORGAN, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 21st duly received. I sent you a hasty note by last steamer, in which I promised a full statement for the consideration of the bondholders of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. by next mail, which I now submit.

In yours of the 21st you state that the directors of the M. & O. R. R. Co. have made a communication to the English bondholders, in which they are asked to sign a request to the trustees to allow the parties purchasing the lands of the Co. to pay for the same in the bonds of the Co., which shall be cancelled when the deed is given, similar to the plan adopted by the Ill. Central Co.; that there is a considerable 1431 amount of these bonds held in England, and the holders are disposed favorably to consider the plan, but as they learn the trustees object to such an arrangement, they hesitate; and that you have promised to write me and ascertain what are the objections.

There is some great mistake or misapprehension somewhere. The statements are erroneous in almost every particular. By the enclosed correspondence you will see that, so far from objecting to the plan suggested, I had proposed it, and sent them all the blanks used by the trustees of the Illinois Central Trust, in order that they might at once adopt them.

I have never made any objections to signing deeds, because none have been made out by the company and sent me for that purpose. Whenever they are sent me, with the cancelled bonds to the amount of the purchase money, they will be executed and returned without delay.

The company have written requesting me to give some one a power of attorney to sign deeds, which I agreed to do, as far as 1432 lands have been paid for, though on mature reflection I have my doubts of the full propriety of my giving them even that authority, in view of my responsibility to the bondholders, for whose benefit I have been appointed, and shall now insist on seperate deeds being sent me for signature for all the lands sold, with the numbers and amounts of bonds cancelled and endorsed in each deed, in the same manner as is done by the Ill. Central R. R. Trust.

It is quite certain that the managers of the company could not so far have knowingly departed from the facts in the case in these representations to the bondholders without an object; what that object is, I will not pretend to say.

You will see by my letter to Mr. Hallett, also to the executive committee, dated March, 1859, copies of which I herein enclose, that though all the necessary blanks used by the Ills. Central Trust (and these schemes are identical) were forwarded, that they might at once 1433 have prepared to conduct this department without any delay or embarrassment, yet no reply has ever been received from M'r Hallett or the executive committee, nor have they indicated to me any plan of operation except the one before referred to, which will not be submitted to.

With regard to the charge of my having thrown obstacles in the was of what was proposed by the directors, in order to throw the money into my hands on which to charge a commission, is simply ridiculous. The plan of conducting the land sales presupposed the Co. to be provided with the bonds of the road, which would be absorbed at par just as fast as the money came in; and if this was done in good faith, no money would, as there never has any, reached the hands of the trustees, we preferring the company to sell the lands, as they should do, and furnishing the bonds, whereby they realized a profit of the difference between the market value and par.

I have deeded in this way nearly a million and a half of the 1434 Illinois Central lands, and cancelled that amount of their bonds; have never charge' them any commission, nor has a dollar of their money passed through our hands. It was just this system I desired this company to adopt.

I have now disposed of all the charges, and I thank you for giving me an opportunity for correcting these misrepres'ntations to the bondholders. The trust is a large and responsible one, and I should like to be relieved from it. It is not only the responsibility, but to protect the bondholders it is likely to be annoying. It has always appeared to me that the M. & O. R. R. has felt restive under the restraint of the N. Y. trustees, and now, while the bondholders are together, I beg you will induce them to designate some responsible person in Mobile to supersede me.

I am the only N. Y. trustee left, and it would be more agreeable to the managers to have one of their own people to fill the station, and, by a judicious selection, equally safe for them.

1435 If they will do this, I will speedily adjust my account with the co. and make a transfer of the trust.

The enterprise, in my judgment, when unembarrassed, is destined to become a successful one, and the bonds a good and improving security. It only requires an honest, economic, and persevering administration (which I have no reason to doubt it now has, except the shade thrown over it by these erroneous statements) to realize all the success that its friends have anticipated.

I am, dear sir, yours very truly,
(Signed) MORRIS KETCHUM.

1436 EXHIBIT D.

Original bill.

To the Hon. N. W. Cocke, chancellor of the southern chancery division of the State of Alabama, presiding at Mobile.

1. The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a body politic and incorporate, chartered by the laws of Alabama, and also by the States of Mississippi, Kentucky, and Tennessee, respectfully shows to your honor that by virtue of its powers so granted by said States respectively, it has constructed a line of railway from Mobile to the mouth of the Ohio River, and is now running and operating the same.

2. The said company further shows that under and by virtue of purchases, and by grant from the Congress of the United States of America, it has obtained title to and possession of a large quantity of land and real estate. Among this property so owned by the company is a large quantity of vacant land in the States of Alabama and Mississippi which this company obtained from the source above named for the purpose of aiding in the construction of said road.

3. The said company further shows that to enable it to proceed and complete its said railway, said company has been compelled to borrow large sums of money for the payment of said loan, and also in some instances in payment for work and materials furnished the company by sundry parties, it has issued its bonds for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds, of the currency of Great Britain, each, which are commonly known in the market as sterling bonds. These bonds are made payable in London, England, in the year 1883, at the office of George Peabody & Co., and bear interest at the annual rent of six per cent., which is payable semi-annually at the place aforesaid on the first days of May and November. Six thousand of these bonds have been executed, amounting to the sum of thirteen hundred thousand six hundred and fifty pounds sterling, English currency.

4. Further your complainant respectfully shows to your honor that on the first day of November, 1853, said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, by its deed of that date, conveyed to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, of the city and State of New York, and to William R. Hallett, of the city of Mobile and State of Alabama, the better to secure the payment of the bonds hereinbefore described, and every part thereof, with interest accruing thereon, the following described property, to wit: All the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad lying between its respective termini, constructed and to be constructed, together with all and singular the railways, rails, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, privileges, rights, real estate, and all other property owned and which may hereafter be owned by said company, including the said lands donated by the Congress of the United States, that is, $419,528\frac{56}{100}$ acres of land in the State of Alabama and $737,130\frac{36}{100}$ acres of land in the State of Mississippi, total $1,156,658\frac{97}{100}$ acres; saving and excepting thereto entry in the S't Stephens land office, being $692\frac{78}{100}$ acres, more or less; saving and excepting also the lots and tracts in the county of Mobile, outside of the line of railway, outside of its depots, and outside the corporate limits of the city of Mobile, being lots and lands derived by private purchase not yet fully paid for, and not included in the list of lands in Mobile County derived under and by the act of Congress, and saving and reserving the rights and liens that may attach to the railway and construction therein in favor of the State of Tennessee, which will exist and attach as a prior lien by statute of that State in the event of the said State aiding in the construction of so much of the roadway as lies in said State, viz., one hundred and eighteen miles, not exceeding ten thousand dollars per mile. All of which will more fully appear by reference to said deed, which is on record in the office of the judge of probate of Mobile, and a copy whereof in print is herewith filed as an exhibit to and part of this bill.

5. Said deed was executed to said Ketchum, Palmer and Hallett, their survivor or successors, for the benefit, security and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations, or any other party who shall or may be holders of the before described bonds, or any of them, in trust for that purpose, and with certain powers over said property in said deed fully set forth.

It was therein provided that of the said $1,156,658\frac{97}{100}$ acres of lands donated by the said Congress, the said trustees should be deemed to be in immediate possession, with authority to devise and determine rules of management, of sale, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds, said trustees to render annually, on 1st January of each year, to the said railroad company accounts of their doings in the matter of the trust, said trustees were authorized to appoint an agent to attend to said land business; but that no sale of said lands should be made so long as said grantor was not in default on any obligations connected with said bonds, except by and with the advice and consent of said company. The other property named in said deed was to remain 1438 under the control of said company, unless said company became in default for the payment of said bonds or interest.

6. Your orator further shows to your honor that said deed also contains a provision that if either of the said trustees should at any time or times thereafter die or become, from any cause, incapable of acting in the premises or resign his said office, the said company and the surviving or continuing trustees should select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, and should thereupon make, execute, and deliver such other instrument or assurances as might be necessary to enable such selected person to act in the premises.

7. Your orator shows that said trustees assented to said deed and took upon themselves the burthen of its execution; that since then two of said trustees have departed this life, to wit, William R. Hallett, of Mobile, who died in July, 1860, and John J. Palmer, who died before the said Hallett, and that the only surviving trustee is the said Morris Ketchum, and that said Ketchum is a resident citizen of the State of New York, and an alien enemy of the Confederate States of America.

Your orator also shows that at sundry times before the 15th of April, 1861, your orator, in pursuance of the terms of said deed of trust, applied to the said Ketchum to unite with your orator in the appointment of trustees to fill the vacancies occasioned by the death of said Hallett and Palmer, but said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of such trustees, and the places of said deceased trustees still remain vacant.

8. Your orator charges that said conduct on the part of said Ketchum is a breach of the spirit and letter of said trust deed, and that it has proceeded from selfish and interested motives on his part, and that he has pursued a course of conduct in relation to the trust that has embarrassed and operated to the injury of your orator.

Your orator shows that no provision is made in said deed for compensation to the trustees except in event of a forfeiture thereof, which has not occurred, and which your orator hopes will not occur. No services have been rendered by said trustees beyond the simple acts of 1439 signing the mortgage bonds and a few other papers directing and authorizing the sale of a small portion of the lands. Said trustees have not made any of the annual reports called for by the deed. It was the duty of the trustees to have directed the sale of lands, but they have failed to do so, except to a small extent hereinafter named; such plain duties they have disregarded, whereby great injury has been done to your orator and to the bondholders, retarding and preventing the sale of lands, and thereby impairing the market value of the bonds which were to have been received in payment for lands. The said Hallett, before his death, resided in Mobile, but when applied to, he declined acting, stating that the active management of the trust was with his co-trustee, Ketchum, always referring your orator to said Ketchum, and professing to refer all communications to him. Thus having the active management of said trust business, the said Ketchum, has used his power oppressively to your orator and for selfish purposes.

When said bonds herein described were signed, the said Ketchum, in the name of himself and co-trustees, retained eighteen thousand dollars on the pretense of compensation for signing said bonds, and this against the wishes of your orator; and, notwithstanding the protest of your orator which was then made and been repeatedly renewed, said bonds, with all the coupons for interest thereon, have been withheld from your orator. Said Ketchum has in addition also demanded regular salaries at high rates. While your orator would not object to reasonable compensation for actual service, it has refused to accede to the demands because they were exorbitant and could not be yielded to without submitting to gross wrong. Since the death of his said co-trustees said Ketchum has refused to unite in the appointment of new trustees except on condition that he shall retain what he has already obtained, and also have a fixed salary at some high rate, to begin about the year 1855 and continue till the maturity of the trust in 1883. Said Ketchum also claims the right to move the management of the land department from Mobile to New York, and then to organize it by committing it to 1440 officers appointed by himself, and has notified the president of this company of his having appointed the chief agent or superintendent thereof. Your orator, to induce said Ketchum to consent to the appointment of new trustees, has obtained the request of a majority of the bondholders for that purpose, but without avail. Said Ketchum has still persisted in his refusal to unite in the appointment of such new trustees.

9. Your orator further shows that by a writing under date of 10th of January, 1855, the said Ketchum and other trustees advised and directed the sale of lands embraced in the trust, not exceeding 100,000 acres, in such terms as to price and time of payment as said company by its board of directors should approve, and promised to ratify such sale and execute proper deeds to the lands so sold. In pursuance of said authority your orator has sold a large quantity of land to sundry purchasers, who have complied with the terms of sale, and paid most of the purchase-money. Your orator has made due reports of said sales to said Ketchum, and has in all things performed the conditions on which said sale was to be made, and called for deeds for the purchases from him as trustee holding the legal title, but he has refused to ratify the sale and has failed to make deeds for the purchases; said purchasers have demanded of your orator deeds for their lands, and one has filed his bill in this honorable court, to compel the specific performance of the contract with him. Others of said purchasers are threatening to pursue a similar course, and so your orator has been subjected to annoyance and cost, and is likely to be still further injured by the misconduct of said Ketchum in his said office of trustee.

These matters have been urgently presented to said Ketchum by your orator, but he has given no heed to their applications, and not even acknowledged its report to him, and when personally applied to, refused to execute the necessary deeds, except on condition of 1441 his demands for past compensation and future salary being complied with.

10. Your orator shows that it is highly important that further sales of lands should be made; that such was originally intended to be made, for the purpose of completing said road; and it was expressly declared that the said sterling bonds so issued by the company should be received in payment of lands to be sold. This can only be done by the agency of trustees under said deed of trust. That the lands lie in the States of Alabama and Mississippi, and their management should be confided to persons who can and will superintend their management in those States, and in the city of Mobile, where the trust-deed was executed, where the chief business of your orator has necessarily to be executed, and where the trust will have to be executed, and that the removal of the control and direction of this business should be to the manifest letriment and injury of your orator and all others concerned.

It shows that the security of the bondholders requires the active gency of suitable and a full board of trustees to look after their interest in this property, and that interests so large should not be left in the control of one person alone, that the deed was originally to three, and good faith to the creditors of your orator, the cestuis que trust, requires that the office should be full.

Your orator charges that said Ketchum has proved himself an improper person to manage the property as trustee thereof; that he has been unfaithful to said trust. It also charges that said Morris Ketchum is an alien enemy; said property is wholly in the Confederate States, and consists of real property and franchises and personal property, whose chief value arises from its connection with the realty, and can be properly managed only by resident citizens of these Confederate States.

11. Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum may be removed from his said position as trustee under the said deed of trust herein described; that the vacancies created by the deaths of John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett may be filled, and that some suitable per-1442 son be also appointed trustee in the place of said Morris Ketchum, and that said trustees so to be appointed be clothed with all the powers conferred by said deed upon the said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett.

Your orator prays that said Morris Ketchum be made a party hereto, and that publication be made as provided by the statute in the case of application for the appointment of trustees and for such other and further relief as may be consistent with equity and the nature of its case, and, as in duty bound, will ever pray, &c.

Whereas, W'm R. Hallett and J. J. Palmer, two of the trustees under our first mortgage, executed to secure our sterling bonds, have departed this life; and whereas Morris Ketchum, the surviving trustee, has attempted, and so far as in his power, practiced gross fraud on this company and the bondholders; and whereas said Ketchum is a citizen of the State of New York, and an alien enemy, and in all respects disqualified and unfit to act as a trustee:

1443 Therefore, resolved, that our counsel be instructed to apply to the chancery court, or such court as may be most suitable, to have three trustees appointed to act under said mortgage, with power to order sales of land, directing, if they deem it best, the taking of sterling bonds in payment, and to make deeds for lands already sold and to be hereafter sold, and to do all and everything necessary and proper to be done in the due execution of said trust; and, be it further resolved, that we recommend the appointment of Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, said trustees under said mortgage.

I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of a resolution passed by the board of M. & O. R. R. Co., at a meeting of said board on the 5th of December, 1861.

Decree of reference, &c.

At a special term of the court of chancery aforesaid, held in the city of Mobile, commencing on the first Monday of April, 1863, being the 6th day of said month, honorable Nathaniel W. Cocke, chancellor of said court, present and presiding, and on the 7th day of April, 1863, the same being a regular day of said special term, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM, TRUSTEE.

This cause was submitted on the bill, exhibits, and decree pro confesso. The object of the bill is to appoint trustees under a certain deed of trust exhibited by the complainant, of the date of 1st November, 1853, a copy of which is attached to the bill, in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, who are dead, and also to remove the surviving trustee, Morris Metchum, for breaches of duty as trustee, and also because he is an alien enemy, and incompetent to act. The court is 1446 satisfied of the death of said Palmer and Hallett, and of the fact that said Ketchum is an alien enemy; it is therefore ordered, adjudged, and decreed that said Ketchum be removed from his said trusteeship; and further, that the prayer of the bill be granted for the appointment of trusteees in place of said Ketchum, Hallett and Palmer, be granted.

And the said complainant suggests as proper persons to be appointed in place of the former trustees Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson, all citizens of the Confederate States. It is referre to the master to ascertain and report whether the above-named parti be suitable persons to receive the said appointment of trustees afor said.

Master's report.

And on the 8th day of April, 1863, the same being still another day of the said special term of said court, the following report was read by the master in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

The master came in court and reported as follows:

This cause comes before the master with instructions to ascertain and report whether Charles Walsh, George H. Young, and Alexander Jackson are suitable persons to be appointed trustees in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, who are dead, and of the defendant, who has been removed.

The master reports that he gave notice of the time and place of considering the matter referred to him, and was attended by complainant's solicitors; that he examined reliable witnesses introduced, and is satisfied from their testimony that the said Walsh, Young, and Jackson are fit and proper persons to be appointed trustees under the 1447 deed of November 1st, 1853, and in place of the former trustees, Hallett, Palmer, and Ketchum.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed) JNO. M. TAYLOR,
Master.

April 8th, 1863.

And thereupon it is ordered that said report lie over one day.

Final decree.

And on the 9th day of April, A. D. 1863, the same being another of the special April term aforesaid, honorable Nathaniel W. Cocke, chancellor of said court, present and presiding, the following decree was rendered in this cause, to wit:

MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD CO.
vs.
MORRIS KETCHUM.

In this cause, the master, in pursuance of the former order of this court, having made his report at a former day of this term, and the same having been read in open court more than one day, and no exceptions being filed, it is ordered that said report be in all things confirmed. It is hereupon ordered, adjudged, and decreed, that said Charles Walsh, of Alabama, George H. Young, of Mississippi, and Alexander Jackson, of Tennessee, who consent thereto, be appointed trustees under the deed described in the bill of complaint, in room and in place of William R. Hallett and John J. Palmer, former trustees, deceased, and of Morris Ketchum, former trustee, who has been removed by decree of this court. It is further averred, adjudged, and decreed that said trustees hereby appointed be clothed with all the rights, powers, and privileges named in said deed of trust, and that they be charged with all the duties by said deed imposed upon the trustees in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were the original appointees, and that they proceed and execute the trusts declared in said deed according to the terms and provisions thereof, and as to all other matters of complaint and prayers in said bill contained, it is ordered that said bill be dismissed without prejudice to complainant's rights to relief therein, or to any matter of account.

It is ordered that the complainants pay the cost of this proceeding.

1448 EXHIBIT E.

Opinion of Hon. W. B. Woods.

United States circuit court, southern district of Alabama.

MORRIS KETCHUM
vs.
MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY AND others.

In equity; heard on motion for the appointment of a receiver of the property and effects of the defendant railroad company.

The facts, so far as necessary to the decision of the motion, were as follows:

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company was an Alabama corporation, having its principal office at Mobile.

On the first day of November, A. D. 1853, said company executed its deed of trust, conveying to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, then of New York, and William R. Hallett, then of Mobile, and to the survivors and successors of them, in fee-simple, all its railroad property and franchises, in trust, to secure six thousand bonds of one thousand each, to be issued by the company, to be payable in thirty years, with semi annual interest.

1449 Among the property conveyed by said deed of trust were one million one hundred and fifty-six thousand six hundred and fifty-eight acres of land donated to said company by act of Congress. The said deed provided that "said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett shall at once have possession and control of said lands, and any other lands that may be obtained by said company, with authority to devise and determine rules of management of sales, of investing the net proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking-fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds; said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett rendering an exhibit and account of their doings on or before the first days of January of each and every year, during the period of the trust herein made to the said railroad company.

The said deed of trust further provided that "if either of them, the said Ketchum, Palmer, or Hallett, shall at any time or times hereafter die, or become, from any cause, incapable of acting in the premises, or resign his office under these presents, then the said company, or said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett, or either of them, may select some other person to fill the vacancy occurring, &c." 1450

No provision was made by the trust deed for any compensation to the trustees. Ketchum was not and is not a bondholder, stockholder, c officer of the railroad company. He was a naked trustee.

The bonds secured by this deed of trust were issued by the compa and sold, some in the United States and some in Europe.

Before July, 1860, both Palmer and Hallett had died. On the 6th January, 1862, the railroad company filed its bill in the chancery cou for the county of Mobile, in the State of Alabama, against Morri Ketchum, who was represented to be, and was, in fact, a citizen of New York, and who was alleged to be, and was, in fact, the sole survivor of the trustees named in said deed of trust.

The bill charged upon Ketchum, among other things, neglect of duty as trustee, refusal to unite with the company in the appointment 1451 of new trustees; that the trust property was entirely within the Confederate States, and that he was an alien enemy; that the trust property was suffering for want of a trustee capable of acting; and that the interests of holders of bonds secured by the trust deed imperatively demanded the appointment of trustees residing within the territory of the Confederate States, who could perform the duties incident to the trust.

The bill prayed that Ketchum might be removed from his position as trustee under said deed of trust, and that the vacancies created by the death of Palmer and Hallett, and the removal of Ketchum, might be filled by the appointment of the court.

Upon this bill proceedings were taken, according to the code of Alabama, to bring in said Ketchum by publication. Notice of the filing, pendency, and prayer of the bill having been made by publication, according to the statute-law of Alabama, and Ketchum having made 1452 default, a decree pro confesso was taken against him, and in due course a final decree was made, removing him from his office as trustee, and appointing Charles Walsh, George H. Young and Alexander Jackson as trustees under the deed of trust.

The provisions of the code of Alabama (Walke's Revised Code), under which these proceedings were taken, are to be found in the code of 1852, and were in force in 1853, when the trust deed was executed, and in 1863, when the bill was filed and the decree made.

The provisions (section 3321) give the court jurisdiction over nonresidents "when the object of the suit concerns an estate of lien or charge upon lands or the disposition thereof * * * within the State. Section 3335 provided for service upon a non-resident by publication, and section 3455 declared that upon the petition or bill of any person interested in the execution of a trust, the court of chancery may remove any trustee who has violated or threatened to violate his trust * * * or who, from any other cause, is an unsuitable person to execute the trust." And section 3000 of the same code provided that "such 1453 court has the authority to appoint a new trustee in the place of a trustee removed."

The trustees appointed by the said chancery court accepted said trust and discharged the duties thereof for many years, without challenge or question, were in the possession and management of the lands of said railroad company not appurtenant to the line of railroad, and sold portions thereof, and made deeds therefor. They continued in said trust until the 19th of April, 1875, when, said Young and Jackson having resigned, the said Walsh, then sole trustee, and the said railroad company, in accordance with the provisions of the deed of trust, appointed W. Butler Duncan and A. Foster Elliot trustees under the same, who accepted the trust, and at once entered upon the duties thereof. From period before the commencement of the late war, down to the filing his bill in this case, Ketchum did not act, and set up no claim to the office of trustee. In 1865 he learned of the proceedings of the 54 Mobile chancery court, and of the decree purporting to remove him and appoint Walsh, Young, and Jackson.

The railroad company having made default in the payment of the interest due upon the bonds secured by said deed of trust, on the first days of May and November, 1874, said Duncan and Elliot, on the 8th day of May, 1875, by virtue of the provisions of said deed of trust and the assent of the said railroad company, took full possession of all the property of said railroad company, and on the 11th of May, 1875, filed their bill in equity in this court, praying, among other things, to be confirmed in their possession, and protected from all interference by any or parties whomsoever, for leave to apply to the court for instructions in the discharge of their duties, and that the equity of redemption of the said railroad company in said railroad property, &c., might be forever foreclosed, &c.

Upon this bill the court, by its decretal order, recognized Dun-1455 can and Elliot as trustees in possession, and made various other orders directing them in the discharge of their duties as such, and appointing a master to examine their accounts and to discharge the other duties appropriate to the office of master in said cause.

After all these proceedings and not until ten months after the filing of the bill of Duncan and Elliot, to wit, on March 14th, 1876, Morris Ketchum filed the present bill, to which he made the railroad comdany, Duncan and Elliot, and others defendants, in which he alleged that he was the sole surviving trustee of the said deed of trust, that Duncan and Elliot had, without authority, intruded themselves into said trusteeship.

The prayer of his bill was, that the property conveyed by deed of trust, in which he is named as trustee, might be sold and disposed of for the benefit of the bondholders, and that a receiver might be appointed to take charge of and administer the mortgage property until such sale could be made.

1456 The railroad company filed its plea, setting up the proceedings and decree of the Mobile chancery court, and alleged the removal of Ketchum thereby as a bar to any relief prayed by the bill.

The cause was heard on the motion of complainant for the appointment of a receiver, and upon the bill, plea, and various affidavits.

Mess'e'rs Edward L. Andrews, with whom were Alexander McKinstry, D. C. Labat, and B. F. Jones, for the motion.

M'r Andrews argued:

I. The proceeding in the Confederate chancery court of Alabama is a nullity, because it presumed to deprive a loyal citizen of the United States of his title and property on the specific ground of his loyalty. (Texas vs. White, 7 Wall, 700; Hickman vs. Jones, 9 Id., 197.)

II. Said proceedings are a nullity for want of jurisdiction over Ketchum. (Shortridge v. Macon, 1 Abb. U. S., 36; Cuyler v. Ferrill, 1 Id., 169; The Protector, 9 Wal'., 687; Dean v. Nelson, 10 Id., 1457 172; Railroad Co. v. Trimble, 10 Id., 367; United States v. Wiley, 11 Id., 508; Bigler v. Walker, 14 Id., 297; Lasere v. Rochereau, 17 Id., 437; Masterson v. Howard, 18 Id., 99; University v. Finch, 18 Id., 106; Taylor v. Thomas, 22 Id., 479.)

Jurisdiction can arise from two sources only: by the court taking actual custody of the property, or by serving the defendant with process in this case. The claim that a proceeding to remove a trustee is a proceeding in rem is untenable. (Miller v. Pridden, 1 De G., M. & G 335; Foster v. Goree, 4 Ala., 440; Railroad Co. v. Trimble, 10 Wall, 37

The proceeding in this case was in personam; service was theref a prerequisite to jurisdiction. (Evelyne v. Foster, 8 Vesey, j'r, 96; derson, ex part., 5 Id., 240; Cooper v. Reynolds, 10 Wall., 308; Holle worth v. Barbour, 4 Pet., 470; Harris v. Hardman, 14 How., 334.)

Two cases precisely like the one in hand have been adjudicated b the courts of Virginia and Maryland, and the power of the courts, under the circumstances of this case, to remove a trustee denied.
1458 (Washington, A. & G. Railroad Co. v. Alexander & Washington Railroad Co., 19 Gratt., 592; Johnson v. Robinson, 34 M'd, 165.)

Mess'rs Geo. N. Stewart, P. Hamilton, and John A. Campbell, contra.

M'r Stewart argued, that the proceedings of the chancery court, by which Ketchum was removed as trustee, were in strict accordance with the Alabama code; that the proceedings were in rem, and cited Wyman v. Campbell (6 Potter, 219).

As to the effect of decree in rem and acquiescences, Big. on Est., 156, 157, 158; 10 Pet., 474; Satcher v. Satcher's adm'r, 41 Ala., 26; Big. on Est., 511. The was suspended Ketchum's rights. (Griffin v. Ryland and Burns' ex'rs, 45 Ala., 688.)

M'r Hamilton claimed that the proceedings by which Ketchum was removed were not only according to the statute of Alabama, but also equity jurisprudence. Ketchum had actually and specifically abandoned his trust. He had done no act as trustee for ten years. A court of equity will not disturb the condition of things which has been 1459 acquiesced in for a period of years. (Big. on Est., 511; 4 Pet., 471; 10 Wall., 319; McQuiddy v. Ware, 20 Id., 14; Lill v. Neafie, 31 Ill., 101.)

M'r Cambell: The bill for the removal of Ketchum charged a violation of trust, neglect of duty, exorbitant demands for compensation, and inability to discharge his duties by reason of non-residence. As war was flagrant between the sections, he was described as an alien enemy. A decree pro confesso was taken against him, which, by the code of Alabama, was an admission of the allegations of the bill. Rev. Code, sec. 3, 391. The proceeding was authorized by the statute of Alabama, and the statute was strictly followed. A court of chancery, by its general authority over trusts, may remove a trustee for changing his residence to a foreign state, or permanently residing beyond the jurisdiction of the court. (2 Spen. Eq. Jur., 942; Uredale v. Ettrick, 2 Ch. C., 129.) In Rider v. Kidder (13 Ves., j'r, 123), the court, upon proof of absence of the trustee, ordered service to be made on the clerk of the court. In Attorney-General v. Mayor of London (3 1460 Browns, ch. 171), there was a trust for the advancement of Christianity in America and the conversion of infidels, which had been declared before the American Revolution. William and Mary College, in Virginia, and Harvard College, in Massachusetts, were the administrators of the trust. There was a suspension of payments to these corporations during the war, and at the end of the war the question arose whether they could be continued. The chancellor determined that a foreign corporation could not be retained.

The jurisdiction of State chancery courts is the same as the chancery courts of Great Britain. (Williamson v. Suydam, 6 Wall., 723, 733; Bowditch v. Banneloo, 1 Gray, 220; The People v. Norton, 5 Seld., 176; Lill v. Neafie, 31 Ill., 101.)

The effect of the war on the powers and decrees of the courts was not such as complainant claims. (The People v. Norton, 5 Seld., supra; Gaines v. Harvin, 19 Ala., 498; Suydam v. Williamson, 24 How., 427; Williamson v. Suydam, 6 Wall., supra; Horn v. Lockhart, 17 Id., 580.)

61 The decree removing Ketchum did not become absolute for eighteen months, and this period was extended till 1869 by acts assed in 1866, 1867, and 1868. During this period the decree was open for review on the application of Ketchum. A similar act was adopted after the great rebellion in Great Britain. (Sheffield v. Lord Castleton, 2 Vern., 392.) Such remedial acts have been sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States. (Jackson v. Lamphire, 3 Pet., 280; Wilkinson v. Leland, 10 Id., 294; Watson v. Mercer, 8 Pet., 88; Kearney v. Taylor, 15 How., 494; see also Blagg v. Miles, 1 Story, 426.)

There is no power to declare that the decrees of the court of chancery are void, when the decree is within the scope of its regular jurisdiction, and it has conformed in its proceedings to the law of the land. They cannot be collaterally impeached. (Gaines v. Harvin, 19 Ala., 491; Budd v. Hiler, 3 Dutch. (N. J.), 43; Green v. Borland, 4 Met., 330; People v. Norton, 5 Seld., supra.)

WOODS, circuit judge:

1462 Complainant's claim is, that he is still trustee, under the deed of trust, and in the Mobile chancery court, which took place during the war of the rebellion, and while he was a citizen of and actually residing in New York, were entirely ineffectual to remove him from his trusteeship, which was not only an office but an estate, and were absolutely null and void. That the court by the publication of a notice which could not lawfully reach him acquired no jurisdiction over his person, and that its proceedings and decree in the premises are absolutely without effect.

In the cases cited by counsel for complainant it was held that the decree of the court of a country engaged in war, by which the estate of a party was divested, who was prevented from appearing in the court by the fact that he was outside the military lines of the country in which the court was held, and was prohibited from entering those lines, was absolutely null and void.

1463 I think this case is clearly distinguishable from those cited by complainant. Ketchum was a naked trustee. He had no personal interest in the property conveyed to him by the trust-deed.

It was a property which according to the record cost $0,000,000, and the cestui que trust of this immense estate was scattered all over the United States and Europe. Ketchum's co-trustees were both dead, and the war which existed between the United States and the Confederate States rendered Ketchum as impotent to discharge the duties of the trust as if he also had been dead. The interest of the cestui que trust imperatively demanded the service of a trustee.

In this condition of things the settler of the trust, namely, the railroad company, applied to a court of competent jurisdiction, alleging neglect of duty on the part of the surviving trustee, and stating such facts regarding the trustee as showed that it was impossible for him to discharge the duties of his trust by reason of the war then raging.

1464 The filing and averments of this bill, and the subsequent proceedings and decree, were in strict conformity with the statute law of Alabama, which had been enacted and was in force when the trust-deed was executed.

It is true that the notice to Ketchum by publication was ineffectual t bring him into court, but does this fact render the proceedings and d cree of the chancery court absolutely void? The court was called on act in the conservation of an immense property lying within its jur diction, in which thousands of persons, among them aliens, married w men, infants, and trustees, were interested. The court acts to preser this property, and acts in strict conformity to the laws of the land which it sits. Can it be possible that the proceedings of the court ar absolutely void because service was not made upon a naked trustee, whom it was impossible to serve? Is the removal of a trustee incapable of acting and the appointment of another to act in behalf of such 1465 a trust one of the class of decrees declared by the authorities to be void because the removed trustee was beyond the military lines and could not be served?

In my judgment, the chancery court, under the circumstances of this case, had jurisdiction, and it would have been its duty, even in an ex parte proceeding, to appoint a trustee to administer this trust. The war might have lasted twenty years, during all which time it would have been impossible to serve the absent trustee. It seems to me to be a very unreasonable proposition that during all this time the court of chancery must see the trust estate perishing for want of a trustee, and refuse to act on the ground that a naked trustee, whom it was impossible to serve, had not been served with process. The proceedings were not absolutely void. It was at least effectual for the valid appointment of trustees to act during the disability of the original surviving trustee, even without notice to him. (McKeske vs. Brady, 1st Barb.
1466 Cha., 329. In re Mais, 12 Eng. L. & E., 306. Ex parte Hardeman, 3 M. D. & D., 559.)

This view is also supported by the language used by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Lockhart vs. Horn, 17 Wall., 580: "We admit," says the court, "that the acts of the several States in their individual capacities, and of their different departments of government, executive, judicial, and legislative, during the war, so far as they did not impair or tend to impair the supremacy of the national authority or the just rights of citizens under the Constitution, are, in general, to be treated as valid and binding. The existence of a state of insurrection and war did not loosen the bonds of society or do away with civil government, or the regular administration of the laws. Order was to be preserved, police regulations maintained, crime prosecuted, property protected, contracts enforced, estates settled, and the 1467 transfer and descent of property regulated precisely as in time of peace. No one, that we are aware of, seriously questions the validity of judicial legislative acts in the insurrectionary States touching these and kindred subjects, when they were not hostile in their purpose or mode of enforcement to the authority of the national government and did not impair the rights of citizens under the Constitution."

If the decree of the Mobile chancery court was not absolutely void, it was the duty of Ketchum, as soon as peace was restored, to assert his right to the office of trustee. He says, by implication in his bill, that in 1865 he learned of the decree which purported to remove him and appoint other trustees in his stead. The laws of Alabama gave him until the 26th of June, 1869, to apply to the court to open its decree and allow him to make his defense to the bill. He never made such application. On the contrary, although important duties, such as making conveyances for lands sold, were imposed upon him by the 1468 deed of trust, although the same instrument required annual reports to be made by him to the railroad company, he never did any act of any kind under his trust, held no communication with the railroad company, its officers or agents, in reference thereto, and set up no claim to the office of trustee until the filing of his bill in this case in March, 1876.

In the mean time, the trustees appointed in his stead were active in the discharge of their duties, were making conveyances of vast quantities of the trust lands sold by the railroad company, and finally Walsh, the remaining trustee, concurred in the appointment of Duncan and Elliot, whose title to the office of trustees has been recognized by this court.

Clearly such a course of conduct on the part of Ketchum is an abandonment of any title he may have had to the office of trustee and acquiescence in the order of things established by the decree of the Mobile chancery court.

1469 "When there has been long acquiescence in an irregular appointment, the court will not remove." (Attorney-General vs. Cummings, 2 Young & Collyer Ch. Cas., 150.)

It is to be noticed that long acquiescence in a particular grievance, without effort to redress it, is generally held to be a complete bar to relief in equity, either by a receiver or an injunction.

And plaintiffs, who had quietly acquiesced in defendants' possession of property for a long period of years, without attempting to assert their rights to the property, and who then seek to change such possession by a receiver, will be denied the aid of a court. (High on Receivers, sec. 742.)

If Ketchum, at the close of the late war, had the right to disregard the proceedings of the Mobile chancery court by which he was removed and to resume his duties as trustee, he has clearly lost that right by neglect to do so and by long acquiescence in the existing order of things. (McQuiddy vs. Ware, 20 Wall., 19.)

The result of these views is that Ketchum is not a trustee in 1470 the deed of trust, as claimed by him in his bill. As all the relief asked by him is based on the claim that he is such trustee, his motion for the appointment of a receiver is without grounds to support it, and must be overruled.

1471 EXHIBIT F.

Opinion of Hon. John Bruce, judge.

In the circuit court of the United States, of the southern district of Alabama, in the fifth circuit. In equity.

MORRIS KETCHUM, AS SURVIVING TRUSTEE of the first mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, v.
THE MOBILE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY, William Butler Duncan, and A. Foster Elliott.

This case was heard upon the plea in bar of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, defendant, and upon the demurrer of William Butler Duncan, defendant, to the complainant's bill.

The facts, as they appear from the allegations of the bill and plea in bar, may be briefly stated as follows:

That complainant, Morris Ketchum, is a citizen of the State of Connecticut. That, on the first day of November, 1853, the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, a body corporate, organized under the laws of Alabama, and authorized by law to purchase, hold, and dispose of real and personal estate, to borrow money, and to give evidences of debt and securities for the payment of the same by pledge, mortgage, or otherwise, as it shall deem necessary and proper, executed its deed of trust conveying to Morris Ketchum and John J. Palmer, then of New 1472 York, and William R. Hallett, then of Mobile, and to the survivors and successors of them, in fee simple, all its railroad property and franchises, in trust to secure six thousand bonds, each for the sum of two hundred and twenty-five pounds sterling, and payable in thirty years from date thereof, with coupons attached for interest, payable semi-annually. There was included in said conveyance one million one hundred and fifty-six thousand six hundred and fifty-eight and $\frac{92}{100}$ acres of land, and as provided in the deed of conveyance, complainant and said Palmer and Hallett are "to have and to hold the said granted and demised premises, property, and franchises, in trust nevertheless for the benefit, security, and advantage of the person or persons, or corporations, or any other party who might become holders of the bonds hereinbefore described, or any of them, issued, or to be issued, by said company, and for the payment of the interest-coupons thereon as the same shall respectively fall due."

That said Ketchum, Palmer, and Hallett accepted the trust and became the mortgagees of the said property in trust for the holders of the bonds above described; that the railroad company did afterwards sell and negotiate the bonds to bona fide holders thereof, the same being made negotiable by delivery; that most of them are now outstanding, and are valid claims against said company, and valid liens against and upon the property and income and assets of said company; that John J. Palmer and William R. Hallett, co-trustees with complainant, both died about January 1st, 1861, leaving complainant, Morris Ketchum, the sole surviving trustee of the first mortgage of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad.

Complainant alleges that he is informed that about the 5th day of December, 1861, and nearly nine months after the State of Alabama had adopted an ordinance of secession from the United States, and after the commencement of armed hostilities, the directors of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company applied to a court of chancery then sitting in the Confederate States, so-called, and within the territory of the State of Alabama, for an order declaring his removal from the trusteeship of the said mortgage.

1473 That he is informed that "on the 6th day of April, 1862, an order or decree was granted by said court to remove him from said trust on the sole ground that he was a citizen of New York and an alien enemy of the Confederate States."

He alleges that he never heard of or had any knowledge of the pretended proceedings to remove him until after the termination of armed hostilities between the Confederate States and State of Alabama and the United States in the year 1865; that he has from the time of his appointment as original trustee under said mortgage down to the present time continued to act as such trustee and perform the duties of said office and has acted with and concerted with his cestuis que trust during all of said time for the protection of the rights of the bondholders.

He alleges that he had no personal interest in the said bonds; that his sole object, purpose, and desire is to perform his duty as trustee toward the bondholders and to protect their interest and defend the trust; that he has been requested by a number of the holders of said bonds, owning bonds to a large aggregate amount, to institute these proceedings upon the default in the payment of interest, which default he alleges has been made.

He alleges that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company is largely indebted, embarrassed in its business affairs, utterly insolvent, and unable to pay its debts.

He says that he is totally remediless to enforce the said claims and liens at law without the intervention and process of a court of equity.

The prayer of his bill is, that the property conveyed in the deed of trust may be sold for the benefit of the bondholders; that a receiver be appointed to take charge of and administer the property until a sale can be made; and for general relief.

To this bill is interposed a plea in bar by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, setting up the proceedings and decree of the court of chancery of the State of Alabama for the first district of the southern chancery division of Alabama, in the city of Mobile, in which the company was complainant and Morris Ketchum was made defendant, in which bill it was charged "that said Ketchum had failed to 1474 perform his duties as trustee, as provided by said deed; that he had been unfaithful in the performance of his duty as such trustee; that he was not trustworthy as such trustee, and was an unfit and improper person to hold said office; that he had fraudulently withheld the property of said company in his hands from their custody; that he resided beyond the limits of this State and in a territory at the time hostile to the State in which the property was, and that he could not execute and carry out the duties of said trust nor perform the duties required thereby."

"That said court did assume and exercise its jurisdiction, and did, by order, cause publication to be made according to the laws and practice of said State, requiring the said Morris Ketchum, as defendant to said bill, to appear in said court and to defend against the same; which publication was made, and the court did proceed to hear and determine the matter of the complaint; and, at the April term, 1863, it was ordered and decreed by the chancellor in said court of chancery at Mobile that said Morris Ketchum, defendant in said cause, should be, and he thereby was, removed from his said office as trustee, and by said decree a successor to Morris Ketchum was appointed, and who from that time did hold and execute the duties of said office of trustee as the successor and in lieu of said Morris Ketchum, until the time when the co-defendants of said company, William Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliott, were appointed such trustees."

"That said decree is still of record in said court of full force and effect; that it has not in any manner been impaired, reviewed, reversed, or set aside; nor has any new trial or rehearing been applied for or had, as provided by the law of said court, nor any appeal; but the same has been fully executed by the removal of said Ketchum from said office and his discharge therefrom and his place supplied.

"And that he, the said Ketchum, well knowing that he has been discharged and removed, has, from the rendition thereof to the date of his filing said bill in this court, acquiesced in said decree, and has not during said time done or performed any of the acts or duties, or done anything whatever in the execution of said trust duties."

1475 The ground of the demurrer to the bill of complaint by William Butler Duncan is: That the bill shows that Ketchum had knowledge of his removal and the appointment of new trustees, and shows no compliance with the laws which gave the court jurisdiction to review, nor any attempt to have the decree re-opened within the time named by the several statutes on the subject.

Substantially the same questions are raised by the plea and demurrer, and they will be considered together.

George Hoadley, D. C. Labatt, and Edward L. Andrews, for complainant.

John A. Campbell, George N. Stewart, and Peter Hamilton, for defendants.

BRUCE, J.:

This statement of the issue made in the pleadings presents directly the question as to whether the decree of the court—which, for the sake of brevity, may be called the State chancery court at Mobile—is a bar to the relief sought in complainant's bill. In other words, did the proceedings and decree of the State chancery court at Mobile, in law, remove Morris Ketchum from his position as trustee in the deed of trust? This depends upon the question of the jurisdiction of that court to hear and determine the cause brought by the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company, in 1863, against Morris Ketchum to remove him from his trusteeship in the deed of trust set out in the complainant's bill.

No question is made as to the general jurisdiction of the chancery courts of Alabama prior to the war of the late rebellion.

It may also be assumed that this jurisdiction continued during the existence of the State of Alabama as one of the so-called Confederate States of America; that is, so far as such jurisdiction, and the decrees of such courts, can be now recognized and held as valid by the courts of the United States, State and Federal.

1476 The Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company is a corporation, organized under the laws of Alabama, with its chief place of business in the city of Mobile, Alabama, and the portion of its property within the State of Alabama was within the territorial jurisdiction of the State chancery court at Mobile.

But, did the said chancery court have jurisdiction of the defendant, Morris Ketchum? for the legal principle is that there must not only be jurisdiction of the subject-matter, but of the parties as well. Notice and an opportunity to be heard are essential to the jurisdiction of a court to hear and determine a cause. A party defendant must have his day in court. It is a fundamental legal maxim that no one shall be condemned in his person or estate without an opportunity to be heard in his own defence. (Windsor v. McVeigh, opinion of U. S. Supreme Court, Albany Law Journal, January 6, 1877.)

It is not claimed that Morris Ketchum had actual notice of the proceedings in the chancery court at Mobile. But it is claimed that he had constructive notice; that he was at the time a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and that under section 3335 of the revised code of Alabama, which was the law of Alabama at the time of the suit, a publication was made in a newspaper printed in the city of Mobile.

It is not questioned that this publication of notice was made in accordance with the statute law of Alabama in force at the time, and that a proper return of such publication was made to the court.

The fact is, however, that Ketchum did not appear in said court to plead or answer to the bill filed against him, either in person or by attorney. He made default, and a decree pro confesso was taken against him, and, in due course, a final decree for his removal as trustee.

He says in his bill of complaint that he never heard or in any way had any knowledge of the said pretended proceeding to divest him of his property as trustee as aforesaid, until after the termination of armed hostilities between the so-called Confederate States and the State of Alabama and the United States, in the year 1865.

1477 Courts are bound judicially to know the public history of the country.

On the 11th day of January, 1861, the State of Alabama, in convention assembled, passed what is known as the ordinance of secession, purporting to dissolve her connection with the Federal Union as one of the States thereof.

Immediately thereafter a State government was organized in hostility to the Government of the United States, and declared itself to be a State of the so-called Government of the Confederate States of America, which was organized in all its departments, executive, legislative and judicial, with its seat of government in the city of Montgomery and State of Alabama.

On the 15th day of April, A. D. 1861, the President of the United States, by executive proclamation, recognized the existence of armed insurrection against the United States by Alabama and her confederate States.

At and before the time of these proceedings in the chancery court in the city of Mobile, war was flagrant between the two sections of the country. Ketchum was at that time a resident citizen of the State of New York. In actual fact, military lines were established, and organized armies lay between him and the place where the court was held in which he was cited to appear. Moreover he was, at the time, a citizen of the United States, and his duty of allegiance to his government made it unlawful for him to cross the military lines—even if that were possible—and to appear in a court organized by the government of the enemy and in a country at the time held by the enemy.

In July, 1861, Congress passed what is known as the non-intercourse acts, by which all intercourse and correspondence with persons within the enemy's lines was interdicted and made unlawful.

Under these circumstances, whatever jurisdiction might be accorded to a court of one of the Confederate States of America during the war of the rebellion—such as was this chancery court of Alabama sitting in Mobile—as between citizens of Alabama, or as between citizens 1478 of the Confederate States, the proposition seems clear that such a court could acquire no jurisdiction of citizens of the United States, residing, and being at the time, in the States adhering to the Government of the United States.

In Hanger vs. Abbott (6 Wall., 535) it is held by the Supreme Court, opinion by Justice Clifford, that "war when duly declared or recognized as such by the war-making power, imparts a prohibition to the subjects or citizens of all commercial intercourse and correspondence with citizens or persons domiciled in the enemies' country." (Also, Cuyler vs. Ferrill, 1 Abbott, 180.)

These views are sustained in later cases in the Supreme Court of the United States. (Dean vs. Nelson, 10 Wall., 172; Lasere vs. Rochereau, 17 Wall., 437.)

The precise point seems to have been passed upon by Chief Justice Chase while on the circuit, in the case of Livingston vs. Jordan (10 Amer. Law Rep.), in which he says:

"As between parties residing in the State of South Carolina and parties residing in the States which adhered to the national government, between whom war made intercourse impossible, there could be no jurisdiction in the courts of South Carolina while the war continued, by which the rights of non-residents could be injuriously affected."

These authorities are irreconcilable with the idea that there was in the chancery court of Mobile at the time these proceedings were had, any jurisdiction as to Morris Ketchum which could authorize it to render a decree which can now be recognized as valid in the courts of the United States.

But it is said that the Mobile and Ohio Railroad is a corporation organized under the laws of Alabama, with its principal place of business in the city of Mobile, and that Morris Ketchum knew, when he accepted the trust, or will be held to have known, what the laws of Alabama at the time were, in reference to service upon non-residents by publication, and that by section 3455 of the code of Alabama it is provided 1479 that "upon the petition or bill of any person interested in the execution of a trust, the court of chancery may remove any trustee who may have violated or threatened to violate his trust, or who from any other cause is an unsuitable person to execute the trust."

No law of Alabama is shown making it illegal to settle a trust upon a non-resident of the State. From the mortgage deed it appears that Ketchum was, at the time the trust was created, a citizen of New York. He did not become a non-resident of Alabama, for, from aught that appears, he never at any time was a citizen or resident of Alabama. The deed was made to three persons, two of whom are described in it as residents of New York; and from this fact, taken in connection with the nature and purpose of the trust, it is fair to presume that their residence at the acknowledged money centre of the country was a part of the scheme intended by its authors as inducement to parties to become purchasers of the bonds.

But it was urged in argument that when a condition of affairs in the country arose, which, as is said, rendered the duties of the trust impossible of performance by him by reason of his separation from the property, he should have resigned his position. The fact is, however, he did not resign, and it is his legal rights we are now dealing with.

It is claimed that the suit in the chancery court of Mobile was a suit in rem and not in personam.

It is not clear that it was in any strict legal sense a proceeding in rem, but I do not deem it necessary to discuss this question, for if it was so, still the defendant was entitled to notice and an opportunity to be heard, which was, as we have seen, an impossibility in the then condition of the country, Ketchum then residing in the State of New York, one of the adhering States of the Federal Union, while Alabama had joined her fortunes to the Confederate States, and war was flagrant between the two sections of the country. (Earle vs. McVeigh, 1 Otto, p. 503.)

If this view is correct it is decisive of the case, for without jurisdiction of this sole defendant the court, though it may have been legally constituted, could render no decree competent to divest Ketchum 1480 of the title to the property (real estate) which he acquired under the deed of trust.

The next inquiry is as to the competency of this court, constituted as it was, to make a decree which can now be held conclusive as to the rights of complainant.

Before entering upon this question it is proper to inquire what this trust really was. A trust is defined to be an "estate held for the use of another." The deed shows the conveyance of the title in fee simple to the trustees, and it also contains specified duties to be performed by the trustees. It is then more than a mere office. It is an estate. It is more than a simple trust. It is a special trust, with active duties to be performed, and with powers in the nature of a trust.

It appears that Ketchum does not own any of the bonds, but it cannot be questioned that he, by the acceptance of the trust, became invested with an estate and held a position of responsibility to the bondholders, from which he could not release himself by a resignation or any voluntary act on his part; for after the purchase of the bonds, they, the bondholders, became parties in interest in the transaction. With this view of the nature of the trust and the relation of Ketchum to it as trustee, the question of the competency of the State chancery court of Alabama, sitting in Mobile during the war, to pass a decree to be taken and held as valid and conclusive as to the rights of the complainant herein, can be more clearly considered.

The question then is: What validity is now to be accorded to the acts, legislative and judicial, of the Confederate States during the period of their existence as States of the so-called Government of the Confederate States of America, and while the Confederate States were at war with the United States?

Before passing to the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States upon this subject, I call attention to the law as it has been held and declared in this circuit.

In the case of Van Epps vs. Walsh et al., reported in 1st Woods, 609, the court, Woods circuit judge, says: "The decree of the chancery court of Mobile County, directing Dorgan and Walsh to enter satisfac-1481 tion of the mortgage made to them by Van Epps, the guardian, was also made coram non judice.

The main party in interest was the minor Van Epps, who was in the State of New York, and prohibited by the laws of the United States from making any defence.

"It is not pretended that any actual notice was served, or could be legally served upon him; and, even if served, he could make no defence, and the purpose of the decree against him was to deprive him of the security which the guardian had given him to protect his estate.

"It was a decree depriving him of his just rights, and in rendering it the court was no court, and the decree is ineffectual." Citing Cuyler v. Ferrill, and other authorities.

In the case of Lockhart v. Horn, in this circuit, reported in 1 Woods, 628, afterwards affirmed in the Supreme Court of the United States and reported in 17 Wallace, p. 570, Justice Bradley, speaking, as it seems to me, with much care, uses this language:

"As a general rule, in my judgment, all transactions, judgments and decrees, which took place in conformity with existing laws of the Confederate States, between citizens thereof, during the late war, except such as were directly in aid of the rebellion, ought to stand good."

From these authorities it appears that the law, as held in the fifth circuit up to this time, is, that judgments and decrees of the State courts of the Confederate States, rendered during the war, are to stand good as between citizens thereof; but as to citizens residing in the adhering States they are not valid, and the court, as to them, is no court.

I now pass to a review of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, to see if these views, and authorities heretofore cited, are borne out by the decisions of that court, which is the ultimate judicial authority by which we are bound.

The question of validity of the acts, legislative and judicial, of what may be called the Confederate States during the war, is not a new question in that tribunal. There are many cases, and I have to extract from them the true rule of decision, and apply it to the case at bar.

1482 An early and a leading case, to which reference is often made, is the case of Texas v. White, reported in 7 Wallace, 733. In that case the court, by Chief Justice Chase delivering the opinion, says: "It is not necessary to attempt any exact definitions within which the acts of such a State government must be treated as valid or invalid. It may be said, perhaps, with sufficient accuracy, that acts necessary to peace and good order among citizens, such, for example, as acts sanctioning and protecting marriage and the domestic relations, governing the course of descents, regulating the conveyance and transfer of property, real and personal, and providing remedies for injuries to person and estate, and other similar acts which would be valid if emanating from a lawful government, must be regarded in general as valid when proceeding from an actual, though unlawful, government, and that acts in furtherance or support of rebellion against the United States, or intended to defeat the just rights of citizens, and other acts of like nature, must in general be regarded as void."

In some of the latter cases decided by the Supreme Court, the rule is stated with more brevity and exactness, but they are all on a line with the case of Texas v. White.

The leading authorities are: Texas v. White (7 Wallace); Lockhart v. Horn (17 Wallace, 57); University v. Finch (18 Wallace, 107); Sprott v. United States (20 Wallace, 459); United States v. Insurance Companies (22 Wall., 99).

The latest case brought to my notice upon this subject is the case of Taylor v. Thomas, reported in 22 Wallace, 491. After a review of some of the former decisions on the subject, the court, speaking by Justice Clifford, quotes from the case of Horn v. Lockhart, in which case Justice Field, delivering the opinion of the court, said: "Order was to be preserved, police regulations maintained, crime prosecuted, property protected, cont acts enforced, marriages celebrated, estates settled, and descent of property regulated precisely as in times of peace. No one that we are aware of," say the court, "seriously questions the 1483 validity of judicial or legislative acts in the insurrectionary States, touching these and kindred subjects, where they were not hostile in their purpose or mode of enforcement to the authority of the national government, and did not impair the rights of citizens under the Constitution."

In the case of the United States v. insurance companies, cited by defendants' counsel, the same doctrine, substantially, is laid down.

The case was that of two insurance companies, corporations created by the legislature of Georgia in 1861 and 1863, while the State was in armed rebellion against the United States, and the errors assigned were—

1st. In holding that claimants had a legal existence.

2nd. In holding that the rebel legislature of Georgia could create a corporation capable of suing the United States after the suppression of the rebellion.

In the opinion of the court, delivered by Justice Strong, after quoting from the former decisions of the court on the subject, he states the rule thus: "All the enactments of the de facto legislatures in the insurrectionary States, during the war, which were not hostile to the Union or to the authority of the general government, and which were not in conflict with the Constitution of the United States, or of the States, have the same validity as if they had been enactments of legitimate legislatures." He proceeds, "Any other doctrine would work great and unnecessary hardship upon the people of those States without any corresponding benefit to the citizens of other States, and without any advantage to the national government."

This case illustrate the rule clearly, and shows the principle upon which it rests.

The incorporation of insurance companies had no element of hostile legislation. They could not, in carrying out the legitimate purposes of their organization, give aid to the rebellion, or affect the rights of citizens of the United States. Their incorporation pertained purely to the domestic affairs of the State, and was just such legislation as would have been called for in times of peace.

1484 The Confederate State governments were, during the war, charged with the duty of protecting civil society within their respective States. This was to be done, not by the suspension of the functions of the legislative and judicial departments of these governments, but by their continued exercise. Law was to be administered, social order preserved; and this could only be done by the activity of the agencies provided for that purpose.

The proposition then is, that the acts, legislative and judicial, of these de facto State governments during the war, within certain limits, are to have the some validity as if proceeding from State governments de jure. And this rule rests upon public policy and is to have its full scope and effect, but the limitations are to be steadily kept in view.

Though these limitations may not be capable of expression in precise language applicable to every case, they may be thus stated:

First. That the acts were not in aid of the rebellion, or hostile in their purpose or mode of enforcement to the national authority.

Second. That they did not injuriously affect or impair the legal rights of citizens of the United States residing at the time in the adhering States of the Union.

Tested by this rule, with these limitations in view, what shall we say of the decree of the State chancery court at Mobile, rendered in 1863, removing Ketchum from his trusteeship in this deed of trust.

There may be some difficulty in applying the first of the rules above laid down because the purpose or motive for action may not be apparent, and the rule is perhaps to be limited to cases where hostility is apparent.

A railroad is a very important agency in carrying on military operations, and it is a matter of history that this particular road was of great service to both parties during the late war, but it does not clearly appear that the removal of Ketchum was intended as a war measure in aid of the rebellion, or that in its effect it made the Southern portion of 1485 the road any more valuable to the Confederacy, or the Northern portion of it any less valuable to the Government of the United States in the actual prosecution of the war then going on.

The chancery court, however, seems to have based its decree on the ground that Ketchum was an alien enemy of the Confederate States, which implies a purpose to place this trust in the control of some one at least not an enemy to the Confederate States, and when Ketchum's residence in one of the adhering States of the Union is considered, the presumption arises that some benefit to the Confederate States, present or prospective, was sought by the change, though that presumption, perhaps, may not be conclusive.

It is suggested that it was sought to divest Ketchum of the lands in order that sales might be effected for Confederate money, but that also rests upon inference and is not conclusive.

But the question recurs, was this decree of the State chancery court at Mobile, in its effect if accorded validity, an impairment of the rights held by Ketchum, "a citizen of the United States, under the Constitution?" to use the language employed by the Supreme Court in case of Taylor vs. Thomas, 22 Wallace.

I do not understand the phrase "rights of citizens under the Constitution" to mean exclusively Federal rights as such, but legal rights—just rights—rights for the infraction of which the law furnishes remedies. And it is such rights of citizens of the United States which it was not competent for this court to impair or injuriously affect.

The argument seems to be that the judgments and decrees of the State courts of the Confederate States during the war are to be held and regarded as of the same validity as the judgments and decrees of the courts of the States adhering to the Federal Union, and when regularly rendered cannot be attacked collaterally, but only in a direct proceeding.

The cases cited do not, in my judgment, sustain that doctrine, and some of the opinions of the Supreme Court of the United States 1486 express dissent from such a view; the predicate for such a doctrine was destroyed when the Confederate power and government was overthrown.

But it is claimed that this decree has been ratified and validated by the action of the State conventions of the State of Alabama, held after the war, to restore the State to its proper relations to the Union, and that this deed of trust was made with reference to the laws of Alabama and is to be governed by those laws alone.

If I am right in my conclusion that this decree was void as to the rights of Ketchum, as trustee in this trust, it follows that it could not acquire validity from such acts, as it was incapable of legal life. But this scheme for raising money upon bonds secured by deed of trust upon the property of the railroad company, located (in part) in Alabama, with its principal place of business in the city of Mobile, looked for its execution and accomplishment beyond the limits of the State of Alabama.

It was not expected to raise six millions of money in this State, and the form of the bonds and coupons, as negotiable securities, payable to bearer, for so many pounds sterling, at the banking house of George Peabody & Co., London, shows the purpose to have been to reach the money centres of the world. When the bonds were sold the purchasers acquired an interest in this security, and the transaction became a contract between the parties. The bondholders have never been parties to any judicial proceedings for, or given consent to, the removal of Ketchum as trustee. To remove the trustee and substitute another in his place in any other way than by a proper judicial proceeding, was to change and impair the obligation of the contract. This the State of Alabama, neither by its constitutional conventions nor by its legislature, had any power to do. Hence, it could not ratify and make valid that which was beyond its power to do in the first instance. Knapp v. Railroad Company, 20 Wallace.

It is further claimed that, after the war, when the proceedings of the chancery court at Mobile were brought to the knowledge of 1487 Ketchum, he should have availed himself of the time that was given by the constitutional conventions of Alabama to apply for a rehearing of this decree, or have taken an appeal from it, time having been given for these purposes.

If I am correct in my conclusion that this decree was void as to him, then he was under no obligation to pay any regard to it. The effect of an application on his part, after the war, to open the decree or to take an appeal—time for which was amply extended by the law-making power of the State—it is not important to discuss, for the fact is, he did not make any such application. The doctrine of estoppel is also invoked as to the complainant. He admits that he acquired knowledge of the proceedings and decree in the State chancery court at Mobile in the year 1865, after the close of the war. It is claimed that from that time to the time of the filing of this bill (1876), he has taken no steps to assert his rights as trustee, and has thereby acquiesced in what has been done, and is estopped from asserting any right as trustee in the deed of trust.

It is to be observed that by the terms of the deed of trust, after specifying the duties of the trustees as to the lands covered by the deed, it goes on to say: "As to other items of assets of real estate, tolls, or income of said company, they are to remain in the possession or under the control of the said company, except the said company become in default for the payment of said bonds or interest, or any portion thereof. In such case the said party of the second part is hereby vested with full authority to take possession and control of all and singular the entire estate," &c., &c. And again, "Said party of the second part shall not claim to take possession and control unless said company remains in default of payment of said bonds or interest for the space of three months after being due and payable."

This default in the payment of interest occurred in May, 1875, so that up to that time, by the terms of the deed, the railroad company was entitled to the possession and control of the property, except the lands, and as to them, until the default, no sales could be made "without the advice and consent of the company."

1488 The trustees were at once, however, to have possession and control of the lands donated by Congress, with authority to devise and determine rules of management of sale, of investing the nett proceeds in such funds as will suitably and safely create a sinking fund for the redemption or payment of said bonds, &c., &c. This suit was brought in May, 1876, so that, as to property other than the lands, Ketchum's duties arose in fact only a few months prior to the bringing of this suit.

But with regard to the land grant the matter is quite different, for, by the terms of the deed, the trustees had duties to perform as to the sale of the lands, with a view to the creation of a sinking fund with the proceeds thereof.

This indicates a neglect of duty on the part of Ketchum, and might afford good cause, in a court of competent jurisdiction, in a proper proceeding and upon proof, to depose him from his trust, but that is all. A mere neglect of duty as trustee will not, and cannot, ex proprio vijore, divest his title to the trust estate.

This is not a plea of the statute of limitations. It is acquiescence since the year 1865. Acquiescence implies something to be acquiesced in, and the plea is that "he acquiesced in the decree"—meaning the decree of the State chancery court at Mobile.

The rule of law upon this subject is thus stated by the supreme court of the State of Alabama in the case of Ware et al. vs. Cowles, reported in 24 Ala., p. 446. Goldthwaite, J., delivering the opinion, says: "The first question presented upon the record is, whether upon the case made by the bill Cowles was estopped from asserting his title against Seales and Jones.

"It is clear, both upon principle and authority, that the conduct or admission which concludes a party must be plainly inconsistent with the right which he afterwards sets up." Again: If the act or admission be susceptible of two constructions, one of which is consistent with the right, the party would not be concluded by its assertion, because to do so might operate to defeat a man's right by argument or inference, which is not allowable.

1489 Again the court says, "So, too, the admission, however unequivocal it may be, will not operate as an estoppel unless the other party has acted upon it," citing authorities.

Now apply this rule:

Did Charles Walsh, when he became a trustee under the appointment of the court, act upon any conduct or admission of Morris Ketchum? Was not the decree of the court the acknowledged foundation and source of whatever rights he acquired?

The plea says that "by said decree," meaning the decree of the chancery court of Mobile, "a successor to Ketchum was appointed, and who from that time did hold and execute the duties of said office as successor in lieu of and stead of said Ketchum until the time when the co-defendants of this company, William Butler Duncan and Andrew Foster Elliott, were appointed such trustees." Manifestly, then, the decree was the basis and source of the alleged rights of the present trustees, not any acts or admission of Ketchum, for he was then living in the State of New York, and without the opportunity or right of intercourse with the parties.

The most that could be said is, that the silence of Ketchum may have increased the confidence of the trustees in their position, but that mere silence under such circumstances could operate to divest the title to a trust estate, is, to my mind, untenable. The result of these views is that the plea in bar and the demurrer are overruled.

EXHIBIT G.

MOBILE, March 5th, 1875.

GEORGE A. STEWART,
General Solicitor M. & O. R. R. Co:

DEAR SIR: In reply to your request that I shall execute a power of attorney jointly with the two other trustees of the mortgage made by the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co. on the first of November, 1853, to an agent or agents in New York, to enable the company to do what may be there needed in respect to the management of the interests of the company, and also for the prosecution and defence of such proceedings as may arise in the court there, to execute bonds when necessary to protect the property of the trust, &c., I have to say that I have fully considered of the subject, and I have come to the conclusion that neither the interests of the company nor mine would be benefited by my so doing.

I suppose it is probable that under the present difficulties of this road, as well as of all other roads at this time, that intricate litigations will arise, and when commenced I cannot foresee how long it will 1491 be before they can be closed. I am not myself in a situation to attend personally, at New York or elsewhere, to the complicated questions which may arise in adjusting the rights of all the conflicting trusts; and, to tell the truth, I do not feel willing to empower others to act for me in such matters on my responsibility.

I prefer to resign the position of trustee, so that trustees in New York, on the spot, may be appointed who can act promptly and furnish such affidavits and bonds as may be needed in judicial proceedings, which I am not in a condition to do. I have reason to believe that my course would not be considered injurious to the parties interested. As the matter now stands, the trustees are scattered, never can act together, and their action cannot be very prompt or effectual. At all events, I prefer to tender my resignation as a trustee, which I will thank you to forward to the president of the company.

I regret to have to take this course, but believe it best for all parties under present circumstances.

Your obedient servant,
(Signed) CHA'S WALSH.

1492 JACKSON, TENN., March 9th, 1875.

M'r GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor M. & O. R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: Having carefully considered the foregoing communication of M'r Charles Walsh, and coinciding with his views, I hereby join in requesting that you will forward my tender of resignation as trustee to the president of the company, coupled with the request that, in accepting my resignation, all proper proceedings may be had necessary to exempt and relieve me from future responsibility as trustee.

Respectfully yours,

To GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

1493 DEAR SIR: On consideration of the view expressed by M'r Charles Walsh, and concurred in by D'r Alexander Jackson, as within stated, I have to say that I fully concur with them in the opinion that it would be better for the interests of the company, its bondholders, and of my own, that I should also resign the position of trustee of the deed of trust within referred to, and I therefore request that you tender my resignation as such trustee to the president of the company; and I also make the request, as made by D'r Alexander Jackson, that such proceedings be had that I shall be relieved from all future responsibility on account of said trusts.

(Signed) GEO. H. YOUNG.

MOBILE, March 12th, 1875.

GEORGE N. STEWART,
General Solicitor Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

DEAR SIR: When I addressed to you my request that you should tender my resignation as trustee under the deed of mortgage and 1494 trust made by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company on the 23d of November, 1853, I did so with the great desire to be relieved for the future from the duties and responsibilities of said trust; such is now still my earnest wish, but it was under the full belief that it would cause no injury or inconvenience to the company, but rather advance its interests.

I have now, however, been shown that the two other trustees having also resigned, the result is that the mortgage is left without any trustee to represent the interests of the beneficiaries, and that the trust, for want of a trustee, cannot be made effectual without application to a court of chancery, which would require much time, and the duty has been pressed on me that at least one trustee should remain, in order that the succession of trustees may be maintained; under this pressure on me, in view of the consequences, and upon urgent solicitations of friends, I have been induced to say to you, as my determination to resign has not yet been presented by you for acceptance by the 1495 railroad company, that you will withhold it and consider it revoked until further instructions from me.

This course seems now a duty on my part under the circumstances, although I had hoped to be relieved from the trust, and such is still my desire to effectuate so soon as future events will permit.

Please consider my instructions to you in this respect as revoked and annulled.

Your ob't servant,
(Signed) CHA'S WALSH.

MOBILE, April 20, 1875.

J. J. WALKER, Esq.,
Vice-President of the Mobile & Ohio R. R. Co.:

SIR: I have heretofore, in a letter to Geo. N. Stewart, esq., expressed my desire to resign my position of trustee under the deed of mortgage and trust executed by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, dated November 1st, 1853, known as the first mortgage of said company, 1496 but at your suggestion the said resignation has not been presented. I have, since that time, at the request of the company and in accordance with what seems to be my duty under said deed, united with the company in the appointment of trustees in place of Mess'rs Young and Jackson, trustees, whose resignation as trustees under the same deed have been accepted.

I now renew my intention of resignation, and request that I may be immediately relieved of all further duty and responsibility in the trusteeship by the acceptance of this my resignation, and that proper resolutions be adopted by the company for my security and protection.

Your ob't servant,

1500 Depositions of Charles Moran et als.

United States circuit court for the southern district of Alabama.

D'ORELLI ZIEGLER ET AL.
vs.
THE MOBILE & OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY ET AL.

Depositions of witnesses examined on the part of the defendants before me, Joseph Gutman, j'r, U. S. commissioner, under and pursuant to a commission issued out of the above-entitled court in the above-entitled cause, on the twenty-third day of April, 1877.

APRIL 27, 1877.

Present, M'r Blandy, for plaintiff; M'r Bangs, for defendants.

CHARLES MORAN, called and sworn on behalf of the defendants, and examined by M'r Bangs, deposes and says as follows:

Q. 1. Be so good as to state your residence, your business, your firm-name, and your place of business, and the members of your firm.

A. I am banker; I reside at 12 East Fifty-third street; of the firm of Moran Brothers, consisting of myself and my two sons, Daniel C. and Amidee D. Moran.

Q. 2. Have you with you any of the papers which you were required to produce at this examination?

A. I have brought with me the correspondence and instructions.

Q. 3. Will you please produce them?

A. I will, sir. (Papers produced by witness.)

Q. 4. Allow me to see them.

A. Will you not allow me to retain them?

Q. 5. Undoubtedly they will be returned.

A. They are private letters.

Q. 6. Don't you wish to produce the letters?

A. I do not wish to produce them, they are private letters.

Q. 7. Have you anything under the seal of Rudolph Merian?

(Objected to on the ground that the witness has been called to produce the papers, and upon its production the paper will speak for itself.)

Q. 8. I now ask you if you will produce the papers called for in the subpœna, and place them in my hands?

A. I decline.

Q. 9. Have you anything under the seal of Rudolph Merian?

(Objected to for the reason that the witness is the witness of the defendant, and there is a remedy open to the defendant against this witness if he declines to produce papers that are called for.)

A. I decline to state, for the reason that the paper can be produced and would speak for itself—will show whether it is under seal.

Q. 10. Have you anything over the signature of Rudolph Merian?

A. I have, but not with me.

Q. 11. Have you anything under the seal or over the signature of Alfred Renevier?

A. I have over the signature, I think; but I have not brought those; I have brought only the letters of four correspondents, which I thought were the plaintiffs indicated in that Ziegler bill.

Q. 12. Don't you know the plaintiffs in this bill?

A. There are many plaintiffs.

Q. 13. Do you mean to say Rudolph Merian is not a plaintiff in this bill?

A. Not in the one I have seen.

Q. 14. Are you sure of that?

A. I have executed several documents, and it may not be the one this refers to.

Q. 15. Will you state that, according to your understanding of it, Rudolph Merian is a plaintiff in this suit?

A. I suppose he is not.

Q. 16. But you are not confident?

A. I am not; I brought such correspondence as I supposed 1501 was from those to be named in the Ziegler bill.

Q. 17. Were you not subpœnaed to produce all letters of instruction or powers of attorney from the plaintiffs in this action?

A. I do not know.

Q. 18. Then produce the subpœna.

(Subpœna produced.)

Q. 19. Upon production of the subpœna it appears that you were required to produce all powers or letters of attorney, or letters of instruction or correspondence, or bonds or coupons received by you from or held by you for any or either of the plaintiffs. Why under that subpœna did you not produce your powers of attorney and letters of instruction from Rudolph Merian, Alfred Renevier, Eugene Renevier, and Masson Chavannes?

A. There is some misunderstanding on my part.

Q. 20. Did you not know that they were plaintiffs in this suit?

A. Not in this suit.

Q. 21. Then which of the plaintiffs has furnished you with the papers which you have?

A. I have got with me the documents which I thought were demanded; have got the authority of Bernard.

(Counsel interrupting.)

Q. 22. I do not wish you to state what you have with you, when you refuse to produce them. Why didn't you produce the papers which were sent to you or placed in your hands by the plaintiffs named in the Ziegler bill?

A. I did not suppose those were the ones you wanted. I can produce them to-morrow morning.

Q. 23. You can produce them?

A. Certainly.

Q. 24. You can produce what papers you have from Rudolph Merian or Alfred Renevier?

A. Yes, whatever I have. I am under a misapprehension. I have read a copy of the bill of Ziegler, and in that there are only four names.

Q. 25. Are you sure of that?

A. I am not sure of anything. I am not sure of having read the right bill.

Q. 26. When did you read the bill which you say you have read?

A. This morning.

Q. 27. Where was it?

A. It was in the counsel's office.

Q. 28. Was it the original bill?

A. No; it was a copy.

Q. 29. Did it purport to contain a copy of the affidavit sworn to by you?

A. Yes.

Q. 30. Did you ever swear to such an affidavit?

A. Yes; I know I did.

Q. 31. Do you remember before what commissioner?

A. I have sworn to so many I wouldn't be positive.

Q. 32. Do you remember before what commissioner that particular affidavit was taken?

A. No, sir.

Q. 33. Did you subscribe the affidavit?

A. I did.

Q. 34. Was it not on a separate sheet of paper at the time you subscribed?

A. How on a separate sheet? It was either that or a part or parcel of the whole bill.

Q. 35. Did you read the paper to which it was attached?

A. I did.

Q. 36. And yet, after having read that paper, you declare that the persons I have named were not plaintiffs?

A. I did not declare they were not plaintiffs; I declared on the bill I read they were not.

Q. 37. Then if a bill of complaint has been filed in Mobile, in which those parties are united with Ziegler as plaintiffs, and that bill purported to have been signed and sworn to by you, as their attorney in fact, the truth is, you never signed or swore to such a bill?

A. That is your assertion.

Q. 38. I ask you that.

A. I never signed a bill without first reading it.

Q. 29. If any paper has been filed in Mobile, containing the names of the parties whom I have referred to, their names were not mentioned in the paper at the time you signed it?

A. No, sir; I don't say that at all; I said I have signed several papers, and there might have been changes made; I am not certain; I was shown what I supposed was the one you wanted; if I had known it, it would have been just as easy for me to bring the papers; only tell me what it is.

Q. 40. Be so good as to tell me why it is that you cannot remember who are the plaintiffs in this suit sufficiently to obey a subpœna served upon you?

A. If I have not given sufficient explanation, it is not within my power to give more.

Q. 41. Do you know the firm of Pestalozzi au Thalhof?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 42. Where does the firm exist?

A. At Zurich, in Switzerland.

Q. 43. Of whom does it consist?

A. M'r D'Orelli Ziegler.

Q. 44. Are you personally acquainted with him?

A. I have been personally acquainted with him for many years.

Q. 45. D'Orelli Ziegler is his name?

A. D'Orelli Ziegler is his name.

Q. 46. Have you the signature of that firm with you?

A. I have not; I have of Pestalozzi au Thaloff.

Q. 47. Have you the signature of that firm with you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 48. Have you the signature of D'Orelli Ziegler with you?

A. No.

Q. 49. Have you the signature on your premises, or under your control?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 50. Subscribed to a power of attorney?

A. No, sir.

Q. 51. Subscribed to letters?

Yes, sir.

Q. 52. Have you the signature of Pestalozzi au Thalhof subscribed to a power of attorney?

A. No, sir.

Q. 53. Subscribed only to letters?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 54. Do you think you would know their signature if you saw it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 55. Is that their signature?

(Paper produced and shown by counsel to witness.)

A. Yes, sir.

1503 Q. 56. I ask you now to produce whatever authority you have to make them plaintiffs in the lawsuit.

(Paper produced by witness.)

Q. 57. This paper you produce, is it under seal?

A. No, sir.

Q. 58. When is it dated?

A. The eighth of March, 1877.

Q. 59. In what language is it?

A. French.

Q. 60. Will you permit the examiner to take a copy of it and attach it to your deposition?

A. All the parts that relate to the present interrogatories.

Q. 61. Will you permit him to select the parts that, in his opinion, relate to the subject?

A. I submit to my counsel whether I must show the letters.

Q. 62. What does your counsel say?

By Mr. Blandy: I advise you that you are bound only to show so much as relates to the subject-matter; and that portion I advise you to give the translation of.

A. I have brought translations of those parts which relate to the matters, or will give a verbatim copy of the matter to-morrow.

Q. 63. I desire that you give a verbatim copy of the parts that relate to the subject, and that you will not give a translation.

(Translation produced by witness, as follows:)

8TH MARCH, 1877.

You will find annexed an extract of a publication by the committee of a few holders of the Mobile & Ohio bonds, which has appeared in all the public papers, and which Mess'rs Lombard, Odier & Co., of Geneva, have reproduced translated into French. You will know better than I, if that committee have the right to speak so arbitrarily in favor of their own interests at the expense of the interests of those who refuse to submit to their wishes. If I have properly comprehended the opinion emitted by Judge Bruce, we are not yet reduced to the alternative of accepting the conditions of the committee of the Tennessee bonds, or be exposed to lose our capital through our non-acceptance. However, I can only beg you to act in regard to my bonds as you do with those that belong to you.

Q. 64. What are the bonds to which he refers in that letter?

A. The first-mortgage sterling bonds.

Q. 65. Have you brought a suit as the owner of your bonds?

A. I have brought a suit as the holder.

Q. 66. Where have you brought a suit?

A. I tried to interplead in something.

Q. 67. Where have you brought a suit?

A. I suppose there is a suit brought in our name in the court at Mobile.

Q. 68. In the name of Moran?

A. Moran Brothers—I am not sure; I think so.

1504 Q. 69. Will you swear that you have brought a suit in Mobile?

A. I am not certain at all; I have not drawn the papers intended for the suit.

Q. 70. When your authority was limited to acting for Pestalozzi, as you would do for yourself, why have you brought a suit in Mobile for him without bringing one for yourself?

(Objected to as incompetent, for the further reason that the witness is a witness for the defendant, and he is proceeding to cross-examine his own witness, and as immaterial.)

A. I say that I don't know; I am not sure a suit was brought in my name. I instructed my counsel to bring one; whether he has or not I am not certain.

Q. 71. This paper says: "I can only beg you to act in regard to my bonds as you do in regard to those that belong to you." Before bringing the suit in the name of Ziegler or Pestalozzi au Thalhof, whichever it was, or simultaneously with bringing that suit, did you bring a suit in your own name in the United States circuit court in Alabama?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. I reply as I did before; I signed a paper with a view to it.

Q. 72. Do you mean you do not know whether you have brought a suit in Mobile or not?

A. If you can only tell me how I can answer more explicitly, I will answer. It may be I have not. I won't say I have or have not.

Q. 73. If you have, who have you employed?

A. M'r E. L. Andrews.

Q. 74. Have you not employed M'r Grandin?

A. No.

Q. 75. Then, if you have employed M'r Andrews to bring a suit in your name, how do you account for it that you have instituted a suit through M'r Grandin, and not M'r Andrews, when your instructions were to act for Ziegler as for yourself; in other words, why have you employed one counsel for yourself and another counsel for Ziegler?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. My whole relation to these gentlemen is such that whatever I am willing to do for myself, I do for them without hesitation.

Q. 76. Do you mean to say that you have absolute authority?

A. Absolute authority. I sell the securities without any authority on their part.

Q. 77. Do you mean to say that you have absolute authority to do what you please with D'Orelli Ziegler's bonds?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 78. Where is that authority; you were subpœnaed to produce it?

A. It is a thing ten or fifteen years ago.

Q. 79. Is it it in writing?

A. Writing and conversation. I have long known him personally.

Q. 80. Have you any power of attorney under which you exercised that authority?

1505 A. No, sir; but he put the securities in my hands for full control.

Q. 81. Is that understanding expressed in writing?

A. I probably have it in very old letters.

Q. 82. Here is a letter of the eighth of March; he says he begs you to act with his bonds as you do with your own.

A. Yes.

Q. 83. You have acted with his bonds by asking M'r Grandin to bring a suit?

A. I understand by that to do anything for his interest.

Q. 84. I asked you whether you had employed M'r Grandin to bring a suit in his name?

A. I never employed M'r Grandin.

Q. 85. Have you employed M'r Grandin to bring a suit in your name?

A. No, sir.

Q. 86. Haven't you brought suit in Tennessee?

A. Not through M'r Grandin.

Q. 87. In any way?

A. In no way that I am aware of; M'r Andrews may have engaged him as associate counsel; I act entirely through M'r Andrews.

Q. 88. Have you brought a suit in Tennessee?

A. Unless I have acted through M'r Andrews.

Q. 89. Haven't you brought a suit in Tennessee?

A. If you will let me have access to the records of the court, I can tell.

Q. 90. Can't you tell without access to the records of the court?

A. I executed papers to bring a suit there.

Q. 91. You don't know whether there has been a suit brought there?

A. I don't know; there are forms and processes of the courts.

Q. 92. What papers did you prepare to bring a suit in Tennessee?

A. A bill.

Q. 93. Haven't you brought a suit in Kentucky?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 94. Through what counsel?

A. M'r Andrews.

Q. 95. You swore to a bill for that purpose?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 96. And you have brought a suit in Mississippi?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 97. Through M'r Andrews?

A. I have sent bills to do so.

Q. 98. In Mississippi?

A. I believe so; I executed papers with a view to it; but the actual standing of the legal proceedings, I don't know.

Q 99. Then your present recollection is, that you have brought a suit in Kentucky and Tennessee and Mississippi, and in Mobile, through M'r Andrews?

A. Yes.

Q. 100. Have you brought four such suits in the behalf of Ziegler?

A. No; I think not.

Q. 101. Why don't you, when his instructions were to act in regard to his bonds as you did with those that belonged to yourself?

A. I was not advised by counsel that it was necessary.

Q. 102. Who do you mean by counsel?

A. M'r Andrews.

Q. 103. How long have you known M'r Andrews?

A. About six months.

Q. 104. Were you introduced to him by Morris Ketchum?

A. I went to him myself, directly.

1506 Q. 105. How long ago did you bring your suit in Mississippi?

A. My counsel can remember that; I cannot recollect dates as far back as that.

Q. 106. Was it at the same time that you brought your suit in Kentucky?

A. I think it must have been about the same time.

Q. 107. How long ago was it you brought your suit in the State court of chancery in Mobile?

A. I have brought no suit there.

Q. 108. Are you sure of that?

A. As far as I know.

Q. 109. Will you undertake to say positively that whatever suit has been brought in that name has been brought without your knowledge?

(By witness, interrupting:)

A. Without my knowledge.

Q. 110. Will you undertake to state positively that you have not made a bill in chancery, and sworn to it in Mobile?

A. I do not know; I cannot state positively.

Q. 111. Then it may be so?

A. I should be very much surprised; I do not believe I have, to the best of my knowledge; I have no recollection of doing so, or anything intended for that purpose; when I sign bills I have to trust to my counsel; I might have signed bills which he made use of in other courts; I read what the documents are and the heading, but I am very sure there has been no bill in the chancery court.

Q. 112. Do you mean to say if there has been any bill filed that it was without your authority?

A. Not if I signed it; it is doubtful in my own mind.

Q. 113. It may be so?

A. It may be I authorized it.

Q. 114. How many bonds of M'r Ziegler's did you hold?

A. Eighteen bonds.

Q. 115. What are the numbers?

A. I have them on a piece of paper; shall I read them?

Q. 116. Yes.

A. 2112, 3487, 4247, 3960, 3950, 4466, 4494, 4856, 4878, 5504, 4868 to 4870 inclusive, and then 501 to 506 inclusive, altogether 18 bonds.

Q. 117. Where are those bonds?

A. In our safe down at the office.

Q. 118. Have you any authority on paper over the seal of Bernard De Watteville?

A. I have.

Q. 119. Over his seal?

A. No; not over his seal, over his signature.

Q. 120. Will you please produce it?

(Paper produced by the witness.)

Q. 121. In what language is it?

A. This is the power of attorney signed on a printed form.

Q. 122. That is your authority, is it?

A. No, sir; that is only a mere fraction of my authority; he sent me other authority, but fearing it might not reach me he sent me more.

Q. 123. That is an exhibit?

A. No; you can copy it.

Q. 124. Is that an original?

1507 A. That is an original. Paper referred to read in evidence, as follows:

Power of attorney.

The undersigned, holders of securities of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co., now revoking all other powers, do hereby request and authorize   to act on our behalf in the election of a purchasing-committee, composed of two first-mortgage bondholders and one second-mortgage bondholder, who shall have the preceding plan carried into execution by final decrees of the circuit courts of the U. S., and by purchase and reorganization thereunder, and who shall take any and all proceedings deemed by them advisable in furtherance of said plan, which shall not be effectual until approved by a majority of the first-mortgage bondholders, after the reorganization on the foregoing basis, the possession of the road to be delivered to the directors, who may be selected by a vote of the first-mortgage bondholders controlling the stock of the company under the foregoing plan.

B. DE WATTEVILLE DE PORTES,
Berne, Switzerland.

First-mortgage bonds, bonds 97.

The second power of attorney produced by the witness, introduced in evidence, as follows:

Power of attorney.

The undersigned, holders of securities of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Co., now revoking all other powers, do hereby request and authorize Moran Brothers, New York, to act in our behalf in the election of a purchasing-committee, composed of two first-mortgage bondholders and one second-mortgage bondholder, who shall have the preceding plan carried into execution by final decrees of the circuit courts of the U. S., and by purchase and reorganization thereunder, and who shall take any and all proceedings deemed by them advisable in furtherance of said plan, which shall not be effectual until approved by a majority of the first mortgage bondholders; after the reorganization on the foregoing basis, the possession of the road to be delivered to the directors, who may be selected by a vote of the first-mortgage bondholders controlling the stock of the company under the foregoing plan.

B. DE WATTEVILLE DE PORTES,
Berne, Switzerland.

1508 First-mortgage bonds, bonds 100.

Q. 125. Those two papers are printed on the back of a printed circular?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 126. Do you mean to say that that circular and the scheme expressed in it has been approved by a majority of the first-mortgage bondholders?

A. No, sir; I do not.

Q. 127. What other authority have you from M'r De Watteville?

A. I can show you something superior to that.

Q. 128. You have additional authority?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 129. In what language?

A. In French.

Q. 130. And you have that with you now?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 131. Will you please show me such parts as relate to the subject?

(Paper handed counsel by witness.)

Q. 132. Which part relates to it; the whole?

A. The three extracts; part of them is direct authority; there are also comments upon the merits of the question.

Q. 133. That, then, is a paper dated [illegible] December, 1876?

A. Yes, sir; that one; there are two others.

(The three extracts produced by witness are put in evidence, as follows:

28TH DECEMBER, 1876.

I duly received your letter of 24th Nov. last, containing a circular relative to the present situation (or condition) of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, together with a power of attorney to be signed so as to represent the parties in interest (or claimants) before the tribunals. After mature reflection, I hand you inclosed said power of attorney, duly signed by me, though having some doubts as to the question whether the Tennessee substitution bonds have or have not acquired the lien in favor of the State bonds, which they served to reimburse. On one side it would appear from the law which authorized them, this lien was expressly assigned to them; but, on the other side, it is not generally in this manner that a mortgage or lien is transferred, but rather it accompanies the old obligation, when the latter is sold to a new creditor. Now, in this case, on the one hand, there has been an annulment of the old obligation (the State bonds), and, on the other hand, the creation of a new obligation (Tennessee substitution bonds). The first-mortgage bonds are of older date than the latter, and therefore cannot, it seems to me, be deprived (or stript) by them of the rights of a first mortgage.

31ST JANUARY, 1877.

1509 M'r Odier came to Berne expressly to speak to me of the double position in which his house found itself in consequence of the position of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad. The result of our interview was that I told him I should certainly send you the full power necessary to act judicially in this affair, which moreover was a natural consequence of the general authorisation which you had from me to act in my interest to the best of your judgment. As to me, the more I think on the subject the more am I convinced that it is necessary to annihilate this pretension to invest the Tennessee claims (substitution bonds) with the rights of a first mortgage, which are already possessed by the first-mortgage bonds; these possessed them before the first-mentioned were created, and it would be contrary to all the general principles which govern mortgages. Therefore be of good cheer, gentlemen; if justice prevails the victory will be ours. You will find enclosed the power of attorney signed by me.

9TH MARCH, 1877.

I thank you sincerely for your letter of 16th ultimo, which gives me most important and most precious information in regard to the progress of the Mobile and Ohio affairs. The terms of the law on which our adversaries rely, appear to me so clear and so precise that I cannot comprehend how a lawyer could find in it the transfer of a mortgage. The word cancellation of the State bonds says that all (claim) was at an end. Meanwhile the annexed publication, cut out of the Journal De Geneve, shows that Mess'rs Lombard, Odier & Co., and associates, are full of confidence. What above all seems to have given them this confidence is the statement of a M'r R. T. Wilson, 2 Exchange Court, dated New York, 13th January, that fills four closely printed pages. You undoubtedly possess this document. What to his eyes is lacking in the law in question is a simple slip (of the pen) to which no court of law will ever pay any regard.

A. This is a special authority in 1876.

Q. 150. What language is it?

A. French.

Q. 151. Have you a translation of it?

A. I have it there, sir.

1511 The translation referred to produced in evidence, as follows:

Masson Chavannes & Co., of Lausanne, Switzerland, to Moran Brothers:

22D DEC., 1876.

As to the $17,000 sterling bonds, we shall follow absolutely your ideas, which appear to us just and equitable. We give you all powers to that purpose, and leave you free to act as you may deem best, begging you to keep us advised of what occurs. We find the plan of reorganization advocated by Mr. Iselin not at all equitable; and while desirous from principle to avoid litigation between the two classes of mortgages, we can never consent to give our adhesion to the said plan. It seems likely that the emission of the substitution bonds was made at the time without due consideration, but in good faith, and that now they (Iselin & Co.) seek by all possible means to protect the interests of their friends and associates. Nevertheless, it appears to us that the modification [or alteration] in the rate of interest in the bonds originally held by the State of Tennessee and transferred to the present substitution bonds is an indisputable change [or alteration], and that the lien [to the State] no longer exists.

(Words in brackets underlined are not in the original, being placed by the translator to express what he understood to be the meaning of the writer.)

Q. 152. Are the words in brackets in this translation in the original?

A. No; they are those which are difficult to translate. You know how difficult it is to translate idiomatic expressions. I took the nearest English words to the French words, but there were some words that are put in there that are not in it. In the words "the lien no longer exists" I have inserted what it means, viz, "to the State."

Q. 153. There is no corresponding language in the original?

A. No, sir; "that the lien no longer exists" are the exact words used in the original.

Q. 154. Is that all the authority you have from Masson Chavannes?

A. That is the only authority except the general one which we have.

Q. 155. Where is your authority besides?

A. No other authority besides that, except the general authority, time out of mind, in general correspondence.

Q. 156. Where did you get that authority?

A. In the course of long years of business transactions.

Q. 157. Have you general authority to bring lawsuits on all 1512 other property?

A. On any bonds I hold for them.

Q. 158. You have that authority?

A. I have it; the general authority.

Q. 159. Where did you get the authority to bring this suit on those bonds?

A. That is the authority (indicating the part translated above).

Q. 160. Have you anything over the seal of Henry Jump?

A. Not under seal, but over signature.

Q. 161. Give us the numbers of Chavannes' bonds?

(Numbers produced by witness as follows: Masson Chavannes & Co., 8 per cent.: 297½, 3530, 3562, 3947, 5681, 736, 1374, 1444, 1545, 1761, 2684, 2773, 2780, 3321, 4357, 5928.)

Q. 162. Have you a copy of this circular without the signatures?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 163. Here?

A. No, sir.

Q. 164. One that you can spare?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 165. Can you supply us with one?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 166. Then your authority from M'r Jump you now produce?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 167. Will you allow the stenographer to take this, so that he can copy it on the blank you will furnish?

A. Yes, sir; or I will furnish a copy.

(Witness produces the power of attorney, of which the following is a copy:)

NEW YORK, November 24th, 1876.

To the creditors of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company:

The undersigned, owners of first mortgage sterling bonds of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, have duly considered a circular signed by Mess'rs William H. Hays, William S. Pearson, and T. Haskins Dupuy, accompanying a plan of reorganization of said company, which has been submitted to us for our signatures.

The object of this plan can only be, as it appears to us, to further the interests of the inferior securities of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad at the expense of the first and other mortgage bondholders. After a careful examination we believe it to be most unjust to our interests as holders of those bonds, and we respectfully call the attention of all the parties in interest to the following simple statement of facts, and the conclusions drawn from them by us. The facts are mostly taken from the records of the courts having the present custody of the property of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, and hence cannot be denied.

Mess'rs William B. Duncan and A F. Elliott have been for 1513 several years directors of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company.
The former was the head of the banking-house of Duncan, Sherman & Co., of this city, and the latter the New Orleans agent of that house. For about a year before the default of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company on the interest of the first-mortgage bonds, M'r Duncan had been president of the company, and still acts as such president.

In April, 1875, shortly before the default in the payment of interest, Mess'rs Duncan and Elliott claimed to become trustees of the first sterling mortgage, M'r Duncan, at the time, being already a trustee for the so-called Tennessee substitution bonds, and likewise for the consolidated mortgage bonds. Immediately upon the default, which transpired in May, 1875, the directors surrendered possession of the entire property of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company to Duncan and Elliott, as trustees for the first mortgage bondholders. A few days afterwards Duncan and Elliott filed a bill in the United States circuit court for Alabama, and were invested by said court with the powers of receivers of the property. Since that time Duncan and Elliott have administered the property, through the agency of T. Haskins Dupuy.

THE FLOATING DEBT CLAIMS.

On or about the 9th day of April, 1876, the floating debt creditors of the company applied to the United States court for the sale of $550,000 (five hundred and fifty thousand dollars) of securities, belonging to the first mortgage, and the application of the proceeds in liquidation of their claims.

W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, claiming to represent the first mortgage bondholders, offered absolutely no opposition to this demand.

The sole defence of the interest of the first mortgage bondholders was made on behalf of M'r Morris Ketchum, as surviving trustee of their mortgage, aided by some of the bondholders. Without this timely action on the part of M'r Ketchum, it is clear that the court would have been led to grant the order in favor of the floating debt claimants, which would, in effect, have appropriated our property for the benefit of other persons. Indeed the lack of all opposition on the part of the first mortgage bondholders, other than as above stated, was urged on the court as an acquiescence by the bondholders generally in this 1514 appropriation of their property. Fortunately, however, the scheme was entirely defeated, and the United States circuit judge sustained M'r Ketchum in his opposition on our behalf.

The assets, amounting to more than half a million dollars of securities, thus saved for our benefit, we should seek to have applied to the payment of our overdue coupons. The strange proceedings of the floating debt holders, and the absence of all defence on our behalf by W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott, warn us of the necessity of a proper representation of the first mortgage bondholders.

ALEXANDER DUNCAN'S CLAIMS.

In their proceedings by bill filed in the United States circuit court, Mess'rs Duncan and Elliott declare that the coupons of the first-mortgage bonds which fell due in May and November, 1874, which had been paid to the bondholders, were still outstanding and subsisting first-mortgage liens on the property. These coupons were presented and were paid in the same manner in which all previous coupons had been presented and paid. It was generally supposed, and every one had a right to suppose, when they were paid and surrendered, that they ceased to be a part of the first mortgage. Nevertheless, it was claimed about the time of the default in 1875 that these coupons were outstanding liens on the property, and they now reappear, mainly in the hands of M'r Alexander Duncan, father of M'r William B. Duncan, who claims them by assignment from Duncan, Sherman & Co., to the extent of nearly ($736,000) seven hundred and thirty-six thousand dollars. It is claimed that these coupons should participate in our mortgage, and, to the same extent, reduce the value of our bonds. These coupons were paid in the regular and usual way, and they should not be paid again, at least with our consent. Dead and paid coupons cannot be revived in this way to eat up the mortgaged property. If this should be submitted to the payment of mortgage interest can always be turned into a loan to the bondholder, to be deducted from the amount of his mortgage. We cannot consent to any plan of reorganization which proposes to take this three-quarters of a million of dollars from the mortgage estate, as does the plan offered under date of October 12th, 1876, which purposes to include all coupons "whose original due date named therein shall not be later than November 1, 1877."

1515 THE TENNESSEE CLAIMS.

In the various proceedings before the United States circuit courts, W. B. Duncan and A. F. Elliott admit that certain claims, called Tennessee substitution bonds, hold a priority over the first mortgage sterling bonds, on the 118 miles of the main line running through the State of Tennessee. In addition, a distinct suit in the United States circuit court of Tennessee was instituted in the name of William B. Duncan, Adrian Iselin, and R. T. Wilson, as trustees of these Tennessee substitution bonds, to enforce in their favor a priority over the first mortgage bonds. The sole representatives of the first mortgage bonds served with notice of these legal proceedings in Tennessee were Duncan & Elliott, who claim to represent the first mortgage bonds as trustees. No defence whatever was made by them in this action, and the consequence was that a decree was obtained, by default, against the first mortgage, and an order of sale of the Tennessee section of the road was entered for the benefit of the Tennessee substitution bonds, leaving the first mortgage bonds only such balance, if any, as might remain. The excuses offered by W. B. Duncan to palliate his conduct in this matter and his efforts to avoid the effect of his laches, cannot countervail his expressed admissions in favor of these subordinate claims and against the first mortgage.

Now, in fact, the first mortgage is a first lien on the entire line, the lien formerly created to protect the advances made by the State of Tennessee to the company having long since been satisfied by the return to the State of its bonds to the full amount of the advances made by the State. It is true there was an attempt to assign the State's lien, after its liquidation, to the holders of the Tennessee substitution bonds; but as these bonds were created long after the first mortgage bonds, and were issued only after the full liquidation of the advances of the State, and as they are entirely different in nature from the cancelled State bonds, these new substitution bonds cannot obtain a priority over the first mortgage bonds by any arrangement between the company and its subsequent creditors.

But even assuming that the substitution bonds are entitled to the benefit of the satisfied and extinct lien of the State of Tennessee, the proposed plan of reorganization gives them an advantage over 1516 the first mortgage bonds, entirely unwarranted and unjust; the first mortgage bonds are for £225 sterling each, payable in London, equal to $1,100 gold, or $1,200 currency. These bonds are proposed to be admitted into the reorganization only for the sum of $1,000, and they are allotted only $440 in the new first-mortgage bonds for each sterling bond, whilst the Tennessee substitution bonds, which cannot claim more than $1,000 currency under the State lien, are allotted $625 for each $1,000 bond. And the past due coupons of these bonds are admitted into the proposed reorganization at $36 each, although only entitled to claim under the State lien $30 in currency.

In fact, these various proceedings are simply attempts to give an unjust priority over the paramount rights of the first-mortgage bonds to the following claims:

Floating claims	$536,000
Alexander Duncan's claims	736,000
Tennessee claims	2,018,028
Total loss to mortgage bondholders	$3,290,028

Those who favor or passively submit to the priority of those various claims over the first-mortgage bonds appeal to the current, well-founded objection against litigation in the courts. But, if litigation continues, on whom shall the blame fall; on those who defend their just rights, or on those who attempt to secure an undue and unjust advantage over prior liens? In all events, we shall henceforward take good care that the property and assets are fairly managed and applied for the benefit of the parties entitled to them.

In our judgment the property should be promptly taken out of the courts and placed under the direct administration of the mortgage bondholders and their representatives; and we sincerely believe that an effort by the bondholders to protect themselves against the foregoing claims, and to reorganize the property in their own interest, while treating all the various other interests with the utmost liberality, will meet with the same success that attended the resistance to the priority over the mortgage bonds sought to be obtained by the floating creditors.

In case of the sale of the road on foreclosure it would probably not bring the amount of the first mortgage. It therefore rests entirely 1517 with the first-mortgage bondholders to determine the conditions on which they will admit the junior securities to participate in the purchase.

We suggest and recommend to our fellow bondholders and to all other parties in interest to unite with us in order to effect on the following terms, which appear to us equally just to all the various parties in interest:

I. Obtain from the court an order for the application to the payment of our overdue coupons of the assets which it was lately attempted to apply to the payment of the floating-debt creditors.

II. Release the property from the hands of the court by the sale of the entire line, from Mobile, Alabama, to Columbus, Kentucky. At such sale the property to be purchased for the benefit of all the securities of the present company, and the purchasers to reorganize the company in accordance with this plan.

III. The reorganized company to create and issue new securities, as follows:

(a.) Six per cent. bonds, payable, principal and interest, in gold, secured by a first mortgage on the entire line, from Columbus, Kentucky, to Mobile, Alabama, and on all the property, rights, franchises, and lands acquired by the purchase for account of the reorganized company, said bonds to be issued in exchange for the first mortgage sterling bonds, and for the interest bonds, and for the unpaid coupons on those bonds, which matured on and after the first of May, 1875. We propose to admit the interest bonds on the same basis with the first-mortgage bonds, because the old first-mortgage coupons are held in trust for the benefit of the holders of the present interest bonds.

(b.) First preferred income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the present second-mortgage bonds and for unpaid coupons to March 1, 1878.

(c.) Second preferred income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the present convertible bonds and unpaid coupons to March 1, 1878.

(d.) Third preferred income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest

1518 non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the Tennessee substitution bonds and unpaid coupons to January 1, 1878.

(e.) Fourth preferred income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued in exchange for the consolidated bonds.

(f.) Surplus income bonds, bearing seven per cent. interest, non-cumulative, and payable only when earned, to be issued only in settlement of floating debt.

COMMON STOCK,

To be issued to the amount of the present common stock, but to be held and voted on by the trustees of the new first mortgage until interest on all the above bonds has been paid out of net earnings for three successive years. Thereupon, the certificates to be assigned to the present stockholders or their representatives.

We are satisfied that the property is amply able to meet the amount of first mortgage interest called for by the above plan, and that the charter rights will be unimpaired by a sale for our benefit.

The holders of all the securities other than the first mortgage who do not accede to this plan within a time to be limited by the purchasing committee, will be debarred from participating in the purchase and reorganization.

In order to consummate the above plan of reorganization without unnecessary delay, we request all the creditors of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company to return, signed, the accompanying power, addressed to Committee of Mobile & Ohio Railroad bondholders, 8 William street, New York.

Power of attorney.

The undersigned, holders of securities of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, now revoking all other powers, do hereby request and authorize Messrs. Moran Brothers, of New York, to act on our behalf in the election of a purchasing committee composed of two first 1518 mortgage bondholders and one second mortgage bondholder, who shall have the preceding plan carried into execution by final decrees of the circuit courts of the United States, and by purchase and reorganization thereunder; and who shall take any and all proceedings deemed by them advisable in furtherance of said plan, which shall not be effectual until approved by a majority of the first-mortgage bondholders. After the reorganization on the foregoing basis, the possession of the road to be delivered to the directors who may be selected by a vote of the first-mortgage bondholders controlling the stock of the company under the foregoing plan.

(Signed) HENRY JUMP.

Q. 168. Is that all the authority you have from M'r Jump?

A. That is all.

Q. 169. Have you anything over the seal of Rudolph Merian?

1520 A. I have letters from him, but I have nothing with me.

Q. 170. M'r Moran, do you mean to say that the scheme to which M'r Jump's name has been signed has the approval of a majority of the first-mortgage bondholders?

A. No, sir; I do not.

Q. 171. You know it has not, don't you?

A. I know it has not as far as I know.

Q. 172. Was the bill you swore to, in which Ziegler is one of the plaintiffs, sent to you from Mobile, or was it prepared here?

A. Prepared here.

Q. 173. Are you sure of that?

A. I think so; yes, sir.

Q. 174. Was it all the same handwriting, the document which you swore to?

A. That I would not say; it may have been written by two copyists.

Q. 175. Do you remember whether it was all in the same handwriting?

A. I paid no attention.

Q. 176. You don't remember?

A. I don't remember anything about it.

Q. 177. Would you recognize the writing of * * * if you saw it?

A. I never saw it in my life.

Q. 178. Was any part of the bill which you swore to in a female hand?

A. No, sir; I am sure it could not be.

Q. 179. From your recollection it was not?

A. No, sir; a female hand might look so much like a man's, I might make a mistake.

Q. 180. None of it attracted your attention as being in a female hand?

A. None.

Q. 181. So if anything has been inserted or attached over your signature, or in a female hand different from the rest of the bill, it was not there when you swore to it, was it?

A. I should think not.

Q. 182. Did you swear to any amendments to the bill, or to any amendment to the bill?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 183. Were there not some blank pages in that when you swore to it?

(Objected to as immaterial, and as cross-examining his own witness.)

A. I have no recollection, though there might have been, to be filled up by my counsel.

Q. 184. Now, M'r Moran, just confine yourself to recollection, no matter about probabilities?

A. That is my recollection; there was no blank unless it was a document to be inserted.

Q. 185. Was there a blank?

A. I cannot say positively; I think not.

Q. 186. Did you sign your name close to the foot of the amendments, or at the distance of two pages from the amendments?

A. Close to the amendments.

Q. 187. That is your recollection?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 188. Close to the amendments?

A. I don't know what you mean—a line or two; my recollection is, it was near the bottom of the amendments.

Q. 189. Do you remember whether there was any blank in the middle of the document?

1521 A. I think there was a blank or some document in one of the papers I signed; I think there was a page.

Q. 190. How long ago did you swear to that?

A. I cannot recollect.

Q. 191. Within a few days?

A. No.

Q. 192. Within a few weeks?

A. Yes; I am not positive.

Q. 193. Was it in the last document you swore to?

A. I cannot recollect; these things are too vague in my mind; I cannot charge my mind with it at all.

Q. 194. Discharge your mind of it. Was it among the last documents you signed?

A. I cannot say which one it was.

Q. 195. Who did you swear to it before—the one with the blank in it?

A. I cannot tell you which one had a blank.

Q. 196. Was it the amendments to Ziegler's bill?

A. I think not; I think that was filled up fully; I always avoided signing anything that had a blank.

Q. 197. How came you to sign this paper that had a blank in it?

A. I don't know that this had a blank there; I have a faint recollection that one was a blank to put a printed paper in; and I am not sure that that was not put in before I signed it; I left it to my counsel, as I am forced to do sometimes.

Q. 198. Has any fund been contributed by bondholders to meet the expenses of the prosecutions instituted by you?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. I believe some; I don't know the amount.

Q. 199. What is the amount of the fund?

(Same objection.)

A. I don't know.

Q. 200. How do you know it has been got up?

A. I don't know.

Q. 201. I thought you said some had been got up?

A. I heard so.

Q. 202. Who did you hear from?

A. I cannot remember now; I believe my counsel told me so.

Q. 203. Who do you mean?

A. M'r Andrews.

Q. 204. Told you the fund had been contributed?

A. Money had been contributed.

Q. 205. Your counsel told his client that money had been contributed, but the client don't know—but the client of the counsel who told you don't know?

A. I don't see what you see so strange in that.

Q. 206. Do you mean to say that you don't know how much fund, or money, has been raised to meet the expenses of the litigation you have instituted?

A. I have never received any money from any one.

Q. 207. You have not?

A. No.

Q. 208. From whom did your counsel receive that fund?

A. From various persons; you must ask him.

Q. 209. Why must I ask him?

A. I suppose I need not answer that.

Q. 210. Do you know, from his information, or otherwise, what fund has been raised, or who raised it?

A. No.

1522 Q. 211. Don't know; then you don't know how the expenses of this litigation are met, do you?

A. I know I have contributed to it.

Q. 212. And you don't know that anybody else has?

A. I am told others have, but I don't know, and did not inquire.

Q. 213. Who told you?

A. My counsel.

Q. 214. He did not tell you how much?

A. No.

Q. 215. Did you pay your contributions to him?

A. I paid him money.

Q. 216. That is the shape in which your contribution was made?

A. Yes.

Q. 217. You have not paid anything to Morris Ketchum?

A. Yes, I have.

Q. 218. What made you say you paid it to your counsel?

A. For the expense of the suit.

Q. 219. Besides that, have you paid M'r Ketchum some?

A. Yes.

Q. 220. What is the assessment on the bondholders by M'r Ketchum?

(Objected to.)

A. They made no assessment.

Q. 221. How much assessment did M'r Ketchum pay?

A. Need I answer the question?

Q. 222. How much money has M'r Ketchum raised?

A. I don't know.

Q. 223. How much did you contribute to M'r Ketchum?

By M'r Blandy to the witness: I advise you that you are not bound to answer that question.

Q. 224. Did you pay him a thousand dollars?

By M'r Blandy to the witness: I advise you that you are not bound to answer that.

Q. 225. Did you give M'r Ketchum a thousand dollars?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 226. Will you name the sum you did give him?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 227. Was it after you had requested M'r Duncan and Elliot, as trustees under the first mortgage, to take possession of the property, that you contributed to the fund to enable M'r Ketchum to institute a suit against them?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. I did not contribute anything to institute a suit if I understand what the meaning of the whole question is.

Q. 228. What was the object of the contribution you made to M'r Ketchum?

(Same objection.)

A. I object to answer.

Q. 229. You must answer.

A. No.

Q. 230. Was it after you had signed the paper protesting against the removal of Duncan and Elliot as trustees that you made a contribution towards M'r Ketchum's expenses for the purpose of removing them?

(Objected to as before.)

A. Yes; afterwards.

Q. 231. You first recommended their retention?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 232. And then contributed toward a fund to remove them?

A. When I was ignorant of the facts——

Q. 233. What facts do you know that you didn't know before?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

1523 (M'r Blandy advises the witness is not bound to answer the question.)

A. I will not answer.

Q. 234. You recommended the court to retain M'r Duncan and M'r Elliot as trustees?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 235. You subsequently contributed toward a fund to remove them?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 236. You say you ascertained facts that you did not know at the time you recommended them to retain them?

A. I think I will state them; I was not aware under what authority M'r Duncan and M'r Elliot claimed to be trustees; nor was I aware what M'r Morris Ketchum's claim to be trustee was until I came back from Europe, in October, 1876; and M'r Duncan not having kept his promises to me, I immediately took measures to defend my rights and those of my friends, and then I joined with M'r Ketchum.

Q. 237. Those were the facts?

A. Those were the facts.

Q. 238. When M'r Morris Ketchum first brought a suit to displace Duncan and Elliot, and get a receiver appointed over their heads, you recommended the court to retain them; do you say you did not know that Morris Ketchum did not claim to be a trustee?

A. I did not go near him, and did not know the facts.

Q. 239. You knew he brought a suit?

A. I knew it in the papers.

Q. 240. In the suit he brought you recommended the court to retain Duncan and Elliot?

A. Yes, sir; because M'r Duncan told me M'r Ketchum wanted to levy blackmail, and I believed M'r Duncan.

Q. 241. What has altered your opinion as to M'r Ketchum's object?

A. Because I examined into the authority that both the parties had to be trustees.

Q. 242. Do you mean that M'r Ketchum's object is not to levy blackmail?

A. I don't care whether he does or not, I think he is the only person who has a right to be trustee.

Q. 243. You would promote his suit if it would protect your rights?

A. If it would protect my rights and those of my friends, I would be willing to have M'r Morris Ketchum in.

Q. 244. I asked you what has changed your opinion?

A. M'r Duncan's statement to me, and the facts in regard to the authority which both parties claim; I was not aware that Morris Ketchum had been removed because he was an alien enemy.

Q. 245. You signed a recommendation to retain Duncan and Elliot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 246. And you signed that in a suit—in Ketchum's suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 247. You knew Ketchum had brought a suit?

A. Yes.

1524 Q. 248. You gave the court a recommendation to retain Duncan and Elliot as trustees, didn't you?

A. Yes.

Q. 249. You knew that Ketchum had brought a suit?

A. I knew there was something.

Q. 250. You knew that Ketchum had brought a suit?

A. In the papers there was something.

Q. 251. Don't you know that Ketchum had brought a suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 252. And you knew he had brought a suit claiming to be trustee?

A. Yes.

Q. 253. How long have you held Mobile and Ohio bonds?

A. Quite a number of years.

Q. 254. Are they not signed and confirmed by Ketchum as trustee?

A. I knew he had been a trustee.

Q. 255. How did you know he had been removed?

A. I never examined.

Q. 256. You knew perfectly well that M'r Ketchum represented a minority of the bondholders?

A. I don't know; I suppose so.

Q. 257. And yet you do not believe he is trying to blackmail the majority?

A. No.

Q. 258. What you believe his object to be is to aid the first-mortgage bondholders in protecting their rights; did the first-mortgage bondholders ever oppose his being trustee?

A. I think he is taking care of them.

Q. 259. Upon what terms, as between you and counsel, or as between Morris Ketchum and his counsel, is the litigation being conducted by him; is it not upon a contingent and speculative compensation?

(Objected to as immaterial; and witness advised not to answer unless he is so disposed.)

A. I object to answer.

Q. 260. Upon what terms has Morris Ketchum employed counsel; isn't it on a speculative fee?

A. I know nothing about the fees.

Q. 261. How came you to employ his counsel then?

A. Because he was his counsel.

Q. 262. You employed M'r Ketchum's counsel because he was M'r Ketchum's counsel?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 263. That is, you employed another man's counsel because he was not yours?

A. I made him mine by employing him.

Q. 264. You mean you bought him from him?

A. You go on and give my testimony, if you please.

Q. 265. You mean you bought him from M'r Ketchum, or how; in other words, which of these two masters is that man serving?

A. Those questions are not proper, and I shall not answer.

Q. 266. Do you understand that M'r Andrews owes his duty to the trustee or to M'r Moran?

(M'r Blandy objects to the witness's understanding.)

A. I don't know what M'r Andrews thinks.

Q. 267. Do you understand that in reference to the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company M'r Andrews is under a professional obligation to M'r Morris Ketchum as trustee?

1525 (Objected to as immaterial and incompetent.)

A. I don't know anything about it.

Q. 268. Do you understand that he, M'r Andrews, is under a professional obligation to M'r Morris Ketchum as trustee, to take care of all the interests of all the bondholders?

A. That requires no answer from me; I propose not to answer that.

Q. 269. You understand that M'r Andrews is under a professional obligation to you to take care of your interests without regard to those of other bondholders?

(Same objection.)

A. I suppose in protecting mine he is protecting all.

Q. 270. Do you suppose he protects the interests of Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy?

A. I suppose mine is protected by M'r Morris Ketchum and Andrews.

Q. 271. Is it your object to protect the bondholders represented by Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy?

A. I propose to protect myself: whatever I gain the others shall gain; I have not proposed to shut anybody out at any given date.

Q. 272. Has anybody else shut anybody out?

A. They have threatened to, and published it in all the papers in Europe; Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy have; that if they did not join before the 1st of March they would be excluded.

Q. 273. You have seen those publications?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 274. Where?

A. It makes no difference.

Q. 275. It makes a good deal of difference; did you employ M'r Andrews to protect the interests of the bondholders represented by Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy?

A. Yes; as far as far as their interest goes.

Q. 276. You have employed counsel for Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy?

A. I have employed counsel to protect those interested like myself.

Q. 277. Have you employed counsel to protect the interest of Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy, or to oppose them?

A. To oppose them, as far as they propose to attack the interest of the first-mortgage bonds.

Q. 278. That is, so far as they propose the attack the interests of the first-mortgage bondholders?

A. I propose to grant them all the just rights that lies in my power.

Q. 279. Are you opposed to them—the second-mortgage bondholders?

A. Not at all.

Q. 280. What is the difference between you and Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy?

A. There is no need of my answering that.

Q. 281. You don't want to answer that?

A. I would object; it is only losing time; you know as well as I do; you know what I object to; I object to the Duncan coupons coming in under the mortgage.

1526 Q. 282. When did you first make that objection?

A. When I commenced my suit.

Q. 283. You had a conversation with M'r Duncan in May, 1874, on that subject, didn't you?

A. No, sir.

Q. 284. Didn't you tell M'r Duncan, in May, 1874, to be careful in purchasing those coupons that he complied with all necessary forms?

A. No, sir; if M'r Duncan so informed you, he is misinformed as to dates: I had such a conversation, but it was later, in September, I think, in 1874.

Q. 285. You then advised him, if he purchased coupons, to be careful that he complied with all necessary forms?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 286. What made you talk to him about purchasing coupons, and keeping them alive?

A. Because he told me he might purchase them, and I cautioned him as a friend.

Q. 287. You understand they were purchased in September, 1874?

A. No, I do not; he said something about there might be a purchase.

Q. 288. If they were purchased, what objection have you got to their being paid?

(Objected to.)

A. I will not answer.

Q. 289. If they were purchased under your advice?

A. I am not trying this case under Justice Bangs, I believe?

Q. 290. I know as well as you do you are not trying the case before me, but I know I am trying you, and you do not stand the trial as well as you think you do; I would like to have you state what objection you have to M'r Duncan's being paid the amount of the coupons you advised him to purchase?

A. I did not give him the advice.

Q. 291. Didn't you say you gave him the advice?

A. I gave him advice to be careful what he did.

Q. 292. Did you not advise him to be careful, and to conform with all necessary forms?

A. I told him to be careful, or he might lose all the rights of the mortgages.

Q. 293. If he purchased bonds?

A. If he purchased coupons.

Q. 294. And your recollection of that is clear as to time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 295. And you are quite confident——

Witness (interrupting). Quite confident.

Q. 296. Of what? You are quite confident that that statement is consistent with all the statements you have made on the subject?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 297. And it is as true as any other statement you have made on the subject?

A. I suppose so.

Q. 298. Do you know?

A. Yes; it is.

Q. 299. Your memory is not any fresher to day than it was yesterday?

A. No.

Q. 300. Or the day before that?

A. No, sir.

Q. 301. Is it any fresher than it was a week ago?

A. No, sir.

Q. 302. Is it any fresher than it was three weeks ago?

A. Yes; I suppose so.

1527 Q. 303. Have you received any communication from M'r Duncan showing to you his proposed answer?

A. He wrote me a line; I forget the import, but he can furnish a copy.

Q. 304. Didn't he write to you, showing to you his proposed answer? Did he not write to you, offering you an opportunity to intervene in the defence of the suit brought to foreclose the Tennessee substitution lien?

(Objected to as incompetent, immaterial, and as hearsay evidence.)

A. He wrote, sending me a copy of the amendments, or a bill, or something—I don't know the exact kind—to be entered in Tennessee in regard to the suit in favor of the substitution bonds. I replied to him that we could not consent to it; that that would not meet our requirements.

Q. 305. Did not he show you a proposed answer?

A. He showed me nothing.

Q. 306. Didn't he send you a proposed answer?

A. He sent me something, and in reply I told him that it would not meet our views. I can give you a copy of my letter to him.

Q. 307. Did he send you a copy of an order which had been consented to, opening a decree which had been obtained in favor of the Tennessee substitution?

A. There was something of that kind.

Q. 308. You understood that the Tennessee decree had been opened?

A. I don't know.

Q. 309. Do you know what a decree means?

A. Yes.

Q. 310. When you swore to the Ziegler bill you knew what you meant when you swore that there had been a litigation. Didn't he send you a consent opening that decree?

A. I will give you a copy of my letter to him and his letter.

Q. 311. Didn't he offer you an opportunity to come in and defend ?

A. I acknowledged I received that, and I replied I don't know the terms you use—the technical or legal phrases. Whatever he sent me I acknowledged. I will give you the letter he wrote me, and will give you my reply. There is no attempt to shirk anything, or refuse to answer.

Q. 312. Don't you remember M'r Duncan and M'r Barlow calling upon you within the last two months and giving you an order ?

A. M'r Barlow never came near me within three months.

Q. 313. That implies you have seen him at some time ?

A. I saw him in 1874 and 1875.

Q. 314. In connection with the Mobile & Ohio Railroad ?

A. Never. M'r Barlow has never approached me about it.

Q. 315. Have you not approached him ?

A. Never been near him ; never, except when he spoke in M'r 1528 Duncan's presence, when he spoke to him about buying coupons.

Q. 316. When you spoke to M'r Duncan about buying coupons M'r Barlow was present ?

A. Yes.

Q. 317. Who first mentioned to you the idea of buying coupons at that time ?

A. M'r Duncan.

Q. 318. What did he say ?

(Objected to as calling for hearsay evidence.)

A. This was years ago.

Q. 319. What did M'r Barlow say ?

A. Nothing except about the coupons.

Q. 320. What was said in his presence ? M'r Duncan said he was going to buy coupons ?

A. No ; he did not.

Q. 321. What did he say ?

(Objected to as before.)

A. He never said that he was going to buy coupons ; never said he had bought them.

Q. 322. Didn't he say he had already bought large amounts ?

A. Never to me that I remember. I am sure he never told me anything about buying coupons.

Q. 323. When did you first hear of a decree having been obtained in the Tennessee substitution suit ?

A. In July, I think.

Q. 324. Who told you ?

A. My sons told me.

Q. 325. How did they learn it ?

A. I was in Europe.

Q. 326. And when you were in Europe and received that information did you not receive a letter which had been sent to your sons by M'r Duncan ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 327. Were you not informed by your sons that M'r Duncan had written to them ?

(Objected to as calling for hearsay evidence.)

A. No, sir.

Q. 328. And that from them you learned of the existence of the decree ?

A. I cannot remember that ; it is too long ago.

Q. 329. You won't deny that they did so inform you?

A. I would not say they did not; they can give their answer.

Q. 330. Will you swear to their answer?

A. It is a strange question; it is an absurd question; it requires no answer.

Q. 331. You referred me to them for an answer; if I ask them, will you swear to their answer?

A. Their oath is as good as yours. I got my knowledge from them while I was in Europe. I derived my knowledge from them.

Q 332. Don't you refer me to others for answers to questions I put to you?

A. Then, I won't answer your questions.

Q. 333. What do you know about the directors of the road in 1858 making any efforts to defeat the object of their trust?

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. I don't know what you mean.

Q. 334. You don't know of any such efforts?

A. In 1858?

Q. 335. Yes; in the efforts on the part of directors of the road to defeat the object of the trust.

1529 A. I don't know about the directors.

Q. 336. You don't know of any such efforts, or do you want to refer me to your sons again? Did you know of any efforts in 1858 on the part of the directors to defeat the object of the trust?

A. I don't know what you mean by the question; if I understand it you must refer to something that I have heard, and been told that there was some difficulty between the directors and the trustees about the disposition of the land; that is all I know, and nothing else about it.

Q. 337. Was that within your knowledge?

A. That was not within my knowledge; I was so informed; I know nothing of my own knowledge.

Q. 338. What do you know about any efforts of the directors to get the trustees to give the directors powers of attorneys to convey away lands?

A. I know nothing of my own knowledge.

Q. 339. Where did you get the information to that effect that is embodied in the Ziegler bill?

A. Of my counsel, M'r Andrews.

Q. 340. You understand that M'r Andrews is better acquainted with these matters than you are?

A. Yes; because he was acquainted with M'r Ketchum and gained knowledge I don't know.

Q. 341. Then, you commenced this suit upon grievances, the knowledge of which you got from M'r Andrews?

A. Some of them; the main facts were obtained by myself.

Q. 342. What facts are within your knowledge concerning M'r Morris Ketchum being a trustee at this date of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company?

A. Nothing but hearsay.

Q. 343. From whom did you hear that?

A. From general information acquired in time gone by.

Q. 344. Nothing more than that?

A. No; I have never examined into the facts; I have heard it from M'r Morris Ketchum himself.

Q. 345 Did you likewise hear of some conversation between M'r Milton Brown and M'r Morris Ketchum?

A. I have seen it, I believe, in some of your proceedings printed.

Q. 346. Some correspondence between Morris Ketchum and Milton Brown?

A. Yes; I have seen those letters.

Q. 347. That was a part of the information?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 348. See if this was a part of the information you got. Did you ever read a letter from Milton Brown to Morris Ketchum, dated July 20th, 1860—no; a letter from M'r Milton Brown to M'r Beers, dated New York, July 21st, 1860, in which M'r Brown says this, speaking of M'r Ketchum: "His character is worse than I supposed; no one who knows him has the least confidence in his integrity. In a conversation with M'r 1530 Osborn, president of the Illinois Central, the death of Colonel Hallett was referred to, and I remarked that it left M'r Ketchum the sole trustee under our mortgage. He replied: 'Then you are in a hell of a fix.' He then went on to tell me that he was one of the trustees under their mortgage, and also a director in the road; that he managed first to get a fixed salary of fifteen hundred dollars a year. Then, not content with that, taking advantage of his position, he carried his frauds so far that the other two trustees had to take the trust into their own hands, and then the board of directors refused to consult with him; in face of all this he had the impudence to appear at a meeting of the board; on his entering the room, he (Osborn) rose and said to him: 'How dare you show your face at a meeting of this board?' he enquired if the board allowed the president to use such language towards him, and no reply was given; he then retired; but he still holds on to his office as trustee; the other two trustees perform the duties, and he collects his salary."

(Objected to as immaterial and incompetent, and as calling for hearsay evidence; that the production of the letter will speak for itself.)

Q. 349. Did you ever receive the information imparted in that letter, accompanied with the information that he was a trustee of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company?

(Same objection.)

A. I have read over this book.

Q. 350. Did you ever receive that particular information?

A. I can only say that I have read this book, and as that is part of that, I have read it.

Q. 351. Did you ever receive that information?

A. You gave it to me.

Q. 352. Did you ever receive it before?

A. I think I have had that book in my hand, and as it is there I have seen it.

Q. 353. Then, you know the opinion of M'r Milton Brown and M'r Osborn of M'r Ketchum?

A. This one to M'r Beers, you say? I don't recollect that name, but at the same time it appears, I heard about this; I don't remember the whole of it.

Q. 354. And you say that M'r Ketchum administered the Mobile & Ohio trust in the same way in which he is there described as having administered the Illinois Central trust; is that so?

A. I don't know; you are putting the words in my mouth.

Q. 355. There are statements in your bill on that subject?

A. I don't remember what you allude to.

Q. 356. You stated in your bill that M'r Ketchum had administered the trust of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company in the same way as he had the Illinois Central.

1531 A. I don't think there is any such thing; I mentioned the same system.

Q. 357. That is all you meant?

A. Yes.

Q. 358. You do not mean he behaved in the manner described by M'r Brown?

A. No.

Q. 359. Have you seen the official correspondence, referred to in your bill, between M'r Ketchum and the bondholders?

A. I saw correspondence between M'r Morris Ketchum and M'r Morgan, of London, on the subject.

Q. 360. You saw it?

A. Yes.

Q. 361. Did you see the original?

A. I saw the reply from M'r Morgan.

Q. 362. Where did you see that?

A. I had the letter in my hand.

Q. 363. Where did you get it?

A. From M'r Morris Ketchum.

Q. 364. When?

A. Some time last week.

Q. 365. What object can be accomplished by the Ziegler suit, as far as you know, that cannot be accomplished by the Ketchum suit?

(Objected to.)

A. I refuse to answer.

Q. 366. In the discharge of your duty to those you represent, what do you seek to accomplish in the Ziegler suit, that cannot be accomplished in the Ketchum suit?

(Objected to as calling for a legal conclusion, and that the production of the bills themselves will show absolutely.)

A. I don't think that our interest can be properly promoted by M'r Duncan and M'r Elliot.

Q. 367. What object do you seek to accomplish by the Zeigler suit, that cannot be accomplished by the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Same objection.)

A. I desire to have the litigation in other hands.

Q. 368. Than in those of Morris Ketchum?

A. That this entire Ziegler suit should be free from other suits.

Q. 369. What object can be accomplished in the Ziegler suit, that cannot be accomplished in the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Same objection.)

A. I don't know that it makes any difference.

Q. 370. As matter of fact, what object do you understand can be accomplished in the Ziegler suit that cannot be obtained in the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness and as incompetent.)

Q. 371. Will you answer that question?

A. I think it is needless.

Q. 372. Will you answer it?

A. No, sir.

Q. 373. What purpose do you seek to accomplish in the iegler suit that cannot be accomplished in the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Same objection, and further objection that the bill and papers in the different suits will speak for themselves.)

Q. 374. Will you answer that question?

A. That is my reply, that the bills speak for themselves.

1532 Q. 375. I want you to speak for yourself, and ask you whether you will do so?

A. No.

Q. 376. What do you, in your own mind, intend to accomplish by the Ziegler suit that cannot be accomplished by the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness's mind, and as incompetent.)

A. I have nothing to add; we state in the bill what we desire to accomplish.

Q. 377. Why do you seek that method of accomplishing it, instead of taking the proceedings that Mr. Morris Ketchum has commenced?

(Same objection.)

A. Because we prefer another suit.

Q. 378. Have you any want of confidence in Morris Ketchum?

A. No.

Q. 379. Do you believe in his fidelity?

A. Yes.

Q. 380. And his counsel?

A. Yes.

Q. 381. Do you believe in his pecuniary and other ability to maintain the Ketchum suit?

A. Yes.

Q. 382. Then why do you institute another suit for the same purpose; in other words, what is your motive?

(Same objection.)

A. For the same reason that other parties resort to other suits. It is to protect my interest.

Q. 383. How do you understand that you can protect the interest of your friends in the Ziegler suit better than the Morris Ketchum suit?

(Same objection.)

A. We are to be the judge of that.

Q. 384. Give us an answer.

A. There is no answer required. I decline to answer.

Q. 385. You won't answer that question?

A. No.

Q. 386. Is not the object of the Ziegler suit to oppress Duncan and Elliot with litigation, and to force them to a settlement that you want to make?

A. No, sir; for the simple reason that when we press this suit we oppress ourselves as much as them.

Q. 387. You consider the Ziegler suit a misfortune to yourself?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 388. How is it a misfortune?

A. It gives us annoyance and trouble.

Q. 389. What object or what degree of protection do you expect and intend to obtain in the Ziegler suit that you cannot obtain in the Ketchum suit?

A. That is more a question for my counsel than for me to answer myself; by advice of my counsel I have undertaken that suit to protect the interest of my friends.

Q. 390. How do you intend to protect the interest of your friends in the Ziegler suit better than in the Ketchum suit?

A. I decline to answer. I won't answer until I am instructed by the ourt that I must.

Q. 391. Have you not proved your own bonds in the Duncan and Elliot suits?

A. I have.

Q. 392. Don't you suppose that the court will give a just decision?

A. Not if the suit is used as it has been.

1533 Q. 393. Then you have got counsel in the Duncan & Elliot suit?

A. No; I have not.

Q. 394. You have no counsel?

A. No.

Q. 395. You have not employed any counsel to protect your interest there?

A. No; not unless you consider M'r Andrews as such.

Q. 396. Is he your counsel?

A. Yes.

Q. 397. In the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. I have employed him to defend my interest in every suit.

Q. 398. Do you know of his having filed a petition for you in the Duncan & Elliot suits?

A. Yes.

Q. 399. Didn't you employ him to contest the coupons of 1874?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 400. Your object is to get your just rights as a bondholder of the Mobile & Ohio property?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 401. Why cannot you get that in the Duncan & Elliot suit in the same court in which you have filed your petition?

A. Because I have no confidence in M'r Duncan and M'r Elliot.

Q. 402. How does your want of confidence in Duncan & Elliot prevent your getting justice in the Duncan & Elliot suit, in which you are a party; will you answer that question?

A. In my opinion it is necessary to have the Ziegler suit

Q. 403. Having proved your claim in the Duncan & Elliot suit, having employed counsel in that suit, having filed a petition in that suit, having employed the same counsel who appears for Morris Ketchum, what prevents you from getting in the Duncan & Elliot suit the same share of the proceeds of the property for yourself and your friends which you seek to obtain in the Ketchum suit or in the Ziegler suit?

A. Because they have organized a plan by which we are shut out from our just rights, making us dependent on that scheme.

Q. 404 You have not become a party to that scheme?

A. No, sir.

Q. 405. How does an agreement between other parties shut you off from your just rights?

A. Because Duncan & Elliott have used their efforts to bring it to a success; because they intend to get advantages improper and illegal.

Q. 406. Have you brought a suit to prevent the success of that scheme?

A. I have tried to.

Q. 407. Is it the object of your suit to prevent the success of that scheme?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness's mind, and on the further ground that the suit itself shows what the object is.)

A. I refuse to answer.

Q. 408. Do you not understand that it is a part of the scheme to have the rights of all the parties submitted to the court at as early a date as possible and passed upon?

(Objected to.)

A. I don't know what the understanding is.

1534 Q. 409. Don't you so understand?

A. I understand the object is to attack and injure our proper rights.

Q. 410. Don't you understand that as a combination of the creditors to buy the property when it is offered for sale?

A. I don't know.

Q. 411. Wasn't you offered a chance to go into that scheme?

A. Yes, but the whole thing was concocted in my absence, and we were kept in ignorance of such a scheme being in view.

Q. 412. Is that what you are mad about?

A. What improper language counsel puts to me.

Q. 413. You are mad, any way?

A. Not very.

Q. 414. Are you aggrieved that a number of bondholders have got up a scheme in any way for their own protection?

A. Not at all.

Q. 415. Don't you know that it is the object to protect the rights of all parties, and have the property sold and give each party his share of the claims?

(Objected to as calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind.)

Q. 416. Will you answer that question?

A. No, sir; I will not.

Q. 417. What do you understand to be the object of the scheme?

(Same objection.)

A. I don't know.

Q. 422. Who told you they existed?

(Objected to as hearsay.)

Q. 423. Who told you there were legal difficulties?

A. My counsel.

Q. 424. Whom do you mean?

A. M'r Andrews.

(Objected to as calling for hearsay evidence.)

A. I am not here to discuss a legal question, M'r Bangs.

Q. 426. What legal difficulties are in the way of having this case decided in June?

(Same objection, and also objected to as calling for a probable theory.)

(Objected to as immaterial.)

A. Perfectly immaterial; I refuse to answer.

Q. 436. Have you had anything to do with the Selma, Rome & Dalton Road?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 437. What was the price of the securities when the foreclosure commenced?

A. I refuse to answer.

A. Yes.

A. I do.

Q. 449. And over the coupons?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 450. Do you know Louis J. Belloni?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 451. Don't you know that Belloni has raised the question of the right of priority of the Tennessee substitution lien and the coupons in the Duncan & Elliot suits?

(Objected to as calling for the contents of papers which go to make up the suit, and as immaterial.)

A. I know he has.

Q. 457. Have you promised to pay such counsel?

A. I am informed I need not answer.

Q. 458. Why have you not any confidence in the decision of the court in the Duncan & Elliott suit?

A. I never said so.

A. I prefer to have another suit.

Q. 460. Do you prefer to have another court?

A. I preferred it in the same court.

Q. 461. Why did you begin two suits to litigate the same question?

A. I shall not answer; if I prefer to have two suits, I think I can.

Q. 462 Why do you desire to have two suits?

(Objected to as already answered.)

A. If I choose to have two suits I think I can have them—because I prefer it.

Q. 463. Why do you prefer it?

A. Because I have the rights of an American citizen, and can exercise them without asking M'r Bangs.

Q. 470. Will you give an answer to the court?

A. If it orders me.

Q. 485. What is your reason for desiring to prevent the Duncan & Elliot suit from being brought to a hearing and determined in June?

Q. 486. What objection have you to the Duncan & Elliot suit being brought to a hearing in June?

A. I do not think it can be brought.

A. I do not know that I have; I want to have every question decided as rapidly as possible.

Q. 488. Have you brought the Ziegler suit to have it settled as soon as possible?

A. Yes; I have in writing offered those gentlemen to prevent all delays, and to hasten every suit connected with the question.

Q. 489. By that writing do you refer to the bill in the Ziegler suit?

1538 A. By a letter in writing to one of the trustees of the substitution bonds.

Q. 497. Is it true?

A. I think that requires no answer.

Q. 498. Do you refuse to answer?

(Objected to.)

A. I decline to answer.

A. I decline to answer.

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 524. Do you want to get the land, will you answer that?

A. I decline to answer that.

Q. 524. What made you prove your bonds in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

(Objected to as incompetent and immaterial, and as calling for the reasoning of witness's mind.)

Q. 527. In New York?

A. Part of the time.

Q. 528. Did you remain here all through the war?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 529. Were you not South during the war at any time?

A. No, sir.

Q. 530. In the Ziegler suit you have sworn that there were some acts of the Confederate Congress, and of the legislature of Alabama, 1540 which provided that the paper money of the rebel government should be a good discharge of the debts due to the trustees under the mortgages and deeds of trust; what acts do you refer to?

A. I do not know the special act.

Q. 531. Have you ever seen any such acts?

A. No, sir.

Q. 532. Who told you there were any such acts?

A. It was notorious that the Confederate money was legal tender in the South.

Q. 533. You state you think it was notorious that there were such acts?

A. Yes.

Q. 534. You don't know of any such acts?

A. No, sir.

Q. 535. You don't know of any such special acts making Confederate money the legal tender for notes and mortgages, etc.?

A. No, sir.

Q. 536. Who told you so?

A. It is perfectly immaterial.

Q. 537. Do you mean to say that your understanding of a trust mortgage is that the trustees may receive payment of the bonds?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness's mind.)

A. I never said such a thing.

Q. 538. Are you sure you never said such a thing?

A. I never said such a thing.

Q. 539 Is that your understanding that the trustee can collect the bonds?

(Same objection.)

A. I understand the trustee has nothing to do with the collecting of bonds.

Q. 540. You understand that the bonds have got to be paid to the bondholders?

(Same objection.)

A. I mean simply that I do not understand what your question is.

Q. 541. Don't you understand that when the bonds are paid, the payment must be made to the people who hold the bonds, and not the trustees?

(Same objection.)

A. I have not said anything like that; I so understood.

Q. 542. You lived here through the war?

A. Yes.

Q. 543. You never had any impression that they could make you take Coefederate money for the bonds?

A. No; but there is nothing sworn like that there.

Q. 544. You are ready to answer those questions, are you; then will you be good enough to state what object you expect to accomplish by the Ziegler suit, in respect to the coupons, that you cannot accomplish in the Ketchum or Duncan and Elliot suit?

(Objected to as before, and the witness advised not to answer.)

Q. 545. You still adhere to your refusal to answer those questions, do you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 546. You were never under any apprehension that you or your friends in Switzerland or Germany would be compelled to accept Confederate money?

A. No, sir.

Q. 547. What made you swear so in your bill?

A. I did not swear to that in my bill, or anywhere in my life, no way.

1541 Q. 548. What did you mean by swearing to this in your bill: "The said acts, besides their hostility to the United States, had the effect of impairing the obligation of the contract between the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company and Morris Ketchum, as surviving trustee of the first-mortgage bondholders. Under those circumstances the sole protection of the first-mortgage bondholders, both in the United States and in Europe, and the means by which the trust-lien might be preserved from satisfaction by a sale for the paper money of the Confederate States, was by enforcing the trust vested in Morris Ketchum"?

(Objected to on the ground, first, that the language is plain and not technical, and the answer speaks for itself; second, that it is cross-examination of his own witness.)

A. That all relates to the acceptance of Confederate moneys in payment of the lands that were to be sold by the trustees appointed by the Confederate court.

Q. 549. How could the lands be sold if the bonds were not there to pay for them?

A. I do not know.

Q. 550. What made you swear that the means by which the plaintiffs' land might be preserved from satisfaction of and sale for the paper money of the Confederate States——

A. (Witness interrupting.) Because I am informed that they have sold some of those lands and did accept Confederate moneys for them.

Q. 551. By what means did you understand that the lands might be sold by the trustees for Confederate moneys, and the bondholders in Switzerland, Ireland, England, and Germany be compelled to accept Confederate money?

(Objected to as hearsay.)

Q. 552. What sale of lands do you know of having been made during the war for Confederate money?

A. My counsel and M'r Morris Ketchum told me.

Q. 553. Did you ever read Morris Ketchum's bill?

A. I am not sure whether I read it or not.

Q. 554. Do you know how much Ziegler's suit differs from it?

A. No, not exactly.

Q. 555. Don't you know that it is the exact contrary to the bill sworn to in Morris Ketchum's suit?

A. I do not know.

Q. 556. You did not compare yours with Morris Ketchum's?

A. I did not.

Q. 557. What do you mean by saying that no transfers of estate by M'r Morris Ketchum to any citizen of the rebel State could be valid by the sale of the Mobile & Ohio in the situation of its affairs, for the worthless and illegal paper money issued by the authorities?

1542 (Objected to as calling for the opinion of the witness, and as cross-examining his own witness.)

A. I do not understand the words as you read them.

(The commissioner is requested to repeat from the bill what has just been read to the witness, which the commissioner does, and the witness says:)

A. There is something wrong there; think some words are left out or misread.

Q. 558. You don't remember having sworn to any words of that kind?

A. No; I would not swear to it.

Q. 559. You swore to it knowingly?

A. I would not swear to it, because I don't remember it; you certainly did make one mistake, and I desire to state that you did not read it correctly; as I understood it, the counsel did not read it as the commissioner did; I think there was a difference in one word.

Q. 560. You understood the counsel to say, "the company to so transfer"?

A. Yes.

Q. 561. And you understood the counsel to say transfer or transferred?

A. Yes.

Q. 562. And the commissioner to say transference?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 563. And the bill says transference?

A. Yes.

Q. 564. And you understand it is transference?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 565. Will you explain what it means?

A. It means transference.

Q. 566. What does the sentence mean?

A. I told you that is the one word; the sentence you read to me does make sense.

Q. 567. It is not true?

A. How can I tell with a thing I don't comprehend; it is not so in the bill, I think.

Q. 568. It does not have any sense?

A. Not at all.

Q. 569. It is not true, is it?

(Objected to as already answered.)

Q. 570. Your bill states that on certain alleged false and fraudulent statements the directors sought to deprive the bondholders of their contract rights; what do you mean by that?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness's mind; second, as cross-examination of his own witness; and third, the language speaks for itself.)

A. I should have to read the whole context to know.

Q. 571. Don't you know what that means?

A. No, I do not; separated so, I do not.

Q. 572. Don't you know what contract-rights of the bondholders were?

A. I do not know what they were.

Q. 573. Do you know what they were?

A. I suppose I do.

Q. 574. How does anybody undertake to deprive them of their rights?

A. I do not understand that.

Q. 575. Do you know of anybody trying to deprive them of the contract-rights?

A. Yes.

Q. 576. Who?

A. The parties who are trying to put the substitution bonds ahead.

Q. 577. That is what you refer to?

1543 A. I do not say that; I say nothing of the kind.

Q. 578. Your bill alleges that certain copies of Confederate orders are annexed; what do you mean by Confederate orders?

A. Orders by the court; I suppose issued by the court.

Q. 579. You mean orders issued by the court are Confederate orders?

A. I do not know.

Q. 580. Don't you know what you mean?

A. I don't know what that means when you read those few words.

Q. 581. What do you mean by Confederate orders? is the question.

A. I suppose orders of the Confederate courts.

Q. 582. What Confederate court do you know of that made any order on the subject?

A. I believe they made orders in regard to dispossessing Mr. Ketchum.

Q. 583. What Confederate court?

A. I don't know.

Q. 584. Don't you know it was a State court of Alabama?

A. It may have been a State court; I believe it was a State court.

Q. 585. Why do you call that a Confederate court?

A. It was a Confederate court, wasn't it?

Q. 586. It was not.

A. I supposed it was; I supposed it was a Confederate court; I believe there were none but State courts; I never knew there was any Confederate courts but State courts.

Q. 587. What portion of the land grant was sold according to the allegations of your bill for Confederate currency?

A. I do not know the amount.

Q. 588. Do you know the locality?

A. No.

Q. 589. How do you get knowledge of it?

A. A. I was informed of it.

Q. 590. Who told you so?

A. M'r Ketchum.

Q. 591. Did he specify the portions?

A. No.

Q. 592. Do you know the proceeds?

A. No.

Q. 593. Don't you know that Confederate money was just as useful for paying other people's debts as it was for paying the debts of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad Company?

A. I don't know anything about it; I suppose it was.

Q. 594. It was current if the directors of the company received it; it was current for supplies and other purposes?

A. I suppose so; I do not know anything about it; I have sworn nothing about it whether it was current or not.

Q. 595. Your bill alleges that no notice of these sales of land was given to the first mortgage bondholders; if that was so how do you understand that the land was cleared of the lien of the mortgage?

A. I don't so suppose.

Q. 596. You suppose the sales were inoperative?

A. Yes.

Q. 597. Do you say you believe the bondholders were held by that?

A. If they could have legally done so.

Q. 598. You mean to imply that they failed to succeed?

1544 A. I think so.

Q. 599. No harm was done?

A. The intent was evident.

Q. 600. Was any harm done?

(Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness's mind.)

Q. 601. Do you know of any harm having been done by it?

A. No; because we should contest the titles in the court, if such sales were made, as I understand they have been.

Q. 602. What do you know about the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company not having paid coupons on its first-mortgage bonds which fell due during the war; was that so?

A. I suppose so.

Q. 603. Then it defaulted long before 1874?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 604. How do you know that?

A. Because I was a bondholder.

Q. 605. Did you every consult M'r Morris Ketchum about it?

A. No, sir.

Q. 606. Why didn't you go to the trustees?

A. Because there was no use; because the plan came forward.

Q. 607. What plan came forward?

A. The coupons that became due during the war up to the time of the reorganization arrangement; and we took the interest bonds.

Q. 608. Was that done without consultation with the trustees?

A. Yes; because it was between the bondholders and the officers.

Q. 609. Don't you know Morris Ketchum was a bondholder?

A. No, I don't know he was.

Q. 610. Did you not have a conversation with him about that?

A. No.

Q. 611. Hasn't M'r Ketchum told you he was a holder of some bonds for which there was a default of the company?

A. He never told me.

Q. 612. How could the bonds have been issued without the signature of the trustees; they were issued on the security of the—witness interrupting.

A. They were not.

Q. 613. Did not the new bonds have the signature of the trustees?

A. No; the officers of the company signed them.

Q. 614. Who negotiated between the bondholders and the company?

A. I forgot.

Q. 615. You knew at the time?

A. Certainly.

Q 616. Wasn't it Walsh, Jackson & Young?

A. I do not know any of those men; I probably did nothing in it until it was accomplished; and then I went to the Union Trust Company and exchanged my coupon for bonds.

Q. 617. You speak of a conference of bondholders being held?

A. That is another thing; it was held while I was in Europe recently, on the recent default.

Q. 618. No; you say yourself the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company did not pay the coupons on its first-mortgage bonds which fell due during the civil war in the United States; and some time after the 1545 termination of hostilities the bondholders consulted as to the course to be pursued in reference to their interest; were you present?

A. No.

Q. 619. How do you know there was such a consultation?

A. It was notorious at the time.

Q. 620. Do you state this on the point of notoriety?

A. Yes.

Q. 621. Upon no other basis?

A. No other basis except the information a man acquires from being in active business.

Q. 622. That is the kind of knowledge you have that the coupons were not paid—the kind of knowledge that a man gets in active business?

A. What coupons?

Q. 623. The coupons that fell due during the war?

A. I was a bondholder and did not get my coupons paid.

Q. 624. And this was a matter of notoriety?

A. Yes; I talked about it. I do not remember exactly how it was done; it was a matter of notoriety; it is not disputed.

Q. 625. Do you remember talking with M'r Duncan about it?

A. I do not remember, though probably I did.

Q. 626. What made you say you did?

A. I probably did.

Q. 627. What made you say you did?

A. I suppose I did.

Q. 628. You are not speaking from memory?

A. I do not know.

Q. 629. Do you remember talking about that funding?

A. I do not remember talking with him; I say, I very probably did.

Q. 630. What made you say that; why did you say that you very probably consulted with M'r Duncan?

A. Well, just strike out that, as if I did not say so.

Q. 631. Why did you say so?

A. That requires no answer.

Q. 632. Why did you say so?

A. I decline to answer, as it is an impertinent question.

Q. 633. It is no more impertinent than your answer. Have you employed Judge Grandin as counsel in the Ketchum suit?

A. No.

Q. 634. In the Ketchum suit?

A. No; I did not employ any counsel in the Ketchum suit.

Q. 635. Have you not employed and paid Judge Grandin to prosecute the Ketchum suit?

A. I have not.

Q. 636. Are you aware that an injunction has been issued in the State court of Mobile restraining M'r Ketchum from going on with his suit?

A. I am not.

Q. 637. What kind of proceedings were you informed of?

A. Some proceedings similar to what you instituted in the city of New York; I did not see the proceedings.

Q. 638. You know of a motion in the Ketchum suit, by Grandin, to restrain Duncan from going on with their suit?

A. I have heard so from M'r Andrews.

Q. 639. Where?

A. In New York.

Q. 640. Did he say he had instituted the proceedings?

1546 A. Mr. Grandin, I believe, is counsel of the second mortgage bondholders; M'r Andrews is the one who did.

Q. 641. M'r Andrews is the one who is held responsible for the violation of the injunction of the Mobile court?

A. I do not know.

Q. 641½. M'r Moran, you have proved some bonds belonging to yourself in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 642. Why did you not prove Jump's?

A. I think he did not own them at the time; they were proved by Moran Bro's, as agents.

Q. 643. Jump's bonds are among those proved in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. Yes.

Q. Why didn't you prove De Watteville's bonds in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. I did prove them, probably.

Q. 645. Why do you say probably?

A. I say I proved ninety-seven. I did not prove them, I was in Europe.

Q. 646. You understand that ninety-seven of the De Watteville bonds have been proved in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. Yes; I am not sure whether the three others were.

Q. 647. Why didn't you prove Dorelli Ziegler's bonds in the Duncan and Elliot suit, if they are not proved?

A. I am not sure whether they are proved.

Q. 648. Dorelli Zeigler's bonds have been proved at the time when the master was here?

A. Yes; I believe so.

Q. 649. Through your house?

A. Yes.

Q. 650. At what place?

A. I can ascertain; I don't know.

Q. 650½. The other man, Masson Chavannes, have his bonds been proved in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. I think all in that case; I am not sure; I can give you accurately if you desire.

Q. 651. How do you know, as stated in your bill, that prior to May, 1875, Duncan, Sherman & Company had been acquiring and purchasing claims against the railroad company?

A. I only heard so from general information.

Q. 652. From whom did you hear it?

A. I thought they did, as I believe they have always been the financial agents of the company.

Q. 653. On what information did you make that statement?

A. General information.

Q. 654. What do you mean by general information?

A. Got it from various parties.

Q. 655. What parties?

A. Well, the information I probably got mostly through Ketchum and M'r Andrews.

Q. 656. When did you get it?

A. After the commencement of that suit.

Q. 657. Then your counsel brought you more information in this suit than you brought your counsel?

A. He did in many instances.

Q. 658. Did you employ him to get information?

A. I certainly did; though a great deal of it was obtained long 1547 before I employed him, as he happened to have been in M'r Ketchum's suit ever since months before.

Adjourned to M'r Gutman's office, 29 Nassau street, at ten and a half a. m., April 28, 1877.

NEW YORK, April 28th, 1877.

Examination of CHARLES MORAN continued by M'r Bangs.

M'r Moran produced a copy of the authority of Henry Jump, together with the circular of November 24th, 1876, to which it is attached.

Q. 1. Have not Mess'r's D'Orelli Ziegler placed some of these securities in the hands of Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. 2. Have you received from various other parties documents like this one subscribed by Henry Jump?

A. I have some others; not many. You are speaking, now, of our own correspondents?

Q. 3. Yes; of your own correspondents.

A. Generally, whatever the instructions were, were given in a letter.

Q. 4. Have you received instructions from any of the parties who gave you such so-called powers of attorney to put their bonds into the Hays, Pierson, and Du Puy scheme?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I have.

Q. 5. Which parties?

A. None of those mentioned.

Q. 6. None of the plaintiffs?

A. None of the plaintiffs.

Q. 7. I ask you who they were; who are they who have so instructed you?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I suppose I am not bound to answer that.

M'r BLANDY. I advise you that you are not bound to answer that.

Q. 8. Do you refuse to answer that?

A. I refuse to answer that.

Q. 9. Have you complied with the directions so given you?

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. I have not.

Q. 10. Why not?

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. I did not think it to their interest to do so.

Q. 11. You think, then, that you are entitled to overrule the positive directions of your correspondents, do you?

A. I constantly do so.

Q. 12. You violate the instructions of your principals constantly?

A. Whenever I think it their interest to do so; and they have always approved of it.

Q. 13. Who has approved of your violation of his instructions?

1548 A. That is unnecessary for me to answer; that is, I prefer not to answer.

Q. 14. Do you decline to answer?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 15. I suppose that the fact is that whenever you have proved, in the Duncan and Elliott suit, bonds belonging to any of your correspondents or principals, you have proved them in your own name, have you not?

A. I have, as agent, or as holder.

Q. 16. Do you remember how many bonds you have proved in the Duncan and Elliot suit for Rudolph Merian?

A. I could give you that; I don't remember; I could get it at the office.

Q. 17. You have a record of it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 18. Of the numbers and amounts?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 19. And is the case the same with Alfred Renevier and Eugene Renevier and Charles Carrard?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 20. And Cephise Chuffard?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 21. Their bonds, when proved, were proved in your name, were they?

A. They were proved in ours, I think. I was not here when they were proved.

Q. 22. You know they were all proved?

A. They were proved.

Q. 23. They were proved by Moran Bro's, for yourself and as agents of others?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 24. Then you have not received any bonds but what you have proved them in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. I think I have some.

Q. 25. Received recently?

A. Since the proving; at the time we proved.

Q. 26. Since the master was here last summer?

A. Yes, sir; all that we had then we proved.

Q. 27. You have received some few since, which you have not proved?

A. I don't think we have proved them; some of them may have been bonds that we purchased, but I am not sure.

Q. 28. Have you purchased any bonds recently?

A. Yes, sir; since I came from Europe we have purchased a few.

Q. 29. You refer to your return from Europe; when was that?

A. Towards, I think, the 30th of October.

Q. 30. How long had you been in Europe?

A. I left here the 20th of May.

Q. 31. Before you left had you heard anything about a decree having been obtained on the Tennessee substitution lien?

A. No, sir.

Q. 32. Are you sure of that?

A. Yes, sir. I swore last evening, you remember, that the first knowledge I had of it was through my son, when I was in Europe.

Q. 33. Did he not tell you that he had learned it from M'r Duncan?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to, as hearsay; taken subject to objection.)

A. I can t remember whether he told me or not from what source. He may have told me. It was a thing of no importance; I make no 1549 note of things of that kind. He said that such things had been done.

Q. 34. Did you receive a letter last September from M'r Duncan?

A. No, sir; I——

Q. 35. (Interposing.) Or have you seen any such letter?

A. I very probably have; I don't know what you allude to.

Q. 36. About the decree?

A. The one which you questioned me about yesterday?

Q. 37. No.

A. About the Tennessee decree?

Q. 38. About the Tennessee decree.

A. He may have written a letter to my house; yes, sir.

Mr. BANGS. I shall have to trouble you to look for a letter from M'r Duncan on the 16th of September last, addressed to your firm.

The WITNESS. If M'r Duncan has a copy of the letter, by reading it and refreshing my recollection, I may remember to have seen it.

(Copy of letter shown to the witness.)

The WITNESS. I haven't the slightest recollection of having seen such a letter; I won't say positively that I never had such a letter, but I don't recollect it; we will look diligently in the office; it is very strange that I should have no recollection of it at all; I remember other letters; there will be only one letter of that date, I suppose.

Q. 39. Did you call and see M'r Duncan on your return from Europe?

A. I did.

Q. 40. On the subject of the Tennessee decree?

A. Nothing in particular about any one thing; I went to see him on the general position of the M. & O. affairs.

Q. 41. Did you have any conversation about the Tennessee decree?

A. I had a conversation.

Q. 42. Did he not tell you that he had been taken by surprised by the entry of that decree, and that he was trying to set it aside?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as hearsay; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 43. Why, in framing your bill in the Ziegler case, did you not state the fact that you had requested Duncan and Elliott to take possession as trustees; why did you omit that fact?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I did not suppose it was necessary.

Q. 43½. Did you suppose it would hurt you if you stated the fact?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial, and as calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind; taken subject to objection.)

A. I am ready to admit the fact at any time.

Q. 44. Why did you not admit it in this bill?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial, and as calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind.)

Q. 45. You knew, in May, 1875, that the mortgage provided for three months' grace after default, did you not?

1550 (M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial, and as calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't remember whether I paid any attention to it or not.

Q. 46. I did not ask you that; did you know it?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 47. When did you first find it out, if you did not know it then?

A. I found it out after the bills were drawn.

Q. 48. After the Ziegler bill was drawn?

A. Any of these bills. While you mention it, that might have attracted my atnention; I may have known it before, but it made no impression upon my mind; I probably did, because I had read the mortgage several times.

Q. 49. You had read the mortgage long before May, 1875?

A. Yes.

Q. 50. Do you mean to say that you read it with so little intelligence that you did not know that three months' grace was allowed after default?

A. Exactly so.

Q. 51. You were so wanting in intelligence?

A. So wanting in intelligence.

M'r Bangs. I do not wonder, then, that M'r Blandy objects to the conclusion of your mind.

(This is put down at M'r Blandy's request.)

Q. 52. What do you mean by stating in your bill that Duncan, Sherman & Co. made an assignment within less than three months from the date of the default of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to upon the ground that the language speaks for itself, and as immaterial, and as calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind; taken subject to objection.)

M'r Bangs. M'r Moran is cautioned not to state any conclusion of his mind.

A. I meant exactly what I said.

Q. 53. What do you refer to as the date of the default?

A. The 1st of May, 1875.

Q. 54. When did you first find out that Duncan, Sherman & Co. had made an assignment?

(M'r Blandy—objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. When it was published in the papers.

Q. 55. Was it in July, 1875?

A. I am not positive as to the date.

Q. 56. What did you mean by swearing in your bill that it was within three months after the 1st of May?

A. I so believed it.

Q. 57. Do you believe it now?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 58. Then it was in July, 1875, was it not?

A. It may have been; May and June would be two months.

Q. 59. And July would be three months?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 60. That is a conclusion of your mind, observe?

A. That is it.

Q. 61. Did you mean that they made an assignment before the end of July, 1875?

A. I suppose that must be the date; I am not sure of the date.

Q. 62. You knew it at the time?

1551 A. I didn't know the exact date.

Q. 63. You knew it about the time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 64. Within a few days of the time?

A. I paid no particular attention to it.

Q. 65. You knew it?

A. I don't know what you mean by knowing it; I could not swear to the date.

Q. 66. You knew about the end of July, 1875, that Duncan, Sherman & Co. had made an assignment, did you not?

A. I knew it when it was published in the papers; that is all I can say.

Q. 67. When was it published in the papers?

A. I have no recollection.

Q. 68. Was it not published in July, 1875?

A. I don't know.

Q. 69. You knew it long before March, 1876, did you not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 70. In May, 1875, you knew that the November interest had not been paid, did you not?

A. No, I did not.

Q. 71. Did you not know it?

A. No.

Q. 72. When did you first find that out?

A. I didn't find it out until after those Duncan suits were brought.

Q. 73. When was that?

A. That was after the failure, I think; I don't know.

M'r Blandy. You refer to Duncan, Sherman & Co.

Q. 74. Did you not see the report for 1874 of the company?

A. I saw the report.

Q. 75. Did you read it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 76. Read the whole of it?

A. I read the whole of it; yes, sir.

Q. 77. When did you read it?

A. I don't know; shortly after it was issued.

Q. 78. When was it issued?

A. The report for 1874?

Q. Yes.

A. I think it was in the middle of 1875; I am not sure.

Q. 81. In the middle of 1875?

A. I don't know; I am not sure.

Q. 82. Repeated.

A. They were usually very dilatory in their reports; M'r Duncan can tell you.

Q. 83. I do not want you to refer me to anybody else.

A. I don't know when it was.

Q. 84. Was it in the middle of 1875?

A. I don't know the date; if I remembered it I would give it to you with the greatest pleasure.

Q. 85. As you understood it in May, 1875, when Duncan & Elliot filed their bill, Duncan, Sherman & Co. were bondholders, were they not?

A. I was led to understand from conversations with M'r Duncan that they and their friends were large bondholders.

Q. 86. You have not understood to the contrary since, have you?

A. I have understood since that they had very few.

Q. 87. At that time?

A. Very few first-mortgage bonds.

Q. 88. You understood they had some?

A. I don't know that they had any, in fact; if they had, it must have been very few.

Q. 89. What do you say that for?

1552 A. Because none appeared in their statement of their assets.

Q. 90. I am talking about May, 1875. Did they make any statement of their assets in May, 1875?

A. Oh, no; I was led to believe they had first-mortgage bonds, but only from conversation with M'r Duncan.

Q. 91. He told you?

A. He told me that he and his friends were largely interested in them—him and his friends. He didn't separate it exactly.

Q. 92. Whom?

A. He and his friends.

Q. 93. That is all he told you?

A. He said that he represented the first mortgage as trustee, and he would defend it. That is the reason that I co-operated in everything that he desired me to do.

Q. 94. What have they done in hostility to your interest in the first-mortgage bonds since that, that you complain of?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I have stated it in full.

Q. 96. No; you have not. What have they done in hostility to your interests, or to prevent you from getting your share?

A. Indeed, I don't know.

M'r Blandy. I advise you that you need not answer that question.

Q. 96. Do you refuse to state what grievance you have against Duncan & Elliot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 97. You refuse to?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 98. Have you any?

A. I have.

Q. 99. Will you specify them?

A. It is not necessary.

Q. 100. You are not the judge of that.

A. I decline simply for the reason that I do not want to go through one hundred interrogatories where I have to repeat the same answer.

Q. 101. I am not asking you to repeat anything you have stated before. I want to know what wrong Duncan & Elliot have done you as a bondholder, or what they have done to prevent you getting your full share of the proceeds of the property?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I will answer that. M'r Duncan promised me that he would permit nothing to be done to establish a priority of substitution bonds without giving Moran Bro's due notice, so that they might appear and defend it; and after I was in Europe he got up this plan of reorganization by which the substitution bonds were given a much greater percentage of the new first mortgage to be issued than the first-mortgage bonds, while we held that they had no mortgage lien, and I told him repeatedly that I would defend the interest of the first-mortgage bonds; and then this claim came, which I knew nothing of at the time, of $735,000 coupons put in which had been considered as paid, which he claimed 1553 as not being paid; and he had made arrangements, through personal solicitations, and he is the main man in the reorganization, which is most ruinous.

Q. 102. How does that plan involve any wrong to you? Will not the property sell for just as much under that plan as any other?

A. I decline to answer, because I am the judge of my interests.

Q. 103. I want to know how the reorganization scheme tends to prevent you from getting your legal rights or the property from bringing its value.

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 104. You will not state?

A. No, sir.

Q. 105. Are you mad because certain persons have got up a scheme for their own protection without consulting you?

A. No; I never get angry for people doing what is for their own interests.

Q. 106. You are not mad about that?

A. No, sir.

Q. 107. Did you consult M'r Duncan in regard to your plan of reorganization?

A. No, sir.

Q. 108. M'r Alexander Duncan?

No, sir.

Q. 109. The Tennessee bondholders?

A. No; some of them I did.

Q. 110. Whom did you consult?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial. Taken subject to objection.)

A. I consulted with other parties.

Q. 111. Whom did you consult with?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial. Taken subject to objection.)

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 112. You want to have Duncan and Elliot removed, do you, because certain parties have got up a scheme for the reorganization of the road?

A. No, sir.

Q. 113. Then, what is the reason?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial. I advise you that you are not bound to answer it. Taken subject to objection.)

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 114. You decline to tell why you want to have Duncan and Elliot removed?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 115. Is it not because you want to defeat the reorganization scheme and think that you can defeat it by having them removed?

(Mr. Blandy—Objected to as leading and immaterial. Taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 116. Haven't you had a chance to defend against the Tennessee substitution lien, M'r Moran?

A. I can't answer that because I am not a lawyer.

Q. 117. Were you a lawyer when you told me you wanted a chance to defend?

A. No, sir.

Q. 118. What did you mean when you told me you wanted a chance to defend?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as incompetent. Taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 119. You refuse to answer that?

A. I refuse to answer that.

Q. 120. Did you mean you wanted an opportunity to employ a lawyer?

A. I refuse to answer that.

Q. 121. Did you mean you wanted an opportunity to set up the grounds on which you claim that the Tennessee lien was not an incumbrance?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as leading; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I refuse to answer.

Q. 122. Have you not had an opportunity to employ a lawyer as against the Tennessee substitution lien?

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 122½. Have you not had an opportunity to employ a lawyer as against the Tennessee substitution?

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 123. Have you not had a chance to resist the claim pending under the coupons?

A. I decline to answer.

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. No, sir.

Q. 127. Why did you not offer yourself as a witness?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial and calling for a conclusion of the witness's mind; taken subject to objection.)

A. It was not necessary; I was not asked.

Q. 128. You were not asked by whom?

A. By any one.

Q. 129. Why did you not offer yourself without being asked?

A. I didn't think it proper.

Q. 130. You did not know anything that you could testify to that tended to defeat the claim on the coupons?

A. I didn't think that was the place where the defence was to be made.

Q. 131. Why did you call those witnesses there for if you did not think that was the place?

A. To establish some facts.

Q. 132. But you say you thought that was not the place to establish the facts?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 133. You decline to answer what?

A. These are comments of yours; they are not questions.

Q. 134. Did you think that was the proper place for the production of testimony in opposition to the coupons?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir; such testimony as I thought would be available and just.

Q. 135. You did not know of any testimony of your own that would be advantageous or available, did you? 1555

A. Yes, sir; I gave it in another form.

Q. 136. What was it?

Q. 137. What affidavits?

A. Various ones.

Q. 138. Where?

A. On record in that suit.

Q. 139. Whereabouts on record?

Q. 148. When did you inform them?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 152. Are the plaintiffs in this Ziegler suit incurring the expense of the suit, or are you incurring it?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 153. On what terms have you employed counsel to conduct the Ziegler suit?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to, first, on the ground that it is already asked and answered, and second, as incompetent, and third, as privileged; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 154. Have you not employed them upon a contingent and speculative fee?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 155. What do you mean by stating in your bill that Duncan and Elliot allege that the Tennessee substitution bonds are secured by a valid and permanent lien on 118 miles of the road in Tennessee? Will you point out that part of their bill to which you refer in that language?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as calling for a conclusion, and second, that the language speaks for itself.)

Q. 156. Will you point out that part of the bill which you refer to?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. Need I answer that question?

1556 (By M'r Blandy:)

Q. 157. Have you got the bill to point out?

A. I haven't the bill.

By M'r Bangs:

Q. 158. Can you tell from memory what part of the bill states any such thing as you have averred?

A. I cannot; the bill speaks for itself.

Q. 159. In what particular has the administration of the property been designed and shaped to further the said object, and collect the claim above described adversely to the rights and interests of the first-mortgage bondholders?

A. I don't know how I can answer that.

Q. 160. You do not know any such particular, do you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 161. Name it, then; how has the administration been designed and shaped adversely to the rights and interests of the first-mortgage bondholders?

A. I think that the road has not been administered with due economy.

Q. 162. In what respect?

A. The general mode.

Q. 163. Can you specify anything?

A. The general mode of administering it.

Q. 164. Is that the best you can do?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 165. Have you received the receiver's reports regularly?

A. I have received them; yes, sir.

Q. 166. And studied them.

A. No; not particularly.

Q. 167. You have read them carefully?

A. Read them.

Q. 168. With a little feeling of hostility to Duncan and Elliot?

A. No hostility to those gentlemen.

Q. 169. No hostility at all?

A. No, sir.

Q. 170. In what respect do you complain of any want of economy, then?

A. Because the expenses are very heavy.

Q. 171. What expenses?

A. The expenses of administering the road generally.

Q. 172. How much ought they to be?

A. I can't say.

Q. 173. How can you say they are very heavy?

A. Then I can't say, if you say so; I can't say; it is my opinion.

Q. 174. Who suggested that answer to you?

A. My son.

Q. 175. Be good enough not to accept any suggestions of your son.

how much would you expect the expenses of such a road to be per annum?

A. I can't say.

Q. 176. What is the smallest sum it could be run for per annum?

A. I can't say.

Q. 177. What has it been run for per annum?

A. No, sir.

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 187. Is his reputation good?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 188. See if you know these gentlemen, by reputation or otherwise: Robert G. Ralston, John J. Cisco & Son, Robert Lenox Kennedy, Levi P. Morton, Samuel Sloan, August Belmont, Henry F. Vail; do you know these gentlemen?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 189. You know them all personally?

A. Nearly all.

Q. 190. Do you know them by reputation?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 191. Are they not men of high character and reputation in New York?

(Objected to by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 192. Do you know Edwin D. Morgan?

A. Yes.

Q. 193. Is he a man of high character and reputation?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 194. Do the judgments of such men have any influence with you?

(M'r Blandy.—Objected to as immaterial, and calling for a conclusion; taken subject to objection.)

A. On some things they would and on others they would not.

Q. 195. Do you have any better railroad men than M'r Standiford, or M'r Clarke, or M'r Raynor?

A. As I don't know them, I make no comparison with them.

Q. 196. Do you think you are any better railroad man than Samuel Sloan?

(M'r Blandy.—Objected to as incompetent; taken subject to objection.)

A. If I said yes, or if I said no, one would be as ridiculous as the other; there is no comparison between the two men.

Q. 197. M'r Moran, you have had experience in railroading, have you not?

A. I think I have.

Q. 198. You were president of the Erie Railway Company?

A. I was.

Q. 199. For how long?

A. For two years.

Q. 200. When was that?

A. 1857 to 1859.

Q. 204. Never was a manager or officer of a railroad company except the Erie Railroad?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 205. Twenty years ago, before the deluge?

A. Before the deluge.

Q. 206. Do you apply to the transactions of the present day the ideas you got then?

1558 A. I certainly make use of the information I got in the past.

Q. 207. Your experience does not enable you to say what would be a proper sum to allow for the annual expenses of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad?

A. No, sir; because there are no two roads in the whole world which you can compare accurately.

Q. 208. Then, what would you compare the Mobile & Ohio Railroad with?

A. I compare it with nothing specially.

Q. 309. Then, why do you say that the management have been extravagant?

A. Because that was my opinion.

Q. 210. What was it founded on?

A. Founded on general information.

Q. 211. What kind of information?

A. If you want to know one, for example?

Q. 212. Yes.

A. I am told that since M'r Duncan became receiver there has been placed on the road a directors' car, which never was before; a thing that I never had on the Erie Railroad, and a thing I don't think proper on any railroad.

Q. 213. What do you mean by "directors' car"?

A. Used exclusively for the directors to go over the road, and receivers.

Q. 214. To do what?

A. To inspect the road. I have heard that that car has been used on other roads besides being used on the Mobile & Ohio.

Q. 215. Who told you that?

A. I was informed so.

Q. 216. Who told you that?

A. My counsel told me that he was so informed down South.

Q. 217. Then you got your information from your counsel?

A. On that particular point.

Q. 218. You have seen the car?

A. No; I have been so informed by letters that I have received.

Q. 219. Who did you receive them from?

A. I forget who was the person in particular.

Q. 220. Was it Guesnard?

A. It may have been.

Q. 221. Was it not?

A. I am not sure.

Q. 222. Will you say it was not?

A. I am not sure.

Q. 223. Was it Flemming?

A. I have had several letters complaining of it.

Q. 224. Complaining of the directors' car?

A. Complaining of the general management.

Q. 225. The directors' car I am speaking of?

A. One or two spoke of it besides my counsel.

Q. 226. Your counsel told you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 227. He felt aggrieved by it?

A. He gave it as a part of the information that he obtained down South.

Q. 228. Did you send him down to get it?

A. I sent him down to attend to all my interests in regard to it.

Q. 229. What is there peculiar about this directors' car?

A. I don't know; I never saw it.

Q. 230. Did not your counsel tell you?

A. He told me that it was a handsome car for the directors.

Q. 231. Did he feel aggrieved by that?

1559 A. He did not express.

Q. 232. (Interposing.) Did he not tell you that he tried to ride dead-head in it?

A. He never told me so.

Q. 233. Did he not tell you that it cost $40,000?

A. He said nothing about the cost.

Q. 234. Did he not tell you anything about the cost?

A. No, sir.

Q. 235. You feel aggrieved by this, do you?

A. I think it is an indication of what might be expected in other things.

Q. 236. What other things do you know of beside the directors' car?

A. It is nothing that I can specify in particular, but it is the general information that I have received.

Q. 237. Received from your counsel?

A. From various sources.

Q. 238. How long since you have been on the road?

A. I have not been on the road.

Q. 239. Do you consider yourself a perfectly good judge and adviser for the railroad?

A. I consider that I can form some opinion.

Q. 240. Without going on it?

A. Without going on it.

Q. 241. And you are a safe adviser of people abroad without going on the road or having been on it?

A. It is not customary for persons who hold securities of a road to go over it.

Q. 242. How do you know it is not?

A. It is my opinion; I have never done it.

Q. 243. Which do you think has the best means of judging, you or the officers of the connecting lines?

A. I don't know; I don't know whether the officers of connecting lines know anything about it.

Q. 244. I will read this letter, and ask what you think about M'r Standiford:

L. & N. R. R. Co.,
OFFICE OF PRESIDENT,
Louisville, Feb. 11th, 1877.

W. BUTLER DUNCAN, Esq.,
Trustee and Receiver:

DEAR SIR: It gives me great pleasure to state that I consider the present management of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad superior to any that it has had within my knowledge. All reports from the road sustain this view, and all the relations of the management with that of our own have been marked with true business principles.

Were I interested in the road, I should deplore any movement having for its object the removal of the present management, as I believe with that the best results obtainable can be reached.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) E. D. STANDIFORD, Pres't.

1560 Q. Which do you think is the most reliable, your judgment, never having been over the road, or the judgment of the president of a connecting road, who has been over it frequently?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as incompetent and immaterial, and calling for a conclusion, and as cross-examination of his own witness; taken subject to objection.)

A. I have nothing to say against or in favor of it; I know nothing of what M'r Standiford bases his opinion on.

Q. 245. Which do you think is the best judge, a man acquainted with the road, or a man not?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I think a man acquainted with the road.

Q. 246. I will read you this from a letter of James A. Raynor, trustee:

"DEAR SIR: Your esteemed favor of the 8th inst. is received, requesting me to state in reply in what estimation the administration of the trustees and receivers of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad is held by the management of this road. Without reserve or qualification of any kind whatever, we regard it as by far the best the Mobile & Ohio Railroad has had at any time since the completion of our line hence to Mobile."

Do you know anything to the contrary of that?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I know nothing that induced him to write that.

Q. 247. Do you know anything to the contrary of that?

A. I know nothing to the contrary of any knowledge that he acquired.

Q. 248. The question is have you any knowledge to the contrary of that?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't know what you mean by that. I have no knowledge; no, sir.

Q. 249. You cannot contradict that, can you?

A. I cannot contradict that, because I haven't been on the road.

Q. 250. Do you know that M'r Raynor is the co-trustee of Gov. Morgan on that road?

A. I believe I have seen his name, but I didn't know at all.

Q. 251. You say you have not been a railroad director in twenty years?

A. Yes, sir; I have been a director in a road in Ohio, but it is a nominal position.

Q. 252. Were you ever over the road?

A. Not since I have been director.

Q. 253. Did you ever see it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 254. Before you were a director?

A. Before I was a director I went over it.

Q. 255. How long have you been a director?

A. I think four years.

Q. 256. You think it consistent with your duty to be a director of a road that you never saw, do you?

1561 A. It is a leased road, and——

Q. 257. You think it is your duty to be director of a road that you never saw?

A. I do in this case, because it is a leased road, which I have nothing to do with the running of.

Q. 258. Do you know of any road, anywhere, that does not have a car to enable its superintendent to go over and inspect a road which is 400 miles long?

A. It has never been the case when I have had anything to do with it.

Q. 259. Has the Hudson railroad any car of that kind?

A. I don't know.

Q. 260. Has the New Haven road any such car?

A. I don't know.

Q. 261. Has the Erie?

A. I don't know.

Q. 262. Has the Pennsylvania Central?

A. I don't know.

Q. 263. Has the New Jersey Central?

A. I don't know.

Q. 264. Do you not know that they all, every one of them, have cars used for that purpose specially, and not for the carriage of passengers generally?

A. I believe on the Pennsylvania Central they have such a car, but to my own knowledge I don't know of any others.

Q. 265. You have heard of the others having such cars?

A. I don't remember; I may have heard it casually.

Q. 266. What harm is there in there being a car to carry the directors up and down the road, to inspect the road and do their duty?

A. I consider it improper.

Q. 267. Would you insist that they should walk up and down the road?

A. No, sir.

Q. 268. How could they go?

A. They could take any ordinary train and do it just as well.

Q. 269. How do you know that this does not go on ordinary trains?

A. They are generally very expensive.

Q. 270. I am not asking you about generally; how do you know that this car does not go with other cars on a train?

A. I don't know it.

Q. 271. You do not know but what it goes with the other cars on the train, do you?

A. I don't know.

Q. 272. Do you think the directors ought to have mules, or what; tell us how you think the directors ought to travel?

A. In the most economical mode possible.

Q. 273. You think they ought to go cheaper than other passengers?

A. If possible, yes.

Q. 274. You think they ought to have an inferior car, do you?

A. I went constantly in the caboose attached to a freight train when I wanted to see the road.

Q. 275. Do you think the directors ought to travel in a caboose?

A. If they felt as I do, they would, rather than have an extra train put on.

Q. 276. Do you think the directors ought to travel in a caboose?

A. Not necessarily.

Q. 277. You would give them the same privilege as other passengers? 1562

A. Certainly.

Q. 278. Do you think they ought to be obliged to pay their fare?

A. No; I think not.

Q. 279. Do you think there is any harm in having a water-closet in the director's car, or an ice-pitcher, or pitcher of ice-water?

A. No.

Q. 280. What is the harm about a directors' car that you complain of?

A. If you were as much of a railroad man as I am, you would know, I suppose.

Q. 281. I am; I am a good deal more, in my judgment.

A. In my opinion it is a source of great cost to every railroad where it is run.

Q. 282. How do you know that?

A. In my opinion it is a wastage.

Q. 283. What is your opinion founded on?

A. It is a question that is impossible to give——

Q. 284. (Interposing.) It is not founded on anything but your personal hostility, is it, to Duncan & Elliot; is it founded on anything else? How much did this car cost?

A. I have no personal hostility to M'r Duncan and M'r Elliot whatever.

Q. 285. What did you bring a suit to remove them for?

(M'r Blandy objected on the ground that the suit speaks for itself.)

Q. 286. After you requested them to act, and after you had approved their claims in the suit?

A. Because I considered it my duty and my interest.

Q. 287. How much more money will you get by the Ziegler suit than you will in the other?

A. It is immaterial if I get more or less, if I establish my proper rights.

Q. 288. Have you brought it to get more money, or less money?

A. I brought it to protect fully the rights of the first-mortgage bondholders.

Q. 289. What rights?

A. Their rights.

Q. 290. What rights?

A. All their rights, whatever they are.

Q. 291. Their rights to share the money?

A. All their rights.

Q. 292. Have you brought the suit to protect the interest of Hays, Pierson, & Du Puy?

A. Just as much as mine.

Q. 293. Is that your object?

A. To protect all the first-mortgage bondholders.

Q. 294. You think the bondholders to the amount of $145,000 can protect the interests of three and a half million bondholders better than the three and a half million can themselves?

A. I have carried on this suit on the general principle that I hold the minority has the same rights as the majority before the courts.

Q. 295. But you said you brought the suits for the protection of the interests of all?

A. I allow them to share in all the benefits that may accrue to the first-mortgage bondholders, if any.

Q. 296. What benefits do you expect to accrue?

1563 A. I should have them put in their proper position as first-mortgage bondholders.

Q. 297. How can you accomplish that any better in the Ziegler suit than in the Ketchum suit?

A. It is my opinion that they can be.

Q. 298. How?

A. I don't care about answering that.

M'r Bangs. But the court cares to have that answered; the court has sent up here to get your answer to that.

The Witness. The court will decide, I suppose.

M'r Bangs. The court has sent up here to get your answer.

M'r Blandy. I advise you not to answer that.

The Witness. I decline.

Q. 299. What is the cost of this directors' car?

A. I don't know.

Q. 300. Is that the only extravagance you know of; do you know of any other extravagance?

A. General charges received from various persons in the South, that the road is extravagantly run.

Q. 301. Who do you mean?

A. Correspondents.

Q. 302. Who are they?

A. I don't remember the names exactly.

Q. 303. Have you got their letters?

A. I think it is very-possible.

Q. 304. Will you produce them?

M'r Blandy. I advise you that you are not bound to or to give their names.

Q. 305. What particular extravagance, besides this directors' car, do you know of?

A. I decline to specify.

Q. 306. You know M'r Guesnard, do you not?

A. I do not.

Q. 307. You know him by correspondence ?

A. He has written me.

Q. 308. Do you know he was removed from the office of ticket-seller of the road and thereupon became hostile ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 309. You never heard of that ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 310. Are you influenced by M'r Guesnard ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 311. Are you influenced by M'r Fleming ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 312. You will not specify any other particular of extravagance, then ?

A. No, sir.

Q. 313. Is that because you cannot ?

A. I don't think it necessary.

Q. 314. The court does; the court sent word up to M'r Gutman to get your opinion on that subject particularly; now, will you give the court the benefit of what you know on the subject of extravagance ?

A. I decline to reply to that.

Q. 317. Your bill says "$300,000 has been disbursed for advances considered to be extraordinary in character;" what do you mean by that ?

A. They are items that appeared in the report.

Q. 318. What are they ?

A. They are general.

Q. 319. Is that all you can say about it ?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 320. How do you mean extraordinary in character ?

A. So considered.

Q. 321. Who considers them so ?

A. I do.

1564 Q. 322. What are they for, then ; how are they extraordinary ?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 323. You will not tell the court ?

A. No.

Q. 324. You refuse to tell the court ?

A. I refuse to reply to Mr. Bangs' cross-examination.

Q. 325. You refuse to send word to the court what they are ?

A. I refuse to answer the question.

Q. 326. I give you another opportunity; I ask you to answer that question.

A. I refuse to answer.

Q. 327. You say that considerable amounts of the trust fund have been used by them for their own personal gratification; what do you mean by that ?

A. The expense of going up and down the road, and one thing or another.

Q. 328. How much has been used for expenses going up and down the road, and one thing and another ?

A. I can't say.

Q. 329. Where did you get the information ?

A. I won't reply to that.

Q. 330. You won't reply to that ?

A. No.

Q. 331. Did you get it from the reports ?

A. Partially.

Q. 332. What report?

A. Of the receivers.

Q. 333. Then the receivers' report stated that they had spent money for their personal gratifications, did it?

A. No; not under that item.

Q. 334. There was no concealment about it?

A. How do you mean concealment?

Q. 335. It was not concealed or omitted from the report?

A. I suppose that they put all of their expenses in it.

Q. 336. You say they have spent money for their personal gratification, and that it appears by the report; is that what you mean, or did you get the information somewhere else?

A. I cannot specify.

Q. 337. You cannot specify what?

A. What you ask.

Q. 338. Where did you get that information, is the question?

A. The analysis of the report will show.

Q. 339. Who made the analysis?

A. I did.

Q. 340. How much did you find they had spent for their personal gratification?

A. I made no analysis of what they did, but I considered as personal gratification as going up and down in the car, not only on this road, but on other roads, where I am informed the directors' car has gone.

Q. 341. Who told you that?

A. I heard it.

Q. 342. Who?

A. From persons in the South.

Q. 343. Who were they?

A. I decline to give their names.

Q. 344. How much has been spent for their personal gratification?

A. I don't know.

Q. 345. Do you think the stockholders of the New York Central road have a right to complain of M'r Vanderbilt for going in a car provided for the purpose, going to Chicago and connecting roads, for the 1565 purpose of attending to the business of the road?

A. I don't know the business of the New York Central; I should if I was a director.

Q. 346. You would complain of the directors attending to their business in a directors' car?

A. I certainly would.

Q. 347. The stockholders of the Erie road complained of the same thing in you, did they?

A. I never did such a thing.

Q. 348. Did they not make the complaint of you?

A. I never did it.

Q. 349. You never attended to the business?

A. I attended to the business.

Q. 350. Did the stockholders complain of it?

A. No.

Q. 351. They did not complain of your going over the road, did they?

A. No.

Q. 352. It didn't hurt the road?

A. No.

Q. 353. Do you know whether the directors going over the road hurts it?

A. No; I do not.

Q. 354. What kind of personal gratification do you refer to?

A. The general expense attending these excursions.

Q. 355. What personal gratification do they derive from going over the road?

A. I don't know.

Q. 356. What?

A. I don't know.

Q. 357. What did you swear to it for?

A. They are general allegations, as you see there.

Q. 358. I want to make them particular; now, what personal gratification has Duncan and Elliot derived from the funds of the road?

A. I can't say.

Q. 359. You don't know of any, do you?

A. No, not directly.

Q. 360. What do you mean by directly?

A. I don't know of my own knowledge.

Q. 361. Have you had information?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 362. Who gave it to you?

A. I told you from Southern correspondents.

Q. 363. What did they tell you as to the personal gratification Duncan and Elliot derived from the funds?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial and calling for hearsay evidence; taken subject to objection.)

A. The shortest way is, I decline to answer.

Q. 364. You refuse to answer?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 365. I show you Duncan & Elliot's bill of complaint. I want you to tell me what you meant when you said that they alleged that certain claims to the amount of $1,685,000 were secured by a valid and permanent lien on one hundred and eighteen miles of the road?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to on the ground, first, that the bill states for itself, and as calling for a conclusion, and as in cross-examination of their own witness; taken subject to objection.)

Q. 366. What do you refer to?

A. I refer to that as a recognition of priority.

Q. 367. This is a part of it?

A. That is a part of it, but it is partly elsewhere; in the judge's 1566 decision, also, or the decree, it may be said that that is admitted.

Q. 368. I am asking you about the bill of complaint—what part of the bill of complaint you refer to. This is the part, is it?

A. That is the part.

Q. 369. As follows (reads): "Your orators further show that at the date of the execution of the deed of trust hereinbefore described the State of Tennessee, by act of the legislature, had advanced and loaned to the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, or had pledged itself so to do, the bonds of the said State to the extent of $1,684,800, or thereabouts, and by statute had retained for its security a first lien upon the entire road of the said company in the State of Tennessee, including the right of way, grading, bridges, masonry, iron rails, spikes, chains, and the whole superstructure and equipments, and all the property owned by said company, as incident to or necessary for its use, lying within the limits of said State, with power in said State to seize and sell, as in the nature of a mortgage lien, the same in default of payment by said company of said principal loan. This right and lien in said State of Tennessee was recognized in the said deed of mortgage hereinbefore described, and said deed was executed subject to said lien and right, as appears by reference thereto, of which a copy is made part of this bill"?

The WITNESS. That is not all.

M'r BANGS. Find the rest.

The WITNESS. Was there not——

M'r BANGS. Do not ask me; we decline to answer; we refuse to answer.

The WITNESS. Was there not a part——

M'r BANGS. We refuse to answer.

The WITNESS. Will you let me see it?

Q. 370. The question is, Is there any other part of the bill to which you refer?

A. That is the part I mean—not what you have read there.

Q. 371. You refer to another part, do you?

A. I was in error, then, admitting the other part. This is the part; allow me to read it.

M'r BANGS. Certainly.

The WITNESS. It is that part, also, or rather that is the main point.

M'r BANGS (reading): "Your orators further show to your honors that after the issue of said bonds by the State of Tennessee, the said State, by a general act of its legislature, passed for that purpose, to wit, on the 25th of February, in the year 1869, authorized the several railroad companies which had received aid from the State by a loan of its bonds under said former legislation to obtain a release of the State upon its property by the delivery 1567 to the State of an equivalent amount of bonds issued by the State. To enable this to be accomplished, the said State agreed to transfer to the holders of such Tennessee bonds as, with the consent of said railroad companies, might so surrender their bonds, in consideration of mortgage bonds to be executed by such railroad company, its lien upon the property in Tennessee, so that thereafter such bonds of said railroad companies, so issued for that purpose, should be held and taken as standing in the room and stead of said bonds originally loaned, and should be secured by the lien originally reserved for the protection of said State bonds, being the same continuing liability and date of such railroad company, but differing only in its form. Your orators show that the said Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company accepted these proposals, and issued its bonds for that purpose to the amount of $1,685,000, or thereabouts, bearing date the 1st July, 1871, and payable thirty years thereafter, and bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, in July and January, in gold coin, in New York, each bond being for the sum of one thousand dollars, or two hundred and five pounds sterling; and the said bonds, less $34,000 which have been paid, are now held by sundry persons, who are unknown to you orators, under the terms of this settlement, in the place and stead of the bonds originally issued by said State of Tennessee, and are secured by a lien upon the property, as hereinbefore stated, of the said company, in the State of Tennessee, and for whose benefit the said lien was declared to be a continuing lien upon said property. Your orators show that for the protection of these bonds and the preservation of said lien, Adrian Iselin and Richard T. Wilson, who are both citizens of the State of New York, together with your orator, William Butler Duncan, were appointed trustees. These bonds so issued are known as 'Tennessee substitution bonds.'" That is the part you refer to.

Q. 372. Is there anything in that that is not true?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to, as calling for a conclusion; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't know that there is.

Q. 373. Do you not know that every word of it is true as you understood it?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir; I believe it is.

1568 Q. 374. Do you not know that the floating creditors did not get any money appropriated to the payment of their debts?

A. Yes, sir; I know that they did not.

Q. 375. You know that they made the attempt, and failed?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 376. Why did you not state that fact in your bill?

A. I did state it.

Q. 377. Where did you state it?

A. If I didn't in that I did in some others.

Q. 378. Why did you not state it in this?

A. It is, I think, in there.

Q. 379. Which of the first mortgage bondholders opposed the application of the floating creditors?

A. M'r Morris Ketchum.

Q. 380. Is he a bondholder?

A. M'r Belloni.

Q. 381. Were you there?

A. I was not.

Q. 382. How do you know Duncan and Elliot did not oppose it?

A. I was told so.

Q. 383. Don't you know an order of reference was made to a master?

A. Yes, sir; I was told so.

Q. 384. Who told you Duncan and Elliot did not oppose it?

A. My counsel.

Q. 385. Who do you mean?

A. M'r Andrews.

Q. 386. I thought M'r Grandin was your counsel?

A. No, sir; I said yesterday he was not.

Q. 387. His name was signed to this bill; is not he your counsel?

A. If he is, he has been employed by M'r Andrews.

Q. 388. Is he or not?

A. I don't know.

Q. 389. You mean you never employed M'r Grandin?

A. I never employed M'r Grandin; M'r Andrews may have employed him.

Q. 390. Have you not paid M'r Grandin?

A. I haven't paid him a cent.

Q. 391. Have you paid his drafts?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I would rather answer—no; I don't want to.

Q. 392. How is it that M'r Grandin is able to negotiate drafts on you in Mobile, then?

A. He has never drawn a draft.

Q. 393. Has he been payee of a draft on you—the drawee?

A. No, sir.

Q. 394. Haven't you paid drafts to his order?

A. To his order?

Q. 395. Yes.

A. Oh, I don't know; I have no recollection; still there may have been; I would not say; but he has never drawn any.

Q. 396. Why did you not state in this bill that the order of reference was obtained on the application of the floating creditors?

A. Because my counsel did not think it necessary to put it in, I suppose; he didn't put it in.

Q. 397. Why did you not put it in?

A. Because I didn't draw the bill; it is not customary for a layman to draw a bill.

Q. 398. It is customary for laymen to read them and see if they are true?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 399. Why did you not see that this was true?

A. I believed that everything in it was true.

1569 Q. 400. Do you think that telling half the truth is telling the whole truth?

Q. 401. Why did you not read it over and tell the whole truth?

A. I signed it as my counsel drew it.

Q. 402. Did not you and he talk about it?

A. I had no talk about it.

Q. 403. Do you object to the receiver's spending money for legal expenses?

A. Not if it is unavoidable.

Q. 404. How do you know that those legal expenses mentioned in your bill were not unavoidable?

A. I don't know.

Q. 405. What were these legal expenses for?

A. I don't recollect.

Q. 406. What complaint have you to make about them?

A. Simply that they were larger than they had been previously.

Q. 407. Do you not know that they have had more litigation than they had before?

A. I don't know.

Q. 408. You don't know?

A. No.

Q. 409. How many suits have you brought yourself?

A. I don't know.

Q. 410. You have brought several?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 411. Against the receivers?

A. Yes.

Q. 412. Did you expect them not to employ lawyers?

(M'r Blandy. Objected to, as calling for a conclusion; taken subject to objection.)

A. I didn't expect anything about it.

Q. 413. Did you suppose that when you sued them they were going to let you have your own way?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. No.

Q. 414. How much of these legal expenses have you caused yourself?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't know.

Q. 415. The whole of it, have you not?

A. I don't know.

Q. 416. Has there been any litigation except what you have instigated?

A. I don't know.

Q. 417. You do not know of any but what you have instigated, do you?

A. I don't know.

Q. 418. You have instigated a great deal, have you not?

A. I have instigated several suits.

Q. 419. You have instigated a suit in Kentucky?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 420. And in Tennessee?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 421. And in Alabama?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 422. And in Mississippi?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 423. All in your own name?

A. Yes, sir; the firm name, I believe.

Q. 424. Then you instigated the Ziegler suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 425. Then you have joined in applications to remove Duncan & Elliot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 426. And then you have joined in the contest against the coupons?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 427. And then you have instituted other proceedings besides, have you not?

A. I don't remember.

1570 Q. 428. Did you suppose that they were going to go without defence against your complaint?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I didn't suppose anything about it.

Q. 429. Did you suppose that there was going to be no expense involved in those suits?

(Same objection.)

Q. 431. Did you suppose they were going to get along as cheaply as you did?

A. No; I didn't suppose anything about it.

Q. 432. How much of this expense has been caused by litigation started by Moran Bro's?

A. I don't know.

Q. 433. Has there not been at least $25,000?

A. I don't know anything at all about it.

Q. 434. And are you not enjoying the advantage of them in this, that while they are obliged to pay their lawyers (leaving out any reference to M'r Blandy), M'r Grandin and M'r Andrews have worked for you upon speculation; have you not that advantage over the receivers?

(M'r Blandy. Objected to, upon the ground that there is no evidence of the fact that M'r Andrews is working upon speculation; taken subject to objection.)

Q. 435. Have you not that advantage over the receivers, that they have to pay their lawyers, and you do not?

A. I have no such advantage that I am aware of.

Q. 436. Do you have pay to your lawyers?

A. Certainly.

Q. 437. Have you paid your lawyers upwards of $2,500?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 438. Will you, or will you not state that your expenses in this litigation have exceeded $2,500?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 439. Have you employed anybody besides M'r Andrews, M'r Grandin, and M'r Hoadly in Alabama?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 440. What has been the amount of legal expense incurred by the receivers in this litigation, compared with amount incurred by you?

A. I don't know.

Q. 441. You have spent as much as they have, have you not?

A. I don't know.

Q. 442. You know how much they have spent, do you not?

A. I don't know.

Q. 442½. Your bill says what they have spent; do you not know what your bill says?

A. The bill shows they have spent $100,000.

Q. 443. Then you swear to that?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 444. You believe that?

A. Yes.

Q. 445. It has cost you that much, has it not?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 446. That is no larger expenditure than you have incurred, is it?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 447. Do you not know that the receivers have litigation in Mississippi, and in the Supreme Court of the United States, affecting the interests of the property?

1571 A. In the Supreme Court of the United States?

Q. 448. Yes; did you not know it?

A. No.

Q. 449. Did they not have litigation in Mississippi?

A. I don't know of any litigation in Mississippi.

Q. 450. You do not know that?

A. Except such as I——

Q. 451. (Interposing.) Except such as you have instituted?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 452. Do you know of any in Tennessee?

A. I do not.

Q. 453. Beside what you have instigated?

A. Yes, sir; there is one—the substitution bonds.

Q. 454. Have these receivers instigated that?

A. M'r Duncan's name appears as plaintiff and defendant.

Q. 455. Why do you not bring your suit in Tennessee to a hearing?

A. I am not aware that we have interposed any delay.

Q. 456. I did not say you had; have you interposed any quickness?

A. We have done all we could to bring it to a hearing.

Q. 457. What has prevented your bringing it to a hearing?

A. I don't know.

Q. 458. Why have not your lawyers brought it to a hearing?

A. I don't know.

Q. 459. Why do you not bring your suit in Alabama to a hearing?

A. I don't know.

Q. 460. Why do you not bring your suit in Kentucky to a hearing?

A. I don't know.

Q. 461. Why do you not bring your suit in Mississippi to a hearing?

A. I don't know; I am desirous to have every point tested as rapidly and as soon as possible.

Q. 462. Do you think you can bring the Ziegler suit to a hearing quicker than the Duncan & Elliot suit?

(M'r Blandy—Objected to, as it is already answered; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't know.

Q. 463. What was your answer?

A. I don't know.

Q. 464. You don't know whether you can or not?

A. I don't know.

Q. 465. How can you reconcile that with your statement that you are desirous of bringing everything to a hearing quickly?

A. I can't see any inconsistency in it.

Q. 466. Can you bring the coupon suit to a hearing in the Duncan & Elliot suit?

A. I suppose it might be done; I don't know.

Q. 467. In June?

A. I don't know.

Q. 468. Can you bring the Tennessee substitution lien to a hearing in June, in the Duncan & Elliot suit?

A. I don't know; but I will say that I would much rather have it decided in June than any later period.

Q. 469. What did you bring the Ziegler suit for?

A. For the protection of my rights and my correspondents.

Q. 470. Then you did not bring it for the purpose of a quick hearing?

A. I did; for the protection of my own rights and my correspondents.

Q. 471. (Repeated.)

1572 A. It was not for that object; it was for the purpose of protecting their rights.

Q. 472. By delay?

A. Not for that purpose.

Q. 473. Why did you want to postpone the Duncan and Elliot suit, and bring the Ziegler suit?

A. I never asked it to be postponed, except for a short period.

Q. 474. Are you willing that the Duncan-Elliot suit should be brought to a hearing in June?

A. I am not a proper person to reply to that.

Q. 475. Oh, yes, you are.

A. I am desirous of having the whole question decided in June, if possible.

Q. 476. Personally, are you willing to have the Duncan-Elliot suit tried in June?

A. Certainly, if it will protect my interests and my correspondents.

Q. 477. Your interests are represented in that suit?

A. Not particularly, I think.

Q. 478. Have you got counsel in the suit?

A. I have not the counsel who is managing those things here.

Q. 479. Have you not got counsel in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. I have M'r Andrews; yes, sir.

Q. 480. Haven't you confidence in him, that he can protect your interests in the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. Now, really, I ought not to go and discuss the questions that I am not competent to answer; this is a question of the management of the suit; I can't discuss it here; I am not competent.

Q. 481. What difficulty is there in the way of your rights?

A. I can't answer that.

Q. 482. Have you been informed of any difficulty?

A. Certainly, or I would have preferred June.

Q. 483. What difficulty have you been informed of to a just hearing and determination of all points in June?

M'r BLANDY. I advise you, you are not bound to answer that.

The WITNESS. It is not necessary; I decline to answer.

Q. 484. Have you been informed of any?

The WITNESS. I simply do not want to get into these interminable discussions with M'r Bangs; if there is anything that I have misstated or been in error, show it up, and I will tell you at once; yes, sir.

Q. 485. Answer yes or no to this, as you like; do you know of any difficulties about bringing the Duncan and Elliot suit to a just determination in June?

A. I am informed by my counsel that there are many objections.

Q. 486. What are they?

The WITNESS. I decline to answer.

Q. 487. Do they grow out of the constitution of the court?

The WITNESS. I decline to reply.

Q. Do they involve any want of confidence in the judge?

The WITNESS. I decline to reply.

Q. 488. Do they involve any distrust of the law?

The WITNESS. I decline to reply.

1573 M'r BANGS. That is just as good as if you answered.

The WITNESS. I am perfectly willing to answer, I again repeat here, if safely to the interests of my correspondents and myself; you can place it on the list, and have it tried in June. I will forego everything else, and have it tried in June.

Q. 489. What is that?

A. I repeat, that if I can properly protect the interests of myself and my friends, I would much rather have it tried in June than any day later.

M'r BANGS. I do not understand you.

The WITNESS. It is as plain as I can express myself.

M'r BANGS. I did not quite understand it.

The WITNESS. I can repeat it.

M'r BANGS. Do so.

The WITNESS. If I can properly have my rights, and those of my correspondents protected, I should prefer to have it tried in June than any later period. I am for hastening it as much as possible.

Q. 490. And any attempt at delay would be against your wishes?

A. Against my wishes.

Q. 491. And your instructions?

A. And against my instruction.

M'r BANGS. Now I understand you.

The WITNESS. I have given evidence on that a dozen times.

Q. 492. Have you been advised that as long as this claim on the coupons of 1874 is outstanding, Duncan & Elliot have a right to apply the money in their hands to the payment of the coupons of 1875; have you been so advised?

A. No; I have not.

Q. 493. Do you so believe?

A. No; I do not.

Q. 494. Why do you complain of them that they do not pay the coupons of 1875, and that they keep the money in their hands?

A. I have not complained of it.

Q. 495. You say this: "And so it was; that the most feasible method whereby Duncan & Elliot could secure the satisfaction of this claim of Alexander Duncan, of more than $700,000, was by using, and in a great part exceeding, the revenues of the property in the course of their administration, instead of applying them to the next accruing coupon interest." How could they apply it as long as those coupons of 1874 were out?

A. They could not, I suppose, pay anything without the order of the court.

Q. 496. Do you think you are the only person who has a right to submit his claims to the court?

A. I admit equal right to every man.

Q. 497. Do you think that Alexander Duncan, if he believes he is entitled to these coupons, does any wrong in saying so?

A. Not at all.

Q. 498. Do you think that his claim is that the receivers are bound to pay coupons which matured afterwards?

A. No.

1574 Q. 499. What did you put this in your complaint for afterwards?

A. It is an allegation on inference.

Q. 500. It is intended to be a mere slur, is it not?

A. It is a mere allegation.

Q. 501. It is a mere slur, is it not?

A. I don't know what you mean by "slur."

Q. 502. It is a mere attempt to throw mud, is it not?

A. I don't know what you mean.

Q. 503. It is a mere attempt to blacken the character of Duncan & Elliot, is it not?

A. No, it is not.

Q. 504. What did you put it in for?

A. I put it because the appearance was that they designed not to have too large a surplus on hand.

Q. 505. You complained of them that they did not pay the next accruing coupon interest; did you mean that as a reflection on them?

A. No, sir; because it was not in their power.

Q. 506. Did you mean it as a cause of complaint against them?

A. That requires no reply.

M'r BANGS. It does require a reply.

The WITNESS. I decline.

M'r BANGS. The court asks you for a reply.

The WITNESS. I decline to reply.

M'r BANGS. You will not comply with the request of the court?

The WITNESS. I decline to comply.

Q. 507. How much money have Duncan & Elliot got on hand?

A. I don't know.

Q. 508. What is your opinion?

A. I don't know.

Q. 509. Have you not been informed?

A. No, sir.

Q. 510. Have you not been informed that they had on hand $750,000?

A. I have not.

Q. 511. What have you been informed on the subject?

A. I have not been informed the amount they have on hand.

Q. 512. Have you read their reports?

A. I have seen no reports saying they had $700,000.

Q. 513. What do the reports say they had on hand?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 514. Was it $300,000?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 515. Can you tell how much they had?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 516. What do you mean by saying that they have sought to procure the adoption by the bondholders of an agreement, and so forth?

A. Because M'r Duncan has personally solicited, I believe, everybody that he knew.

Q. 517. Did he do that in the interest of the bondholders?

A. I don't know.

Q. 518. Has he solicited you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 519. He did not prevail, did he?

A. He did not.

Q. 520. Do you think there is any harm in that?

A. He could do whatever he desired.

Q. 521. You solicited people, did you not?

A. I have not solicited a single man; they came to me.

Q. 522. You sent out this circular?

A. So far as that is concerned, yes, sir.

1575 Q. 523. You have not asked a single man?

A. No, sir; I have not gone to a single man.

Q. 524. Did you ever read this order of reference March 6, 1876, made by Judge Woods?

The WITNESS. If you will let me see it?

M'r BANGS. He says this: "The master is at liberty to consider a plan for the reorganization of the corporation, should the creditors of the same agree thereto. Any plan for that purpose presented by three-fourths of the creditors owning the different classes of debt, and supported by a corresponding portion of the holders of the stock, he may report with his opinion thereon." Did you ever read that?

The WITNESS. Let me see it. Yes, I have seen it.

Q. 225. Why do you object to the trustees advising creditors to reorganize?

A. I do not object to that.

Q. 526. What did you put it in your bill for?

A. Because I had an understanding with M'r Duncan that he was to do nothing in attempting to give an advantage to the substitution bonds, which I told him I intended to contest.

Q. 527. Do you regard his advising bondholders to enter into an agreement with the Tennessee creditors as a breach of his agreement with you?

A. Yes; certainly.

Q. 528. Did he say that he would not advise the bondholders to come to an agreement as to the Tennessee substitution?

A. No, sir.

Q. 529. Then he said, as trustee, he would not do anything to favor anybody, did he?

A. I think, as trustee, he certainly did do——

Q. 530. (Interposing.) Did he not say that, as trustee, he would not do anything to favor any one?

A. He did not add those words; he may have meant to do that.

Q. 531. Did you understand him to mean so?

A. No, I did not; I always understood that he was interested in the first-mortgage bonds, until afterwards; I was in that opinion till I went to Europe, that his own interest was in the first-mortgage bonds.

Q. 532. Do you know of his having any interest in the Tennessee bonds?

A. No, I did not; that is why I was so astonished that he should go in favor of it.

Q. 533. What do you mean?

A. He has done everything he could to give them a priority over ours, by his personal influence.

Q. 534. He has not done anything in the conduct of the suit, has he?

A. I consider that what he has done is certainly intended that way.

Q. 535. In the conduct of the suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 536. What has he done?

A. I decline to answer that question; there is no use of going into a discussion of the steps.

1576 Q. 537. Are you on anybody's bond? Are you surety for anybody?

A. No, sir.

Q. 538. Were you ever?

A. I don't think I ever was; I don't remember.

Q. 539. You constantly refuse to go on bonds, do you not?

A. Yes, sir; I have been hardly ever applied to.

Q. 540. Who told you that S. L. M. Barlow and W. W. McFarland are not able to respond to their liabilities?

A. I said in my opinion they were not.

Q. 541. You say "your orator is informed and believes that they are not able to respond"?

A. Over and above all——

Q. 542. (Interposing.) Who told you that?

A. I knew it myself when I heard the amounts.

Q. 543. What do you know about M'r Barlow's property?

A. I don't know positively what he is worth.

Q. 544. What is M'r McFarland worth?

A. I don't know.

Q. 545. For all you know he is worth a million, is he not?

A. I don't know anything about it.

Q. 546. And for aught you know, M'r Barlow is worth a million?

A. I don't know to the contrary.

Q. 547. Upon what ground did you put in this spiteful charge that they were not able to respond to their liabilities?

A. I said over and above all their obligations as endorsers.

Q. 548. What is their liability on the bond of the receivers?

A. I don't know; one hundred or one hundred and fifty thousand.

Q. 549. Do you not believe they are worth one hundred and fifty thousand dollars?

The WITNESS. How much are they on all these other bonds?

M'r BANGS. Well, $500,000.

The WITNESS. Are they not for a much larger amount. I have been told that the amount is much larger.

M'r BANGS. Your complaint says that M'r Barlow is on Judge Shipman's bond for $500,000, and you say he is on M'r Duncan's bond for $150,000.

The WITNESS. That is six hundred and fifty; how many others is he on?

Q. 550. How do you know he is not worth $650,000?

A. I don't know.

Q. 551. What did you swear that for?

A. I swore in my opinion I didn't believe he was.

Q. 552. What is your opinion founded on?

A. That I mean that he has a large amount of liabilities, and he has assets; I don't know——

Q. 553. (Interposing.) You swear that you did not believe he was worth——

A. (Interrupting.) Exactly; that is what I believe.

Q. 554. What is that founded upon?

A. General information.

Q. 555. You have no information of any kind, have you?

A. No special information; it is a matter of opinion.

Q. 556. Did M'r Andrews tell you to put that in?

A. M' Andrews drew that complaint.

Q. 557. Did he tell you to put that in or did you tell him to put it in?

1577 A. I did not tell him.

Q. 558. Who made the first suggestion?

A. He did.

Q. 559. Who gave you this opinion of Judge Earle which you have put in your bill of complaint; where did you get it?

A. From my counsel.

Q. 560. Do you mean M'r Andrews?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 561. Where did he get it?

A. I don't know.

Q. 562. What did you put it in for?

A. I put it in because it would have weight in having the receivership changed.

Q. 563. You wanted to have them removed, did you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 564. Who did you want to have appointed?

A. I don't care who, if they are only persons who will properly administer the thing.

Q. 565. You don't care who?

A. If they will properly administer the property.

Q. 566. Did you apply to have one of your own family appointed receiver?

A. I did not.

Q. 567. Did you?

A. No, sir—never.

Q. 568. Did you not apply to have M'r D. C. Moran appointed receiver?

A. Never.

Q. 569. Do you not know of such an application being made?

A. Never.

Q. 570. Do you swear that?

A. I swear that I never made any such application.

Q. 571. Did you authorize any such application to be made?

A. Never.

Q. 572. Then if it was made it was unauthorized?

A. Entirely unknown and unauthorized.

Q. 573. Why did you not put into your bill Judge Wood's opinion on the application to remove the receivers?

A. Because my counsel did not think it necessary.

Q. 574. Did you talk about it with him?

A. No.

Q. 575. How do you know he did not think it necessary?

A. Because he would have put it in, I suppose.

Q. 576. I ask you why you did not put it in?

A. Because I did not draw it.

Q. 577. You told him to draw it, did you not?

A. I told him to draw the bill.

Q. 578. Did you not tell him what to put in?

A. No; I did not.

Q. 579. Did you not tell him what was the matter with you that you wanted a bill drawn?

A. Yes, sir; I told him what was the matter with me.

Q. 580. Why did you not tell him that part of it?

A. This requires no answer.

Q. 581. You will not answer?

A. It is a thing of evidence in the court.

Q. 582. What did you put in Judge Bruce's opinion for?

A. Because I suppose he thought it was right to put it in.

Q. 583. Why did you not think it proper to put in Judge Wood s opinion?

A. Because my counsel did not think it necessary to put it in; he did not think it proper.

Q. 584. Then he did not want to tell the court——

A. I don't know.

1578 Q. 585. Do you think there is any legal trustee of the mortgage?

The WITNESS. What do you mean?

M'r BANGS. Do you think there is any legal trustee of the mortgage?

A. I believe M'r Ketchum to be the legal trustee.

Q. 586. What did you swear that you did not know there was any legal trustee of the mortgage for?

A. Because it is brought in doubt between the two parties.

Q. 587. Do you now say that you believe M'r Ketchum to be the legal trustee?

A. I believe Judge Bruce's decision establishes him to be the legal trustee.

Q. 588. Were you not informed by M'r Andrews and M'r Grandin, after Judge Bruce's decision, that a decree had been rendered declaring M'r Ketchum to be the legal trustee?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 589. You were so informed?

A. Yes, sir; the only one entitled to be trustee.

Q. 590. You were informed that there had been a decree entered to that effect?

A. An opinion.

Q. 591. Were you not informed that a decree had been rendered to that effect, and entered in court?

A. He did not inform me; he sent me an opinion.

Q. 591. Did he not tell you that a decree had been entered?

A. I think not.

Q. 592. Did you not publish that fact?

A. I think not; I may have done so, but I think not; I may, however, have called it a decree upon some occasion, but I am not positive.

Q. 594. You say that some of the first-mortgage bondholders are now engaged at great trouble and expense in ridding the trust of the pro confesso decree in Tennessee; which first-mortgage bondholders do you refer to?

A. Those that I represent, and those that I know, and others.

Q. 595. Name them.

The Witness. What do you mean?

M'r Bangs. Name the first-mortgage bondholders that you refer to.

A. Quite a number.

M'r Bangs. I did not say enumerate them; I said name them.

A. H. Amy & Co.

Q. 596. Who else?

A. Ourselves.

Q. 597. Who else?

A. All our correspondents.

Q. 598. Are they all plaintiffs in the proceeding?

A. Not in that Ziegler suit.

Q. 599. You say "at great trouble and expense"?

The Witness. Do you mean in Tennessee?

M'r Bangs. Yes; you say "at great trouble and expense."

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 600. How much expense?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 601. Have you incurred any expense?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 602. Is not the whole thing a speculation in Tennessee?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 603. Have you not filed a petition in the Duncan & Elliot suit, to be made parties defendant?

1579 A. I believe it was done; yes, sir.

Q. 604. Have not Rudolph Merian, Alfred Renevier, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephise Chuffard filed a similar petition under your direction?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 605. What do you want to be made parties in the Duncan & Elliot suit for?

The Witness. Why do I want to?

M'r Bangs. Yes.

The Witness. I don't know what you mean.

Q. 606. What do you want to be made a party defendant in the Duncan & Elliot suit for?

A. To defend my rights, of course, and those of my correspondents.

Q. 607. What do those other people want to be defendants for?

The Witness. Need I reply why he did it?

M'r Bangs. Yes.

The Witness. It is a mere legal protection.

M'r Blandy. I advise you that you are not bound to answer it.

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 608. You say the first-mortgage bondholders are now engaged, at great trouble and expense, in ridding the trust of the pro confesso decree in Tennessee; give the particulars of that trouble and expense.

A. I decline to.

Q. 609. You refuse?

A. I refuse.

Q. 610. Do you not know that that Tennessee decree has been opened?

A. I know nothing but what M'r Duncan has said.

Q. 611. Has M'r Duncan told you it has been opened?

A. M'r Duncan sent me a copy of the proposed order, I believe; that is all I know about it.

Q. 612. Have you got it?

A. I have not.

Q. 613. You got that before this Ziegler bill was sworn to, did you not?

A. Yes, sir; I don't know whether I did before; about the time.

Q. 614. Did not that provide an opportunity for Duncan & Elliot themselves to resist the substitution claim?

M'r Blandy. That is objected to, upon the ground that the paper is the best evidence. Taken subject to objection.

A. We did not consider it judicious to go on with them, to carry on the suit.

Q. 615. Why did you not go into that Tennessee substitution suit yourself, and ask to be made a defendant yourself?

M'r Blandy. You are not bound to answer that.

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 616. You refuse?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 617. What business is it of yours what agreements other bondholders enter into; how does it concern you?

A. So far as it affects our interests, it is my concern.

Q. 618. How does it affect you?

A. By attempting to force us to take what we deem not good for us.

Q. 619. How does it attempt to force you?

A. I am to be the judge of that.

1580 Q. 620. No, you are not; you have brought a suit here complaining about this scheme; do you deny the right of the bondholders to form a partnership to purchase property, if they wish to?

A. No.

Q. 621. What complaint have you against them?

A. I claim that they are unjustly attacking our rights, and not giving us our rights.

Q. 622. What rights are those bondholders depriving you of; have you not as good a chance to buy as they have?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 623. I want to know if you have not just as good a right to buy as they have?

The Witness. Haven't they published everywhere that unless we accept their terms we are to be shut out?

M'r Bangs. No, they have not.

The Witness. They have.

Q. 624. I want to know if you have not just as good a right to form a partnership and buy as they have—have they deprived you of that right?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 625. This suit is brought to break up that scheme, is it not?

A. No, sir; it is to obtain our rights irrespective of that scheme.

Q. 626. What right?

A. Our legal rights.

Q. 627. Legal right to what?

A. Our legal rights.

Q. 628. To what?

A. To what we are entitled to in the property.

Q. 629. How does the scheme prevent you from getting your legal rights?

A. I decline to answer, because it leads to an endless discussion that has nothing to do with the matter.

Q. 630. I will not discuss it with you; I take your answers; your refusals lead to discussions. I want to know what you complain of in that scheme?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 631. Your suit is brought to force them, is it not?

A. I can't force them by the suit; I don't know how I can.

Q. 632. How can they force you?

A. I don't know.

Q. 633. You do not generally admit partners into your house, except on your terms, do you?

A. No.

Q. 634. You do not let people come in and make their own terms with you, do you?

A. No.

Q. 635. But you think you ought to be allowed to make your terms with Hays, Pierson and Du Puy, do you?

A. I never tried to make any terms with them; they tried to force me to their terms.

Q. 636. That has been tried on you pretty often in the making of bargains in other cases, has it not?

A. I don't know what you mean?

Q. 637. You have been in the habit of making bargains?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 638. Have not people tried to bring you to their terms?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 639. And they never yet succeeded, did they?

A. Oh, yes, sir.

Q. 640. Did they succeed in the Selma, Rome and Dalton road?

A. They did not.

1581 Q. 641. And you did not either, did you; and the consequence was the whole property went to wreck?

A. No, sir.

Q. 642. What is the property worth now, compared to what it was when you began?

M'r Blandy. I object to that as immaterial. (Taken subject to objection.)

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 643. Your bill says that the revenues of the road should be applied to keeping down the mortgage interest. Did you mean by that the coupons of 1874?

A. No; I did not.

Q. 644. What did you mean?

A. I mean the coupons due from 1875.

Q. 645. You do not think Alexander Duncan's entitled to a hearing, do you?

A. Yes, sir, he is entitled to a hearing.

Q. 646. You do not think it ought to be applied to the coupons of 1875 until it is determined that he has no claim, do you?

A. I believe the court will decide all those matters.

Q. 647. Do you think that the coupons of 1875 ought to be paid before Alexander Duncan's claim is determined?

M'r Blandy. That is objected as calling for a conclusion and as immaterial. (Taken subject to objection.)

Q. 648. What do you think on that subject?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 649. The court requests an answer from you to that question; will you give it?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 650. Do you know that a proposition has been made to M'r Morris Ketchum that he should go into the Duncan and Elliot suit as a defendant?

M'r BLANDY. That is objected to as immaterial. (Taken subject to objection.)

A. I believe something was done.

Q. 651. Did you oppose it?

A. I did not.

Q. 652. Did you advise him not to accept it?

A. I did not.

Q. 653. Did you advise him not to agree to it?

A. I did not.

Q. 654. Are you willing that he should agree to it?

M'r BLANDY. That is objected to as immaterial. (Taken subject to objection.)

A. If my rights are properly protected, yes.

Q. 655. Are you willing that he should agree to it?

A. Yes, sir; anything that would bring a solution of the question of protecting my rights.

Q. 656. What do you mean by saying that the continued possession of the road and its equipment and resources by Duncan & Elliot is a daily injury to the resources of the property?

M'r BLANDY. That is objected to on the ground that the language speaks for itself, and that the question calls for a conclusion. (Taken subject to exception.)

A. Because I believe that better persons could be put in.

Q. 657. What injury do they do every day?

A. You have my reply.

Q. 658. What injury did they do to-day?

A. I don't know.

Q. 659. What injury did they do yesterday?

1582 A. I don't know.

Q. 660. What injury did they do for ten days before you swore to this bill?

A. I don't know.

Q. 661. You speak of Judge Bruce; whom do you refer to?

A. Judge Bruce—the district judge.

By M'r Blandy:

Q. 662. Of where?

A. Of Alabama, the southern district of Alabama.

By M'r Bangs:

Q. 663. You cannot give the particulars of this daily injury that you speak of, can you?

A. No, sir.

Q. 664. Do you know anything more in this suit of benefit or advantage to Charles Moran? If you do, please state the same as freely and particularly as if you were now thereunto specially interrogated.

A. I really don't know; I don't understand the question.

Q. 665. Do you know anything more of benefit or advantage in this suit to Charles Moran besides what you have already stated?

The WITNESS. What suit?

M'r BANGS. The Ziegler suit.

A. Nothing but what I have stated.

Q. 666. There is nothing that you can state for the benefit of the Moran Brothers?

A. I know of nothing.

Q. 667. Or M'r Moran?

A. I know of nothing.

Q. 668. Or M'r Ziegler and his co-plaintiffs, besides what you have already stated?

A. I don't know of anything but what I have stated.

Cross-examination by M'r Blandy:

Q. 669. You were asked by the gentleman on the other side a number of questions tending to inquire as to your authority to represent the different plaintiffs in this suit, and you produced a number of papers, so-called powers of attorney, and a number of letters from different gentlemen, extracts from which letters you have given; before you received these powers of attorney, and before you received these letters from the different parties, had you acted as the American agent, or had your firm acted as the American agent, for these gentlemen?

A. Yes, sir,

Q. 670. For how many years?

A. Different lengths for different ones; but some of them—M'r De Watteville for twenty years; M'r D'Orelli Ziegler also.

Q. 671. Had you been in communication with them prior to those letters upon the subject of these bonds, and prior to the receipt of the power of attorney?

A. Merely keeping them advised about what was occurring.

Q. 672. Had you had personal interview with any of those gentlemen while you were in Europe?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 673. And had you then discussed the question of these bonds?

A. Oh, yes, sir.

Q. 674. Do your firm hold securities belonging to these gentlemen?

A. We do.

1583 Q. 675. What are the instructions your firm have in reference to, in the securities it holds for those gentlemen?

A. My general instructions are——

M'r BANGS. We object to that; the instructions are in writing.

Q. 676. Were the instructions in writing, or were they oral instructions?

A. Both; but mostly the consequence of correspondence for such a number of years, by which we were always considered to be authorized to do anything we deemed for their advantage without waiting for instructions; and they have always approved what we did.

Q. 677. The various steps that you have taken, or that have been taken, from time to time, in this suit, have been reported to them by mail, have they?

A. All those that I deemed of any importance. I never troubled them with the little petty details.

Q. 678. You have kept them advised of the principal steps that were taken; have you?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 679. Have they ratified your action?

A. Fully.

Q. 680. You have been asked a number of questions as to why you have not inserted in the bill in this suit matters respecting which the gentleman on the other side has interrogated you; when you consulted M'r Andrews, your counsel, did you authorize him to take such steps and insert such matters in that bill as, in his judgment, were necessary for the protection of your rights and the protection of those whom you represent?

A. Of course; certainly.

Q. 681. I understand that a number of charges and allegations set out in that bill are founded upon information and belief?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 682. Others are within your own personal knowledge?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 683. Are those matters which are predicated upon information and belief, derived, some, from public records?

A. From a multitude of little things, which you can never detail what they are; they are the result of your actual contact of the passing occurrences of the day.

Q. 684. But derived by you in your daily intercourse in business?

A. The daily intercourse in business; reading the newspapers and reading documents; multitudes of things; I could not trace the things to any particular thing.

Q. 685. Were the various steps that have been taken by your counsel, in your name and in the name of the plaintiffs in this suit, done in good faith, and to protect your interest and the interests of those you represent?

A. Wholly and solely. For no other object whatever.

Q. 686. The bonds, I understood you to say, the number of which you gave, are in the safe of your firm?

1584 A. In the Deposit Co.

Q. 687. Under your control?

A. Under our control.

Q. 688. And the different steps which you have opposed, and the different proceedings in which you have interpleaded and sought to oppose the measures that were advanced by your opponents, were taken by you under the advice of counsel, and for the same object that you instituted the Zeigler suit?

A. After consultation.

Q. 689. To protect the interests of those you represented?

A. Wholly and solely.

Q. 690. And on the advice of counsel?

A. On the advice of counsel, after consultation.

Q. 691. The gentleman on the other side referred to a letter dated July 21, 1860, that forms a part of the proceedings in the suit of Hays against Ketchum, instituted in the court of common pleas, and read extracts from other letters; I understand you to have no personal knowledge of the truth or falsity of the allegations in those letters?

A. None whatever.

Q. 692. You speak about the possibility of your having signed certain legal papers, and sworn to certain legal papers wherein there might have been a blank left; if you did that, did you know the printed matter that was intended to be inserted within the space that was left blank?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 693. But your custom has been to subscribe to no paper without knowing precisely what you were signing your name to?

A. Probably more so than most any man in the community, for I am exceedingly particular.

(M'r Bangs—That answer is objected to on the ground that it is not competent for M'r Moran to compare himself with other men in the community, and give the result of the comparison; and he is advised to refuse to answer that question.)

The WITNESS. I am a very crotchety man, as you probably infer, and I object to signing anything with blanks, but sometimes I have to trust to a counsel to fill up what is not at hand to do it with when we are hurried by time.

Q. 694. I understood you to have said last evening that at one time you signed a recommendation to the court to retain Duncan and Elliot; at that time were you informed of all the facts that you are now possessed of?

A. No, sir; no idea of them.

Q. 695. After the signing of that recommendation did you learn of certain facts which changed your ideas?

A. Yes; which I deemed very important?

1585 Q. 696. And in consequence of what you learned since you signed that recommendation, did you believe it in the interest of those whom you represented to take a different course?

A. I deemed it very necessary, and the only way to defend our interest.

Q. 697. And that was what caused you to change?

A. That was it?

Q. 698. Can you state from memory now the names of all the plaintiffs in the suit.

A. In the Ziegler suit?

Q. 699. Yes.

A. D'Orelli Ziegler, Bernard De Watteville, Masson Chevannes, and Henry Jump; I believe that is all.

Q. 700. When you were served with a subpœna to produce your authority to represent these different parties, did you suppose those names to contain all the plaintiffs in this suit?

A. I did.

Q. 701. Have you any knowledge to the contrary now?

A. No; shall I tell you why?

Q. 702. Yes.

A. I found the number of bonds that I allege in the bill to possess exactly represented the amount of bonds which are on our books opposite those four names.

Q. 703. Then, when you produced the different authorities last evening, did you suppose you were producing the authorities authorizing you to represent all the plaintiffs in the action?

A. I did; if there are any others, I am ready to furnish it if I know it.

Q. 704. As soon as you know the names of any other plaintiffs?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 705. (By M'r Bangs.) Have you since last night read the papers in the Ziegler suit?

A. I have not.

Q. 706. Why do you say, then, that the persons you have named are the only plaintiffs?

A. Because I read a copy of the Ziegler suit before I came here; after being subpœn'ed I went and got a copy of the bill of the counsel and read it, and found those four names, and the amount of bonds which I swore they held we held for them.

Q. 707. Do you not know that the bill has been amended since so as to make Rudolph Merian and the other parties plaintiffs?

A. It has slipped my memory if it has.

Q. 708. Do you not know it is so?

A. It may be so, but I am not positive.

Q. 709. Do you not know that you swore to an amended bill?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 710. They have all proved their claims through Moran Brothers?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 711. In the Duncan and Elliot suit?

A. Yes, sir; do you want me to bring anything about the other two; as they are amended, I can bring their authority.

Q. 712. The bonds held by Ziegler, by De Watteville, by Chevannes, by Jump, by Carrard, by Merian, by Renevier, and Chuffard, have all been proven in the Duncan and Elliot suit through Moran Brothers, have they not?

A. Yes, sir; with slight exceptions.

1586 Q. 713. What exceptions?

A. All we had on the day we proved.

Q. 714. Then they have all been proved except the bonds belonging to Jump?

A. And De Watteville.

Q. 715. They were proved by you after your return last fall, were they not?

A. No, sir; it was during my absence.

Q. 716. Did not De Watteville tell you he did not want any litigation?

A. He did not.

Q. 717. Did not any of those parties tell you they did not want litigation?

A. None of those parties; they had all said they would rather not have litigation, of course.

Q. 718. Have you told them that you brought this suit?

A. I have.

Q. 719. When?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 720. How did you tell them?

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 721. Why do you decline to answer?

A. I think it is not necessary for me to answer. It is my private business.

Q. 722. These bonds were proved after you had had personal interviews with those parties in Europe, were they not?

A. Oh yes, sir; about some; I don't know the date.

Q. 723. Since you recommended the retention of Duncan and Elliot as receivers, you have learned other facts?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 724. Who did you learn them from?

A. From various sources.

Q. 725. Name them.

A. I decline to answer.

Q. 726. Did you learn any from M'r Andrews?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 727. What did you learn from him?

A. He showed me various legal points.

Q. 728. What did he say to you?

A. First, the position of M'r Ketchum; what was the cause of his removal, and other things.

Q. 729. What else did he show you?

A. I don't remember all of the facts.

Q. 730. You made your recommendation after the answer in the Ketchum suit, did you not?

A. I had never seen M'r Ketchum when I signed the recommendation.

Q. 731. You made your recommendation after Ketchum had commenced suit?

A. I signed a recommendation, not in the suit, but at the request of M'r Duncan, to be used, I believe, in that suit.

Q. 732. To be used in the Ketchum suit?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 733. You knew that Ketchum was moving for a removal?

A. The great error I made is in not informing myself what M'r Ketchum claimed. I should probably have taken entirely different steps.

Q. 734. All that is objected to. Nobody asked you that. You read the paper that you signed, did you not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 735. That is one of the occasions on which you read the paper?

A. I always read the papers.

1587 Q. 736. You read the amendments to the bill in this case, in which Renevier and his co-petitioners are made plaintiffs.

A. Yes, sir; I did.

Q. 737. And swore to it?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 738. And you also read carefully that bill that you filed in Mississippi and swore to, did you not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 739. And the like one which you read and swore to filed in Kentucky?

A. I did; every bill I have signed I have read.

Q. 740. Who besides M'r Andrews has informed you of facts which you have learned since you recommended the retention of Duncan and Elliot?

M'r BLANDY. I advise you that you are not bound to answer that question.

The WITNESS. I decline to reply.

Q. 741. You decline to answer?

A. I do.

Q. 742. What facts have you learned from other parties?

A. I decline to reply.

Q. 743. Since November last, or since your return from Europe, have you increased the interest in those particular investments for these parties for whom you have been interested so long?

A. I believe for one or two; but I cannot say from memory.

Q. 744. Which one?

A. I must not say, because I might err.

Q. 745. Have you bought bonds for Jump?

A. Since I——

Q. 746. (Interrupting.) Since last fall—since you returned from Europe?

A. I ought not to say, because those matters of business I don't charge my mind with after I quit the office.

Q. 747. You will swear you bought for some of these parties?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 748. To what extent?

A. I will give the statement if you desire.

Q. 749. To what extent?

A. Very moderate sums.

Q. 750. What do you mean by moderate?

A. From $5,000 to $10,000.

Q. 751. You have bought from $5,000 to $10,000?

A. I don't say it is the sum; you forced me to answer when I ought not to answer.

Q. 752. What do you say was the sum?

A. I will give the statement if you desire me to.

Q. 753. I don't take it by compulsion; don't consider yourself forced; can I coax you to remember?

A. I don't remember.

Q. 754. Can I not coax you to answer?

A. I never withhold an answer if I can answer.

Q. 755. You do withhold it now.

A. I don't know it.

Q. 756. You bought them during the receivership of Duncan & Elliot?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 757. And since the Hays and Pierson and Du Puy scheme was brought up?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 758. What made you buy them?

(M'r Blandy—That is objected to as immaterial, and as calling for a conclusion; I advise you not to answer.)

1588 The Witness. I will answer that because it is so simple; because I had instructions to do so.

Q. 759. Have you bought for yourself besides since last fall?

A. Not one.

Q. 760. Have you bought none?

A. Not one.

Q. 761. Have you sold?

A. Not one.

Q. 762. What is your interest?

A. I don't remember; I have got a certain amount; but I don't remember.

Q. 763. You must remember something.

A. I don't remember.

Q. 764. Is it $1,000?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 765. $2,000?

A. $40,000 or $50,000.

Q. 766. Is that the outside?

A. I don't remember the exact figures.

Q. 767. Is that the outside?

A. I don't know; it may be more.

Q. 768. You say more; may it be?

A. I can't say.

Q. 769. Are they all first-mortgage bonds?

A. All first-mortgage bonds.

Q. 770. All first-mortgage bonds?

A. Or interest; first mortgage and interest bonds.

Q. 771. They stand on the same level, do they not?

A. They do in our scheme, but they don't in M'r Duncan's scheme.

Q. 772. I mean they are secured by the same instrument, are they not?

A. Yes, sir; I believe so; I have none but first mortgage myself.

Q. 773. What are they worth?

(M'r Blandy—That is objected to as immaterial; taken subject to objection.)

A. I don't know exactly.

Q. 774. Among your $40,000 or $50,000 you count the interest bonds?

A. I count the interest bonds.

Q. 775. What are they worth?

A. I don't know what the interest bonds are worth.

Q. 776. What is your personal investment worth?

A. It depends upon the court. I don't remember the amount I have.

Q. 777. What percentage of the face is it worth?

A. I don't know what the interest bonds are worth. I believe the other bonds are worth somewhere about 40, or a little below. I don't know exactly the market price.

Q. 778. Have you bought any at that price?

A. I have not.

Q. 779. Have you sold any at that price?

A. I have not bought or sold any on my own account.

Q. 780. Have you sold for account of others?

A. I may have sold two or three; some trifling sums. It made no impression on me. When I get these little orders I pay no attention to them.

M'r Bangs. Please furnish a complete list of the numbers of the bonds held by Rudolph Merian, Alfred Renevier, Eugene Renevier, Charles Carrard, and Cephise Chuffard.

CH. MORAN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 5th day of May, A. D. 1877.

JOSEPH GUTMAN,
United States Commissioner, S. D. N. Y.

D. Comyn Moran, a witness, produced, sworn, and examined on behalf of the defendants.

By M'r Bangs:

Q. 1. You are a member of the firm of Moran Bro's, are you?

A. I am.

Q. 2. You were here in attendance upon business last summer while your father, M'r Charles Moran, was in Europe?

A. I was, jointly with my brother.

Q. 3. You had communications during that summer with M'r William Butler Duncan about the affairs of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad?

A. Personal communications; I don't remember of any others.

Q. 4. What were they about?

(M'r Blandy. That is objected to as hearsay evidence, and is immaterial.)

The Witness. Do you oblige me to answer?

M'r Blandy. Yes, sir; you must answer, subject to objection.

Q. 5. Did M'r William Butler Duncan give you any information last summer about the affairs of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad?

(Same objection; taken subject to objection.)

A. I saw in the papers—I can't recollect what paper it was in—the fact of some decision having been made in Memphis; then I went to M'r Duncan and asked M'r Duncan what it meant. M'r Duncan told me he didn't know, but if I would return later he thought he could 1590 tell me; and when I returned M'r Duncan said that this thing had been done without his knowledge, and probably in the course of a day or two he might tell me, so that was all I had in that interview; then I returned in a day or two afterwards and he told me the fact of the judgment having been entered; that is as near as I can recall it. I won't say "judgment entered."

Q. 6. (Interrupting.) Did he tell you how it had been entered?

A. No, sir.

Q. 7. Did he tell you it had been entered without his consent?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 8. Did he not tell you that he was going to try to open it and contest it?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. I believe he did.

Q. 9. Did he not keep in communication with you from that time?

A. I can't say; I saw him on three or four occasions, but not more.

Q. 10. Did he not direct you to Judge Campbell?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 11. Here in this building?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 12. What was it about, and who was Judge Campbell, and what was his relation to M'r Duncan?

A. I believe M'r Duncan told me he was his counsel in the suit.

Q. 13. You had an interview with Judge Campbell, did you not?

A. I spoke to Judge Campbell for a few minutes.

Q. 14. Did not Judge Campbell tell you that he meant to see that everybody had his rights and his day in court?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy.)

Q. 15. And that no such judgment should be taken?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. I believe he did say that, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. 16. Did you not ask M'r Duncan to send you a letter so that you could send it to your father?

A. I do not remember it.

Q. 17. Did you not send a letter to M'r Duncan?

A. I don't remember. All the information that M'r Duncan imparted to me was in personal interviews, but in regard to all these matters I devoted very little time, for the reason that I had my department in the business, and I have not followed the Mobile and Ohio matter closely. I knew the main facts, but did not charge my memory with the details.

Q. 18. Look at this paper, and state whether you did not receive this letter from M'r Duncan, or a letter of which this is a copy?

A. I cannot recall any such letter at all; and as I said before in explanation, I have not followed this matter closely as I have other 1591 matters. I have the general correspondence of the concern, and attend to my father's real estate and all those things.

Q. 19. You do or do not remember receiving it?

A. I don't remember it.

Q. 20. You know who the plaintiffs in this Zieglersuit are; you know, as correspondents of your house, of Moran Bro's, D'Orelli Zeigler, Bernard De Watteville, Henry Jump, and M. Chevannes, the two Reneviers, Carrard, and Chuffard?

A. In what way do you mean I know them?

Q. 21. You know them as correspondents of your house?

A. To be correspondents of our house?

Q. 22. Yes.

A. Yes, sir; I do.

Q. 23. You know that your house, as their agents, hold bonds belonging to them of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company?

A. I believe that we do for all of them; I can't say the exact amount; it is a thing I could not say without looking at the records; I believe we do hold securities for all of them.

Q. 34. Did you prove the bonds for all of them before the master here in New York?

A. I did not.

Q. 25. Who did prove them?

A. My brother. I don't think I proved any; I think I saw the master in regard to the arrangements about doing it, but I didn't personally do it.

Q. 26. Those were among the parties for whom Moran Bro's proved bonds, were they not?

A. They must have been, because we proved everybody's that we had on hand at that time, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. 27. But at that time you had the bonds on hand?

A. I believe so, to the best of my knowledge; but I could not swear to it positively without having reference to our records.

Q 28. What records?

A. Our books; to see whether we had them on hand for these people. My general belief is that we had.

Q. 29. You have proved all the bonds you had?

A. I believe we proved all the bonds we had at the time the master was in New York.

Q. 30. Have you not proved those you have received since?

A. I can't say.

Q. 31. Can you tell what you have received since?

A. I presume I can.

Q. 32. What?

A. I can't remember; I can't charge my memory with those facts.

Q. 33. Will you give us the number of the bonds held by Renevier and those people?

A. My father said, as senior member of the firm, he would, and I am bound by everything he says.

Cross-examined by M'r Blandy:

Q. 34. When did you see this copy of the letter shown you, purporting to come from M'r Duncan, dated the 16th September, 1876, first?

1592 A. To the best of my knowledge, I saw it this morning for the first time.

Q. 35. Have you, since this supposed copy was shown to you, looked for the supposed original among the papers of your firm?

A. I went back this morning and I looked for it among our correspondence, and I can't find it.

Q. 36. And you have no recollection of having received it?

A. I have not.

D. COMYN MORAN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 5th day of May, 1877.
[SEAL.] JOSEPH GUTMAN, J'R,
U. S. Commissioner, S. D. N. Y.

AMEDEE D. MORAN, a witness produced, sworn, and examined on behalf of the defendant.

By M'r Bangs:

Q. 1. Are you a member of the firm of Moran Brothers?

A. I am.

Q. 2. Did you act for that firm last fall in proving before James Gillette, special master in the Duncan & Elliott suit, a quantity of bonds held by your firm?

A. I did.

Q. 3. You proved them in the name of Moran Brothers, for themselves and as agents of others, did you not?

A. That is, to the best of my recollection, the way I proved them.

Q. 4. Among those bonds did you prove the bonds held by Ziegler?

(M'r Blandy. That is objected to as secondary evidence.)

Q. 5. Well, among your principals, the persons for whom you held the bonds which your proof embraced, were there any bonds which belonged to D'Orelli Ziegler?

(Same objection by M'r Blandy; taken subject to objection.)

A. There were; belonged to his firm. I don't know whether they belonged to him personally.

Q. 6. They belonged to the firm of Pestalozzi au Thlahof?

A. I proved bonds belonging to the firm of Pestalozzi au Thalhof.

Q. 7. Were those bonds in the possession of your house at that time?

A. They were in our safe.

Q. 8. You produced them actually before the master, did you not?

A. Yes, sir; produced them actually.

Q. 9. In giving the numbers of the bonds which you proved before the master, and which are embraced in your proof, did you take Ziegler's bonds to get the numbers to incorporate in the list?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 10. You made up your list partly from Ziegler's bonds?

A. Partly from his bonds.

Q. 11. Did you make up your list also partly from bonds belonging to De Watteville?

A. I did.

1593 Q. 12. Were all the bonds belonging to De Watteville enumerated in that list?

(Mr. Blandy. That is objected to as secondary evidence; taken subject to objection.)

A. I think we've bought one or two since; very few; we bought one or two.

Q. 13. The list was partially made up from De Watteville's bond, was it not?

A. They were made up from all the bonds we had on hand at that time.

Q. 14. Then you had ninety-seven of De Watteville's bonds, had you not?

A. Ninety-seven, to the best of my knowledge.

Q. 15. Did you also then have on hand some of Chavannes' bonds?

A. I think so.

Q. 16. That is your recollection, is it?

A. That is my recollection.

Q. 17. Have you bought any for Chavannes since?

A. We have, I think. I have not looked at the books. I think we have.

Q. 18. Had you then on hand Henry Jump's bonds?

A. I went three or four times to prove them, and one of the times I had Jump's bonds; not as Moran Brothers' agents, I don't think; yes, I did as Moran Brothers' agents.

Q. 19. You had Jump's bonds on hand at that time?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 20. You have already stated that the proof you put in enumerated all the bonds you then had on hand?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 21. And you then had them on hand and since?

A. Yes, sir; we have sent them back since; that is the reason I hesitated; we have only his power now.

Q. 22. When did you send them back?

A. Immediately after proof; we did not want the risk of keeping them here.

Q. 23. And did you then have on hand the bonds of Renevier?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 24. The two Reneviers?

A. The two Reneviers.

Q. 25. And Chuffard?

A. I think so.

Q. 26. And Carrard?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 27. Do you remember seeing a letter of which a copy is now shown you?

A. To the best of my recollection, I believe I have seen the original.

Q. 28. The original of that letter reached your firm, did it not?

A. I think so.

Q. 29. Do you know what became of it?

A. I do not.

Q. 30. Is your recollection perfectly distinct about it?

A. My recollection is pretty distinct; yes, sir, that I saw that letter. The following is a copy of the letter:

(Copy.)

SEPTEMBER 10TH, 1876.

Messrs. MORAN BRO'S, New York:

DEAR SIRS: For your information, I beg to advise you that the proceedings to set aside the decree of May 20th, in the circuit court 1594 of the United States, at Memphis, were promptly taken by my counsel; the hearing of which was, by order of the court, set for the 15th day of September. The counsel for the Tenn. trustees (Wilson & Iselin), and my counsel, have since had a conference, and the time for the objectors to file their pleadings has been extended to the 15th October, with the understanding that the cause shall not be heard before the 4th Monday in November, before Judge Emmons, the circuit judge.

Yours, truly,

W. BUTLER DUNCAN, T. & R.

Q. 31. You say you have a recollection of seeing that letter?

A. Yes, sir; I have a recollection of seeing that letter, I think.

Cross-examined by M'r Blandy:

Q. 32. Do you know what you did with the original?

A. I do not.

Q. 33. Have you searched?

A. We cannot find it in the office.

Q. 34. You have searched for it?

A. I searched for it this morning all over; it may have been destroyed; it may be with some papers; I don't know, but I cannot find it.

Q. 35. Is your recollection sufficiently clear to enable you to swear positively that you did receive the original?

A. No.

Q. 36. Have you seen this copy of this letter before this morning?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 37. When?

A. At the office; it was brought around there to see if we could find the original, by my brother, M'r D. Comyn Moran.

Q. 38. That was this morning, but about an hour ago?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. 39. Is it possible that the perusal of this copy when it was brought around to the office this morning may have led you to suppose that you had received the original of which this purports to be a copy, in September, 1876?

A. No, sir; it is not seeing that which makes me think that; it brings back a recollection that we had some kind of a letter from M'r Duncan, I think; but I can't remember what time it was received, or the exact words.

Q. 40. A letter of this character?

A. Of that character; yes, sir.

Q. 41. But you do not swear positively that you did receive the original of which this is a copy?

A. No, I do not swear positively.

Q. 42. If you had received the original of this would you be likely to have communicated it to your father?

A. I would.

Q. 43. And would you be likely to show it to your brother?

A. I would.

1595 Q. 44. Have you heard your father and your brother say that they have no recollection of seeing the original of this?

(Objected to by M'r Bangs; taken subject to objection.)

A. No, sir; I heard no questions.

A. D. MORAN.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 28th day of April, 1876.

[L. S.] JOSEPH GUTMAN, J'R,
United States Commissioner, S. D. N. Y.

M'r Bangs asked for an adjournment to Monday next, at 3 o'clock.

M'r Blandy. I object to an adjournment upon the ground that the counsel for the defendants has announced the fact that he has no more witnesses to examine, and that nothing remains to be done but to transcribe the notes and have them read over by the witnesses; and that can be done without an adjournment.

M'r Bangs. I ask for an adjournment.

M'r Blandy. I put the question to M'r Bangs, counsel for the defendants, whether he desires to examine any more witnesses?

M'r Bangs. I decline to say anything upon the subject; I ask for an adjournment to 3 o'clock on Monday, on the special ground that as much matter has been already taken down as can be reduced to writing by 3 o'clock on Monday.

M'r Blandy. You mean by that that it would take until then to transcribe the notes?

M'r Bangs. I do mean that.

M'r Blandy. Do you concede that you do not desire to examine any more witnesses?

M'r Bangs. I do not concede anything of the sort; I ask an adjournment, and ask to have that hour fixed, on the ground that it would take until then to write out the minutes.

M'r Blandy. Without offering any opposition to the adjournment, I now insist that the balance of this day, it being now 2 o'clock, may be consumed in the examination of any other witnesses you may desire to call.

M'r Bangs. The effect of that would be that we would have to ask for an adjournment until Wednesday or Thursday, for the purpose of transcribing the additional minutes.

M'r Blandy. Then will you say whether you desire to examine any other witnesses?

M'r Bangs. I shall not say anything of the sort; I understand that the commissioner is willing to adjourn it until Monday, at 3 o'clock.

The Commissioner. Yes, sir.

WILLIAM BUTLER DUNCAN ET AL., APPELLEES.

Brief for Hays, Pierson and Dupuy.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

No. 879.

MORRIS KETCHUM, ET AL., APPELLANTS,

VS.

WILLIAM BUTLER DUNCAN, ET AL., APPELLEES.

From the time when this appeal was taken, up to a recent period, it was supposed by the appellees that the principal, if not the sole, point in dispute was, the continuing obligation and lien of the coupons of 1874; but in a brief recently filed by the appellants on a motion, an assignment of errors was inserted, which made no mention of that subject. The assignment reads thus:

"Assignment of Errors."

"Against terms of sale as ordered in the Alabama decree.

"First. That the Masters should not have been directed to receive on the sale any commodity, such as bonds, in lieu of lawful money, except by consent of all the cestuis que trust represented before the Court, or for the equal benefit of all the bondholders, according to their holdings.

"That the Masters should have been directed not to receive the bond bid, except for the amount of the foreclosing mortgage or some other reasonable amount, as a minimum upset price, in order that the bondholders not desirous of becoming purchasers of the property might not be deprived of all substantial share of the proceeds of the sale by a nominal bid, under the terms of this decree.

"That the Master should have been directed not to receive bonds, in lieu of cash, for any greater value than the dividend such bonds would be entitled to receive from the proceeds of sale. They should not have been directed to be received at their face value under the decree allowing the use of bonds as bid-money.

"That a trustee should have been ordered to bid for the property for the benefit of all the bondholders alike.
